VOL. 21. PORTSMOUTH, N. H. THURSDAY, JAN. 1, 1863. NO. 127.

The Chronicle.

A star for every State: a State for every star.

NO PARTY—ONE COUNTRY.

"Bound to no party—to no sect confined;
The world our home; our brethren, all mankind.
Love truth, do good, be just and fair with all;
Exalt the right, though every ism fall."

"Let me warn you in the most solemn manner against the baneful effects of the spirit of party, generally. It is a spirit not to be encouraged.—Its common and continual mischief is sufficient to make it the interest and duty of a wise people to discourage and restrain it. In government of the popular form, it is seen in its greatest rankness, and is truly their worst enemy!"—Washington's Farewell Address.

"COLONEL NINEPENCE." — A military man within a hundred miles of Dover, N. H., was once, in the days of old militia musters, elevated to the rank of Colonel; and of course was expected to stand treat for the men under him. After much urging, he invited the crowd up to the sutler's to drink—but ere all the many and deep thirsts were satisfied, he repented of his liberality, and says he, "Come, boys, its only ninepence apiece—let's each one pay for himself!" They did so—and a dear pay he found it, too, for his new name of "Colonel Ninepence" rang in his ears on the fild, all the rest of the day, and has clung to him ever since.

ANOTHER NINEPENNY CHAP. — This story reminds us of a young gallant nearer home, in this city, who a few years ago, in the days of ninepenny concerts, invited three or four charming girls to visit the Temple with him, on one of these occasions. Arrived in the lower entry, he astonished and amused them with: "I guess I'll take your ninepences now—it will save trouble inside." Perhaps it did, but it didn't save his being laughed at ever since, for much to his surprise, the girls told of it.

So also did another young lady, at a supper party in one of our suburban hotels, some years ago. Her male cousin took her with his girl, and after tea told her she must pay her own bill! and when all laughed at him, he said he wouldn't carry her home for telling—but finally did, on others offering to take her. There are some liberal souls in this world, aren't there?

LITTLE LULA was about twenty months old, and had chanced not to get any of her favorite beverage for several days. On being given some, one night at supper, she electrified all at the table by looking intently into her cup, and bowing with the inquiry—"How'd do, tea? how'd do, tea?"

GRACIE, about five years, asks Kitty, three, "Don't you wish you were dead, Kitty? Being answered decidedly, and rather shudderingly, in the negative, Gracie says, "Why, yes, Kitty, you would have such beautiful flowers, and such a handsome white marble stone, you know!"

☞ Gen. Foster made a very favorable impression at Washington during his late visit there. The number of troops in North Carolina has not been nearly so large as people generally have supposed. The enemy has been deceived by Foster's masterly generalship. In fact, thirty thousand rebels were afraid to pursue eight thousand Union troops as they were falling back from Goldsboro. But other troops have been constantly arriving at Newbern, and Gen. Foster will soon resume the offensive again.

☞ The Portland Press states that two young men coasted half way down the White Mountains the present winter on hand sleds. They passed the distance of four miles in nineteen and a half minutes, and the last two miles in two and a half minutes. The new mountain road may yet have attractions in winter as well as in summer. It would be a fine trip to ride up in a sleigh to the summit, and then slide down in a few moments on a hand-sled.

Morning Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 1, 1863.

THE NEW YEAR.

Once again—now for the twelfth time—have we altered the year-date at the head of this Chronicle. What changes, from 1852 to 1863—even in that short time! But of what use to speculate on them, or weep over them. "The past is past," and we cannot bring it back, if anybody is foolish enough to want to; but let us gather what of wisdom we may from it. And a very important and valuable lesson to learn is, that "sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof," and so never to borrow trouble from the future; and also, that "there is no day better than this day," and so never refuse to enjoy the present with its available pleasures. To-day is all we really have to do with—let us make the most of it, for of it is made up the old and the new years, time and eternity!

To those of our readers who see only woe and sadness, private and public, in prospect, we wish a speedy dispelling of their clouds, actual and imaginary, and the happiest new year possible to them. And to the laughing philosophers—those who make joy out of everything, or in spite of all things—we give, with more confidence, a Happy New Year!

For ourselves, we have but again to thank our friends and the public, for their long-continued and ever-increasing patronage; which enables us to say that the past year has been one of greater prosperity to the Chronicle, than any previous one, even; and we hope, through it, to be able to contribute in some measure towards the "happiness" of our readers, as their constant favor aids us to enjoy to-day.

A HAPPY NEW YEAR to you all, says Uncle Toby. But who can be happy on such a New Year's Day as this? may be the response of many a reader, either in speech or thought. Are we act in the midst of destructive and desolating war? Do not our households, in every quarter of the land, mourn to-day over the new made graves of the bravest and best of sons, the dearest and most desirable of brothers and lovers, the most faithful and beloved husbands, the kindest and most provident of fathers?

Yes: mourning and lamentation and woe are written on monumental stones, and pronounced in funeral orations everywhere: as they are written also on the bleeding hearts and broken hopes of ten thousand victims at home, whose age or sex keeps them from the ranks of battle,—and they linger unpronounced, on the trembling lips of those who are dumb with sorrow, and who look only down to the grave, refusing to be comforted.

This is one view: but there is another! They have not died in vain, neither have their lives been poured out without benefit to the world or compensation to themselves. As we look back on the past, we never mourn the fall of Warren on Bunker Hill, of Crispus Attucks in the Boston Massacre, or of our own men of New Hampshire who died on the memorable fields of the Revolution. No, we honor their memory, and look on their sacrifice as a part of the great and precious price which was paid for our liberation from foreign bondage, to attain which, says Mr. Jefferson, the revolutionary patriots endured "toil, famine, stripes, imprisonment, and death itself."

In the same light, coming generations will look on the roll of those who now lay down their lives on the altar of liberty, truth and righteousness. We may properly mourn their loss now, while we honor their elevation, and reverence their names. But those who come after us will pay the honor, without sharing in our sorrow. The patriot and philanthropist of to-day, can take this view in advance.

The bereaved and mourning relatives of the fallen, however, cannot all do this; but for them there is still another and a higher view, with which they may be comforted, and under which they may have a Happy New Year, viz. the "Life and Immortality" brought to light in the gospel, in virtue of which the Christian expects a reunion with the departed and beloved, the spirits of just men made perfect, in the presence and with the blessing of the God of the spirits of all flesh. Relying on this, and on the wisdom and goodness of the Almighty Ruler, the Judge of all the earth who will surely do right,—we may be calm and cheerful, especially when we see many of our friends at home fall as suddenly before death's unseen shaft, as do those who are mowed down by murderous showers of grapeshot and shells.

Trust in the Lord and do good, so shalt thou dwell in the Lord, and verily shalt be fed:—till the time for translation to the better land. A happy new year we wish you all: aye, and a happy new life, beginning to-day, never to close.

☞ James Welch was found dead in a sitting posture against a fence, on First street, South Boston, Monday afternoon. He was a noted toper.

THE REBELLION.

A telegram from the headquarters of the Army of the Potomac says that matters continue quiet on the Rappahannock.

A special dispatch from Washington states that on Monday evening the rebel forces were near Chantilly, six miles from Fairfax Court House. In passing Stoughton's forces Monday night, though covered by a wood and flying quickly, Stuart got a discharge of artillery and musketry. Six dead horses were found in the morning, and tokens of the removal of the wounded. The twenty-five ambulances and wagons they removed were empty, and the forty prisoners in their train were a motley crew of sutlers and soldiers. Canby's fight at Dumfries was a very handsome one. With inferior numbers he repelled the attack.

A dispatch from Frederick, Md., states that Stuart crossed the Potomac at Point of Rocks Tuesday, with 1500 rebel cavalry and a battery of flying artillery. He is believed to be moving on Frederick with the intention of destroying the bridge over the Monocacy river.

A Washington dispatch to the N. Y. Post states that the iron-clads Montauk, Passaic, Monitor and Galena were off—destination unknown.

The pirate Alabama was in Caicos passage, Dec. 15.

Dispatches from Cairo and Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 30, say: New Madrid is to be re-occupied. The 38th Iowa went there to-day. All is quiet at Columbus.

The Provost Marshal of Memphis has issued an order that for the present no trade shall be carried on with the country. The force that made the raid into Memphis is reported to be a company of hangers-on not recognized by Pemberton. Two companies of citizens have been formed and armed. Two regiments of troops have arrived, and the people feel secure, though the city is full of spies. The election is postponed twenty days.

We have trustworthy intelligence that Jackson was not taken two days ago, though an attack and repulse are reported as having occurred last Friday.

Grand Junction was also in Union hands at the latest accounts. The force that made the raid into Holly Springs is reported to have come north of the Memphis and Charleston railroad.

An order has been issued by the War Department assigning Gen. McClernand to the command of a corps under Maj. Gen. Grant. Members of Gen. McClernand's staff and other officers are ordered to report to him at Memphis City, Jan. 3.

A Louisville dispatch says, Col. Harlan attacked Morgan at Rolling Fork, Dec. 29. The fight lasted an hour and a half. The rebels retreated towards Bardstown, having lost several killed and wounded, and a captain and six privates captured. A messenger reports to Col. Harlan that our forces had an engagement at New Haven, Dec. 30, and repulsed the rebels. Gen. Rosecrans captured several cannon on his approach to Murfreesboro', and reports from below indicate an engagement progressing at that place.

Gen. Blunt, on the 28th, at Van Buren, Ark., reported that he was then shelling the rebels across the river, five miles below. If they did not retreat during the night, he should endeavor to cross in the morning. He had already captured 4 steamers, (3 of them heavily loaded with supplies,) a ferry boat and much ammunition. Quite a number of the enemy had been killed.

IN MISSOURI, the Governor in his message says, "he has long been convinced that the material interests of Missouri would be advanced by substituting free for slave labor, and recommends a plan by which the children of slaves born after the passage of the act shall be free, but remain under the control of their owners until they have arrived at a certain age, the owners to be compensated for the diminished value of slave mothers after they are thus rendered incapable of bearing slave children. During the discussion of the emancipation question, he says the Legislature cannot constitutionally adopt a scheme by which the owners of slaves can be divided into classes, and the slaves of one class be emancipated without compensation, while compensation is provided for the other class."

[The constitution of Missouri disallows freedom altogether;—but the rebellion has made a large hole in their Constitution.]

☞ Applications have been made to the Government by merchants and ship-owners in New York and Boston, for letters of marque to authorize private pursuit and capture of the Alabama. They have been refused, necessarily. It is said that a bill to meet the case will speedily go through Congress on its re-assembling. There ought to have been some bill of this kind passed at the extra session of Congress, on the first week of its session. But better late than never.

☞ Dr. Gleason will deliver his last lecture this evening, on the Language of the Human Countenance and its cultivation, the Temperaments and the best means of cultivating and improving them, together with the influence of Light upon health, strength and long life.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

☞ Persons who have soiled Postage Stamps, should present them at the Post Office in Portsmouth or Concord, as soon as they can. Traders would do well to receive them this week and next, only,—but not pay them out. One of our largest firms has already ceased to pay them out.

Persons having only a few soiled stamps, had better pass them over to some trader who has a large lot.

—— Henry McFarland, Esq., the junior editor and proprietor of the New Hampshire Statesman, has been made a Paymaster in the volunteer army, with the rank of Major.

——One of the coldest days in November, two boys, sons of Mr. Samuel P. Young, aged six and seven years, and another boy, belonging to Mrs. Sophia Adams, aged six years, started from their home in Barnstead, barefooted, to walk three miles to the recruiting station at Barnstead Centre, for the purpose of enlisting to go to the war. They had proceeded two miles and gone into a house to warm their toes, when night overtook them, and their friends found them and hurried them back home, thus defeating their patriotic intentions. They had been drilling all the forenoon at the sound of a toy drum, to prepare themselves for the great work before them.—Mirror.

☞ We are indebted to Mr. J. K. Flanders, of the "New South" newspaper office, for copies of that bright little sheet, printed weekly at Port Royal, S. C.

Also to Mr. Elbridge G. Pierce, and to our New Orleans correspondent "Ion," for various papers from that city. "The glory of New Orleans" newspapers "has departed," at any rate—for the Picayune, formerly a double and often triple sheet, like the New York dailies, is now single, and but little larger than this Chronicle.

Mr. Pierce, who recently "escaped" from the vicinity of Vicksburg, Miss., where he had resided for some years, and came home here by way of New Orleans, says that almost every available man has been pressed into the rebel army; and as he didn't care to "try it on," he "left between two days," and after much difficulty succeeded in getting to New Orleans. He says we of the North actually know nothing about war and its dread realities—and to his wish that we never may, every reader will say amen.

POLICE MATTERS.—Marshal Tarbox, of Biddeford, assisted by Officer Randall of this city, arrested at the Portsmouth Navy Yard on Tuesday a boy named Burnham, who had recently escaped from the Maine Reform School.

On Tuesday evening Mr. Mullen, of the firm of Archibald & Mullen of this city, entered a complaint at the City Marshal's office that two coats, valued at $3 each, had been stolen from their store. During the same evening two suspicious-looking young men, who had previously been observed about town, were arrested, the coats being found upon their persons. One of them was captured by the City Marshal in a house on Water street, and the other soon after in State street. In their possession was found a bundle containing five felt hats, which, it was ascertained, had been stolen from the store of Messrs. J. Dearborn & Co., and a vest and one pair of shoes, stolen from the store of Mr. Charles W. Gerrish. Their names were Joseph Young, formerly of Dover, and Curtis Crooker, of Minot, Me., a recent graduate from the Massachusetts State Prison. They were brought before the Police Court on Wednesday and committed for trial at the April term of the S. J. Court.

☞ A man named Smith, employed in the Naval Store at the Portsmouth Navy Yard, on Wednesday playfully clasped a small boy around the waist,—and in doing so accidentally brought his arm against a knife, which the boy was in the act of closing, severing an artery and causing a profuse flow of blood. His wound was dressed at the Hospital.

THE CANAL AT VICKSBURG.—The Vicksburg Citizen of the 4th inst., complains that neither the military nor civil powers have taken any measures to fill up the ditch which was dug by the Federals last spring for the purpose of turning the river away from that city. Allusion is made to some local jealousies, by which it appears there are parties on the other side of the river who are not unfriendly to the proposed change in the channel, thinking thereby to eventually secure the former immense trade of Vicksburg for another and rival locality. It is said that the first rise in the river will complete the new channel, and leave Vicksburg some three or four miles inland. At last accounts the upper rivers were rising and it is not impossible that sufficient water may soon come down to wash out the artificial channel.

A YOUNG VOLUNTEER in one of our New York regiments was captured in Virginia on the 7th ult., and taken before Stonewall Jackson, who traveled on the same train with him to Richmond. The prisoner had just seen the news of Seymour's election in a New York paper, and gave the first information of it to Stonewall, who exulted over the Democratic triumph in this State as another Bull Run, and remarked that better times might now be expected in the North. All the way to Richmond, Jackson proclaimed the news to those he met, and it was hailed as though it involved the recognition of the Southern Confederacy. Stonewall is smart, but sometimes a little too fast.—Tribune.

DIRGE FOR THE YEAR.

Orphan hours, the year is dead,
Come and sigh, come and weep!
Merry hours, smile instead,
For the year is but asleep:
See, it smiles as it is sleeping,
Mocking your untimely weeping.

As an earthquake rocks a corse
In its coffin in the clay,
So White Winter, that rough nurse,
Rocks the dead cold year to-day;
Solemn hours! Wail aloud
For your mother in her shroud.

As the wild air sighs and sways
The tree-swung cradle of a child,
So the breath of these rude days
Rocks the year—he calm and mild,
Trembling hours, she will arise
With new love within her eyes.

January gray is here,
Like a sexton by her grave;
February bears the bier,
March with grief doth howl and rave,
And April weeps—but, O ye hours!
Follow with May's fairest flowers.

—Shelley.

TIME.

Time is like a fashionable host,
That slightly shakes his parting guest by the hand;
And with his arms out stretched, as he would fly,
Grasps in the corner: welcome ever smiles,
And farewell goes out sighing.

DIDN'T WANT TO LIVE.—A newly married couple arrived in an eastern city recently, and took lodgings at one of the fashionable hotels, to pass away that propitious season—alas, too brief!—known as the honeymoon. Their happiness was the cause of envy amongst many, for not a cloud appeared to overshadow the enjoyments of the passing hours, until the doctor was sent for in great haste, to relieve the lady of a dose of laudanum which threatened to terminate her life. The skill of the doctor saved the wife, and after the bride returned to consciousness, she was asked what motive could have induced her to commit such a wicked act. She replied: "I saw a lady wink at my husband at the table, and I didn't want to live."

☞ The old sloop-of-war Saratoga reached Philadelphia a few days since from the west coast of Africa. She has captured two slavers since she left. Being an old and old-fashioned vessel, she will hardly be put in service again.

The population of Rye is about 1300.

☞ A Norfolk letter says that a British subject, who has just arrived from Charleston, states that nineteen negroes were hung at the latter place a short time since, for being detected in bringing arms in coffins, instead of bodies.

☞ The Book of Days, from A. Williams & Co., — published by J. P. Lippencott & Co., Philadelphia, is for sale by J. H. Foster. It contains many curious anecdotes and stories of the older times.

Rubber Band Carpet Sweeper.

TRY IT! TRY IT!!

It saves Money; it saves Carpets; it saves Furniture; it saves Labor; it is cheaper than Brooms at five cents apiece.

It gathers up all dust, dirt, and loose lint on the carpets, and raises no dust to settle on the furniture, drapery, or ornaments, or to smother, stifle and irritate the lungs.

It does not wear the carpets half so much as brooms or any other sweeper.

It is the only practicable sweeper made, and the only article fit to sweep a carpet.

With our late improvements it gives universal satisfaction to all who use it according to directions. For sale at No. 13 Market Street by

E. A. STEVENS,

NO. 46 MARKET STREET.

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking; giving an oven nearly 3 feet long! or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time! A check draft is applied to this stove by means of which the consumption of fuel is greatly lessened, and a steady fire can be kept day and night if desired.

THE MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be THE STOVE for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We believe the MODEL COOK to be the very best Stove in the Market, and invite every one to examine it whether they wish to purchase or not. It has had a very extensive sale since its introduction. Reference might be made to more than a hundred families in this city or vicinity who are using the Stove, and give it the highest commendation.

We refer to the following individuals who have purchased the Model Cook:—

David Kimball, Thos. F. Hurt, John T. French, Rev. Mr. Davies, Wm. Pettigrew, Capt. John Davis, Jeremiah Raitt, Mrs. Ann T. Perkins, James W. Jarvis, Francis O. Jarvis, Thos. L. Tullock, Jacob Wendell, Capt. Jacob Thompson, Gen. J. G. Hadley, G. Melvin Huntress, Jos. D. Akerman, James F. Shores, Wm. C. Newton, Horton D. Walker, Benj. Chesley, John Trundy, Richard L. Randall, Geo. Rice, Benj. F. Canney, Benj. M. Parker, Charles A. Wiggin, George W. Furber, Benj. Dennett, Henry F. Sparrill, John Harratt, Thos Murphy, Capt. Wm. Lambert, Joseph Stiles, John Senter, Wm. Bell, Cyrus Plumer, Freeman Hurd, James M. Locke, Daniel L. Randall, Isaiah Wilson, John E. Roberts—of Portsmouth; Samuel C. Dixon, Daniel I. Pryor, Cushman Pryor, of Treefethen's Island; Geo. N. Dixon, Samuel F. Paul, Elias Rowland, Timothy Dame, Eliot; Wm. S. Locke, Benj. Fernald, Mrs. Wm Locke, Kittery; R. F. Gerrish, Kittery Point; Hon. Clement March, Albert Hilsdedl, Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W. Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Mrs. Reuben F. Jenness, David Jenness, Moses Philbrick, Rye.

VICTOR COAL STOVE.

We offer this beautiful coal burner to the public, with full confidence in its merits.

It was brought into market two years since, and has come rapidly into use.

The Victor is one of the handsomest parlor stoves in the market, and is perfect in its operation. The arrangement for dumping the ashes is very fine—no dust need escape into the room—a continuous fire may be kept throughout the winter—the fuel all burned, and no clinkers made.

The quantity of fuel used is very small indeed. There is in this stove an excellent arrangement for ventilating the room in which it is placed, a feature not possessed by any other parlor stove.

Some of the sizes are provided with an oven and boiling place, making them very desirable for a dining room.

We sold a large number of Victor Stoves in our city last season, and they receive the highest commendation from those who are using them.

We have also the celebrated McGregor Stove, so well known in the market as to need no commendation.

A great variety of cheaper Stoves for coal and wood—Coal-hods—Patent Coal-sifters.

COAL LININGS,

and Repairing pieces for most of the stoves in use. Job Work attended to with dispatch.

CHRISTMAS & NEW YEAR'S GIFTS.

Reader, do you wish to know where to find a splendid assortment of goods from which to select your Gifts for the coming HOLIDAYS? If you do—and who does not?—please take my arm for a walk down Congress Street. Here we are at

and over the door is the name

JAMES F. SHORES, JR.

The window is adorned with Fine Engravings, as a specimen of what may be found in the Picture Drawer; one of these, well framed by Mr. Dutton, will be just the thing for some friend's parlor. Let us enter the store—on the left we find a table with BACKGAMMON & CHESS BOARDS, BATTLEDORES & SHUTTLECOCKS, and FANCY BASKETS.

Then the Half-Price Table well filled with PARIAN WARE, &c., which will be sold at ONE-HALF THE MARKET PRICE. Next are the High Colored PICTURE BOOKS and Cloth PICTURE BOOKS. Then the long case full of TOYS, samples of which are exhibited on the Table in the back of the store. Look at them—don't you wish you were a little child again that you might have a good time playing with a box of those Nine Pins, or Soldiers, or China Tea Sets, or Wooden Tea Sets, or Villages, or Noah's Arks, or Magnetic Toys, or those beautiful China or Biscuit Dolls, or,—but we have not time to enumerate all.

Let us turn to the other side of the store. Next to the Toy Table comes the Table of Games, on which you see are

DOMINOES, SOLITAIRE,
NINE PIN GAME,
DISSECTED PICTURES,
UNION GAME,
GAME OF AUTHORS, &c., &c.

Next comes the most valuable table of all—loaded as it is with

WRITING DESKS, WRITING CASES, Ladies' & Gentlemen's DRESSING CASES, Silver Plated CARD RECEIVERS, PARLOR THERMOMETERS, STANDISHES, PORT FOLIOS, NAPKIN RINGS, and the largest stock in the city of

PHOTOGRAPH ALBUMS,

Embracing all the various sizes to hold from 12 to 100 Photographs, and bound in Cambric, Turkey, Morocco and Velvet. Albums will be the most popular article for Presents this season.

Now look at the Counter Case with its GOLD PENS, GOLD PENCIL CASES,

PHOTOGRAPH ALBUMS,
POCKET BOOKS of various sizes,
PEARL CARD CASES,
PEARL FOLDERS, SCOTCH
WOOD FOLDERS, HAIR
BRUSHES, SILVER FRUIT
KNIVES, SILVER PLATED
NAPKIN RINGS, IVORY TABLETS, POCKET KNIVES, &c.

And now at the long array of JUVENILE BOOKS, filling that Book-rack and those shelves, and then at the Table of WORK BOXES, of various sizes and quality. Now step inside the counter and examine the FAMILY BIBLES, POCKET BIBLES, BOOK OF COMMON PRAYER, CHURCH SERVICES, &c.

And now, my friend, do you think you have seen enough? "Yes sir, I guess I have, and rather too much, for with such a variety before me I am at a loss what to select." Well, then you had better go home, get your Head settled, your Mind collected, your Purse well filled and tomorrow come back and make your selections.—But one word before we part—don't forget to tell your friends that THE PLACE to buy

Morning Chronicle.

A lady in Derbyshire, England, recently accomplished a good deed for the public security. She was minding her child in her room at midnight, her husband being ill in bed, when she heard the noise of glass cracking in the room below. She quietly laid her baby down, took a revolver and went down stairs alone. Opening the door of the front sitting-room, she saw a man with a mask upon his face and a crowbar in his hand, having just entered the house. With deliberate aim she fired once at him, but the cap missed; she discharged the next barrel, however, and brought the man down, wounding him so seriously that, although his companions took him away at the time, he was afterwards taken.

A correspondent of the Iowa Homestead was riding out the other day with a friend, and observed that one of the horses had a hole in each ear. On inquiring the cause, he learned that it was to keep the horse from jumping. "Why," said he, "a horse don't jump with his ears." "You are mistaken," replied his friend, "a horse jumps as much with his ears as with his feet, and unless he can have free use of his ears he cannot jump." He ties the two ears together, and has no more trouble with the horse. We give this for what it is worth.

POST OFFICE, PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Dec. 26, 1862.

Redemption of Postage Stamps.

ON and after Jan. 1, 1863, for the term of thirty days, Postage Stamps that have been used for Currency will be received at this office for redemption on the following conditions, viz:—

Stamps offered for redemption must be assorted, and each denomination must be inclosed in separate envelops, and endorsed with the alleged number and value. The several envelops must then be placed in one sealed envelop and endorsed with the aggregate value of the parcel, and the name and place of residence or business of the owner.

Stamps of the old issue and Stamps which have been used for the payment of postage—which fact will be determined by this department—will be retained without payment and destroyed.

Only one package will be redeemed for the same individual, family, firm or association.

Only such Stamps as have been used as Currency will be redeemed. Good Stamps, if such are found, will be returned.

Packages deposited for redemption, with be receipted for and registered. And on and after the twenty-fourth day of Jan. next, payment will be made on the presentation of the receipt. The undersigned is authorized whenever he may deem it expedient for the interest of the Department, to require an affidavit from any applicant for the redemption of Postage Stamps, that he obtained the said Stamps honestly, and that they have never to his knowledge been used on letters, or cleared after such use.

The Post-Offices at Portsmouth and Concord are the only offices in this State where Stamps are redeemed.

The undersigned has instructed to give express notice that the time for depositing Stamps for redemption is limited to thirty days, and will expire at this office on the fourth day of February, 1863; and that this time will not be extended.

After this period has expired, all persons who use Postage Stamps for Currency will do so at their own risk.

Desirable Residence

ON MIDDLE ROAD FOR SALE.

The Subscriber will sell the COTTAGE HOUSE in which he now resides, on Middle Road—one of the most carefully constructed, and for its apparent size, most capacious dwellings in Portsmouth; containing nine good sized rooms, with an ample attic—seven of the rooms measuring 16 by 15 feet each.

The house was built by the day, ten years since, by the late Wm. P. Currier, under the particular inspection of the subscriber, and for his own use. The Lot measures 95 feet on Middle Road, and is over 300 feet deep, well fitted with almost every variety of forest and fruit trees, with vines, shrubs and flowers, all in full bearing and in the greatest abundance. The premises will be disposed of at private sale only, and not at any time at auction.

FRANKLIN HOUSE

Portsmouth, N. H.

The undersigned having assumed the management of this well known public house, and having made extensive improvements therein, solicits a continuance of the patronage of the travelling public that has so long been extended to the house.

A new parlor and an extensive suite of commodious and well-ventilated sleeping apartments have been added; and a separate Ladies' Entrance from Congress street arranged. Gentlemen with their families, or ladies unattended, will now find quiet and retired apartments connected with the street and dining hall by an independent entrance.

The house will be kept as a first class hotel in every respect, and the proprietors will spare no pains to merit the patronage of those visiting this section of the State.

A good STABLE is connected with the house, where parties visiting Portsmouth with teams, will be promptly and carefully waited upon.

THE MAGEE COOKING STOVE.

The subscribers, having received their Fall stock of Stoves, would especially call the attention of the public to the

CELEBRATED AND UNEQUALLED

MAGEE COOK STOVE,

as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.

There is a new style and very superior broiler and sad iron heater combined, by which the odor of broiling meats are prevented from escaping to the room. With the extension top there is a large copper Reservoir for hot water; also a large tin warming closet attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.

The arrangements for filling the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, so that coal can possibly escape into the room, and the shoveling up of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of kindling every day.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who are now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.

We would refer to the following purchasers:

"MAGEE'S PATENT" VENTILATING & AIR WARMING FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing the current of warm air, moist and agreeable; and keeps the air which comes in contact with the fire-pots used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating Furnaces have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney. This is common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off cold, a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once taking out the fire.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world.—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq.	Albert R. Hatch, Esq.
Aaron H. Hill,	Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell,	John Sise, and others.

☞ MATHEWS' VENETIAN HAIR DYE.—This celebrated Dye was first prepared in 1845; since that time it has been used by thousands, and in no instance has it failed to give PERFECT SATISFACTION.

THE VENETIAN DYE is the cheapest in the world. It price is ONLY FIFTY CENTS, and each bottle contains DOUBLE THE QUANTITY OF DYE, contained in those usually sold for ONE DOLLAR.

THE VENETIAN DYE is the safest composition of its class. IT IS WARRANTED NOT TO INJURE the hair, or the scalp, in the least.

THE VENETIAN DYE works with RAPIDITY AND CERTAINTY. It causes no annoyance or trouble to those who use it.

THE VENETIAN DYE produces any shade that may be desired—one that will not fade or rub off, nor wash out,—one that is as permanent as the hair itself.

THE VENETIAN DYE does not, in any manner, interfere with the NATURAL SOFTNESS OF THE HAIR,—it neither scorches nor dries it.

THE VENETIAN DYE is the best, cheapest, safest, most convenient, most successful, and most permanent Dye ever used.

Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Chapped Hands.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Ringworms.

And from Sores and Wounds of the most serious nature down to a common Pimple. It eradicates Pimples from the face, and beautifies the skin. There is no preparation before the public that can equal this Salve in prompt and energetic action for the speedy cure of external diseases, as those who have tried its virtues testify. Soldiers, Sailors, and Fishermen, will find this Salve their best friend.

It has none of the irritating heating properties of other remedies, but cools, cleanses and heals the most serious Sores and Wounds. Every family, and especially those containing children, should keep a box on hand in case of accident, for it will save them much trouble, suffering, and money. All it wants is a fair trial to cure old and inveterate Sores.

The Chronicle.

A star for every State: a State for every star.
NO PARTY—ONE COUNTRY.

"Bound to no party—to no sect confined;
The world our home; our brethren all mankind.
Love truth, do good, be just and fair with all;
Exalt the right, though every lim fall."

"Let me warn you in the most solemn manner against the baneful effects of the spirit of party, generally. It is a spirit not to be encouraged.—Its common and continual mischief is sufficient to make it the interest and duty of a wise people to discourage and restrain it. In governments of the popular form, it is seen in its greatest rankness, and is truly their worst enemy."—Washington's Farewell Address.

WILL OF THE LATE DEACON FOSTER.—The will of the late Deacon James H. Foster has been presented for probate. It is in his own hand-writing, dated October 22d, 1862, and makes John P. Healy and Richard C. Greenleaf his executors. He gives $20,000 to relatives and friends, and makes his daughter, Elizabeth Ann Foster, his residuary legatee, after paying the following public bequests: To the Deacons of the First Church in Boston, $1000, the interest to be paid annually to needy students in the Divinity School at Cambridge; to the Association for the Relief of Aged and Indigent Ministers, $2000; to the Institution for the Relief of Aged and Destitute Females, $1000; to the Home for Aged and Destitute Men, $3000; to the fund of the Association to establish a House of the Good Samaritan, $50,000. Upon the decease of his daughter, the following additional bequests are to be paid: To the Home for Aged and Destitute Men, $10,000; Institution for Aged and Destitute Females, $10,000; House of the Good Samaritan, $20,000.

GOING TO REST.—Did you ever know a child, though tired with play, who was willing to go to bed? How they will wink open their poor eyes, and stare about, and linger round the bright lamps, and plead for a reprieve—"Just a little longer—just five or ten minutes?" Time will cure them of that soon enough, poor things; so don't try to teach them the lesson now. Let them "sit up," before the evil days come, when sleep is the most coveted boon on earth; when they dread nothing so much as waking to a new day, and its repetition of weary struggles with wrong and wrong doers, lighted by gleams of sunshine, so few and transient. Crowd into the children's infant life all the innocent happiness you can—they may have that, at least, to look back upon, when they have no longer the wish or power to "sit up."

NEAR-SIGHTED.—Persons living in cities begin to wear glasses earlier than country people, from the want of opportunities of looking at things at a distance. Those who wish to put far off the evil day of "spectacles," should accustom themselves to long views. The eye is always relieved, and sees better, if, after reading awhile, we direct the sight to some distant object, even for a minute. Great travellers and hunters are seldom near-sighted. Humboldt, in his 87th year, could read unaided. Sailors discern objects at a great distance with considerable distinctness, when a common eye sees nothing at all.

☞ The number of languages spoken is 4064. The average of human life is 33 yrs. One-quarter die before the age of 7, one-half before the age of 17. To every thousand persons one only reaches 100 years, and not more than one in five hundred will reach 80 years.

There are on the earth 1,000,000,000 inhabitants. Of these 333,333,333 die every year, 91,824 every day, 7,789 every hour, and 60 every minute or one every second. These losses are balanced by an even number of births.

The married are longer lived than the single; and above all those who observe a sober and industrious conduct. Tall men, other things being equal, live longer than shorter ones. Women have more chance of life previous to the age of 50 than men, but fewer after. The number of marriages are in the proportion of 76 to 100. Marriages are more frequent after the equinoxes, that is during the months of June and December. Births and deaths are more frequent by night than by day.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 2, 1863.

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

The Republican State Convention of New Hampshire met at Phenix Hall, Concord, on Thursday, Jan. 1, the attendance of delegates being quite large. Adj. Gen. Colby, Chairman of the State Central Com., called the convention to order at half past eleven, and on motion the following officers of the convention were chosen:—

President—Ex-Gov. Goodwin, of Portsmouth.

Vice Pres.—John Greely, Jr., of Londonderry, and 9 others.

Secretaries—F. O. Monroe, of Nashua, and 2 others.

Ex-Gov. Goodwin was escorted to the chair by Messrs. Hackett of Portsmouth, Walker of Claremont, and Dewey of Hanover.

On taking the chair Mr. Goodwin was received with great applause, and made a vigorous and patriotic speech. He commenced by urging the importance of harmonious action and that the South receive no comfort from their action, as in New York and the West. The character of the rebellion was searchingly reviewed, and its untoward results, if successful. The Democratic argument of heavy taxes, as a reason for not prosecuting the war, was refuted, he said, by the prosperous condition of material interest at the North. The progress of the war during the past year was considered, the preparations of the present time, and the undoubted speedy triumph of the Union arms. Warm sympathy was tendered to the families of the fallen heroes of the war, and the heartiest support of the President expressed.

Whole number of votes,	517
Scattering,	25
Lemuel H. Pattee, Antrim,	19
Onslow Stearns, Concord,	54
Samuel Wheeler, Dover,	37
Frederick Smith, Manchester,	60
Walter Harriman, Warner,	96
Joseph A. Gilmore, Concord,	276

While the formal ballot was progressing the chairman read a letter from Mr. Harriman, dated Dec. 24, near Fredericksburg, to A. P. Davis of Warner, saying that he could by no means consent to be considered a candidate.

On the formal ballot, there were 573 votes thrown, of which Hon. Joseph A. Gilmore had 325, Hon. Walter Harriman 155, and Mr. Gilmore was then declared the unanimous nominee of the convention.—The resolutions advocate a vigorous prosecution of the war; endorse the Emancipation Proclamation; acknowledge the noble services of our brave soldiers in the field, and declare that all propositions of amnesty towards rebels in arms should be met with scorn and contempt. Mr. Gilmore having entered the hall, amidst great applause, accepted the nomination, his brief remarks being received with great enthusiasm.

☞ The hat and fur store of John Clogston, in Lawrence, was burglariously entered between the hours of 12 and 7 o'clock Monday morning, and money and furs to the amount of about $4000 taken therefrom. The burglar or burglars entered the sleeping room of Mr. Clogston, over the store, and took away his pants, in the pocket of which they obtained the key of the safe, and between seventy and eighty dollars in money. Having forced a way into the store, they unlocked the safe, took $2000 therefrom, and selected between $1500 and $2000 worth of the most valuable furs in the store. With this large haul they decamped without disturbing anything else in the store or awakening any of the family.

☞ J. C. McLeod has been elected to Congress by the Norfolk District, Virginia. Mr. McLeod was born in Virginia, but is not an F. F. V., however. He started in life as a school-teacher, and is said to be well educated and thoroughly competent for the position to which he has been elected. The vote, which was the first by ballot in Norfolk, was as large as usual, making the necessary allowance for the males absent in the rebel army or within the rebel lines.

LADIES' EMPLOYMENT AGENCY.—Miss Virginia Penny opened, in New York city, December 8th, 1862, in the Bible House, No. 44, an office for the purpose of securing employment to women and girls in all the various branches of labor, except domestic service. The desire is particularly to offer facilities of communication to women of industry, worth and education, with those who may need their services in the capacities of teachers, book-keepers, telegraph operators, copyists, wood engravers, china decorators, wall paper and print designers, type setters, saleswomen, factory operatives, &c.

☞ Secretary Welles has provided convoy for all the homeward-bound California steamers.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— The Strafford Bank, Dover, has declared a semi-annual dividend of 4 per cent.

—— Dr. George E. Pinkham, of Dover, has been appointed Assistant Surgeon in the 6th Mass. regiment.

—— A fire occurred in Barnstead near the Parade, on the Robinson Place, so called, on Sunday night last, Dec. 28, at about 11 o'clock. The fire was discovered in the barn, which was wholly consumed, together with the hay and six cattle. The dwelling house and L were also consumed. The furniture was mostly saved. It is supposed to be the work of an incendiary.—The property belonged to Samuel D. Nutter, Esq., and was insured for $1000 in the Barnstead Company.

—— An unknown man, about 70 years old, apparently insane, was struck by the engine on the Nashua road, near the New Hampshire line, Tuesday afternoon, and instantly killed. The train was under full headway, and the collision threw him ten feet from the track.

—— The bells were rung at sunrise and and noon, and fifty guns fired in Concord, on account of the "hoped for" emancipation proclamation.

☞ The address of the N. H. Soldiers' Aid Association, at the National Capital, is No. 717, 7th street, Washington, D. C. Letters requesting information in regard to our soldiers, &c., should be thus directed.

THE REBELLION.

Gen. Rosecrans' army, on the 29th, made a general advance and pushed the rebels back 7 or 8 miles. A general engagement was imminent, as our army was sweeping down on all the roads to Murfreesboro.

Information from Corinth to Saturday night, states that the Union garrison at the place were on half rations, but foraging parties were able to supply the deficiency.—This disproves the rebel statement that their troops had occupied the place. A large cavalry force is still in pursuit of Van Dorn.

It is refreshing to read of so daring and successful a raid by our troops as that to Van Buren, Ark. The steamers Violet, Rose, Douglas, Frederick, Nortrebe, Erie No. 6, and Van Buren, with their cargoes of grain and provisions for the rebel army, were burned; also a large amount of army stores. The rebels burned their arsenal and ferryboat at Fort Smith to prevent them from falling into our hands; also a large quantity of provisions on the opposite bank of the river. A general conflagration was in progress when our forces left. Many deserters came into our camp and reported that the rebel army of trans-Mississippi was completely disorganized,—that three Mississippi regiments and two from Texas, had stacked their arms and started for home; and that a regiment of cavalry, sent in pursuit, instead of arresting, joined the runaways.

A dispatch from Gen. Burnside's army states that a reconnoissance in force went out on Wednesday morning, which will probably be heard from in a few days. It is believed that a considerable portion of Gen. Lee's army has moved from its late position and gone up the Rappahannock.—The Washington Star says Stuart has not crossed into Maryland. The rumor grew out of the fact that 10 or 12 rebel guerrillas crossed from Bell's Bluff over to Harrison's Island, for a brief thieving expedition in Maryland; but seeing that their motions were observed, they prudently returned into Loudon county before daybreak.

A dispatch to the N. Y. Herald states that information was brought to Col. Windham, on Wednesday, that the rebels were rebuilding the bridge across the Rappahannock station. He immediately ordered Col Richmond of the 1st Michigan cavalry, to make a reconnoissance to ascertain the facts. Col. Richmond refused to obey the order upon the ground of informality and the want of rations. He was placed under arrest.—It has since been ascertained that the rebels rebuilt the bridge at the Rappahannock station, and that a train has passed over it and proceeded down the road as far as Catlett's station. Col. Richmond could have prevented the re-construction of the bridge.

Gen. Butler and staff arrived at New York on Thursday from New Orleans 24th. Previous to leaving, he issued a farewell proclamation to the people of Louisiana. Gen. Banks had planned a campaign, Baton Rouge being fixed upon as the base of operations, but no movement had yet been made.

Schooner Courier, loaded with arms for the rebels, was captured Dec. 20.

THE SAN JACINTO.—The Boston Transcript says it is due to the commander of the San Jacinto that it should be generally known that he was warned by the French authorities at Martinique to keep more than three leagues from land, or consent to remain twenty-four hours after the Alabama should have left. In laying off the harbor, therefore, which is very wide, the Alabama stole out in a dark night and escaped. The story of the Alabama's officers, and that of the Diario newspaper, about the San Jacinto, are probably great exaggerations.

NOTES OF FORMER DAYS.

Collected and Collated—by UNCLE TOBY.

First Church—Training Field—Portsmouth Village—War.

[To give our notices of Joshua Moodey in some readable connexion, we left the order of Annals, and went forward to the day of his death, in 1697. We now go back, in the Annals, to 1671.]

There were nine persons who entered into covenant and composed the first church, namely, Joshua Moodey, John Cutt, Richard Cutt, Elias Stileman, Richard Martyn, Samuel Haynes, James Pendleton, John Pendleton, John Fletcher, and John Tucker.

The Selectmen agree with Wm. Cotton to fence the ground for a training field, and to clear off all the trees and bushes from the same.

This is the same ground, which the town conveyed to the south parish in 1809, and is now occupied as the Proprietor's Burying Ground.

July 24. The Selectmen agree with John Pickering to build a cage twelve feet square with stocks within it, and a pillory on the top, a convenient space from the west end of the meeting-house.

In 1672, March 12, it was voted, that if any shall smoke tobacco in the meeting-house at any public meeting, he shall pay a fine of five shillings for the use of the town.

The General Court at Boston, appointed Elias Stileman, John Gilman, and Samuel Dalton, a committee to settle boundaries between this town and Hampton.

The Court likewise "declares that they shall be willing to grant to Portsmouth land for a village, when they shall declare to this Court the place where they desire it."

In 1673, the town voted and consented to assume, and carry into effect the engagement made by individuals of the town, in 1699, to pay £60 annually, for seven years, for the benefit of Harvard College.

John Pickering, in a general town meeting, held the 13th of March, "did voluntarily and freely for himself and heirs forever, surrender to the town an highway of two rods broad, through his land, commonly called Pickering's Neck, with liberty to pass over his dam, both for horse and foot, to and from the meeting house, and this to lie forever for a public highway." In consideration whereof "the town, though they believe and know that it was their own before, yet to gratify the said John Pickering and to prevent what trouble might otherwise arise, do freely give him fifty acres of land in some convenient place, where the town hath any common land." Pickering engaged to build a sufficient bridge six feet wide over his mill-dam, for the sum of fifty shillings, and to maintain the said bridge during his natural-life, for twenty shillings a year.

A war broke out in 1675, between the Indians and the Plymouth Colony. The tribe of Womponoags, who were their nearest neighbors, commenced hostilities, and from the name of their sachem, it was called Phillip's war. But it soon became general, and all the English settlements from Plymouth to Kennebec, were involved in it. A circumstance took place, which incited the eastern Indians more readily to join it. A sachem named Squando resided near the river Saco. He was a person of great consequence, not only with his own tribe, but also with all the neighboring Indians: He possessed, as they supposed, a power of divination and enchantment, and took the lead in their religious exercises, which gave him great influence among them. Some sailors met his squaw, who had her infant with her on the river in a canoe, which they upset for sport. The child sunk, and the mother, diving to the bottom, brought it up alive; but it died soon after, and they concluded its death was caused by the conduct of the sailors. Squando resented the insult very highly, and exerted himself to provoke the Indians to war against the English. Portsmouth was subject to constant alarms; business was suspended, and every one was obliged to provide for the safety of himself and family. The inhabitants generally left their habitations, and collected together in some house, suitable for a garrison, where they kept guard continually, to prevent being surprised by the enemy. The neighboring towns were greater sufferers than Portsmouth. A party of Indians, came down the river, killing and plundering every person they found off their guard, till they came opposite to this place, when some cannon being fired at them, they retreated precipitately and fled to the swamps.

Whilst these difficulties and distresses were prevailing, the inhabitants were alarmed with the expectation of new troubles and embarrassments, in consequence of some proceedings then taking place in England. Robert Mason had again renewed his claim to New Hampshire, and petitioned the King to be reinstated in his property there. The King submitted the question to Sir Wm. Jones, his Attorney-General, and to Sir Francis Winnington, his Solicitor General, who reported "that John Mason, Esq., grandfather to the petitioner, by virtue of several grants from the Council of New England, under their common seal, was instated in fee in sundry great tracts of land in New England, by the name of New Hampshire, and that the petitioner, being heir at law to the said John, had a good and legal title to said land."

In 1676, in consequence of the opinion of the Attorney and Solicitor General upon Mason's petition, the lords of trade and plantations, sent Edward Randolph, a relation of Mason, to New England, to examine into the state of affairs there. After having delivered to the government of Massachusetts, a citation to send over agents to answer to Mason's complaint, he came to Portsmouth in July, and published the letter from Mason to the inhabitants, claiming the territory of New Hampshire as his property. This letter excited great alarm among the people, and on the 1st of September they held a town meeting, at which they appointed John Cutt and Richard Martyn, Esqs., and Captains Daniel and Stileman, to draft a petition to the King for a redress of their grievances. They stated, that they had bona fide purchased their lands of the Indians, had brought them from a state of nature, under cultivation, at a great expense, and prayed for relief against Mason's claim. Which petition they forwarded to the King.

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr. D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.

Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your case. Dr. Dow has also for sale the French Capotes, warranted the best preventive. Order by mail. Three for $1 and a red stamp.

CAUTION

To Females in Delicate Health.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 & 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to our native practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

LECTURE TO LADIES.—Dr. Gleason will deliver a lecture to ladies at the Temple this, Friday, afternoon, commencing at 3 o'clock.

The last of Dr. Gleason's course of general lectures was delivered on Thursday evening, and was attended by a very large audience. A series of resolutions, highly eulogistic of the course and earnestly recommending Dr. Gleason to other communities which he may visit, were offered by Dr. Baker and, being seconded by Rev. Mr. Patterson with a few remarks heartily and fully endorsing them, were adopted, the audience rising.

☞ Messrs. John H. Ferguson & George H. Shannon announce that they have bought the large and excellent Livery and Hack stock of Mr. Frank H. Blaisdell, and will henceforth conduct the stable formerly occupied by Mr. Somerby—and we have no doubt, will prove worthy successors of that accomplished and successful "whip."

☞ The first number of the new Democratic newspaper in this city, "The States and Union," is to be issued to-day, Friday, and weekly regularly hereafter.

☞ A friend who was at the Portsmouth City Farm one day early last Fall—speaking of apples a day or two since, told us that he saw Superintendent Norton packing to send to England on one order, 143 barrels of superior Fisher apples which had been sold here, for $1.50 per barrel. The fruit must have been extra, harvested in the best condition, and sold at the right time.

SAM SHARPLEY, it will be remembered, will be in town next week, with his popular Minstrel Troupe and Brass Band, and will give a couple of his unrivalled performances in the Temple, on Monday and Tuesday evenings, January 5th and 6th.

☞ A Key West letter states that the gunboat Augusta sailed on the 25th ult. for Aspinwall, to convoy a California steamer. The Augusta is commanded by Captain Enoch G. Parrott, of this city. A letter to the Boston Journal, dated Key West, December 26th, says:—"The fine war steamer Augusta, Capt. Parrott, has been busily engaged all night in coaling and receiving stores and other preparations for a cruise after the Alabama, and to afford convoy and protection to the returning Californians. She is now leaving the wharf, (8 A. M., 26th,) having been in port but 20 hours. It is pleasant to record such evidence of energy and celerity of movement, and if the "290" is fallen in with by Capt. Parrott he must fight if he does not run, whatever may be his superiority over the Augusta, or we much mistake the metal of Capt. P."

☞ The firm of S. H. Gookin & Co., Boston, was dissolved Jan. 1. A limited partnership has been formed with S. H. Gookin as a special partner, contributing $25,000.

☞ The British steamer Caledonia, from Glasgow, via Portland for New York, went ashore on Wednesday night, on Cape Cod, and on Thursday morning she lay about six hundred feet from the beach, heeled off shore. The sea was very heavy, but the life-boats were then putting off to save the crew.

☞ After the arrival of Gen. Banks at New Orleans, the question of the future movements of the expedition was discussed among the general officers in his presence, when he remarked: "Gentlemen—We shall never return as we came [pointing down the Mississippi], and we are not going to Texas."

☞ The recent "rebel raid" into Memphis was a trivial affair. A company of guerrillas, commanded by Capt. Burrows, formerly a Presbyterian minister, who have been burning cotton and "sloshing about" on their own hook for several months, visited the suburbs, attracted by a whisky shop, which they cleaned out, and then left.

☞ The Bangor Whig reports the arrival at St. Thomas of the brig Hampden, of Bangor, previously said to have been seized and confiscated by the French authorities for signalizing the movements of the Alabama to the San Jacinto, while lying in the harbor of Martinique.

☞ The Ericsson battery Valiant, which was launched at Boston some weeks since, went on her trial trip on Saturday. She is of the same model as the Montauk and Passaic. Her trial was entirely satisfactory.

☞ Throughout Middle Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia and Mississippi, the rebel conscription has effectually done its work. Few subject to the conscript act are left at home.

Some of the Southern secesh newspapers are printing them as best they can on common wall paper. So they are mechanically as well as politically earnest for a partition, but they must be driven to the wall.—Portland Argus.

☞ A man's money seldom grows more than half as fast as his love of it.

REBELLION RECORD. No. 25.—This number of this valuable publication brings the record down to last June, and contains portraits of Brig. Gen. J. S. Wadsworth, of New York, and the rebel Gen. Bragg. ☞ ATTENTION, THE WHOLE!

RYE, N.H., Feb. 26, 1846. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended to the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of DR. SWEETT'S PANACEA, and several bottles of his Humor Wash, which have effected a cure. There can be no mistake, as this cure was effected more than three years ago. No other medicines can equal Dr. Swett's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold it to a number of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it since I have acted as agent for the sale of it. JOSIAH JENNESS.

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with diseases of stomach. Your Panacea has often then vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

From ELDER I CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named. ISRAEL CHESLEY

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26y

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven; for baking; giving an oven nearly 2 feet long; or large enough to take six large pieces on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time. A check draft is applied to this stove by means of which the consumption of fuel is greatly lessened, and a steady fire can be kept day and night if desired.

THE MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be THE STOVE for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We believe the MODEL COOK to be the very best Stove in the Market, and invite every one to examine it whether they wish to purchase or not. It has had a very extensive sale since its introduction. Reference might be made to more than a hundred families in this city or vicinity who are using the Stove, and give it the highest commendation.

We refer to the following individuals who have purchased the Model Cook:—

David Kimball, Thos. F. Burt, John T. French, Rev. Mr. Davies, Wm. Pettigrew, Capt. John Davis, Jeremiah Railt, Mrs. Ann T. Perkins, James W. Jarvis, Francis C. Jarvis, Thos. L. Tolford, Jacob Wendell, Capt. Jacob Thompson, Gen. J. G. Hadley, G. Melvin Huntress, Jos. D. Akerman, James F. Shores, Wm. C. Newton, Horton Walker, Benj. Chesver, John Trundy, Richard L. Randall, Geo. Rice, Benj. F. Caswell, Benj M. Parker, Charles A. Wiggin, George W. Raitt, Daniel Dennett, Henry F. Gerrish, John Harratt, Thos Murphy, Capt. Wm. Lambert, Joseph Stiles, John Senter, Wm. Bell, Cyrus Plumer, Freeman Hurd, James M. Locke, Geo. N. Dixon, Samuel F. Paul, Elias Remick, Timothy Dame, Eliot; Wm. S. Locke, Benj. Fernald, Mrs. Wm. Locke, Kittery; R. F. Gerrish, Kittery Point; Hon. Clement March, Albert Blaisdell, Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W. Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Mrs. Reuben P. Jenness, David Jenness, Moses Philbrick, Rye.

VICTOR COAL STOVE.

We offer this beautiful coal burner to the public, with full confidence in its merits.

It was brought into market two years since, and has come rapidly into use.

The Victor is one of the handsomest parlor stoves in the market, and is perfect in its operation. The arrangement for dumping the ashes is very fine—no dust need escape into the room—a continuous fire may be kept throughout the winter—the coal all burned, and no clinkers made.

The quantity of fuel used is very small indeed. There is in this stove an excellent arrangement for ventilating the room in which it is placed; a feature not possessed by any other parlor stove.

Some of the sizes are provided with an oven and boiling place, making them very desirable for a dining room.

We sold a large number of Victor Stoves in our city last season, and they receive the highest commendation from those who are using them.

We have also the celebrated McGregor Stove, so well known in the market as to need no commendation.

A great variety of cheaper Stoves for coal and wood—Coal-hods—Patent Coal-sifters.

COAL LININGS,

and Repairing pieces for most of the stoves in use. Job Work attended to with dispatch.

THE SMART LITTLE GIRL.—In a school way down in Dixie, whose teacher rather prided himself upon his skill in imparting to his pupils a correct knowledge of spelling, upon a certain examination day, when the trustees and parents were in attendance upon the exercises, the whole school was put through a course of spelling. The word Aaron was given out by a visitor. After numerous attempts at it, it was correctly rendered by a little girl, who cried out:

"Big A, little a, r-o-n—Aaron."

In the course of a few minutes all went gaily as a marriage bell, every sound being spelled correctly. At last some one gave out the word Gallery. This was rather a "poser," being out of the regular track of words spelled by the classes. Many unsuccessful attempts having been made, by and by a rough urchin, whose eyes fairly twinkled with the expected triumph, spoke out in a clear, ringing accent, mindful of the previous victory:

"Big gal little gal o-r-y—gallery!"

It is needless to say that that effort closed the exercises in spelling, and literally brought down the house.

A VERY INTELLIGENT CONTRABAND.—A correspondent with Gen. Banks' army, on the occasion of the re occupation of Baton Rouge, encountered a group of darkies in the suburb. He says he asked one of them if there were any abolitionists in Baton Rouge.

"No mass', de rebels took dem all off."

"Indeed! what did they do with them?"

"Dey shoots 'em, sho, mas'r."

"So I suppose. You know what an abolitionist is, don't you?"

"Yes, mass', what de sogers call cattle."

That sufficed.

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (under the Act of 1837,)

75 State Street, opposite Kilby Street,

BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers and Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have the advantage for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Proprietor is led to give proof that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that a great portion of the kind are the charges for professional service to moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him, when required, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay thereby, are here stayed inventions.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse

CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them a early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of receiving the careful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."

JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twelve rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.

BUY CALIFORNIA WINES.

They are the Purest!

The Best!

The Cheapest!

The "sunny slopes" of "Los Angelos" have announced to the world that America is a wine growing country, and as the discovery of gold sent a thrill through the old world, so will the discovery of these Wines startle them again, as it says, "one more link broken which has bound us to Europe," "one more step to independence." Let every man, woman and child who love Wine, see to it that they buy none other than these.

"The Rock" is a most delicious Wine, and rivals in delicacy its German predecessor.

The "Angelica" and "Muscatel" are melting, luscious and rich, and will take the place of Malaga, Tokay, or other rich Wine.

The Port has a fine flavor and body; and The Port is excellent because it is pure.

Desirable Residence

ON MIDDLE ROAD FOR SALE.

The Subscriber will sell the COTTAGE HOUSE in which he now resides, on Middle Road—one of the most carefully constructed, and for its apparent size, most capacious Dwellings in Portsmouth; containing nine good sized rooms, with an ample attic—seven of the rooms measuring 16 by 15 feet each.

The house was built by the day, ten years since, by the late Wm. P. Currier, under the particular inspection of the subscriber, and for his own use. The Lot measures 65 feet on Middle Road, and is over 200 feet deep, well filled with almost every variety of forest and fruit trees, with vines, shrubs and flowers, all in full bearing and in the greatest abundance. The premises will be disposed of at private sale only, and not at any time at auction

FRANKLIN HOUSE

Portsmouth, N. H.

The undersigned, having assumed the management of this well-known public house, and having made extensive improvements therein, solicits a continuance of the patronage of the travelling public that has so long been extended to the house.

A new parlor and an extensive suite of commodious and well-ventilated sleeping apartments have been added; and a separate Ladies' Entrance from Congress Street, arranged. Gentlemen with their families, or ladies unattended, will now find quiet and retired apartments connected with the street and dining hall by an independent staircase.

The house will be kept as a first class hotel in every respect, and the proprietors will spare no pains to merit the patronage of those visiting this section of the State.

A good STABLE is connected with the house. Were persons visiting Portsmouth with teams, will be promptly and carefully waited upon.

THE MAGEE COOKING STOVE.

The subscribers, having received their Fall stock of Stoves, would especially call the attention of the public to the

MAGEE COOK STOVE,

as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.

There is a new style and very superior broiler and sad iron heater combined, by which the odor of broiling meats are prevented from escaping into the room. With the extension top there is a large plaster Reservoir for hot water; also a pure tin warming-closet attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.

The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, as no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shovelling up of the ashes is entirely dispensed with, the grate regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who are now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.

We would refer to the following purchasers:

"MAGEE'S PATENT"

VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would invite those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable article before purchasing.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable—and as none of the fire which comes in contact with the fire-pots is used for respiration, the tenders to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The object aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being rarefied in the flue, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 50 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq.,	Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill, Esq.,	Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell,	John Sise, and others.

MATHEWS ARNICA HAIR GLOSS

This is a new and invaluable preparation for preserving and beautifying the hair.

The wonderful virtues of Arnica in allaying and removing inflammation are universally known.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS is a combination of these virtues, with other tried and excellent ingredients.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS stimulates and invigorates the hair, prevents it from falling out—restores it when lost—promotes its growth and strengthens—renders it proof against all disease.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS permanently cures all irritations and eruptions of the scalp, and makes it healthy and fertile. For the removal of dandruff it has no equal. Its operations in this particular are magical and permanent.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS is unequalled as a hair dressing compound. It not only cleanses the scalp and invigorates the hair, but it renders the latter charmingly soft and lustrous. Its odor is exquisitely delicate and fragrant—the perfume being taken especial pains to secure this result.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS is the very best preparation for the hair ever discovered.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS, notwithstanding its superior excellence, is sold at only Twenty-five cents a bottle, by all Druggists.

The Chronicle.

A star for every State: a State for every star.

NO PARTY—ONE COUNTRY.

"Bound to no party—to no sect confined;
The world our home; our brethren, all mankind.
Love truth, do good, be just and fair with all;
Exalt the right, though every law fall."

"Let me warn you in the most solemn manner against the baneful effects of the spirit of Party, generally. It is a spirit not to be encouraged.—Its common and continual mischief is sufficient to make it the interest and duty of a wise people to discourage and restrain it. In governments of the popular form, it is seen in its greatest rankness, and is truly their worst enemy."—Washington's Farewell Address.

FEMININE POSSIBILITIES.—With the present rise of the fair sex in our country, it may be encouraging to the more ambitious among them, if we quote from history an account of a "has been" or two:

Cymburga, wife of the Duke Ernest of Lithuania, could crack nuts between her fingers, and drive nails into the wall with her thumb; whether she ever got her husband under it, is not recorded.

Let us preserve from oblivion the renown of my Lady Butterfield, who about the year 1700, at Wanstead, in Essex, England, thus advertised:

"This is to give notice to my honored masters and ladies and loving friends, that my Lady Butterfield gives a challenge to ride a horse or leap a horse or run a foot with any women in England seven years younger, but not a day older, because I won't undervalue myself, being now seventy-four years of age."

Nor should be left unrecorded the high-born Scottish damsel, whose tradition still remains at the Castle of Huntingtower, in Scotland, where two adjacent pinnacles still mark the Maiden's Leap. She sprung from battlement to battlement, a distance of nine feet four inches, and eloped with her lover.

THE FIFTH COMMANDMENT.—An old schoolmaster said one day to a minister, who had come to examine the school, "I believe the children know the Catechism word for word." "But do they understand it? This is the question," said the minister. The schoolmaster only bowed respectfully, and the examination began. A little boy had repeated the fifth commandment, "Honor thy father and thy mother," and he was desired to explain it. Instead of trying to do so, the little boy, with his face covered with blushes, said, almost in a whisper: "Yesterday I showed some strange gentlemen over the mountain. The sharp stones cut my feet, and the gentlemen saw that my feet were bleeding, and they gave me some money to buy me shoes. I gave it to my mother, for she had no shoes either, and I thought I could go barefooted better than she could."

☞ The Boston Post says:—"We have been surprised to see the bitterness with which Gen. Butler's official conduct at New Orleans has been denounced by those from whom he was entitled to a candid judgment."

One of the bitterest items of the whole came from the New York Journal of Commerce, and would suit Jeff. Davis very well, though the Post don't like it.

☞ A widow woman named McLaughlin, was beaten to death in New York, last week, by her brother named Austin Heeney. They had a quarrel about the possession of a bank book, which finally resulted in the poor woman's being kicked down stairs and then jumped upon by her unnatural brother, from the effects of which she died in a short time. The murderer was arrested and committed to jail to answer for the horrible crime.

☞ It is stated that the rumor flying around in print that Secretary Chase intends leading to the altar Mrs. Senator Douglas, was old, even in Washington, six months ago, and has no foundation. Mrs. Douglas is now in Carollton, Illinois, on a visit, and will remain there some time.

☞ The total loss of life on the great lakes in 1862 foots up 156, against 107 in 1861. There were few great catastrophes.

☞ The less a writer knows of a subject, the more ink he uses in telling it.

☞ Don't undertake to kiss a furious woman; ris knot a smack in a storm.

BUY CALIFORNIA WINES.
They are the Purest!
The Best!
The Cheapest!
The "sunny slopes" of "Los Angelos" have announced to the world that America is a wine growing country, and as the discovery of gold sent a thrill through the old world, so will the discovery of these Wines startle them again, as it says, "one more link broken which has bound us to Europe," "one more step to independence." Let every man, woman and child who uses Wine, see to it that they buy none other than these.
"The Hock" is a most delicious Wine, and rivals in delicacy its German predecessor.
The "Angelica" and "Muscatel" are melting, luscious and rich, and will take the place of Malaga, Tokay, or other rich Wine
The Port has a fine flavor and body; and The Port is excellent because it is pure.

Morning Chronicle.

[Portsmouth, N. H.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 2, 1863.

THE REBELLION.

Gen. Rosecrans captured Murfreesboro Tuesday morning and occupied it. The rebels retreated to Tullahoma, making but little resistance. Gen. Rosecrans lost a wagon train following him, which was captured by the rebels under Morgan, of Tenn.

The Washington Republican states that the Banks Expedition was a programme executed by the Government upon the full knowledge and entirely in accordance with the views of Gen. Butler, who is perfectly satisfied with the field of operations to which he has been assigned.

Gen. Corcoran, with his satire brigade, has arrived at Suffolk, Va. He is to take command there, Gen. Peck's command moving off in another direction.

Stuart has succeeded in retiring across the Rappahannock, near Warrenton.

A great and bloody battle was fought near Murfreesboro, Tenn., on Wednesday, Gen. Rosecrans personally superintending the movements of our troops. In the morning our forces suffered terribly, the dispatch stating that four regiments of regulars lost half their men and all their commanding officers; while Gen. Anderson's troops suffered severe loss, and Gens. Stanley, Rousseau and Palmer were wounded. At two o'clock, Gen. Thomas had broken the rebel centre and had driven the enemy a mile, while Gen. Crittenden's left wing had taken their intrenchments. One shot killed two of Gen. Rosecrans' staff officers. The rebel Gens. Cheatham and Rains are reported to have been killed, and Gen. Negley's artillery was doing fearful execution in the rebel ranks.

The guerrilla Morgan was again repulsed on Thursday, and retreated rapidly in the direction of Columbia, Ky., our troops being in pursuit. He lost several in killed and wounded. 60 of his force, together with their caissons, ammunition, wagons and provisions, were taken by our troops.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

STATE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.—At the annual meeting of the New Hampshire Agricultural Society, holden at Manchester on Wednesday, Dec. 30th, the following officers were elected:

President—William F. Ester, Dover.

Secretary—Aaron Young, Portsmouth.

Treasurer—Frederick Smyth, Manchester.

Directors—John S. Walker, Dana Woodman, Nat. Head, Nath'l Hubbard, David Gillis.

INTERESTING LEGAL QUESTION.—In the Supreme Court of New Hampshire, recently held at Dover, the legality of the sale of what in common phrase is called the "good will" of the Dover Gazette business establishment, was decided. Judge Bartlett ruled virtually that there is no such thing known in law as the sale of a "good will"—that is, the prospective profits of a business as over and above the value of property and material sold and conveyed.

—— Hon. C. W. Woodman of Dover, formerly Judge of the Court of Common Pleas, has been appointed paymaster in the Army.

—— Hon. Herman Foster, U. S. Assessor for the Second Congressional District, has resigned the office.

—— A day or two since, while two little girls, one 8 and the other twelve years of age, were sliding upon a pond in Salem, they broke through the ice. A man at work near by hastened to their rescue. In approaching them he also fell in, and was caught hold of by the little girls. He was unable to save them or to escape from their death grapple and all three were drowned. Several other persons, attempting to save the girls, broke through the ice, but no others were drowned.

—— A storehouse at Hanover, containing a large quantity of flour, grain, meal, &c., was destroyed by fire on Wednesday night. The property belonged to E. R. Smith of Hanover. Loss estimated at from $8000 to $10,000; insured for $5,200. The fire was probably the work of an incendiary.

—— The Republican State Convention on Thursday nominated Hon. David H. Buffum, of Somersworth, as candidate for Railroad Commissioner. The Rockingham County members of the State Central Committee are—Chas. H. Bell, S. Dana Wingate, Exeter; Thomas L. Tullock, Portsmouth; Aaron Young, do.; Jos. B. Adams, do.; Reed B. Clarke, Londonderry; Caleb Moulton, Hampstead; Wm. H. Hills, Plaistow.

☞ The funeral of Mr. Daniel Ham was attended at Great Falls on Friday afternoon, with many tokens of public mourning for the death of a private but beloved citizen. The stores and shops were all closed, and a large congregation attended the religious services, which were performed by Rev. Mr. Butterfield, in the Congregational Church. The procession, with his remains, was then escorted to the Cemetary by the Freemasons, who performed their rites at the grave.

ELOQUENCE AND ORATORS.

EXTRACTS FROM A LECTURE BY JOHN B. GOUGH.

Reported by our N. Y. Cor. "NEWINGTON."

At a few moments past 8 in the evening, to the highly respectable audience, who at the usual admittance fee had availed themselves of the privilege of occupying the seats of Rev. H. W. Beecher's church in Brooklyn, Mr. Gough commenced his discourse on the above subject by displaying the faculty possessed by many speakers:—the apologizing for his appearance, accompanied with a statement of his misgivings that his lecture might not come up to the expectations of his audience; which was followed by an enumeration of the various authorized definitions of the word Eloquence, which render it in accordance with the many requirements of circumstance, time and place.

"Thoughts and emotions," then continued the speaker, "communicated from one soul to another, from the soul of the speaker to the soul of the listener, are the end, the fruits of eloquence. Whenever one can affect the moral sensibilities of his hearers, kindle, entrance, move, meet or even subjugate them, then he may claim a right to the term. This depends, of course, on the delivery as well as on the sentiment, the richest specimens of oratory appearing oftentimes in print, tame and insipid. The younger Wm. Pitt, for instance, is said to have expressed much surprise on reading his father's speeches, that they should have commanded such attention. Many fall into the error of saying too much, for too little. Young divines often discourse in their first sermon, on the whole contents of the Bible. One of them was once asked by an ancient clergymen, "Do you intend preaching again, Sir?" "Certainly! I hope to, many times," was the reply. "Well, my dear Sir, will you be kind enough to tell me upon what subject you intend to speak?" One reverend gentleman has given us a sermon with 120 points, besides improvements; another 30, and 50 to illustrate; and still another with 170 divisions of thought, and "has then passed over many principal items to which he wished to allude!"

I have heard too, of a divine who preached and preached after the audience had one by one, all left the church, and continued till the sexton, left alone, his patience wearied, walked up the aisle and laying the keys on the desk, interrupted with "Will you lock the door when you go out, Sir?" The many little occurrences, attendant upon the delivery of an address, oftentimes seriously check, if they do not extinguish the eloquence of the orator.

Though I have been upon the stage nearly nineteen years, yet it is seldom that I appear before an audience, make myself the target of a thousand eyes, without experiencing a flattening of ideas, a loss of power to connect my thoughts, which increases in proportion as the delivery is made without notes. Among those occurrences which tend to disconcert the speaker, I remember that on one occasion, in making a sudden and energetic forward gesture with both arms, I ripped the back seam of my coat, from the collar two thirds of the way down, and through the remainder of the lecture, it was only with the greatest difficulty that I could withdraw myself from the precise, perpendicular position which one naturally assumes under such circumstances. On another occasion, one of the gentlemen on the platform, stepped up behind me to arrange the gas, just as I was making a powerful gesture. Unaware of his proximity, I swept my arm round, striking him directly in the face! Imagine the effect on the audience and myself—I might add, the unfortunate receiver of the compliment! That which contributes most of all to eloquence, is a perfect familiarity with, and admiration for the subject; for just as far as a man is filled with his theme, so far he forgets himself. Avoid carefully all pomposity, the inflated, the look at-me style, equally disgusting with any display of flippancy, or affectation.

We have all seen men in the pulpit who will hem and haw, draw in their breath, and puff out their cheeks, and commence the prayer with very much the same tone of voice in which a politician harangues an election caucus—and these always remind me of the Methodist clergyman, who, after a young divine had displayed his talent in this direction, pray "Oh! Lord, bless our young friend, but O, Lord! prick him and take some of the wind out of him!"—And in the opposite extreme to this, how often we meet in the pulpit with pure affectation; the minister with perfumed handkerchief, which he draws slowly from his pocket, and with it carefully wipes his forehead first one side, and then the other, from the centre outward: then adjusts a lock of hair which appears to have been purposely left out of place, then in a cracked, singing tone of voice, reads the hymn, closing with the request: "Will the choir if they ple-z-z-e, be so k-w-i-nd as to omit in singing the third and fourth stanz-a-a-s!"

Again, never try to imitate, as in the effort you will be sure to select some peculiarity—for you cannot imitate a dead-level—and you are almost equally sure to be unfortunate in the selection. Be yourself! Do not attempt to resemble any one that ever existed. The speaker here alluded to some of the peculiarities of various actors, and quotations from the speeches of Burke, Patrick Henry, Sheridan, Webster, and others. His rendition of Henry's, "Give me liberty, or give me death!" in his address to the Virginia Convention, and in Webster's reply to Hayne, his similie of the ship—"Would it not be well for us to pause, and ascertain whither we are drifting?"—was most magnificent. "Who of us," he continued, "who have heard Choate, do not remember his peculiar style of delivery, resembling the puff, puff, of a high pressure steam-engine. Choate absolutely choked out his words. He is said to have worn out more clothes than any public speaker in New England, and they always looked as if they had been flung at his form and stuck there.

I remember an anecdote related to me some time since by a worthy deacon, unfortunately possessing a coarse, loud voice, which he took little pains to modulate.—Addressing a congregation on one occasion, he noticed that a lady seated near him was very much affected, sobbing quite audibly. The next time he addressed them the same scene was repeated. His curiosity excited, he called on the lady and enquired the cause of her grief. She hesitated to tell him, but being pressed to relate, she said—"Oh, Sir! we were very happy together, my husband and I, and we had a nice cow, and her name was "Milly", and my husband died, and there was no one left to me but "Milly", and by and by I got to like her almost as much as my poor husband, one day Milly strayed away, and then I searched and searched for her, and at last I found her in the swamp, and she was sinking in the mire, and nothing but her head and back was visible, and she bellowed and cried so piteously, and, sir! when I heard you talk, your voice reminded me so much of Milly in the swamp, that I cried, Sir! Really I couldn't help it, Sir!" The deacon added, that after that, "his voice grew softer and sweeter."

With care train the voice so as not to offend, and let it always be appropriate to the subject in hand. Do not sound the r's too prominently, or affix them to words to which they do not belong. Be careful of the h's; Heaven and Hell are two solemn and powerful words, but 'eaven and 'ell are quite the opposite.

Let us now turn our attention for a few moments to the power of sarcasm—not sneering, vituperative personalities, (which are always void of effect, and oftentimes detract from the force of the argument) but clear, cool pungent sarcasm,—which is all powerful. Nothing will so effectually disconcert an opponent as a keen, sarcastic reply, "apropos" to the point in dispute and well directed. Let us imagine the effect of a few instances. I was once listening to the relation of some travels, during which the speaker mentioned that he "rode on a donkey in Snowden," Some one in the audience interrupted with, "There are no donkeys in Snowden." The speaker repeated the assertion. "You are mistaken, Sir," again interrupted the auditor, "there never was a donkey in Snowden. I've been there!" and he sat down with that confident, self-satisfied air, which says as plainly as words, "that settles it." "Gentlemen," slowly resumed the speaker, "let me call your attention to this most remarkable relation, my friend says there never was a donkey in Snowden, and then "Gentlemen, almost in the same breath assures us that he has been there himself!"

O'Connell once replied in a dispute, "I cannot divest my mind of the belief, that my opponent is a lineal descendant of the thief on the cross!" John Randolph, probably the most sarcastic man that ever lived, was once assailed in Congress, with the most vituperative language, by a member recently elected to fill the place of a deceased representative. Randolph looked at his paper attentively, paying, apparently not the slightest heed to the remarks, but at their conclusion, as his assailant, weighing two hundred pounds, or more, sank into his seat, he rose slowly, stretched out his long, gaunt arm toward him, and commenced in his peculiar tone, "Mr. Speaker, when I gaze at the seat lately occupied by my deceased friend, my heart grows sad within me, to see that seat now vacant!"

Tom Marshall was once lecturing in Philadelphia, and in the course of his remarks used the epithet "demagogue". A half inebriated, dissolute fellow ru hed up to the desk, shook his fist in the speaker's face, and shouted, "He isn't a demagogue!" "My friend," coolly replied Marshall, "tie a wisp of straw round your neck, and you'd be not a demagogue but a demijohn!"

Cavendish had, upon the stage, a continual up and down motion, very much as a mouse tries to jump out of a tumbler.

The elder Beecher was wont to commence in a low tone, quite indistinct, but as he warmed up with his discourse, he would step forward to the extreme edge of the platform, and lean forward as if he would precipitate himself upon his audience, while his utterances would rattle down into their ears, like a shower of hailstones.

One of the most powerful auxiliaries—if not the most powerful—to eloquence, is the gesture. Some men are eloquent without gesture; Mr. Edwards, for instance, would discourse on eternity without a motion, yet his hearers would feel themselves almost on the brink, and listen to hear the last trumpet sound. But he was one of only a few exceptions. Gestures almost always are a necessary attribute of eloquence. I remember listening, many years ago, to a Latin salutatory, at a commencement, and though I did not understand a word of the language, I felt, from the gestures and the kindling of the eye, as round after round of applause broke in, that the speaker was eloquent; and I remember, too, that on the same occasion I determined to understand at least one word of the address; so I fixed my attention, but for a long time the effort failed. At last it came, however, for turning round, and addressing the Faculty and invited guests on the platform, and throwing both arms out directly toward me, he uttered, full and clear, the word "ignoramus." I could not help thinking afterward, that such was the fact,—that the only word in the whole discourse that I understood was literally true!

But eloquence is not in oratory alone. The purest, the most superlative, is the heroism of those who are to-day fighting for the unity of these States and the liberties of men. I felt this eloquence when I witnessed the return of the battle worn remnant of the Seventh Maine Regiment—a gallant band of 157—all that remained of a proud twelve hundred who marched gaily out of Portland but a few months previous. I have felt this eloquence, and a feeling of reverence and love, as I have walked thro' the hospitals filled with the mutilated and crippled, their faces radiant with the beauty of angels—heroic emblems of man's sacrifice for his country.

Oh! I tell you that those in authority, who have so mismanaged the affairs of this nation, those who have brutally and cruelly brought so much bloodshed and sorrow to the people, have an awful account to settle with God! [Tremendous applause.] And those miserable wretches who have rebelled against the best government the world ever saw, and those at the North who sympathize with them, when this Union is restored, as it must be, will have sunk to a depth of infamy such as no plummet-line on earth will ever fathom, which nothing but God's eternal judgment will ever reach!

There never was a time when eloquence—sanctified eloquence—was more needed. Let all capable of it give it, and let every one give his undivided support to the Government and to our noble heroes in the field. May God shield them in battle, and protect them in camp, till the Government is restored, and the pæan of victory resound throughout the land, and human oppression all the world over shall have ceased forever. And let no one fear that the Government will not be re-established, for it must be—will be—and re-established on a firm basis of righteousness and truth and freedom. It may pass through a red sea of blood, before it is accomplished, but the restoration must come, and we shall meet together and sing the "Star Spangled Banner, long may it wave, o'er the land of the FREE, and the home of the brave!" And the dove of peace shall flutter around us, and our Southern brethren shall stand with us under the broad liberty tree, and shout: "Hail, Columbia! happy land! Hail ye heroes! Heaven-born band! who fought and bled in Freedom's cause!"

GOLDEN WEDDING.—On Monday evening, Dec. 29, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Bruce, of this city, celebrated their golden wedding. At an early hour their hospitable home was filled by children and grandchildren, more distant relatives, and invited guests.

When we entered the parlor we had the rare pleasure of greeting the bride and bridegroom of fifty years, and seated near them, Hon. Abner Greenleaf and lady, the groomsman and bridesmaid of that occasion half a century ago. It required but little imagination to reproduce the first scene, and look upon the freshness of youthful strength and beauty. But that picture, though fair with promise and flush with hope, was eclipsed by the present serene picture of life well and honorably rounded, seeking the sunset of its earthly career, illumined by vistas from beyond the Valley of Death.

It is rarely, indeed, that the golden wedding of any couple is graced by those who were present at the marriage. Time's busy fingers untie the chain, by death or distance, rendering re-union impossible. But the same city, with its progressive changes, has been the home of those parties through the long fifty years.

What did we do all the evening?—Those of us who could remember, talked of old times, and the young listened with satisfaction. At 9 o'clock the Bridegroom and Bride, with their attendants, children and grandchildren, were grouped together, and the pastor, Mr. Paterson, briefly addressed them; closing with an expression of gratitude for all life's blessings, in prayer to the Giver.

Then we had bountiful refreshments, which were discussed amid talk and laughter. The spirit of the occasion was eminently joyous. We thought of the sunny side,—of life's completeness. After supper Hon. Abner Greenleaf read, by invitation, portions of a poem which he prepared and delivered at his own Golden Wedding, four years ago. The joys of social life were admirably depicted in a picture of the time when these golden ears were blossoms.

Old age was delineated, not as a season of decay and vain regrets, but of ripeness and fruition. I will not attempt a report of the poem, hoping to see it printed in full before long.

For a fitting close to this rare occasion, those who could do so, sang "Auld lang syne," and other appropriate sentiment. Then we said our farewells, amid many wishes of added years and added happiness to our friends, who in the evening of life have shown us the secret of ripe years, happy and hopeful hearts. COM.

☞ The silvery light of the moon shone brilliantly on the glassy ice of the ponds on Friday evening, and crowds of young ladies and gentlemen appreciated the soft beauty of the scene, as they joined in the fascinating pleasures peculiar to the season, and glided, gracefully or otherwise (gentlemen, of course, being alone liable to the latter accusation,) over the smooth surface on their steel shod and brightly gleaming skate. Luna, fair mistress of the night, almost eclipsed the stars, and few were visible, save when occasionally the ice dew up and struck some unfortunate, even then seats being reserved for the limited number of chosen spectators. It was a night for poetry, romance and dreams,—to be enjoyed fully, even now in January in our cold clime, in out-door sports in which the ringing laugh should not seem confined and a mockery, and the clear, cheerful voice should sound more joyous as the pleasure seekers and pleasure winners inhale the pure, health-bringing air. A party of skaters, on such an evening, reveals much of the poetry of motion and much of the poetry of life, and one who does not love to gaze upon such scenes, might turn aside to gloat over the blood stained trophies of traitors—the dark and nameless deeds of wrong and infamy.

☞ A salute was fired and the city bells rung on Friday afternoon, by the friends of Emancipation, in this city; and a meeting was held at the Temple in the evening, at which addresses were made by Rev. Messrs. Waterhouse and Eddy, Charles Robinson, Esq., and others.

☞ The Ballot well says that, although there may be a doubt whether Portsmouth Navy Yard is in Kittery, Me., or the Kittery Navy Yard is at Portsmouth, there can be no question that this is the place to have good work done at the shortest notice!

It is stated that we are to build a large lot of gun carriages at the yard. The work done at the Gun Carriage shop has been examined with alike wonder and admiration by celebrated naval and military men all over the country.

☞ Rev. Dr. Hooker, of Newburyport, late Professor of the Theological Seminary of Connecticut, will preach at the North Church to-morrow, Sunday.

☞ MATTHEWS' ARNICA HAIR GLOSS is a NEVER FAILING REMEDY for all diseases of the scalp. nov20

☞ Governor Seymour, of New York, was inaugurated on Thursday. He says that he shall support the national and also the state constitutions,—that he can be loyal to each without embarrassment. He reserved his views on national affairs for his message.

☞ The Tribune gives a list of a fleet of 18 steam vessels now in pursuit of the rebel privateer Alabama, "every vessel belonging to it a match for the Alabama save in speed, and several well able to overhaul her."

☞ The steam frigate Minnesota went to sea from Boston on Friday morning, and it is expected the iron-clad Nahant will leave to-day.

☞ Pierre Soule is still at Havana. By the terms of his release, he is not to go to New Orleans until the war is over, unless allowed by the government.

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!
THE MODEL COOK
FOR WOOD OR COAL.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster or (by the removal of a simple plate) be used together with the larger oven for baking; giving an oven heavy 3 feet long by a large oven to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time! A good draft is secured by this stove by means of which the consumption of fuel is greatly lessened, and a steady fire can be kept day and night if desired.

THE MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found invaluable for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed

We believe the MODEL COOK to be the very best Stove in the Market, and invite every one to examine it whether they wish to purchase or not. It has had a very extensive sale since its introduction. Reference might be made to more than a hundred families in this city or vicinity who are using the STOVE, and give it the highest commendation.

We refer to the following individuals who have purchased the Model Cook:—

David Kimball, Thos. F. Burt, John T. Freeman, Rev. Mr. Davis, Wm. Pettigrew, Capt. John Leighton, Benjamin Raitt, Mrs. Ann T. Perkins, James W. Garvin, Francis O. Jarvis, Thos. L. Pulfock, Jacob Wendell, Capt. Jacob Thompson, Geo. J. S. Hadley, C. Melvin Huntress, Jos. D. Akerman, James W. Stone, Wm. Jas. Newton, Horton D. Walker, Benj. Cheever, John Parker, Richard L. VICTOR COAL STOVE.

We offer this beautiful coal burner to the public, with full confidence in its merits.

It was brought into market two years since, and has come rapidly into use.

The Victor is one of the handsomest parlor stoves in the market, and is perfect in its operation. The arrangement for dumping the ashes is such that no dust need escape into the room—a matter—the coal all burned, and no clinkers made. The quantity of fuel used is very small indeed. There is in this stove an excellent arrangement for ventilating the room in which it is placed; a feature not possessed by any other parlor stove.

Some of the sizes are provided with an oven and boiling place, making them very desirable for a dining room.

We sold a large number of Victor Stoves in our city last season, and they receive the highest commendation from those who are using them.

We have also the celebrated McGregor Stove, so well known in the market as to need no commendation.

A great variety of cheaper Stoves for coal and wood—Coal hods—Patent Coal-sifters.

COAL LININGS,

and Repairing pieces for most of the stoves in use. Job Work attended to with dispatch.

DR. GLEASON'S course of lectures on Physical Education closed on Thursday evening. A deep and increasing interest was taken in them as they progressed—having a full house each evening the present week. Many who did not know the value of the Lectures and did not attend the first of the course, are desirous of a repetition—and many who have attended are desirous of hearing them over again—that the valuable information imparted may be treasured up. We hope the Doctor may be induced to continue another week at least. There is to be a lecture to gentlemen this Saturday evening.

THE OLDEST STAND IN MARKET STREET.—The bookstore of Mr. Joseph H. Foster has been for the longest time of any on the street occupied by the same family for the same business. Just fifty years ago last week, Dec. 26, 1812, John W. Foster, under the firm of Tappan & Foster, (Mr. T. residing in Boston) opened here a book and stationery store. On the 24th of Oct. 1816, Mr. Tappan's name was dropped, and Mr. Foster continued the business in his own name until Dec. 1, 1847, when the firm of J. W. Foster & Son was formed. On the 21st of Jan. 1852, after the death of his father, Joseph H. Foster commenced the business in his own name. Long may he remain to preserve the same neatness and order, and the same pleasant attractions to customers, which we well remember marked the store at its opening half a century ago, and has been uniformly applied ever since. When as a schoolboy we bought our writing paper and goose quills at the counter, we remember the pleasant "thank you my dear," as the new school book with a strong covering, just fitted for hard use, was handed with a smile.

December was very remarkable for the great change in the mean temperature of its quarters; as the first quarter was 6¼ degrees colder than its average in 38 years; the second, 6 warmer; the third 6 colder, and the 4th quarter eleven warmer.—Moreover the 4th quarter was the coldest quarter in the month; 18 degrees warmer than the third, and the warmest 4th quarter in December in 30 years.

On Wednesday morning, the trains from Boston presented a novel appearance in contrast with our entirely bare ground—being covered with snow, which had been falling from Boston to Newburyport, while here not a flake fell during the day. Our streets are now as bare of snow as in July.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1, 1863.

By the President of the United States of America.

A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas, on the 22d day of September, in the year of our Lord 1862; a Proclamation was issued by the President of the United States, containing, among other things, the following, to wit:

That on the 1st day of January, in the year of our Lord 1863, all persons held as slaves within any State or designated part of a State, the people whereof shall then be in rebellion against the United States, shall be then, thenceforth and forever free, and the Executive Government of the United States, including the military and naval authority thereof, will recognize and maintain the freedom of such persons, and will do no act or acts to repress such persons or any of them in any effort they may make for their actual freedom: that the Executive will on the first day of January aforesaid, by proclamation, designate the States and parts of States, if any, in which the people therein respectively shall then be in rebellion against the United States; and the fact that any State or the people thereof shall on that day be in good faith represented in the Congress of the United States, by members chosen thereto at elections wherein a majority of the qualified voters of such State shall have participated—shall, in the absence of strong countervailing testimony, be deemed conclusive evidence that such State and the people thereof are not then in rebellion against the United States.

Now therfore I, ABRAHAM LINCOLN, President of the United States, by virture of the power in me vested, as Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy of the United States, in time of the actual armed rebellion against the authority and government of the United States, and as a fit and necessary war measure, do, on this first day of January in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, and in accordance with my purpose so to do, publicly proclaimed for the full period of one hundred days from the day first above mentioned, order and designate as the States and parts of States wherein the people thereof respectively are this day in rebellion against the United States, the following, to wit: Arkansas, Texas, Louisiana, except the parishes of St. Bernard, Placquemines, Jefferson, St. John, St. Charles, St. James, Ascension, Assumption, Terre Bonne, Lafourche, St. Mary, St. Martin and Orleans, including the city of New Orleans; Mississippi, Alabama, Florida, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, and Virginia, except the forty-eight counties designated as West Virginia, and also the counties of Berkley, Accomac, Northampton, Elizabeth City, York, Princess Ann and Norfolk, including the cities of Norfork and Portsmouth, and which excepted parts are for the present left precisely as if this proclamation were not issued.

And by virtue of the power and for the purpose aforesaid I do order and declare that all persons held as slaves within said designated States and parts of States, are and henceforward shall be free, and that the Executive Government of the United States, including the military and naval authorities thereof, will recognize and maintain the freedom of said persons; and I hereby enjoin upon the people so declared to be free to abstain from all violence, unless in necessary self-defense. And I recommend to them in all cases when allowed, to labor faithfully for reasonable wages; and I further declare and make known that such persons of suitable condition will be received into the armed service of the United States, to garrison forts, positions, stations and other places, and to man vessels of all sorts in said service. And upon this act, sincerely believed to be an act of justice, warranted by the Constitution upon military necessity, I invoke the considerate judgment of mankind and the gracious favor of Almighty God.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, this first day of January, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, and of the Independence of the United States of America the eighty-seventh. ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

By the President.
WM. H. SEWARD, Secretary of State.

GALLANT SOUTH CAROLINIANS.—When Gen. Foster was likely to capture General Evans' force at Kinston, N. C., the latter sent a flag of truce asking time to remove the women and children from the town. It was granted, and the gallant South Carolinians improved the time to run away.—Exch.

The South Carolinians acted wisely, (says Uncle Toby) but our General did not. It would have been far better to capture all together, and then let the women and children remove, if it were worth while.

At a late review in Berlin, a dragoon, whose girths had given away, kept in the ranks and rode through the maneuvres without a saddle. The fact having come to the King's knowledge, he said to his aid-de-camps: "Say nothing about it, gentlemen; if the Chambers were to hear of it, they might strike out saddles from the war estimates."

Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches, Pustules, Ulcers, Sores, and all Diseases of the Skin.

From Rev. Robt. Stratton, Bristol, England.

"I only do my duty to you and the public when I add my testimony to that you publish of the medicinal virtues of your SARSAPARILLA. My daughter, aged 14, had an afflicting humor in her ears, eyes, and head for years, which we were unable to cure until we tried your SARSAPARILLA. She has been well for some months."

From Mrs. Jane E. Rice, a well-known and much-esteemed lady of Dunnsville, Cape May Co., N. J.

"My daughter has suffered for a year past with a scrofulous eruption, which was very troublesome. Nothing afforded any relief until we tried your SARSAPARILLA, which soon completely cured her."

From Charles P. Gage, Esq., of the widely-known firm of Gage, manufacturers of successful papers in Nashua, N. H.

"I had for several years a very troublesome humor in my face, which grew constantly worse until it disfigured my features and became an intolerable affliction. I tried almost every thing a man could of both internal and external medicine, but no relief whatever, until I took your SARSAPARILLA. It immediately made my face worse, as you told me it might for a time, but in a few weeks the new skin began to form under the blotches, and cured them until my face is as smooth as any body's, and I am without any symptoms of the disease that I know of. I enjoy good health, and without a doubt owe it to your SARSAPARILLA."

Erysipelas—General Debility—Purify the Blood.

From Dr. Robt. Swain, Houston St., New York.

"DR. AYER: I seldom fail to remove Erysipelas and Scrofulous Sores by the persevering use of your SARSAPARILLA, and I have just now cured an attack of Malignant Erysipelas with it. No medicine we possess equals the SARSAPARILLA you have supplied to the profession as well as to the public."

From J. E. Johnston, Esq., Wabenna, Ohio.

"For twenty years, I had the erysipelas on my right arm, during which time I tried all the celebrated physicians I could reach, and took hundreds of dollars worth of their medicines. The sinews were so bad that the cords became visible, and the doctors decided that my arm must be amputated. I began taking your SARSAPARILLA, with two bottles, and some of your PILLS. Together they have cured me. I am now as well and sound as any body. Being in a public place, my case is known to every body in this community, and excites the wonder of all."

From Hon. Henry Moore, M. P. P., of Newcastle, C. W., a leading member of the Canadian Parliament.

"I have used your SARSAPARILLA in my family, for general debility, and for purifying the blood, with very beneficial results, and feel confidence in commending it to the afflicted."

St. Anthony's Fire, Rose, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Sore Eyes.

From Harvey Sickler, Esq., the able editor of the Tuskaloosa Democratic Republican.

"Our only child, about three years of age, was attacked by pimples on his forehead. They rapidly spread until they formed a hideous and virulent sore, which covered his face, and actually blinded his eyes for some days. A skilful physician applied nitrate of silver and other remedies, without any apparent effect. For fifteen days we guarded his hands, lest with them he should tear open the festering and scarcely healed sores. The child was a wonder. Having tried every thing else we had any hope from, we began giving your SARSAPARILLA, and applying the iodide of potash lotion as you direct. The sore began to heal when we had given the first bottle, and was well when we had finished the second. The child's eyelashes, which had come out, grew again, and he is now as healthy and fair as any other. The whole neighborhood predicted that the child must die."

Syphilis and Mercurial Disease

From Dr. Wm. Gibbons, of St. Louis, Missouri.

"I find your SARSAPARILLA a more efficacious remedy for the secondary symptoms of Syphilis and for syphilitic diseases than any other we possess. The patients are benefitted to you for some of the best medicines we have."

From A. J. French, M. D., an eminent physician of Lawrence, Essex, Mass., and a prominent member of the Legislature of Massachusetts.

"DR. AYER: My dear Sir: I have found your SARSAPARILLA an invaluable remedy for the ills both of the primary and secondary type, and effectual in some cases that were too obstinate to yield to other remedies. I do not know what we can employ with more certainty of success, where a powerful alterative is required."

Mr. Chas. S. Van Liew, of New Brunswick, N. J., has described his case in the Journal as follows: "Years of the ill effects of mercury, or mercurial disease, which grew more and more aggravated for years, in spite of every remedy or treatment that could be applied, until the prescribing of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA relieved him. Few cases can be found more inveterate and distressing than this, and it took several dozen bottles to cure me."

Leucorrhœa, Whites, Female Weakness, are generally produced by internal Scrofulous Corruption, and are very often cured by the alterative effect of this SARSAPARILLA, in some cases require, however, in aid of the SARSAPARILLA, the skilful application of local remedies.

From the well-known and widely-celebrated Dr. Jacob Morrell, of Poughkeepsie.

"I have found your SARSAPARILLA an excellent alterative in diseases of females. Many cases of irregularity, Leucorrhœa, Menstrual Uncertainty, and local debility, arising from the scrofulous diathesis, have yielded to it, and there are few that do not, when its effect is properly aided by local treatment."

A lady, unwilling to allow the publication of her name, writes:

"My daughter and myself have been cured of a very debilitating Leucorrhœa of long standing, by two bottles of your SARSAPARILLA."

Rheumatism, Gout, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Heart Disease, Neuralgia,

when caused by Scrofula in the system, are rapidly cured by this EXT. SARSAPARILLA.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS

possess so many advantages over the other purgatives in the market, and their superior virtues are so universally known, that we need not do more than to assure the public their quality is maintained equal to the best it ever has been, and that they may be depended on to do all that they have ever done.

Desirable Residence
ON MIDDLE ROAD FOR SALE.

The Subscriber will sell the COTTAGE HOUSE in which he now resides, on Middle Road—one of the most carefully constructed, and for its apparent size, most respected Dwellings in Portsmouth; containing nine good sized rooms, with an ample attic—seven of the rooms measuring 11 feet in height.

The house was built by the day, ten years since, by the late Wm. F. Carter, under the particular inspection of the subscriber, and for his own use. The Lot measures 65 feet on Middle Road, and is over 300 feet deep, well filled with almost every variety of forest and fruit trees, with vines, shrubs and flowers, all in full bearing and in the greatest abundance. The premises will be disposed of at private sale only, and not at any time at auction

FRANKLIN HOUSE
Portsmouth, N. H.

The undersigned having assumed the management of this well known public house, and having made extensive improvements therein, solicits a continuance of the patronage of the travelling public that has so long been extended to the house.

A new parlor and an extensive suite of rooms down and well ventilated sleeping apartments have been added; and a separate Ladies' Entrance from Congress Street, arranged. Gentlemen with their families, or ladies unattended, will now find quiet and retired apartments connected with the street and dining hall by an independent staircase.

The house will be kept as a first class hotel in every respect, and the proprietors will spare no pains to merit the patronage of those visiting this section of the State.

A good STABLE is connected with the house, where persons visiting Portsmouth with teams, will be promptly and carefully waited upon.

THE MAGEE COOKING STOVE.

The subscribers, having received their Fall stock of Stoves, would especially call the attention of the public to the

MAGEE COOK STOVE,

as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven is supplied with a Water plate, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.

There is a new style and very superior broiler and sad-iron heater combined, by which the odor of broiling meats will be prevented from escaping into the room. With the extension top there is a large copper Reservoir for hot water; also a large tin Water-boiler attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.

The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, so no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shoveling up of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who are now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.

We would refer to the following purchasers:

"MAGEE'S PATENT"
VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING
FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting Dwellings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing, but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The due or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large portion of the heat unconsumed, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq.,	Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill,	Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell,	John Sise, and others.

This is a new and invaluable preparation for preserving and beautifying the hair. Just Pub'd.

The wonderful virtues of Arnica in allaying and removing inflammation are universally known.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS is a combination of these virtues, with other tried and excellent ingredients.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS stimulates and invigorates the hair, prevents it from falling out—restores it when lost—promotes its growth and strength—renders it proof against all diseases.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS permanently cures all irritations and eruptions of the scalp, and makes it healthy and fertile. For the removal of dandruff it has no equal. Its operations in this respect are magical and permanent.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS is unequalled as a hair-dressing compound. It not only cleanses the scalp and eradicates dandruff, but renders the latter charmingly soft and lustrous. Its odor is particularly delicate and fragrant—the proprietor having taken especial pains to secure this result.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS is the very best preparation for the hair ever discovered.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS, notwithstanding its surpassing merits—is retailed at only Twenty-five cents a bottle, by druggists.

For Physicians' Use.
FEMALES, WEAKLY PERSONS, INVALIDS.

SAMBUCUS TREE, OF PORTUGAL,

The Great Remedy for Kidney Affections, Rheumatism, Chronic Complaints

Excellent Wine for Females.

Every Family should use the SAMBUCI WINE celebrated in Europe for its medicinal and beneficial qualities as a gentle Stimulant, Tonic, Diuretic and Sudorific, highly esteemed by eminent physicians, used in European and American Hospitals, and by some of the first families in Europe and America.

AS A DIURETIC, it imparts a healthy action to the Glands and Kidneys, and Urinary Organs, very beneficial in Dropsy, Gout and Rheumatic Affections.

SPEER'S SAMBUCI WINE is not a mixture or manufactured article, but is pure from the juice of the Portugal Sambucus, cultivated in New Jersey, recommended by Chemists and Physicians as possessing medical properties superior to any other Wines in use, and an excellent article for all weak and debilitated persons, and the aged and infirm, improving the appetite, and beautifying ladies and children.

A LADIES' WINE, because it will not intoxicate as other wines, as it contains no mixture of spirits or other liquors, and is admired for its rich, peculiar flavor and nutritive properties, imparting a healthy tone to the digestive organs, and a blooming, soft and healthy skin and complexion.

—WE REFER TO—

A star for every State: a State for every star.
NO PARTY—ONE COUNTRY.

Bound to no party—to no sect confined:
The world our home; our brethren, all mankind.
Love truth, do good, be just and fair with all;
Exalt the right, though every ism fall."

"Let me warn you in the most solemn manner against the baneful effects of the spirit of Party, generally. It is a spirit not to be encouraged.—Its common and continual mischief is sufficient to make it the interest and duty of a wise people to discourage and restrain it. In governments of the popular form, it is seen in its greatest rankness, and is truly their worst enemy."—Washington's Farewell Address.

UNIQUE THANKSGIVING OBSERVANCE.—In a thanksgiving service at Yonkers, N. Y., six religious societies united, the pastors of which took part in the services, and joined in preaching parts of the sermon. The text was announced by one of the pastors, and six divisions stated; each pastor spoke to one of these divisions, and at the end of an hour the large congregation had heard, with evident satisfaction, a well jointed and interesting sermon preached by six ministers of as many different denominations. At the close of it, a collection was taken up, and a liberal one, too, for the suffering operatives of Lancashire, England.

☞ Drake's History of Boston gives the following: In 1639 the General Court employed Edward Palmer "to erect stocks in which to punish offenders. Having brought in his bill for the wood work, amounting to £1 13s. 7d., the Court decided that it was exorbitant; and instead of drawing on the treasurer for its payment, they ordered him to be set in said stocks for an hour, and to pay a fine of £5." So Mr. Palmer sat in his own stocks, and paid back as a fine much more than he received for his labor. If the Government should deal in that manner now with its employees!

UPS AND DOWNS OF FORTUNE.—The following appears in an exchange: A dozen years ago a man, rather shabbily dressed, entered a cafe of modest appearance in the Faubourg St. Germain, in Paris, and asked for a cup of coffee and a roll, swallowing them rapidly, as if pressed by hunger, and then retired, seeming to avoid the demand for payment. The waiter hastened to inform his mistress, a kind-hearted woman, of what had taken place, but she replied: "It is all right, I know the gentleman." The next day the stranger returned, asked for the same things, and retired in the same manner as before, without paying. This continued for about two months, after which he was seen no more. About a month ago the widow was invited to call upon a notary, to hear the following extract from a will which he held in his hand: "I bequeath 60,000f. to the widow ——, proprietress of a cafe (giving the address), to thank her for her generosity in giving me a breakfast every day for two months, without demanding payment, which it was then impossible for me to make. I was then in misery, but since fortune having smiled on me, it is only just that I should pay for the sixty breakfasts to which I owe my life."

BRITISH NAVAL OFFICERS AT NEW ORLEANS.—The English sloop-of-war Rinaldo, and the Frenchmen, the Milan and the Catinat, are still lying in New Orleans. The nuisance of Confederate sympathy, which prevailed on board the Englishman, and exhibited itself every Friday evening in the shape of such songs as "The Bonnie Blue Flag," "Missouri," &c., has, in compliance with a polite request from the Admiral, been discontinued, so far as any public demonstration is concerned. Numbers of the "first families," however, who disdain to pollute their shoes by treading the deck of a Yankee ship, continue to visit her to enjoy the Friday night theatrical entertainments of her crew and the sympathy of her officers.

☞ Very little labor is performed in some of the departments in Washington, and it is reported that a few weeks since a prominent officer of the government got his son a place in the army on the ground that the son had been occupying an office without work so long that he was ashamed of it, and was determined that he should really serve his country in some capacity.

BUY CALIFORNIA WINES.
They are the Purest!
The Best!
The Cheapest!
The "sunny slopes" of "Los Angelos" have announced to the world that America is a wine growing country, and as the discovery of gold sent a thrill through the old world, so will the discovery of these Wines startle them again, as it says, "one more link broken which has bound us to Europe," "one more step to independence." Let every man, woman and child who loves Wine, see to it that they buy none other than these.
"The Rock" is a most delicious Wine, and rivals in delicacy its German predecessor.
The "Angelica" and "Muscatel" are melting, luscious and rich, and will take the place of Malaga, Tokay, or other rich Wine
The Port has a fine flavor and body; and
The Port is excellent because it is pure.

MONDAY, JANUARY 5, 1863.

THE REBELLION.

The battle of Murfreesboro, Tenn., was one of the most severe of the war. Our forces encountered the rebels on Tuesday, near Stewart's Creek. After heavy skirmishing the rebels were driven back. We captured 100 prisoners, and killed and wounded a large number of the enemy. Our loss was 70 in killed and wounded. At daybreak on Wednesday, the fight was renewed with great fury, and continued until 4 P. M. Our loss was very heavy. Maj. Slemmer, (the Lt. Slemmer of Fort Pickens celebrity,) is among the wounded. Our total loss in killed and wounded is estimated at 2500. The rebel loss exceeds ours. Gen. J. E. Rains was killed and Gen. Cheatham was wounded and taken prisoner. We have 500 prisoners. The fight was again renewed at 8 A. M. on Thursday. Wood's and Van Cleve's divisions were in Murfreesboro', driving the enemy, who were in full retreat at ten o'clock.

Further details of the battle at Murfreesboro, state that Gen. Rosecrans marched from Nashville with about 45,000 effective men and 100 pieces of artillery, and skirmished all the way to the battle-field, the enemy resisting bitterly. The enemy was strongly posted with artillery on the bank of Stover river, the west side, his flanks resting on Murfreesboro, west side. The centre also had the advantage on high ground, with a dense growth of cedar masking them completely. The fight on Wednesday raged 11 hours, with varying success, Gen. Rosecrans himself leading his men repeatedly. On that day we engaged the enemy at close quarters,—said to be the first time in the history of the rebellion. At one time Gen. Rosecrans saw his troops wavering, and dashed rapidly to the front, followed by his staff, creating such an enthusiasm among the soldiers that they rallied at every point, and drove the enemy for some distance. A dispatch to the Philadelphia Press says the battle was again renewed on Friday morning with great ferocity, and in the afternoon the rebels had been driven nearly two miles by our troops. Union reinforcements were coming up, and Gen. Rosecrans was determined to destroy the rebels at any cost. He is a model General,—he is following up a victory.

Gen. Grant at Holly Springs Jan. 2d, reports that Gen. Sullivan had whipped the rebel Col. Ferret at Spring Hill, Miss., badly, routing his entire force, and capturing 6 pieces of artillery, 300 stand of arms, and a great many prisoners and horses. Gen. Grant says that Gen. Van Dorn was repulsed at every point, "except this," and with heavy loss.

Two rebel camps in Kentucky were captured last week, with several prisoners. Morgan is flying precipitately, having been defeated, with the loss of 60 of his men, together with his caissons and ammunition wagons.

When Island No. 10 was evacuated lately, 69 cannon were spiked, and 10,000 rounds of ammunition thrown into the river.

Gen. Sherman's expedition has gone up the Yazoo river, and will debark and march to near Vicksburg. The New Orleans National Advocate states that the Union fleet above Vicksburg opened fire on the batteries there Dec. 13th. The lower fleet commenced shelling Port Hudson on Thursday last. On Saturday a disabled gunboat was seen floating down the river by St. Johns.

The rebels claim that our troops have been repulsed at Vicksburg, but state that the fighting is not over. They say that our troops have destroyed the Vicksburg, Shreveport and Texas Railroad as far as Delhi, and burned the town of Delhi.

The rebels have dug new rifle pits along the river banks at Fredericksburg to provide against our crossing. Vice President Hamlin returned from the army of the Potomac on Saturday, and represents the officers and men as in good condition, and in no wise disheartened.

Sunday's dispatch stated that the famous iron-clad Monitor foundered at sea on Tuesday, south of Cape Hatteras, with the loss of two officers and thirty men. An attack had been made on the rebels at Vicksburg, and seemed to be progressing favorably. Gen. Banks and Admiral Farragut were expected to co-operate with General Sherman in reducing the place. Rebel papers admit a loss of 4000 in killed and wounded at Prairie Grove, Ark. The battle near Murfreesboro, apparently, was not completed. Thus far it had resulted in our favor, though our loss of officers is represented to be heart-rending. It was reported that the rebel Gen. Bragg had been killed.

☞ On Thursday last, Mr. Wm. Foot, of Amesbury, while at work upon a staging on the new factory, fell a distance of thirty feet, breaking one of his ribs, and otherwise injuring him. He has so far recovered as to be considered out of danger.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— Mr. John Boynton, of Derry, was thrown from his carriage on Thursday, his horse taking fright, and so injured that he died in a few hours.

—— Governor Berry has issued an order directing that the draft ordered to take place on the 8th inst. be suspended until further orders are received from the War Department. Delinquent towns are requested to fill their respective quotas by enlisting reliable men for regiments now in the service, and to avoid transient persons volunteering for a bounty, only to desert.

—— The third Annual Ball of the Governor's Horse Guards will be given at Phenix Hall, Concord, on Wednesday evening, Jan. 14. These entertainments have been among the most brilliant and successful ever given in our State. The opportunity to procure tickets is not confined to members of the corps, but is afforded to other gentlemen.

☞ The Washington correspondent of the Concord Statesman says that the Second Regiment is probably to return to New Hampshire, and make winter quarters at the fort in Portsmouth. Gen. Marston is in Washington, having come out of his terrible campaign in excellent health and spirits. There are few officers who have seen so much stormy, wearing, tearing, perilous service as he, and fewer who have, like him, come forth from the ordeal full of health and courage and unabated mental vigor. His regiment now musters 376 muskets. Since entering the service 500 of his men have been hit by balls and shells. This statement of two facts is more honorable to the persistent patriotism of the men, and the fitness of the commander of them for his position, than any thing and every thing else that can be said of their marvellous career. Gen. Marston has always taken pride in making the number of men he has led safely through his conflicts, the greatest possible. Some officers delight to talk of having torn their command all into shreds. It is doubtful if there is a regiment in the army that can show such figures as the 2nd N. H., in these particulars. Gen. Marston will soon be ordered to a command.

☞ Gov. Morton of Indiana has urged the Government to mount fifty regiments of infantry, to carry no sabres, but retain their muskets or rifles and bayonets, using their horses for rapid marching. Morgan's men carry very few sabres, fight on foot, and have their horses only for marching.—The Governor insists that in this way only can our communications be protected, and such roving bands as Morgan's be driven out of the country and kept out.

☞ In Portland, on New Year's day, a lady gave one of the carriers of a city paper a three cent stamp. The boy, not seeing the liberality of the thing, handed her a five cent shinplaster, remarking that he did not wish to tax her too severely. She felt the rebuke, and gave the boy a "quarter for his impudence."

STAMPS.—By an act of the present Congress, approved Dec. 25th, no instrument or paper issued before March 1, 1863, shall be invalid for want of a stamp, but to admit such instrument as evidence in Court, the legal stamp must first be affixed. The penalty for not using stamps, as given in the original law, is not repealed or suspended.

ROBBERY.—On Thursday morning, at two o'clock, the shoemaker's shop of Enoch Chase, in Newburyport, was entered by some one who was well acquainted with the premises, and three cases of shoes stolen therefrom—one case of laced side gaiters, one case of women's low cut slippers, and one case of women's cloth Congress boots.

☞ For the first time since the war opened, the supply of arms is ahead of the demand; at least, for the first time there is an accumulation at the Springfield Armory. From 30,000 to 40,000 new rifles are now on hand, packed and ready for shipment. The armory turns out about 1000 muskets per day.

☞ The year 1862 was the most prosperous in the history of California as far as mercantile and manufacturing interests are concerned. The agricultural and mining interests have never been in a better condition. The State is increasing rapidly in population and wealth.

NOT ASSESSED ENOUGH.—The Boston City Treasurer acknowledges the receipt of six dollars. The money was accompanied by the following explanation: Pass to the credit of the city the enclosed $6. The writer was assessed that sum less than he should have been."

☞ In Minot, Me., it has been thoroughly demonstrated that the shovelings-out from horse stables will sometimes heat to a degree that will produce spontaneous combustion. So says the man who says he saw it.

☞ The steamer Ocean Queen, from Aspinwall 24th, with $1,300,000 in treasure, arrived at New York on Saturday.

☞ A very remarkable talking automaton is exciting the curiosity of the Parisians. It has been constructed by M. Faber, late Professor of Mathematics at a German university, and is stated to be by far the most successful effort that has yet been made to imitate the human voice. The figure is that of a woman.

☞ "The Armadillos" is the pertinent term applied to the new iron Monitors. If the mailed vessels are as completely protected from assault as is the quadruped rejoicing in the name of Armadillo, the friends of the Union cause will have ample reason for congratulation.

☞ The Stonington, Fall River and Norwich steamboat lines have made an agreement that on and after Jan. 1, 1863, no free passes will be issued in consideration of freight.

☞ Over one thousand persons were killed and wounded by railroad and over three hundred by steamboat accidents, and about eighteen millions of dollars' worth of property destroyed by fire, in 1862.

☞ The King and Queen of the Sandwich Islands were confirmed at the so called Reformed Catholic Church Nov. 28. Bishop Shanley and other English missionaries performed the ceremonies.

☞ The President is said to be much perplexed about the Minnesota Indians—he doesn't care to hang any more, and his uncertainty is equally perplexing to the savages.

☞ The principal keepers of billiard rooms in Boston have agreed to raise the price per game to twenty cents, and to twenty-five cents for match games.

☞ A criminal in Missouri was recently sentenced to the penitentiary for life, and then on another charge of horse-stealing, was sentenced for eight years additional.

☞ Mr. James Watson Webb, Minister to Brazil, it is reported, had challenged the British Minister at Rio to fight a duel. A dispute at the card table induced the hostile missive.

☞ In a school at West Bridgton, Me., a few days since, the teacher in attempting to correct a little boy, put one of the child's wrists out of joint, and broke his other arm.

☞ The failures of 1861 were one hundred and seventy-eight millions, whereas the failures in the year just expired are only twenty-three millions.

☞ Mr. James Stewart, of Salisbury, fell from the top of a load of wood on Thursday last, breaking his hip.

☞ The President has signed the bill for the admission of Western Virginia.

☞ The population of Russia, exclusive of Russian Tartary, is 65,000,000.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (under the Act of 1857.)

75 State Street, opposite Kilby Street,

BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relating to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render the Subscriber, above all others, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

☞ I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."

CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy than the gentleman to whom I give my applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."

JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.

Rubber Band Carpet Sweeper.

TRY IT! TRY IT!!

It saves Money; it saves Carpets; it saves Furniture; it saves Labor; it is cheaper than Brooms at five cents apiece.

It gathers up all dust, dirt, and loose lint on the carpets, and raises no dust to settle on the furniture, drapery, or ornaments, or to smother, stifle and irritate the lungs.

It does not wear the carpets half so much as brooms or any other sweeper.

It is the only practicable sweeper made, and the only article fit to sweep a carpet.

With our late improvements it gives universal satisfaction to all who use it according to directions. For sale at No. 12 Market Street by Local.

☞ Dr. Gleason completed his course of lectures on Physical Education, at the Temple in this city, on Saturday evening. It is hardly necessary to mention, for the information of any of our citizens, how valuable and interesting his lectures have been esteemed to be, as that matter has already been pretty fully canvassed and settled, particularly in private conversation. His hearers have steadily increased in number since the course began, and the only regret of those who have heard but few of his lectures has been that they did not attend the first, thus securing their attendance of the whole. Dr. Gleason will, we understand, remain at the Rockingham House in this city during the present week, where he may be consulted by those desiring his advice or services.

☞ Sam Sharpley's first concert will be given at the Temple this, Monday, evening, and all the lovers of Negro Minstrelsy will, of course, bear that fact in mind. The Portland papers speak highly of their concert in that city on Friday evening,—especially of the instrumental and vocal part, and say that they accomplished their object, which was to please all.

SCARCITY IN NEWFOUNDLAND.—Sir Alexander Bannerman, Governor of Newfoundland, it seems, will not help those who refuse to help themselves. Great scarcity of food prevails among the fishing population, and he has been petitioned to aid those in want; but in reply he shows that the shore fishery had given at least a fair return last summer, that those who have been industrious and economical have provided enough for their winter's support, and that he declines to give Government aid to the idle and extravagant, as any show of returning to a system of pauper aid, when the means of independence is within the grasp of common energy, is one the Government will not countenance.

From the Newburyport Herald.

POOR LITTLE DORG!—Such was the exclamation which came from the lips of two kind-hearted gentlemen a few evenings since, as they were wending their way home from a neighboring town. The poor little sufferer seemed to be famishing in the cold by the side of the road, and had evidently, as they supposed, lost his master. Acting upon the principles of humanity, one of them immediately alighted and placed the little stranger in the carriage. It was a "pooty dorg," dressed in half mourning colors, with shaggy hair and evidently a King Charles Spaniel. The little stranger was provided with a very comfortable bed beneath the folds of a superb wolf robe, and while congratulating themselves upon the prize they had so fortunately obtained, a very disagreeable odor seemed to pervade the atmosphere, which was first attributed to some cheap German cigars with which they were regaling themselves. But upon lighting some of a choicer brand, the odor did not abate, but rather increased as they progressed, when they came to the conclusion that they must have run over one of those little animals which the Rev. H. W. Beecher once threw a volume at, and got the worst of it. The little "dorg," having become quite comfortable by this time, was very frisky in the bottom of the carriage, and it was suggested that he should take a seat by their side, which, on being done, revealed the secret of their unfortunate mistake. On their arrival home, we presume, if they kept a ledger, this entry might be written therein:—

Dr. Humanity to ——for one wolf robe $15,
Two pairs of pants, $14.....$29
Cr. in part by the following quotation from Moore:

"Long, long be my heart with such memories filled!
Like the vase in which roses have once been distilled,
You may break, you may sever the vase if you will,
But the scent of the roses will hang round it still!"

☞ ATTENTION, THE WHOLE! ☞

RYE, N.H., Feb. 26, 1846. "I hereby certify that my wife has been for a long time troubled for a number of years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended to the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of Dr Swett's PANACEA, and several bottles of his Humor Wash, which have effected a cure. There can be no mistake, as this cure was effected more than two years ago. No other medicine can equal Dr. Swett's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold it to a number of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it since I have acted as agent for the sale of it. JOSIAH JENNESS.

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with dis tress in my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

From ELDER I CRESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CRESLEY.

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26o

AYER'S AERRICAN ALMANAC has now arrived, and is now ready for delivery gratis, at Wm. H. Preston's, to all who call for it. This number contains a treatise on Scrofula, and its kindred complaints, which is well worth perusal. It also gives much general information, which is useful, and should be kept against a time of need in every family. Its compilation of jokes and anecdotes is about the best that reaches us, and these facts together have given it a circulation which is said to be the largest of any one book in the world. 1t

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire, so arranged that it can be used entirely for a roaster or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking, giving an oven nearly 20 inches long, large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time! A check draft in the pipe of this stove by means of which the consumption of fuel is greatly lessened, and a steady fire can be kept day and night if desired.

THE MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be a stove for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We believe the MODEL COOK to be the very best Stove in the Market, and invite every one to examine it whether they wish to purchase or not. It has had a very extensive sale since its introduction. Reference might be made to more than a hundred families in this city or vicinity who are using the stove, and give it the highest commendation.

We refer to the following individuals who have purchased the Model Cook:—

David Kimball, Thos. F. Burt, John T. French, Rev. Mr. Davies, Wm. Pettigrew, Capt. John Davis, Jeremiah Raitt, Mrs. Ann T. Perkins, James Wheatland, Franklin C. Jarvis, Thos. J. Pullock, Jacob Wendell, Capt. Jacob Thompson, Gen. J. G. Hadley, C. Melvin Huntress, Jos. D. Lackman, James F. Shepard, Wm. C. Newton, Horton D. Walker, Benj. Chesley, John Brandy, Richard L. Randall, Geo. Rice, Benj. F. Caney, Benj. M. Parker, Charles A. Wiggin, George W. Plumer, Nath'l Bennett, Abner Locklin, John Harratt, Thos Murphy, Capt. Wm. Lambert, Joseph Stiles, John Senter, Wm. Bell, Cyrus Plumer, Freeman Hurd, James B. Locklin, Daniel L. Randall, Isaiah Wilson, John E. Roberts—of Portsmouth; Samuel C. Dixon, Daniel I. Tryon, Cornelius Tryon, of Tredefferin Island; Geo. N. Dixon, Samuel F. Paul, Elias Remick, Timothy Dunn, Elliot; Wm. S. Locke, Benj. Fernald, Mrs. Wm. Locke, Kittery; R. F. Gerrish, Kittery Point; Hon. Clement March, Albert Blaisdell, Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W. Davis, Greenland; Mr. John Sanborn, Stratham; Mr. Reuben F. Jenness, David Jenness, Moses Fulsher, Rye.

VICTOR COAL STOVE.

We offer this beautiful coal burner to the public, with full confidence in its merits.

It was brought into market two years since, and has come rapidly into use.

The Victor is one of the handsomest parlor stoves in the market, and is perfect in its operation. The arrangement for dumping the ashes is very fine—no dust need escape into the room—a cautious fire only be kept throughout the winter—the coal all burned, and no clinkers made.

The quantity of fuel used is very small indeed. There is in this stove an excellent arrangement for ventilating the room in which it is placed; a feature not possessed by any other parlor stove.

Some of the fires are provided with air ovens and boiling place, making them very desirable for a dining room.

We sold a large number of Victor Stoves in our city last season, and they receive the highest commendation from those who are using them.

We have also the celebrated McGregor Stove, so well known in the market as to need no commendation.

A great variety of cheaper Stoves for coal and wood—Coal-hods—Patent Coal-sifters.

COAL LININGS,

and Repairing pieces for most of the stoves in use. Job Work attended to with dispatch.

SOME OF ITS ADVANTAGES.

1st. It is stronger and lighter than any known material.

2d. From two to six times the amount of suction or adhesion can be obtained by it.

3d. When the arch is irregular we can by building out the depressions—which can be done to any extent—give the mouth a more natural appearance.

4th. No bad taste arises in the mouth by its use, as the secretions of the stomach and mouth do not affect it in the least.

5th. Teeth mounted upon this base can be kept clean and sweet as any, as a saucer, as a bath finished the work presents one whole piece.

6th. While in all ways it is better, save in a few popular cases, it is much cheaper than Gold.

A STRANGE MARRIAGE CEREMONY.—A singular wedding recently took place in Chester county, Pennsylvania, which is thus recorded:

Married—On the 16th ult., in Chester county, Orson S. Murray, of Warren county, Ohio, to Lydia P. Jacobs, of the former place.—The ceremony consisted principally of the following announcements, made by the parties concerned, in the presence of congratulating friends assembled on the occasion: "We, Orson S. Murray and Lydia P. Jacobs, make known to those, our friends, that we have chosen each other for conjugal companionship—in prosperity and in adversity, in life and till death. We ask no license. We submit to no dictation. We bow to no authority. We recognize no God nor Almighty power to guide or to guard us. Our promises are to ourselves and each other, and no others. Our trust is not in others, but in ourselves and each other."

"How no You Do?" That's English and American. "How do you carry yourself?" That's French. "How do you stand?" That's Italian. "How do you find yourself?" That's German. "How do you fare?" That's Dutch. "How can you?" That's Swedish. "How do you perspire?" That's Egyptian. "How is your stomach?" "Have you eaten your rice?" That's Chinese. "How do you have yourself? That's Polish. "How do you live on?" That's Russian. "May thy shadow never be less!" That's Persian; and all mean much the same thing.

☞ ATTENTION, THE WHOLE! ☜

EYE, N.H., Feb. 26, 1848. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended to the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., but without any effect. In all vain I procured some ten or twelve bottles of DR. SWEYT'S PANACEA, and several bottles of his Humor Wash, which have effected a cure. There can be no mistake, as the cure was effected more than three years ago. No other medicines can equal Dr. Swett's in removing the various kinds of humors." I have sold it to a number of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it since I have acted as agent for the sale of it. JEREMIAH JENNESS.

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which relieved me at once, so that I have not had much trouble from any of those complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

FOREST ELDER I. CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

DR. SWETT:—Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for the number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow worse till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, No. 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrotula, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, Strictures, Swellings, and the long train of horrible evils, resulting from the effects of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr D., devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business, or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, pain and distress in the regions, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating marriage, consider the obstacle in the way, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.

Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your cases. Dr. Dow has also for sale the French Capsules, warranted best preventive. Order by mail. Three for $3 and a red stamp.

April 7—1y 13aw.

CAUTION

To Females in Delicate Health.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 & 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, is consulted daily for all disease incident to the female system, Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of Diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

N. B.—All letters must contain four red stamps, or they will not be answered.

Office Hours from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M.

April7, 1862—1ybaw

CERTAIN CURE

in all cases, or No Charges Made.

Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. as above, upon all difficult and chronic diseases of every name and nature, having by his unwearied attention and extraordinary skill gained a reputation which calls patients from all parts of the country to obtain advice.

Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in the profession than the celebrated DR. DOW, No. 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.

P. S.—Dr. Dow imports and her for sale a new article, called the FRENCH SECRET. Order by mail. Two for $1 and a red stamp.

THE MAGEE COOKING STOVE.

The subscribers, having received their Fall stock of Stoves, would especially call the attention of the public to the

as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.

There is a new style and very superior broiler and self-regulating Boiler, by which the odor of broiling meats are prevented from escaping into the room. With the extension top there is a large copper Reservoir for hot water; also a large tin warming-closet attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.

The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, as no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the throwing up of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of kindling every morning.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who are now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.

We would refer to the following purchasers:

"MAGEE'S PATENT"

VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING

FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable furnace, would ask the attention of those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable article.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for ventilation, it cannot be made to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are forced up by the admission of fresh air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used.

We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq.,	Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill,	Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell,	John Sise, and others.

FEMALES, WEEKLY PERSONS, INVALIDS.

SAMBUCUS TREE, OF PORTUGAL,

The Great Remedy for Kidney Affections, Rheumatism, Chronic Complaints

Excellent Wine for Females.

Every Family should use the SAMBUCI WINE celebrated in Europe for its medicinal and beneficial qualities as a gentle Stimulant, Tonic, Diuretic and Sudorific, highly esteemed by eminent physicians, used in European and American Hospitals, and by some of the first families in Europe and United States.

AS A DIURETIC, it imparts a healthy action to the Glands and Kidneys, and Urinary Organs, very beneficial in Dropsy, Gout and Rheumatic Affections.

SPEER'S SAMBUCI WINE is not a mixture or manufactured article, but is pure from the juice of the Tropical Sambucus, cultivated in New Jersey, recommended by Chemists and Physicians as possessing medical properties superior to any other Wine in use, and is an excellent article for all weak and debilitated persons, and the aged and infirm, improving the appetite, and benefitting ladies and children.

A LADIES' WINE, because it will not intoxicate as other wines, as it contains no mixture of spirits or other liquors, and is admired for its rich, peculiar flavor and nutritive properties, imparting a healthy tone to the digestive organs, and a blooming, soft and healthy skin and complexion.

MATHEWS' Arnica HAIR GLOSS

This is a new and invaluable preparation for preserving and beautifying the hair.

The wonderful virtues of Arnica in allaying and removing inflammation are universally known.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS is a combination of these virtues, with other tried and excellent ingredients.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS stimulates and invigorates the hair, prevents it from falling out—restores it when lost—promotes its growth and strengthens—makes it proof against all disease.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS permanently cures all irritations and eruptions of the scalp, and makes it healthy and fertile. For the removal of the druff it has no equal. Its operations in this particular are magical and permanent.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS is unequalled as a hair-dressing compound. It not only cleanses the scalp and invigorates the hair, but it renders the latter charmingly soft and lustrous. Its odor is permanently delicate and fragrant—the proprietor having taken especial pains to secure this result.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS is the very best preparation for the hair ever discovered.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS, notwithstanding its superlative qualities, is sold at only twenty-five cents a bottle, by all Druggists.

CURIOUS CASE OF SUPERSTITION

A widow lady in Paris, aged about 63, who lodged on a two-pair-of-stairs floor in the Rue de la Ferroniere, with only a maid servant, was accustomed to spend several hours every day before the altar dedicated to St. Paul, in a neighboring church. Some villains, observing her extreme weakness, resolved, as she was known to be rich, to share her wealth. One of them accordingly took the opportunity to hide behind the carved work of the altar, and when no person but the old lady was there, in the dusk of the evening, he contrived to throw a letter right before her. She took it up, and not perceiving any one near, supposed it came by a miracle. In this she was more confirmed when she saw it signed 'Paul, the Apostle,' expressing the satisfaction he received by her prayers addressed to him, when so many newly canonized saints engrossed the devotion of the world, and robbed the primitive saints of their wonted adoration; and to show his regard for the devotion, he promised to come from heaven with the angel Gabriel, and sup with her at eight in the evening. It seems scarcely credible that any one could be deceived by so gross a fraud; yet to what length of credulity will not superstition carry a weak mind! The infatuated lady believed the whole; and rose from her knees in transport, to prepare an entertainment for her heavenly guests.

The supper being bespoke, and the sideboard set out to the best advantage, she thought that her own plate, worth about £400, did not make so elegant an appearance as might be wished; and therefore sent to her brother, a counsellor in the Parliament of Paris, to borrow all his plate. The maid, however, was charged not to disclose the occasion, but only to say that she had company to supper, and would be obliged to him if he would lend his plate for the evening. The counsellor, surprised at the application, well knowing his sister's frugal life, began to suspect that she was enamored of some fortune hunter, who might marry her, and thus deprive his family of what he expected at his sister's death. He therefore positively refused to send the plate, unless the maid told him what guests were expected. The girl, alarmed for her mistress's honor, declared that her pious lady had no thoughts of a husband, but St. Paul having sent her a letter from heaven, promising that he and the angel Gabriel would sup with her, she wanted to make the entertainment as elegant as possible.

The Counsellor immediately suspected that some villains had imposed on her; and sending the maid with the plate, proceeded directly to the commissary of that quarter. On the magistrate's going with him to a house adjoining, they saw, just before eight o'clock, a tall man, dressed in long vestments, with a white beard, and a young man in white, with large wings on his shoulders, alight from a hackney coach, and go up to his sister's apartments.

The commissary ordered twelve of the police guard to post themselves on the stairs, while he knocked at the door and demanded admittance. The lady replied that she had company, and could not speak to any one. But the commissary answered that he must come in, for he was St. Peter, and had come to ask St. Paul and the angel Gabriel how they came out of heaven without his knowledge. The divine visitors were astonished at this, not expecting any more saints to join them; but the lady, overjoyed at having so great an apostle with her, ran eagerly to the door, when the commissary, her brother, and the police guards rushed in, presented their muskets, seized her guests, and conducted them to prison.

On searching the criminals, two cords, a razor and a pistol were found in St. Paul's pocket, and a gag in that of the angel Gabriel. Three days after, the trial came on, when they pleaded in their defence that one was a soldier in the French infantry, and the other a barber's apprentice—that they had no other design than to procure a good supper at the widow's expense—that it being carnival time, they had borrowed these dresses, and the soldier having picked up the two cords, put them in his pocket—that the razor was that with which he constantly shaved himself—that the pistol was to defend themselves from any insult to which their strange habits might expose them in going home—and that the apprentice, whose master was a tooth-drawer, merely had the gag which they sometimes use in their business. These excuses, frivolous as they were, proved of some avail; as they had manifested no evil design by any overt act, they were both acquitted.

But the Counsellor, who foresaw what might happen through the defect of evidence, had provided another stroke for them. No sooner, therefore, were they discharged from civil power, than they were immediately seized by the apparitor of the Archbishop of Paris, and conveyed to the ecclesiastical prison. In three days more they were tried and convicted of a most scandalous profanation by assuming to themselves the names, characters and appearances of a holy apostle and blessed angel, with an intent to deceive a pious and well meaning woman, and to the scandal of religion. They were accordingly publicly condemned to be whipped, burnt on the shoulder with a red-hot iron, and sent to the galleys for fourteen years, a sentence which was in a few years faithfully put into execution.

A star for every State: a State for every star

NO PARTY—ONE COUNTRY.

"Bound to no party—to no sect confined:
The world our home; our brethren, all mankind.
Love truth, do good, be just and fair with all;
Exalt the right, though every ism fall."

"Let me warn you in the most solemn manner against the baneful effects of the spirit of Party, generally. It is a spirit not to be encouraged. Its common and continual mischief is sufficient to make it the interest and duty of a wise people to discourage and restrain it. In governments of the popular form, it is seen in its greatest rankness, and is truly their worst enemy."—Washington's Farewell Address.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 6, 1863.

THE PROCLAMATION.—All the papers are "having their say" respecting the Emancipation Proclamation, and perhaps we may as well put our opinion on record—though as a general rule, we regard political speculations and prognostications—laudations and denunciations—as the most idle and uninteresting of all small talk.

We of the Chronicle entertain and profess an unerring loyalty to our Government, and sustain the Administration always, whatever it may be—and so most acquiesce in all acts of the people's President, until he is impeached or removed; alike whether Buchanan tries to save the Union by shoving slavery on Kansas, or Lincoln by relieving Carolina and Virginia from it—entirely regardless of our own personal "principles," prejudices, opinions or preferences, in either matter. Inversely it is with us, as with the Washington Star, which says, concerning the late Proclamation:—

"We care little about the means necessary to end the rebellion, being willing to sacrifice slavery to its attainment, as we are certainly willing to sacrifice anti-slavery to it. If the adoption of the policy indicated in this proclamation shall help to restore and conserve the people's rights, privileges and blessings, the Executive act will therefore be a matter of national rejoicing."

And while on the one hand, we should not regard slave insurrections, (if such should be promoted by it,—of which we can't see any more likelihood now than before,) which should cut the throat of every enemy to the flag, as a matter to be much regretted by its defenders, if they save their necks; neither do we see how much philanthropic credit or glory can be made out of this necessity and an exclusive "war measure." However, we will try and patiently wait the progress of events, and hope for the best.

But really, proclamations won't end the war—and we don't see that the always underrated powers and resources of the rebels are much better understood and appreciated, even now, than at first. If this proclamation weakens them more than it burdens the loyal people, we shall rejoice in it, not less for the nation than for ourselves: and for the negroes, also, if they are benefitted by it.

THE BANK OF MUTUAL REDEMPTION.—Recent investigations disclose that the affairs of this Bank, projected by those desirous of making money by a competition with the Suffolk Bank, Boston, are in a very loose condition. The country banks who were green enough to take stock in this concern, find that in the four years of its existence it has lost nearly 30 per cent. of its capital. The officers seem to have been at loggerheads, and a new President is proposed. The result of the experiment of this concern should serve as a warning to Bank Directors to let well enough alone. It is better to lose a small amount of interest on the deposit at the Suffolk, than to be bled in the way this concern has served its stockholder banks.

ENGLAND—Sewerage of Towns.—The Liverpool Mercury of Nov. 7th, says:—

"A report of the royal commission on utilizing sewerage of towns has been issued. They recommend the establishment of a jurisdiction with adequate powers for the conservancy of all the rivers in the country, from their source to their outfall. The discharge of solid matter of sewers and other matter into rivers would at once be arrested, and this could be accomplished within reasonable limits of expenditure. The sewerage system is at present adopted in thirty towns, being an increase of 18 towns since 1858. The commission will report again."

This utilizing of sewerage, is really a matter of great importance. If all the foul matter in the sewers of cities were utilized, by being put on the land in any form, liquid or solid, as manure, all farming districts near cities or large towns, might be made as rich as gardens.

☞ The citizens of Hallowell, Me., will ask at the coming session of the Legislature for a change of their city government into that of a town.

THE REBELLION.

Gen. Peck has returned to Suffolk, Va. The enemy have shown themselves strongly in front lately, and a fight is anticipated. On Friday a large detachment of Stuart's cavalry, commanded by Maj. Henry, made a dash into Dumfries, and captured some public stores and ten sutlers' wagons.

The N. Y. Times' dispatch states that the iron-clad gunboats were sent from Fortress Monroe to Wilmington with the object of cutting off the railroad communication between Charleston and Richmond.

The Federal cavalry, under Col. Dickey, destroyed the M. and O. R. from Okalona to Saltillo; 27 miles of this was done before the rebel raid into Hall Springs. Gen. Grant's forces have also destroyed the road from Coffeeville to Oxford.

A Holly Springs letter reports that the loss of property, public and private from the recent rebel raid there, cannot fall short of $6,000,000.

Bragg claims that in the fight of Wednesday at Murfreesboro, he captured 4000 prisoners, including two Brigadier Generals, and 31 pieces of artillery. He says the rebel loss is heavy, but that of the Federals greater. A dispatch to the Philadelphia Press, however, dated Dec. 31st, says: We have taken nearly 3000 prisoners, and our loss is not near so heavy as that of the rebels. We are following the enemy up, and will drive him into Alabama before we give him any rest. Gen. Cheatham, the greatest blower, and Gen. Rains, the handsomest man in the rebel army, are both killed and their bodies are in our possession. We have taken over 50 guns and 7 stands of State colors. It is thought that a large number of rebel troops have been withdrawn from Virginia and sent to Petersburg, and to reinforce Bragg at Murfreesboro.

Gen. Mitchell, at Nashville, 1 P. M., Jan. 4, reports that the battle at Murfreesboro had continued 5 days; our army had the advantage and, God willing, would keep it. If the whole Richmond army does not get there, he says, our success is certain. The fighting had been terrible and we have lost very many officers. At the last accounts everything was favorable for us.

Gen. Grant reports that our gunboats were engaging the rebel batteries at Vicksburg, and [illegible] rman was within 3 miles of the city, hotly engaged. He states that the Grenada Appeal of the 31st says the Yankees had got possession of Vicksburg.

☞ The London Times, in an editorial on peace prospects in America, congratulates the North on the better spirit it displays towards the South; and says, from the liberality shown by a portion of the public towards relieving the Lancashire distress, it is willing to believe that a clearer perception of the honorable part England has played during the war now prevails.

☞ Stuart seems to be something of a wag. At the time of his recent raid, having taken the telegraph operators, he sent the following message over the wires:

"Burk's Station, Dec. 28—3 P. M.—Quartermaster General Meigs, Washington: In future you will please furnish better mules. Those you have furnished recently are very inferior.

J. E. B. STUART, Gen. C. S. A."

☞ Fifty damsels, sent out from England to Vancouver's Island, had, upon arrival, to be housed in a Government building and a guard put over them, in order to protect them from the rush of amorous swains. They were all soon disposed of; but whether by lot, or to the highest bidders, does not appear. The Vancouver paper clamors for more, but prefers dairy maids to governesses.

☞ "Perley" telegraphs that President Lincoln expresses himself in terms of high admiration of Gen. Butler's course at New Orleans. The Richmond Examiner on the contrary, pronounces Gen. Butler's being permitted to leave New Orleans alive a stain upon the character of every man in the city who has the strength to raise a weapon.

☞ The N. Y. Tribune says editorially that the rebels in New Orleans and Baton Rouge knew at least a fortnight before Gen. Banks arrived that he was coming to supersede Gen. Butler, and were able to wind bets on it from the Union men, by reason of their knowledge.

☞ A letter from Naples, in the Debats says: "Prince Alfred has embarked in the St. George with the rank of midshipman. His promotion to a lieutenancy has been delayed on account of his having allowed some slight want of discipline among the crew of his boat."

☞ The Paris Moniteur says that some journals exaggerate the tendency of the course of France when offering mediation to America; and, also, that they entirely misunderstand its character.

☞ A frightful railroad accident has occurred in Portugal by which 1[illegible] persons were killed.

☞ The President has nominated Judge Usher as Secretary of the Interior.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— The "coming man" has arrived. The Exeter News Letter of Monday says: "Capt. Bacon is a firm friend of the Union, and will return to the seat of war to-morrow, to put down this accursed rebellion." We are glad to hear that "the man who is going to do it" has been found at last.

—— George D. Dearborn, of Exeter, has been appointed Mail Agent on the B. & M. Railroad.

—— Thirty-six persons died in Exeter last year; average age, 45 years.

—— An Irish woman, in Manchester, on Saturday, attempted to get upon the car as just as they started, but missed her footing and fell between the cars and the platform. The train was at once stopped, when she crawled out from under the cars, and was found to be uninjured.

—— A correspondent of the Mirror speaks highly of the conduct of the 10th regiment, at Fredericksburg. He states that two other regiments of the same brigade by mistake fired upon them, and at the same time ran through their lines, causing a slight confusion for a few minutes; but they soon rallied and made their charge on the enemy's works, led on by the Colonel in person. It is rumored that the regiment, with some others, is to be ordered back to Washington, to take the place of a division now there.

—— There seems now to be no room to doubt Maj. Sturtevant, of the 6th regiment, was killed at Fredericksburg.

—— The new city government of Manchester is to be inaugurated to-day (Tuesday.)

☞ The Monitor, in tow of the Rhode Island, passed Hatteras Shoals on Tuesday afternoon. The weather was fine and promising. About 9 P. M. squally weather commenced, and about 10 it blew hard. At 1:30 A. M., on Wednesday, 31st ult., the Monitor, having sprung a leak, went down. The Passaic, which sailed in company with the Monitor, has arrived at Beaufort. The Montauk sailed from Fortress Monroe on Saturday, and was passed by the Rhode Island on Sunday morning, 15 or 20 miles northward of Hatteras, doing well.

☞ According to accounts received at the Indian Bureau from Minnesota, the hanging of the thirty-nine Sioux Indians does not serve to allay the excitement of the people of that State. Demagogues, who are looking to official position, are going about appointing meetings, and soliciting the attendance of women, with a view to create a furor or crusade which shall end in expelling both innocent and guilty Indians from the State.

☞ A few weeks since, a dealer in Boston closed his store, appended a bit of crape to the door, and left between two days, taking the steamer Ariel for California, having, it is supposed, quite a large sum of money, fraudulently obtained. A few of those wronged sent a message to California, and their attorney has telegraphed that he had secured their claim in full, and that the culprit had left for the mines.

☞ An exchange says that "great excitement was caused at Detroit on Tuesday, by the arrest of Cordelia Bradley, the daughter of a wealthy farmer at Oakland, Mich., and Lewis Hill, a pock marked, ebony-black negro, with whom she was seeking to elope to Canada. Hill had been in Bradley's employ for four years. He was always treated with marked kindness, even being permitted to eat at the same table with the family."

☞ Among those at the Judiciary Square Hospital, Washington, is Peter Brennan, of this city, 5th Regt., Co. K. He was wounded by a ball passing through the leg, lay three days and nights upon the field without food, was picked up on the morning of the 4th, carried to a house, stripped of his clothing by the rebels, paroled and sent to our lines.

☞ The correspondent of the Tribune states that Gen. Butler will be at once ordered to one of the most thickly populated slave districts in the South, where he is to organize an African army, wherewith to hold, occupy and possess a chain of posts guarding a most important line of communication. And the Boston Post says the task about to be assigned to Gen. Butler is currently stated to be that of making "the Proclamation a living word to the slave."

UNITED STATES CREDIT.—The news that the Secretary of the Treasury had concluded to pay the principal of the $2,800,000 of 1842 bonds in gold, will probably give additional firmness to the national credit. The Secretary has probably acted wisely in this matter, although he pays nearly $190,000 more than the face of the bonds in the premium on gold.

☞ The World's Evangelical Alliance proposed a general re-union in prayer throughout Christendom, at the beginning of the year.

☞ President Lincoln has presented to Senator Sumner, for transmission to George Livermore, Esq., of Cambridge, the pen with which he signed the Emancipation Proclamation.

☞ A wealthy Boston gentleman had the pleasure on the first of January of collecting dividends on his stock to the amount of nearly one hundred thousand dollars.

☞ The Directors of the Boston Theatre have contracted with the Messrs. Hook for a large organ, valued at $2000. It is to be put into the theatre immediately.

☞ The reported death of Ex Governor Claib Jackson is not believed by his friends in St. Louis.

☞ Experiments recently made in England, prove that paper pasteboard better resists shot from cannon than hard teak wood.

☞ Two of Kossuth's nephews have arrived at New York, intending to volunteer in the Union army.

☞ The Post says postal currency commands a premium of 8 per cent. in Boston.

BUY CALIFORNIA WINES.

They are the Purest!
The Best!
The Cheapest!

The "sunny slopes" of "Los Angelos" have announced to the world that America is a wine growing country, and as the discovery of gold sent a thrill through the old world, so will the discovery of these Wines startle them again, as it says, "one more link broken which has bound us to Europe," "one more step to independence." Let every man, woman and child who loves Wine, see to it that they buy none other than these.

"The Hock" is a most delicious Wine, and rivals in delicacy its German predecessor.

The "Angelica" and "Muscatel" are melting, luscious and rich, and will take the place of Malaga, Teksy, or other rich Wine.

The Port has a fine flavor and body; and The Port is excellent because it is pure.

Rubber Band Carpet Sweeper.

TRY IT! TRY IT!!

It saves Money; it saves Carpets; it saves Furniture; it saves Labor; it is cheaper than Brooms at five cents apiece.

It gathers up all dust, dirt, and loose lint on the carpet, and raises no dust to settle on the furniture, drapery, or ornaments, or to smother, stifle and irritate the lungs.

It does not wear the carpets half so much as brooms or any other sweeper.

It is the only practicable sweeper made, and the only article fit to sweep a carpet.

With our late improvements it gives universal satisfaction to all who use it according to directions. For sale at No. 19 Market Street by

☞ The new City Government will be organized, and Mayor Dearborn installed to-day, Tuesday, at the Court House, at 10 o'clock.

SHARPLEY'S MINSTRELS gave a rousing concert last night, to a rousing house—and will do the same again this (Tuesday) evening, at the Temple. The applause bestowed upon their performances was unbounded and enthusiastic, and it was well deserved. This is truly a ne plus ultra company, and will fulfil their promise of an entire change of programme. The songs and jokes were new and original, and the audience was kept in a roar of laughter from the beginning to the end. Sam is a trump, every time. Burgess and Sullivan perform their parts to admiration, and are well sustained by the rest of the company; while the dancing of Thomas and Kent is done up in the best style. The violin performance of Boyd elicited great applause, and proved him a master of the instrument.

This evening is positively the last performance in this city, and if our citizens wish to enjoy a rich entertainment from one of the best companies of Ethopian Minstrels that has ever visited our city, they should attend.

☞ We accidentally omitted to give greeting to our new Democratic city contemporary, the "States and Union," on its first appearance, on Friday last—although we did announce it on that morning. It is a neatly printed sheet, a little larger than ours, and will stand firm in the "Democratic" faith. Mr. J. L. Foster, the editor, gives evidence that he has not forgotten how to make a good, readable paper. We have found him to be a gentleman in what dealings we have had with him, and we wish his new enterprise all success.

☞ There are some people who are never satisfied with any thing in this world.—During the beautiful weather of last week, we met one of this genus grumbler. What fine weather we have, said we, full of appreciation of the clear sky, mild weather, good travelling. Yes, replied Grumbler, but we shall catch it by and by to pay for this. Well, said we, there is nothing like taking a full enjoyment of such weather as this while we have it, without anticipating worse. Ah! rejoined he, it is very pleasant sort of weather, but then, you know, it's dreadful unhealthy! Such people would take exception to some of the arrangements of Paradise, if ever admitted there.

☞ Ship Noonday, Henry, of and from Boston Aug. 16, arrived off San Francisco Jan. 1, but ran on a sunken rock, not known heretofore to navigators, 8 miles west of the Farralones, and speedily sunk. The officers and crew escaped in small boats, merely saving their personal baggage. The Noonday was built in this city by Messrs. Fernald & Petigrew, in 1855, and was rated at 1177 tons burthen.

☞ Mr. Alfred Laighton, son of Charles E. Laighton, Esq., of this city, is a member of the cavalry company enrolled in San Francisco, to be attached to the Second Regiment of Massachusetts cavalry. The company arrived at Readville, Mass., where the regiment is encamped, Sunday morning.

☞ We are informed that the Dry Goods dealers of this city have agreed to close their stores each evening, except Saturdays, at 7 o'clock, on and after Wednesday, Jan. 7. The benefits arising from this praiseworthy course will not, we apprehend, be confined to the clerks.

☞ William Burdett, Gunner at the Portsmouth Navy Yard, received orders on Saturday last to report for duty at Charlestown Navy Yard. His successor has not yet been designated.

☞ W. F. Tripp, of this city, Co. H, 6th N. H. Regiment, is reported to have died recently in the hospital at Washington.

☞ The schooner Emma Tuttle captured by one of our cruisers and put in charge of a prize crew, has been captured by the original officers and crew, who were confined on board, and taken back to Nassau with the prize crew as prisoners.

☞ The New York Argus, published weekly in New York city, at $2 per year, is a large, handsomely-printed, ably-edited and well filled Democratic sheet.

WE are informed by a practical confectioner that there is no such thing as working plaster of Paris in confectionery—that the centre of sugar plums to which we referred—hard and tasteless—must have been of flour that had solidified by age. We accept his explanation.—Newburyport Herald.

E. A. STEVENS,
NO. 46 MARKET STREET,
ANOTHER NEW STOVE!
THE MODEL COOK
FOR WOOD OR COAL.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately or together (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the fire-oven, for baking; giving an oven nearly 3 feet long; or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time! A check draft is applied to this stove by means of which the consumption of fuel is greatly lessened, and a steady fire can be kept day and night if desired.

THE MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be THE STOVE for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We believe the MODEL COOK to be the very best Stove in the Market, and invite every one to examine it whether they wish to purchase or not. It has had a very extensive sale since its introduction. Reference might be made to more than a hundred families in this city or vicinity who are using the Stove, and give it the highest commendation.

We refer to the following individuals who have purchased the Model Cook:—

David Kimball, Thos. F. Hart, John T. French, Rev. Mr. Davies, Wm. Pettigrew, Capt. John Davis, Jeremiah Rolfe, Mark Newman, Thos. Perkins, James W. Jarvis, Francis C. Jarvis, Thos. Pullock, Jacob Wendell, Capt. Jacob Thompson, Geo. J. G. Hadley, G. Melvin Hazelton, Jos. D. Ackerman, James F. Shores, Wm. C. Newton, Horton D. Walker, Benj. Cheever, John Trundy, Richard L. Randall, Geo. Rice, Benj. F. Cannon, Benj. M. Parker, Charles A. Wiggin, Geo. W. Plumer, Nath'l Dennett, Henry F. Gerrish, John Harrell, Thos Murphy, Capt. Wm. Lambert, Joseph Stiles, John Semier, Wm. Bell, Jonathan Plumer, Freeman Hurd, James M. Locke, Daniel L. Randall, Isaiah Wilson, John E. Roberts—of Portsmouth; Samuel C. Dixon, Daniel J. Pryor, Cushman Pryor, of Freethen's Island; Geo. N. Dixon, Samuel F. Paul, Elias Renick, Timothy Dame, Eliot; Wm. S. Locke, Benj. Ferrand, Mrs. Wm. Locke, Kittery; R. F. Gerrish, Kittery Point; Hon. Clement March, Albert Mansfield, Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W. Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Mrs. Reuben P. Jenness, David Jenness, Moses Philbrick, Rye.

VICTOR COAL STOVE.

We offer this beautiful coal burner to the public, with full confidence in its merits.

It was brought into market two years since, and has come rapidly into use.

The Victor is one of the handsomest parlor stoves in the market, and is perfect in its operation. The arrangement for dumping the ashes is very fine—no dust need escape into the room—a continuous fire may be kept throughout the winter—the coal all burned, and no clinkers made.

The quantity of fuel used is very small indeed. There is in this stove an excellent arrangement for ventilating the room in which it is placed; a feature not possessed by any other parlor stove.

Some of the sizes are provided with an oven and boiling place, making them very desirable for a dining room.

We sold a large number of Victor Stoves in our city last season, and they receive the highest recommendation from those who are using them.

We have also the celebrated McGregor Stove, so well known in the market as to need no commendation.

A great variety of cheaper Stores for coal and wood—Coal Rods—Patent Coal-sifters, COAL LININGS, and Repairing pieces for most of the stoves in use. Job Work attended to with dispatch.

☞ ATTENTION, THE WHOLE!

RYE, N. H., Feb. 26, 1845. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the salt-rheum for a number of years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended to the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of DR. SWEET'S PANACEA, and several bottles of his Humor Wash, which have effected a cure. There can be no mistake, as this cure was effected more than three years ago. No other medicines can equal Dr. Sweet's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold it to a number of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it since I have acted as agent for the sale of it. JOSIAH JENNESS."

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWEET'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

From ELDER I. CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named. ISRAEL CHESLEY

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26o

Morning Chronicle.

THE MAINE FIFTH.—A singular fact is mentioned in one of our morning papers—that the Maine Fifth Regiment, numbering only twenty-five men, has returned home! This fact will give a good idea of the ravages of war. This regiment is but a little more than one year old, yet it has dwindled down to twenty-five men. Yet if the facts were ascertained, it would be found thaat great many more men in the regiment have perished from sickness than from the bullet. It is always the case, and hence it is better to fight often and make a quick war with a speedy conclusion, than to lie still, and as a result ensure a long war.—Cor. Tress.

It is now denied that the Maine 5th has been ordered home.

CONFECTIONERY.—The Newburyport Herald says that since sugar has advanced, they make confectionery from little globules of plaster of Paris, coated with sugar. It would take just a quarter of a pound to kill a child in twenty-four hours. Plaster of Paris in that form sells at twenty-five and thirty cents a pound.

THE peculiar taint or infection which we call SCROFULA lurks in the constitutions of multitudes of men. It either produces or is produced by an enfeebled, vitiated state of the blood, wherein that fluid becomes incompetent to sustain the vital forces in their vigorous action, and leaves the system to fall into disorder and decay. The scrofulous contamination is variously caused by mercurial disease, low living, disordered digestion from unhealthy food, impure air, filth and filthy habits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by the venereal infection. Whatever be its origin, it is hereditary in the constitution, descending "from parents to children unto the third and fourth generation;" indeed, it seems to be the rod of Him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children." The diseases it originates take various names, according to the organs it attacks. In the lungs, Scrofula produces tubercles, and finally Consumption; in the glands, swellings which suppurate and become ulcerous sores; in the stomach and bowels, derangements which produce indigestion, dyspepsia, and liver complaints; on the skin, eruptive and cutaneous affections. These, all having the same origin, require the same remedy, viz., purification and invigoration of the blood. Purify the blood, and these dangerous distempers leave you. With feeble, foul, or corrupted blood, you cannot have health; with that "life of the flesh" healthy, you cannot have scrofulous disease.

is compounded from the most effectual antidotes that medical science has discovered for this afflicting distemper, and for the cure of the disorders it entails. That it is far superior to any other remedy yet devised, is known by all who have given it a trial. That it does combine virtues truly extraordinary in their effect upon this class of complaints, is indisputably proven by the great multitude of publicly known and remarkable cures it has made of the following diseases: King's Evil, or Glandular Swellings, Tumors, Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches and Sores, Erysipelas, Rose or St. Anthony's Fire, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Coughs from tuberculous deposits in the lungs, White Swellings, Debility, Dropsy, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Syphilis and Syphilitic Infections, Mercurial Diseases, Female Weaknesses, and, indeed, the whole series of complaints that arise from impurity of the blood. Minute reports of individual cases may be found in AYER'S AMERICAN ALMANAC, which is furnished to the druggists for gratuitous distribution, wherein may be learned the directions for its use, and some of the remarkable cures which it has made when all other remedies had failed to afford relief. Those cases are purposely taken from all sections of the country, in order that every reader may have access to some one who can speak to him of its benefits from personal experience. Scrofula depresses the vital energies, and thus leaves its victims far more subject to disease and its fatal results than are healthy constitutions. Hence it tends to shorten, and does greatly shorten, the average duration of human life. The vast importance of these considerations has led us to spend years in perfecting a remedy which is adequate to its cure. This we now offer to the public under the name of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, although it is composed of ingredients, some of which exceed the best of Sarsaparilla in alterative power. By its aid you may protect your children from the suffering and danger of these disorders. Purge out the foul corruptions that rot and fester in the blood, purge out the causes of disease, and vigorous health will follow. By its peculiar virtues this remedy stimulates the vital functions, and thus expels the distempers which lark within the system or burst out on any part of it.

We know the public have been deceived by many compounds of Sarsaparilla, that promised much and did nothing; but they will neither be deceived nor disappointed in this. Its virtues have been proven by abundant trial, and there remains no question of its surpassing excellence for the cure of the afflicting diseases it is intended to reach. Although under the same name, it is a very different medicine from any other which has been before the people, and is far more effectual than any other which has ever been available to them.

AYER'S
CHERRY PECTORAL,
The World's Great Remedy for Coughs, Colds, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of Consumptive patients in advanced stages of the disease.

This has been so long used and so universally known, that we need do no more than assure the public that its quality is kept up to the best it ever has been, and that it may be relied on to do all it has ever done.

Teeth on Vulcanized Rubber.

SOME OF ITS ADVANTAGES.

1st. It is stronger and lighter than any known material.

2d. From two to six times the amount of suction or adhesion can be obtained by it.

3d. When the arch is irregular we can by building out the depressions—which can be done to any extent—give the mouth a more natural appearance.

4th. No bad taste arises in the mouth by its use, as the secretions of the stomach and mouth do not affect it in the least.

5th. Teeth mounted upon this base can be kept clean and sweet as easy as a saucer, as when finished the work presents one whole piece.

6th. While in all ways it is better, save in a few peculiar cases, it is much cheaper than Gold.

THE MAGEE
COOKING STOVE.

The subscribers, having received their Fall stock of Stoves, would especially call the attention of the public to the

MAGEE COOK STOVE,

as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented; the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for purposes in baking.

There is a new style and very superior broiler and sad-iron heater combined, by which the odor of broiling meats are prevented from escaping into the room. With the extension top there is a large copper Reservoir for hot water; also a large air warming-closet attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.

The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, as no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shoveling up of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in the city and vicinity, who are now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.

"MAGEE'S PATENT"
VENTILATING & AIR WARMING
FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and use of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, sweet and agreeable, and no some of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from the smallest amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without much consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the firepot, which ignites the gases and burns the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney hot instead of the stoves and rooms.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world.—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq., Albert R. Hatch, Esq., Aaron H. Hill, Charles H. Mendum, Henry F. Wendell, John Sise, and others.

MAYOR DEARBORN'S ADDRESS.

Gentlemen of the City Council:—

Having taken upon ourselves the oaths for the faithful performance of the duties of the respective offices we have been called upon by our fellow citizens to fill, I would, at the commencement of our labors, submit a few suggestions relative to the interests of our city.

The city debt Dec. 31, 1861 amounts to	$69,843 56
Paid in 1862	1,500 00
Leaving a balance of,	67,843 56
The debt of 1862 is made up as follows:
For bounties to volunteers $52,800 00
" aid to families of Vols. 5,100 00
	57,900 00
Amount of debt Dec. 31, 1863	$125,743 56

which is to funded loans, running from 5 to 20 years at 5 per cent. interest.

Bounties have been paid to volunteers as follows:

To 182 Three years' men at $300 each	36,400.00
" 119 Nine months' men at $150 each	17,850.00
Total	$54,250.00

The state aid to families of soldiers and seamen thus far paid is about $12,000.00

At the present time about $2200 00 per month is disbursed upon this account, and the amount is constantly increasing.

The State aid paid to June, 1862, was $8000 00

Amount received from the State was $8,000 00

It is to be regretted that of the amount of State aid paid by the city, even after the soldier is actually in service, but about 80 per cent. is refunded by the State, and I would suggest the expediency of the payments being made for this purpose to correspond with the receipts from the State, and if in any case the necessities of those for whom this aid is granted, shall require a greater sum than is allowed to us by the State, that such persons shall be relieved from the fund appropriated for the support of the poor.

It will be seen that the extraordinary expenses of the past year, caused by the continuance of the rebellion, have largely increased our city debt; and this admonishes us, that while we should avoid the parsimony, which in its results becomes an extragagance, we must carefully protect our constituents by renewed practices of prudence and economy in our municipal affairs.

I am not aware that any unusual expenditures other than those occasioned by the rebellion are at present called for.

During the past year several important improvements have been made upon the streets, which appear to be in better order than ever before. Some repairs are needed upon the Sagamore Bridge, which requires to be re-planked as soon as practicable.

The Fire Department maintains its reputation for efficiency. A personal inspection of the various engines and apparatus owned by the city, enables me to state that their condition is better than ever before.

Fortunately, our citizens have had for the past year but few occasions to avail themselves of the important services of our firemen, whose prompt obedience to the calls of duty cannot be too highly commended.

The importance of placing this portion of our city property under the direction of skillful and practical men ought not for one moment to be forgotten.

A new reservoir has been constructed at Haymarket Square during the past year, at a cost of $1,800 00.

The City Farm, under the management of the present Superintendent, is in excellent condition. During the past year, several improvements have been made by grading around the house, draining, fencing, &c.

The buildings at the farm are in good order, and the premises give evidence of the care and faithfulness of those in charge.

POLICE.

The efficiency of this department very much depends upon the countenance and support of every good citizen. A recent heavy verdict against the city, which has been sustained at the law term of the Supreme Judicial Court, should serve as an admonition to every one against incumbering the streets to any extent, without every precaution to guard against the possibility of accident.

I propose, at no distant day, to submit some suggestions relative to this department, for the consideration of the City Government.

CONCLUSION.

Gentlemen:—Our constituents have the right to expect of us a careful and unceasing regard for their interests. Let us enter upon our duties, then, with the determination to faithfully discharge the trust committed to us, and while differences of opinion may often exist in relation to the details of our Government, let us hope that we shall, each one of us, be animated, in the various duties we are called upon to perform, with the sole desire to maintain the welfare of our beloved city.

Have you used the Strela Matches?

J. F. SHORES, JR., No. 1 Congress Block, has just received from the manufactory a large lot of STRELA MATCHES.

These matches are without sulphur and without smell in burning, which adapts them for the Sick Room, the Parlor, or for general use, being near lyas cheap as any other kind of Matches. They are put up in boxes of 150 matches, and are sold at the low price of THREE cents per box, or 12 boxes containing 1800 matches for 25 cents—being 12 for a cent!

NO PARTY—ONE COUNTRY.

"Bound to no party—to no sect confined;
The world our home, our brethren all mankind.
Love truth, do good, be just and fair with all;
Exalt the right, though every ism fall."

"Let me warn you in the most solemn manner against the baneful effects of the spirit of Party, generally. It is a spirit not to be encouraged.—Its common and continual mischief is sufficient to make it the interest and duty of a wise people to discourage and restrain it. In governments of the popular form, it is seen in its greatest rankness, and is truly their worst enemy."—Washington's Farewell Address.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 7, 1863.

THE REBELLION.

Rebel papers state on that Monday, fighting had been going on at Vicksburg for five days, having commenced on Wednesday. Gen. Sherman on Sunday night was reinforced by 9000 men from Gen. Grant's army, increasing our whole force to 40,000 men. Up to Monday morning, Gen. Sherman had captured three lines of the enemy's works. The firing on the fourth and last line of the defence, on the Jackson and Vicksburg road, had ceased, and the indications were that it had surrendered. Before taking the fortification, Gen. Sherman cut off all communication with the city by the Shreveport Railroad. He had captured 10 guns and 700 prisoners.

Our success at Murfreesboro appears to have been complete. After the prolonged and desperate contest, the enemy were driven out of the town, and finally fled toward Tullahoma in great disorder. Gen. Rosecrans' official report states that the pursuit would be continued. Our loss is estimated at 1000 killed and 5500 wounded. The Murfreesboro Rebel admits a rebel loss of 5000. Breckinridge's division was cut to pieces and routed.

In a later report Gen. Rosecrans says:—"We have fought one of the greatest battles of the war and are victorious. Our entire success on the 31st was prevented by a surprise of the right flank, but we have, nevertheless, beaten the enemy after a three days' fight. They fled in great precipitation on Saturday night. Their loss has been very heavy. Gens. Rains and Hanson are killed; Gens. Gladden, Adams and Breckinridge are wounded."

The results of these two victories cannot fail to be very great. The work of Rosecrans about finishes the rebellion in Tennessee, and the work of Sherman, by cutting off a line of inexhaustible supply from Texas, through Vicksburg, bears directly on the rebels at Richmond. We believe there are no fortifications between Vicksburg and Port Hudson, and Admiral Porter can push on and complete the work of opening the Mississippi.

Gen. Sullivan, with a force of 6000 men, again attacked Gen. Forrest on Thursday morning, 12 miles from Lexington, Tenn. It was a severe engagement, lasting all day. A gunboat patrolled the river, which prevented the rebels from crossing. They fought desperately, but were finally routed and scattered, with a loss of 1500 in killed and wounded and 400 prisoners. We also took 350 horses, nearly 1000 stand of arms, and a battery of 6 guns. Our loss was 800 in killed and wounded. These losses may be exaggerated, but it is certain, however, that they were very heavy.

The Philadelphia Press has a Nashville dispatch which says that all the bridges in East Tennessee have been burnt; and that Gen. Bruce has recaptured Clarksville, Tenn., and taken a number of prisoners and 8000 barrels of flour.

☞ Commander Bankhead, in his official report, says he is firmly of the opinion that the Monitor must have sprung aleak somewhere in the forward part of her, where the hull joins on to the armor, and that it was caused by the heavy spread as she came down upon the seas. He says 4 officers and 12 men are missing. The account in the N. Y. Herald says: The water is said to have risen within three inches of the fires of the Passaic, when the State of Georgia started back and ran her before the wind. This could not be done with the Monitor, as her blow pipes were aft, and, the sea would then make a clean breach over her, rendering destruction swift and sure.

☞ It is rumored that 5000 of the French army have defeated 25,000 Mexicans, the latter fleeing in all directions.—The French have occupied Tampico.

☞ The New York Legislature met on Tuesday. There is a tie vote in the Assembly.

BUTLER'S FAREWELL ADDRESS.

Gen. Ben. Butler, well known throughout New England as a democratic politician, and throughout the country as a conspicuous actor in the great Charleston convention, where the rebellion broke out,—has been, as all the world knows, for some time past, commander of the U. S. forces at New Orleans, a school in which, like all good teachers, he has learned much, as well as taught some hard lessons.

Being lately removed from that command he issued a paternal address, by way of farewell to his late subjects, in which he shows how, as the commander of a conquered place, he might have treated the people very harshly, and yet have British precedent on his side. But, says he, "I have not so conducted": he punished only for actual crime, and crushed only rebels who persisted in rebellion. He speaks favorably of his order about secesh women, who insulted the flag, and says:—

"By a simple order (No. 28) I called upon every soldier in this army to treat the women of New Orleans as gentlemen would deal with the sex, with such effect that I now call upon the just-minded ladies of New Orleans to say whether they have ever enjoyed so complete protection and calm quiet for themselves and their families as since the advent of the U. S. troops."

We have not room for the whole document, but we give the following extracts from it, which are very valuable, coming as they do from one who understands the cause of the war, and who has the best means of understanding the great obstacle in the way of Union and Peace. He says there is only one, viz. Slavery. But let every candid man read what he says:—

It is true, I have levied upon the wealthy rebel, and paid out nearly half a million of dollars, to feed forty thousand of the starving poor of all nations assembled here, made so by this war.

I saw that this rebellion was a war of the aristocrats against the middling men; of the rich against the poor; a war of the landowner against the laborer; that it was a struggle for the retention of power in the hands of the few against the many; and I found no conclusion to it, save in the subjugation of the few and the disenthralment of the many.

I therefore felt no hesitation in taking the substance of the wealthy, who had caused the war, to feed the innocent poor who had suffered by the war. And I shall now leave you with the proud consciousness that I carry with me the blessings of the humble and loyal under the roof of the cottage and in the cabin of the slave, and so am quite content to incur the sneers of the salon or the curses of the rich.

I found you trembling at the terrors of servile insurrection. All danger of this I have prevented by so treating the slave that he had no cause to rebel.

I found the dungeon, the chain and the lash, your only means of enforcing obedience in your servants. I leave them peaceful, laborious, controlled by the laws of kindness and justice.

I have demonstrated that the pestilence can be kept from your borders.

I have added a million of dollars to your wealth in the form of new land from the bottom of the Mississippi.

I have cleansed and improved your streets, canals and public squares, and opened new avenues to unoccupied land.

I have given you freedom of elections, greater than you ever enjoyed before.

I have caused justice to be administered so impartially that your own advocates have unanimously complimented the judges of my appointment.

You have seen, therefore, the benefit of the laws and justice of the Government against which you have rebelled.

I conjure you, if you desire ever to see renewed prosperity giving business to your wharves and streets—if you hope to see your city become again the mart of the western world, fed by its rivers for more than three thousand miles, draining the commerce of a country greater than the mind of man hath ever conceived—return to your allegiance.

If you desire to leave to your children the inheritance you received of your fathers—a stable constitutional government—if you desire that they should in the future be a portion of the greatest empire the sun ever shone upon—return to your allegiance. There is but one thing that stands in the way. There is but one thing that at this hour stands between you and the government, and that is slavery. The institution, cursed of God, which has taken its last refuge here, in His providence will be rooted out as the tares from the wheat, although the wheat be torn up with it. I have given much thought to this subject.

I came among you, by teachings, by habit of mind, by political position, by social affinity, inclined to sustain your domestic laws, if by possibility they might be with safety to the Union.

Months of experience and of observation have forced the conviction that the existence of slavery is incompatible with the safety either of yourselves or of the Union. As the system has gradually grown to its present huge dimensions, it were best if it could be gradually removed; but it is better, far better, that it should be taken out at once, than that it should longer vitiate the social, political and family relations of your country. I am speaking with no philanthropic views as regards the slave, but simply of the effect of slavery on the master.

Come, then, to the unconditional support of the government. Take into your own hands your own institutions; remodel them according to the laws of nations and of God, and thus attain that great prosperity assured to you by geographical position, only a portion of which was heretofore yours.

BENJ. F. BUTLER.

☞ The pew rents in Henry Ward Beecher's Church, in Brooklyn, in 1862, were $18,549. $10,000 were also raised for a new lecture room.

CONGRESS.

MONDAY.—The two Houses re-assembled on Monday. In the Senate, a resolution of inquiry as to the expediency of consolidating regiments now in the field, was adopted. A message was received from the President in relation to extending to other departments of the Government the authority already conferred on the President to temporarily appoint persons to the cabinet in case of the illness or death of any member.

In the House, the bill to abrogate all treaties with certain Sioux Indians of Minnesota and to relieve the sufferers by the late depredations, was passed. Considerable business of more or less importance was transacted in both branches.

☞ Gen. Saxton, commanding the department of the South, issued a proclamation to the colored South Carolinians, for emancipation day, January 1st, inviting them to Col. Higginson's headquarters, to hear the proclamation read, and to indulge in such manifestations as the occasion might call forth. He says: "it is your duty to carry this good news to your brethren who are still in slavery. Let all your voices like merry bells, join loud and clear in the grand chorus of liberty—"We are free," "We are free,"—until listening, you shall hear its echoes coming back from every cabin in the land—"We are free," "We are free."

THE NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW, for January, has been published by Crosby & Nichols. It contains eleven articles, on the following subjects: Glacial Theories, Count Camillo di Cavour, Phases of Scholarship, Popular Fallacies, Recent Works on Egyptology, Recent French Literature, The Origin and Uses of Poetry, Hurd's Law of Freedom and Bondage, The Works of Rufus Choate, Professor Wilson, and French Histories of France. We commend the work to the favor of all interested in the highest class of periodical publication. Mr. J. H. Foster is agent in Portsmouth.

☞ A plan has just been tried on the Northern Railway, in England, for receiving the letter bags at the intermediate stations without stopping the train. By means of a ring the bag is attached to a post on the line; the engine is provided with a rod so disposed as to catch the ring and thus carry off the letters. By a similar contrivance, bags are left by the train when necessary.

☞ The Portland Argus states that Mr. Bridges, managing director of the Grand Trunk Railway, has issued an order that no more wood shall be received as freight on the At. & St. Lawrence Railroad, for the reason that the comdany have not the necessary cars, all being needed for the through business. The freight upon wood over this road, it says, has always been high.

[The restrictions upon the transportation of wood have since been removed, and it will be taken on the same terms as heretofore.]

☞ The Liverpool Journal of Commerce says the British Government has issued orders that the steamer Alabama shall be warned from all British ports, and should she commit any more outrages on British property, the government will at once take steps to destroy her. The Shipping Gazette contradicts the above, and is sure the government will not consider itself justified in stopping the cruise of the Alabama; while the London Times again editorially ridicules the idea of the British government being held accountable for the acts of the Alabama.

☞ The Boston Traveller says:—"We do not believe that slave insurrections are more likely to happen in consequence of the adoption of emancipation measures by the government at Washington, than they would if it had never been contemplated. But as we stated many months since, we still believe that the ultimate destiny of the African race in this country, is quite as likely to be extermination as liberation. Only the natural docility of the negro, and the genial, happy temperament of the race, can be depended upon to save him from the fate of the aborigines of the United States.

☞ The French government has decided not to proceed with any more iron frigates, as recent experiments, especially with flat-headed shells—the missiles Mr. Whitworth has employed with startling effect against armor-plated targets—have, it is alleged, satisfied them that the artillerists are more than a match for the shipbuilders.

☞ The Navy Department has received dispatches from the commander of the squadron blockading Mobile, in which he speaks of the rebel steamer Oreto as still in that harbor. These despatches are of later date than that at which the Oreto is reported to have escaped. The Oreto is represented by those who have seen her to be very similar in appearance to the Alabama.

—— The Winnipisaukee Gazette, published at Laconia, on its next issue, resumes its old name of the "Belknap Gazette."

IMMORTELLES.

GOLD.

Gold many hunted—sweated and bled for gold;
Waked all the night, and labored all the day;
And what was this allowment, dost thou ask?
A dust dug from the bowels of the earth,
Which, being cast into the fire, came out
A shining thing that fools admired, and called
A God; and in devout and horrible delight,
Before it kneeled, the greater to the less;
And on its altar sacrificed ease, peace,
Truth, faith, integrity, good conscience, friends,
Love, charity, benevolence, and all
The sweet and tender sympathies of life.
—Pollock.

THE WORLD IS TOO MUCH WITH US.

The world is too much with us; late and soon,
Getting and spending, we lay waste our powers.
Little we see in nature that is ours;
We have given our hearts away, a sordid boon!
This sea that bares her bosom to the moon,
The winds that will be howling at all hours,
And are up-gathered now like sleeping flowers;
For this, for everything, we are out of tune;
It moves us not. Great God! I'd rather be
A pagan suckled in a creed outworn;
So might I, standing on this pleasant lea,
Have glimpses that would make me less forlorn;
Have sight of Proteus coming from the sea;
Or hear old Triton blow his wreathed horn.
—Wordsworth.

☞ The N. Y. Tribune says, editorially, a letter from a well informed source at Paris states that the Minister on Foreign Affairs, Drouyn de L'Huys, visited the Emperor and advised him that a modification of policy was required by the public voice; that he was so far committed to the present policy, he could not change, and therefore tendered his resignation, recommending Lafayette as his successor; that among the modifications needed were the withdrawal of the French army from Mexico, and a treaty with that power; and, joining in a note, to be signed also by England and Russia, to the Confederate authorities, taking ground that as the rebellion has now continued nearly two years without success the interests of humanity and civilization required them to lay down their arms.—The writer adds, that after opposing these propositions, the Emperor, upon further consideration, took a more favorable view of the policy indicated. The writer asserts, in the strongest manner, that, notwithstanding the unexpected and surprising character of this information, it is strictly true.

BUY CALIFORNIA WINES.

They are the Purest!
The Best!
The Cheapest!

The "sunny slopes" of "Los Angelos" have announced to the world that America is a wine growing country, and as the discovery of gold sent a thrill through the old world, so will the discovery of these Wines startle them again, as it says, "one more link broken which has bound us to Europe," "one more step to independence." Let every man, woman and child who uses Wine, see to it that they buy none other than these.

"The Hock" is a most delicious Wine, and rivals in delicacy its German predecessor.

The "Angelica" and "Muscatel" are melting, luscious and rich, and will take the place of Malaga, Teksy, or other rich Wine

The Port has a fine flavor and body; and

The Port is excellent because it is pure.

Rubber Band Carpet Sweeper.

TRY IT! TRY IT!!

It saves Money; it saves Carpets; it saves Furniture; it saves Labor; it is cheaper than Brooms at five cents apiece.

It gathers up all dust, dirt, and loose lint on the carpets, and raises no dust to settle on the furniture, drapery, or ornaments, or to smother, side and irritate the lungs.

It does not wear the carpets half so much as brooms or any other sweeper.

It is the only practicable sweeper made, and the only article fit to sweep a carpet.

With our late improvements it gives universal satisfaction to all who use it according to directions. For sale at No. 12 Market Street by Local.

THE CITY GOVERNMENT

Of Portsmouth was inaugurated for the year on Tuesday morning at the Court House.

C. C. Whittemore, Esq., was re-elected President of the Common Council, and Lewis W. Brewster was chosen Clerk.

The votes for President were, for Wm. S. Willey, 3; C. C. Whittemore, 17.

The votes for Clerk were, for R. K. Oxford, 2; Aug. Walden, 4; J. W. Fernald, 3; L. W. Brewster, 12.

In Convention, Marcellus Bufford, Esq., was re-elected City Clerk, and Charles A. Wiggin, Messenger.—The votes for Clerk were, for John Bennett, 1; Wm. J. Laighton, 4; M. Bufford, 28. Votes for Messenger—Jos. C. Walker, 3; Chas. A. Wiggin, 28.

Rev. Mr. Humphries offered prayer, remembering, in appropriate terms, our municipal, State, and national interests.

The Mayor elect, Hon. Jonathan Dearborn, then read his address—a plain and brief business document.

☞ Mayor Dearborn's Inaugural Address will be found on the first page of this morning's Chronicle. It is a brief, but concise and comprehensive, business-like document, as was to be expected from our new chief magistrate—fit and appropriate to the occasion.

The following paragraphs should have been added to the address:—

CITY FARM,

The average number of the inmates during the past year was 103. The net income of the farm for the same year was $3700.78.

SCHOOLS.

The Schools, as far as I am informed, are in a flourishing condition, and I trust they will receive at your hands the encouragement and support which have heretofore been granted to them.

☞ While we always commend such general movements as that we mentioned yesterday—the closing of the dry goods stores in this city on most of the evenings of the week—we think individual action of the same sort is sometimes even more praiseworthy. Everybody knows that the leading house in that trade here, (and one which would be a leading store in most cities, and an inferior one in none), we refer, of course, to that of Messrs. Jones & Meadum, has long adhered to this plan, as have also Messrs. S. A. Simes & Co., we believe—a custom which could be advantageously adopted by most other traders, nearly all of whom, especially in small cities and towns, devote more time than is needed to their business, and have little or none left to themselves or their families. And we cannot forget, that for years, as we passed the former store of our most worthy and excellent late Mayor Simes, whose two years term of faithful and devoted public service has just closed,—he was as certain to be seen in his store or counting-room, before daylight on winter mornings, as his place of business was to be closed at 8 o'clock each evening, regardless of what other folks' arrangements might be.

We think, also, that Portsmouth has been exceedingly judicious and fortunate in her choice for Mayors—not excepting the present incumbent, who is well known as one of our promptest and squarest business men. We wish him a pleasant term of office, and less work to do than he whom he relieves has had.

☞ The Portland Press thinks "the Republicans of New Hampshire have made a very fortunate nomination for Governor. Mr. Gilmore is one of the strong men of the State." We think so, too, or we should not have been the first to nominate him, which we did two or three years ago, in these independent columns, on some public occasion in Concord. Of course we care nothing about his politics—but we do like a live business man, and believe that those who can manage private affairs well, are the persons to be entrusted with public interests.

And in this same view, at least, we can but look with considerable favor on the Democratic nominee for Congress in this District—one of our most estimable fellow citizens, and deservedly successful merchants.

☞ Mr. A. J. Jenness, Co. E, 13th regiment, son of Mr. Lowell Jenness, of this city, in a private letter dated Falmouth, Va., Dec. 30th, gives some particulars in regard to members of Co. K, of the same regiment, which is composed chiefly of young men from Portsmouth. He states that he himself is well. Lieut. N. J. Coffin had bad a sick turn, but had got better. He had the fever and ague, with which Mr. Jenness himself had been somewhat afflicted; and he says if it had not been for the Cayenne pepper he had carried with him, he should have had it worse. Capt. Betton had had a lame thigh, but it had got better at the time he wrote. Orderly E. A. Tilton had been sick and very feeble. H. Foye is dangerously sick. No other Portsmouth names are mentioned.

☞ It is reported that the rebe l Generals McCown, Hardee and Hanson were killed at the battle of Murfreesboro.

☞ Mr. W. H. Hamilton, Gunner, U. S. N., has reported for duty at the Portsmouth Navy Yard. He succeeds Mr. Bardett, who goes to the Charlestown Yard.—Mr. Hamilton is well known in our city, as a gentleman and an officer of sterling worth.

☞ The Boston Advertiser, the "Naval Record" of which is far more complete and reliable than any other which we see published, states that the gun-carriage shop at the Portsmouth Navy Yard is regarded as one of the best in the department.

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

The most the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire, a feature that is can be appreciated only for a roaster or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking; giving an oven nearly 3 feet long! or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time! A check draft is applied to this stove by means of which the consumption of fuel is greatly lessened, and a steady fire can be kept day and night if desired.

THE MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be THE STOVE for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We believe the MODEL COOK to be the very best Stove in the Market, and invite every one to examine it whether they wish to purchase or not. It has had a very extensive sale since its introduction. Reference might be made to more than a hundred families in this city or vicinity who are using the Stove, and give it the highest commendation.

We refer to the following individuals who have purchased the Model Cook:—

David Kimball, Thos. P. Burt, John T. French, Rev. Mr. Davies, Wm. Pettigrew, Capt. John Davis, Jeremiah Raitt, Mrs. Ann T. Perkins, James W. Davis, Francis G. Jarvis, Thos. L. Tullock, Jacob Wendell, Capt. Jacob Thompson, Gen. J. G. Hadley, G. Melvin Huntress, Jos. D. Akerman, James F. Shores, Wm. C. Newton, Horton D. Walker, Benj. Cheever, Geo. Coughlin, Richard L. Kendall, Geo. Rice, Benj. F. Canney, Benj M. Parker, Charles A. Wiggin, George W. Tilton, Ralph Donnett, Henry F. Gerrish, John Harratt, Thos Murphy, Capt. Wm. Lambert, Joseph Stiles, John Senter, Wm. Bell, Cyrus Plumer, Freeman Hurd, James M. Locke, Daniel L. Randall, Isaiah Wilson, Jos. B. Roberts—of Portsmouth; Samuel C. Dixon, Daniel I. Pryor, Cushman Pryor, of Tredthem's Island; Geo. N. Dixon, Samuel F. Paul, Elias Remick, Timothy Dame, Eliot; Wm. S. Locke, Benj. Fernald, Mrs. Wm Locke, Kittery; R. F. Gerrish, Kittery Point; Hon. Clement March, Albert Blaisdell, Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W. Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Mm. Reuben P. Jenness, David Jenness, Moses Philbrick, Rye.

VICTOR COAL STOVE.

We offer this beautiful coal burner to the public, with full confidence in its merits.

It was brought into market two years since, and has come rapidly into use.

The Victor is one of the handsomest parlor stoves in the market, and is perfect in its operation. The arrangement for dumping the ashes is very fine—no dust need escape into the room—a continuous fire may be kept throughout the winter—the coal all burned, and no clinkers made.

The quantity of fuel used is very small indeed. There is in this stove an excellent arrangement for ventilating the room in which it is placed; a feature not possessed by any other parlor stove. Some of the sizes are provided with an oven and boiling place, making them very desirable for a dining room.

We sold a large number of Victor Stoves in our city last season, and they receive the highest commendation from those who are using them.

We have also the celebrated McGregor Stove, so well known in the market as to need no commendation.

A great variety of cheaper Stoves for coal and wood—Coal-hods—Patent Coal-sifters.

COAL LININGS,

and Repairing pieces for most of the stoves in use.

Job Work attended to with dispatch.

☞ ATTENTION, THE WHOLE! ☜

EYE, N. H., Feb. 26, 1862. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended to the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of DR. SWEET'S PANACEA, and several bottles of his Humor Wash, which have effected a cure. There can be no mistake, as this cure was effected more than three years ago. No other medicines can equal Dr. SWEET'S for removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold it to a number of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures efficiently it since I have acted as agent for the sale of it. JOSIAH JENNESS.

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWEET'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

From ELDER I CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

DR. SWEET. Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named. ISRAEL CHESLEY

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Sweet's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWEET, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26o

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1861.
75 State Street, opposite Kilby Street,
BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States, also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries, Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers for Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it its patrons have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any other agency offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials tell on every prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE, than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove that at no other agency can the ultimate charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and other decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay thereby have saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and who is capable of preparing such applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending, a most honorable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."
JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on more rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.
R. H. EDDY.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, where he has introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Bubo, Buboes, Scrotula, Gonorrhœa, Gleets, Strictures and Gravel, are rapidly cured. Inflammation of the bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of painful diseases, resulting from a neglected or improper cure of these complaints, all this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by secret and improper habits, which ruin the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early indiscretion, are Weakness of the back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Consumption, and all the disagreeable symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded, loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, nervous foreboding, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating marriage, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Persons who wish to remain under Dr Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.

Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use on receiving description of your complaint. Are sent by express, free from Capsules, warranted the best preventive. Order by mail. Fees for all and a cure stamp.

Teeth on Vulcanized Rubber.

SOME OF ITS ADVANTAGES.

1st. It is stronger and lighter than any known material.

2d. From two to six times the amount of suction or adhesion can be obtained by it.

3d. When the arch is irregular we can by building out the depressions—which can be done to any extent—give the mouth a more natural appearance.

4th. No bad taste arises in the mouth by its use, as the secretions of the stomach and mouth do not affect it in the least.

5th. Teeth mounted upon this base can be kept clean and sweet as easy as a saucer, as when finished the work presents one whole piece.

6th. While in all ways it is better, safe in a few peculiar cases, it is much cheaper than Gold.

THE MAGEE COOKING STOVE.

The subscribers, having received their Fall stock of Stoves, would especially call the attention of the public to the

MAGEE COOK STOVE,

as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.

There is a new style and very superior broiler and sad iron heater combined, by which the odor of broiling meats are prevented from escaping into the room. With the extension top there is a large copper Reservoir for hot water; also a large tin warming closet attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.

The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, as no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shoveling up of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, so it can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who are now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.

We would refer to the following purchasers:

"MAGEE'S PATENT" VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodeling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, most and agreeable—and no none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache or any other disease of in other furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of these valuable Furnaces are, first to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been contrived, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The simpler the means being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of air, above the fire-pot, which fills them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal as they pass off with a large current, while it may be made to come to the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq.,	Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill,	Charles H. Meadum,
Henry F. Wendell,	John Sise, and others.

GRACE'S CELEBRATED SALVE

A SURE RELIEF FOR THE SUFFERER.

This Salve is a vegetable preparation, invented in the 17th century, by DR. WM. GRACE, surgeon in King James's army. Through its agency he cured thousands of most serious sores and wounds that baffled the skill of the most eminent physicians of his day, and was regarded by all who knew him as a public benefactor.

Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Burns.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Scalds.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Flesh Wounds.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Corns.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Felons.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Frozen Limbs.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Scurvy.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Callouses.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Salt Rheum.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Chilblains.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Sore Breast.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Sore Lips.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Erysipelas Sore
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Abscesses.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Ulcers.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Chapped Hands
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Ringworms.

And from Sores and Wounds of the most serious nature down to a common Pimple. It eradicates Pimples from the face, and beautifies the skin. There is no preparation before the public that can equal this Salve in prompt and energetic action for the speedy cure of external diseases, as those who have tried its virtues testify. Soldiers, Sailors, and Fishermen, will find the Salve their best friend.

It has none of the irritating, heating properties of other remedies, but cools, cleanses, and heals the most serious Sores and Wounds. Every family, and especially those containing children, should keep a box on hand in case of accident, for it will save them much trouble, suffering, and money. All it wants is a fair trial to cure old and inveterate Sores.

Advertising.

For a Square (1 inch) or less, one insertion 50 cents, three insertions $1, one week $1.50, one month $3, three months $5, six months $8, one year $15. These are Daily rates—and no advertisements receive more than one insertion in the Weekly (Gazette) without special order and charge.

Funeral Notices, and Advertisements of articles Lost and Found, &c., 50 cents.

Advertisements may appear both in the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette, if ordered; and will thus receive the most thorough circulation both in this city and vicinity, and throughout the state. ☞ Liberal terms for yearly advertising.

The Chronicle.

A star for every State: a State for every star

NO PARTY—ONE COUNTRY.

'Round to no party—to no sect confined;
The world our home; our brethren, all mankind.
Love truth, do good; be just and fair with all;
Exalt the right, though every ism fall."

"Let me warn you in the most solemn manner against the baneful effects of the spirit of Party, generally. It is a spirit not to be encouraged.—Its common and continual mischief is sufficient to make it the interest and duty of a wise people to discourage and restrain it. In governments of the popular form, it is seen in its greatest rankness, and is truly their worst enemy."—Washington's Farewell Address.

☞ In the Superior Court, at Salem, Mass., last week, Daniel C. Bowditch and wife obtained a verdict of $600 against the firm of George Turnbull & Co., dry goods dealers in Boston. It appeared that Mrs. Bowditch, on the 5th day of May, was charged, while in their store, with stealing a few collars, and caused to go up stairs to a separate room, where the charge was repeated, she all the time asserting that she had held the money in her hand to pay for them. She was finally allowed to go, upon her promise not to visit the store again.—Her husband the next day visited Boston and expressed a determination to see his wife righted, whereupon the defendant entered a complaint against her for larceny, on which she was tried and acquitted. Mr. Bowditch and wife then brought a suit for alleged false imprisonment, slander and malicious prosecution, with the above result.

☞ The Boston Theatre is closed for two weeks. The next event there will be the opening of opera on the 19th, with Guerrabella, Cordier, Lorini, and several new operas. The season will continue four weeks, and it is expected to be one of the most brilliant ever known there. Meantime, Mr. Hook is to put in a large organ, costing $2600, which has been some time in preparation, and is by contract to be in position for use by the opera company when they come. The organ is to be set up in the music room, under the stage in front.

ANOTHER BROWNLOW.—The Philadelphia newspapers give particulars of the cruel imprisonment and escape of the Rev. John Aughey, a Mississippi Unionist, now at the residence of the Rev. Dr. Breed, in Philadelphia. Mr. Aughey is a Presbyterian clergyman. Three times he has looked for a speedy and violent death; and he has escaped, a mere skeleton, worn down by excitement and ill treatment. His spirit is unbroken.

☞ John A. Taintor, who died in Hartford, Ct., a few weeks ago, left all his property—about $1,000,000 to his wife and two daughters. In his will he forbids either of his daughters to marry a foreigner or a native of a Southern or a slaveholding State, under penalty of forfeiting her interest in the property.

☞ Capt. George Lunt, of Newburyport, is to have command of the ship Geo. Griswold, that will sail from New York for Liverpool, with donations for relief of the English sufferers. She is a large ship of 1200 tons, and will take out a valuable cargo.

☞ The Department has ordered Commander Bankhead, Lieut. Greene, and Acting Master's Mate Williams, late of the Monitor, to the steamer Florida, at New York.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 8, 1863.

RICHMOND VIEWS.

GEORGE SANDERS,—YANCEY.—Late Richmond papers contain many curious articles, but as they are too long winded for us, we can give only a few sketches and scraps.

The Richmond Whig, of Dec. 29, complains most bitterly that the British Government has not done anything to help the Confederacy, but desires to see the war go on, to the ruin of both the combatants. It says:—

"The Confederate States will remember England in the future. There was a time when she could have made fast friends of us, but that time, we believe, is going by forever. We look upon her present Government as little less corrupt than that of the North. The conduct of her Ministers in our affairs has been characterized by sordid lust and base fears. A threat from Seward will silence Earl Russell more effectually than the wails of the suffering poor of his country. Treachery, being the predominant characteristic of both the Yankee and the English Premiers, we are not surprised that there is a mutual hostility to the South, and perhaps a tacit understanding to despoil us of the products of our country. Seward is, by far, the shrewder knave of the two, and his voice seems to be as potent with Earl Russell as it is in the Cabinet at Washington. Certain it is that he has dictated in most supercilious terms, the course which he wished England to pursue since the establishment of the blockade and the recognition of the Confederates as belligerents. Up to the consummation of the latter event, the wily Yankee fox had not put his thumb upon the old English Premier. Since then, however, the conduct of England has been dictated by Seward."

In the same paper, we read that George Sanders has written a letter to his old political chums, Horatio Seymour, Dean Richmond, John Van Buren, Chas. O'Connor, Fernando Wood, and others, in which, after congratulating them on their success in the November election, and picturing the ruinous consequences of Abolition sway, he tells them:

"You should at once proclaim to the world that not a dollar of the bonds—Federal, State and municipal—issued by the Federal usurpers for the prosecution of this unholy war, shall ever be paid. Few strangers have taken shares in the despotic loans, and this just blow will fall almost exclusively upon the usurpers.

"Not only do you owe it to yourselves to repudiate every dollar of the unconstitutional debt, but you owe it equally to your posterity to pay the half, if not all the debt, that the people of the South have had to incur to maintain the rights of citizens and of States, in the establishment of free trade."

Northern politicians, statesmen and financiers, of whatever party, will probably consider this proposition to be a fair specimen of the State equality which the rebels propose to the loyal people, viz.: that we repudiate our own debts, and pay theirs!

But, says the Whig, editorially:—

"It cannot be that sagacious, experienced and practical men like Seymour, Richmond & Co., entertain any hope of bridging over the gulf of blood and mourning which the Puritans have dug between the two people.

There are reasons to believe to the contrary, that they do not regard reconstruction as possible, or, after what has passed, even desirable. And they feel what we know—that while Southern men can never consent to live under the same Government with the fanatic authors of such barbarity, they themselves will find it impossible to dwell in peace and safety with them at the North. We look upon it as a fact sure to be realized, that after the present civil war is settled in favor of Confederate Independence, another more bloody and more desolating is to be fought at the North, between Puritan intolerance and ambition and the friends of civil liberty and constitutional government. It will be more bitter and bloody than the present war; because it will be essentially a civil war, the belligerents being citizens of the same States. The Confederate war has been sectional—a war of peoples and States against other peoples and States."

This is plain enough. Our Southern brethren count us brothers no longer—but look forward hopefully to the time when our Northern peace Democrats will rise in armed rebellion against the Puritan Government, and blood will run down our streets. The article closes thus:

"There will be no peace at the North until that viperous breed of the Mayflower is stopped or exterminated."

If this were all true, the peace-makers here at the North have quite a job set before them by their Richmond advisers and task-masters, viz.: to destroy all the descendants of the Pilgrims and Puritans—and so make peace.

One more extract must suffice for the present. In his recent speech before the Legislature of Alabama, William L. Yancey made use of the following language in reference to the Northern Democracy:

"Yet some venture to look to the Northern Democracy for deliverance. Surely, they must be few—the timid, wavering—a selfish few. There is, in my opinion, as much hope in the Northern Abolitionists as in the Northern Democracy—No! there is no hope even of an ameliorated conduct of the war from the Democracy. They have no power until December, 1863, and what may not happen within that period? When they go into power as a House of Representatives, they have only a check upon abolition measures—the Senate and Executive being in the hands of the radical party. They cannot carry a single measure into execution. But they are pledged to aid Lincoln in a vigorous, constitutional prosecution of the war.

"We have something to hope, however, from this division of the councils of our enemies—from their fierce party strife and jealousies."

All may see the desire of the leading rebels, to transfer the irrepressible conflict from themselves and the rebel States, to the loyal States and the people thereof. But there is one thing lacking: i. e. we have not their peculiar institution to fight about. We have only one peculiar institution, viz.: the common school,—and we think no party among us has any great desire to destroy that.

On the whole, we do not believe that the Puritan and Pilgrim stock is to be exterminated, the free school abolished, nor the pulpit silenced—either this year or the next—to please Mr. Yancey or anybody else.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— The Concord Patriot has been reduced in size, on account of the increase in the price of paper.

—— On Saturday forenoon, a house, barn and shed, in Concord, owned by J. F. Day, were totally destroyed by fire. The premises were occupied by a man named Holt, who went into the barn with a lighted pipe, and half an hour afterward the barn was in flames. A pair of oxen, with two cows, and some hay, &c., were burned in the barn, but the contents of the house were saved. No insurance.

—— The Patriot, in speaking of the recent decision of Judge Bartlett, in regard to the sale of the "good will" of an establishment, says:—

"With all due deference to the Supreme Court of New Hampshire, we beg leave to say that their decision is contrary to common sense and common honesty, and calculated to encourage injustice and fraud.—The good-will of a newspaper is its most valuable element; in cases of large establishments it is worth many times as much as all the material employed in it. To say, as the Court virtually has, that this is of no value or cannot be held when bought and paid for, is not only absurd, but absolutely iniquitous. It may be law; but if so, it is a law calculated to encourage and protect rascality. We say this without any reference to the particular case referred to, but speak of the decision upon general principles."

—— The following sick and wounded N. H. soldiers were brought to the Portsmouth Grove Hospital, R. I., on Monday night last:—

R R Bean, Co C, 5th; Geo E Barnes, D, 11th; H Blodgett, I, 6th; Geo H Brown, F, 9th; Jos Batmon, B, 6th; C C Demans, H, 4th; Dan'l H Davis, F, 12th; O H Field, F, 4th; P Glidden, G, 12th; L Gleason, F, 4th; N Hammond, K, 4th; W Hangan, K, 5th; O Heald, K, 4th; I Hunter, B, 4th; John M Kimball, I, 11th; W H Kean, H, 4th; Elisha Locke, F, 12th; Sewel Linnis, I, 11th; A H Merrell, D, 5th; A Murphy, E, 4th; J Mead, D, 4th; J W Robinson, A, 11th; J Stevens, K, 4th; A Stevenson, F, 13th.

—— The N. Y. Tribune's list of soldiers who have recently died in the Hospitals at Washington, includes the name "Elihu H. Lagio," of Co. D, 6th N. H. Regiment,—possibly Rev. E. H. Legro, of Rochester.

CONGRESS.

TUESDAY.—The Senate indefinitely postponed the bill to suspend temporarily the operation of the act to prevent and punish fraud on the part of officers entrusted in making contracts for the Government.

The House passed the bill to aid Missouri in securing the abolishment of slavery therein. It provides for the issue of ten millions of 30 year bonds, payable to loyal owners, the Government pledging itself to the deportation and colonization of the freed men.

The proceedings on the bill were short, but interesting and decisive. Mr. Vallandigham objected to its introduction, but was overruled: some other gentlemen spoke against it.

Mr. Holman moved to table the bill.—Disagreed to, 42 against 73.

Mr. Elliot moved an amendment excluding from the benefit of the act all who willfully refuse to take the oath of allegiance to the Government when required by any civil or military officer thus authorized.—Adopted, 75 against 25.

Mr. Pendleton moved that the bill be tabled. Negatived, 44 against 72.

Mr Cravens moved that the House adjourn. Lost, 19 against 82.

The bill then passed, 73 against 46.

The House also passed a bill authorizing the Postmaster General to add to the list of mailable articles—intended to allow articles not now mailable to be sent to the soldiers in the army by their friends at home on book postage rates—one cent per ounce.

☞ Gen. Wool, who has just been made Commander of the Eastern Department, will fix his headquarters at Albany, in a few days.

☞ The debt of New York city, according to the message of Mayor Opdyke, is twenty-seven millions of dollars. The debt of Boston is over ten millions of dollars.

☞ The crew of the steam sloop-of-war Sacramento, numbering about 200 men, arrived at the Portsmouth Navy Yard at half past 1 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon. The ship then went into commission. Her machinery will be started next Monday, and if everything works satisfactorily she will be ready for sea about the latter part of next week. Her machinery consists of two horizontal back action engines, with cylinders forty-two inches in diameter, thirty-inch stroke, shaft ten inches in diameter; diameter of propellor (ninety revolutions) fifteen feet. She will carry two 11-inch Dahlgren guns, one 100-pound rifled Parrott gun, two 24-pound, two 12-pound rifled, and two 12-pound heavy howitzers.

☞ Capt. Sides' advertisement of One Hundred Men Wanted, will be found of interest to many, if they will call on him.

☞ A dry goods man tells us that there is one in the trade in this city, who will not agree to close his store, evenings, with the rest. Our correspondent hopes he will reconsider so unchristian and absurd a decision—or, if he don't, that not a customer will darken his door, and that the rest of the trade will not regard him as a gentleman, nor let him keep all from closing.

☞ A splendid new Steam Fire Engine, of the most improved pattern, arrived at the Portsmouth Navy Yard on Wednesday, from the Amoskeag Machine Works, Manchester. It is No. 2 size, and cost Uncle Sam about $3000. A new apartment in the Boiler Room of the Head House has been provided expressly for it. It is named the Union.

☞ We regret to learn that Mr. Andrew Gardner, of this city, a few days since, injured one of his eyes so severely that it is probable he will lose the sight. He was trimming up pine trees, and a small knot flew and struck his eye.

☞ The old brick store, No. 42 State street, south end, between Washington and Atkinson, which has been a blot on the street view there for a number of years, is now disappearing, and in a few weeks or months, under the hands of skillful mechanics, will be replaced by a comely and comfortable dwelling-house, at once an improvement on the street and a benefit to the owners (the Messrs. Bailey) and the city.

☞ The Portland and New York semi-weekly line of steamers affords a very pleasant and safe passage for travellers between this section and New York city. The fare from Portland to New York is but $5,—this amount including fare and state rooms. The boats leave Brown's wharf, Portland, every Wednesday and Saturday at 4 o'clock P. M. Persons taking advantage of this route, can leave our city by the 10 o'clock morning train on the P. S. & P. R. R., and have an opportunity to pass about three hours in the beautiful and thriving city of Portland.

☞ A letter from Sergt. C. W. Patch, Co. K, 2d N. H. Regiment, of this city, dated Falmouth, Va., Dec. 21, gives some particulars of the part taken by that regiment in the Fredericksburg battle. But ten men were wounded; two of them have since died. The letter says:—"You have heard of the death of Edward Sides before this time. He died from exposure to the cold—a hard death to die. He and Isaac Pray had lost their blankets in the battle, and had but a rubber blanket between them on that night."

PORTLAND SUGAR COMPANY.—The statement of the trade and commerce of Portland, of the Price Current, gives statistics of the business done by the Portland Sugar Company. The average number of hands employed for the past year was 196. The gross product for the year, 50,000 bbls. sugar, and 16,000 hhds. 5000 bbls. sugar house molasses. The consumption of molasses at this establishment is stated to be between 29,000 and 30,000 hhds. A large portion of the sugars now go into Western markets.

☞ The Richmond papers quote gold at $1.90 and $2, and state that the Confederate Congress will probably impose a heavy tax on the specie hoarded by private individuals. Produce was advancing under the light receipts.

THE ERA OF GREAT EVENTS.—Real Benefits to Humanity.—This is an era of grand ideas and magnificent projects; but, among them all, there are comparatively few which have for their aim and object the best interests of humanity. New methods of expediting business are continually being introduced, but what do they add to the happiness or comfort of mankind? Nothing. One mind, with all its powers directed to the amelioration of suffering, has accomplished more for the real good of the race than all the inventors engaged in the attempt to abridge time and space can ever achieve. We allude to THOMAS HOLLOWAY, whose PILLS and OINTMENT may be said to be omnipresent throughout the world. The Pills are working wonders in cases of confirmed dyspepsia, that physicians everywhere are compelled to prescribe them, and the time is not distant when, for all complaints of the stomach and bowels, they will be the only preparation which any intelligent individual will dare to use. Millions of dollars have been expended in making Dr. Holloway's medicines known; and they are known in every land where there is a written language. In this country they are especially appreciated, for there is scarcely a complaint incident to our climate for which they are not absolute specifics. Under such circumstances, the enormous and overwhelming demand for them scarcely seems extraordinary, although it has no parallel in medical history.—N. Y. "Courier."

THE REBELLION.

Special dispatches state that the rebels are reported to have left no property behind at Murfreesboro. Gen. Negley pursued them with infantry, and a cavalry force followed on the 5th. Their rear guard was attacked and dispersed. Their loss in Wednesday's battle is stated at 5000; several hundred on Thursday; over 1200 on Friday, and 100 on Saturday night. We have 1500 prisoners; some captured on Thursday had been in Murfreesboro but a few hours, having come direct from Richmond, Va. Gen. Breckinridge is said to be severely wounded. We lost about 25 field officers killed, and as many wounded. Our loss is stated to be less than 10,000 in killed, wounded and missing. It is reported that previous to the fight a large portion of Anderson's troops (Union) at Nashville mutinied and refused to fight. About 300, however, went into action and behaved gallantly. Col. Price captured at Clarksville a very large amount of valuable army stores from the rebels.

The Richmond Examiner of Saturday last claims that on the 3d inst., the rebels were yet in full possession of Vicksburg, and had repulsed every assault.

The rebels attacked our forces at Moorefield, Western Virginia, on Saturday morning, and fighting was going on during Saturday and Sunday. It is reported that our forces had driven the rebels 4 miles and were still pursuing them.

☞ Hall's famous Boston Band is to furnish the music for the Horse Guard's Civic and Military Levee at Concord, on Wednesday, the 14th of January. The supper, as usual, will be spread in the Phenix Hotel, and Commissary Dunnas will of course do his best—and his best can't be bettered. Phenix Hall will be splendidly decorated for the occasion, as last year, and all the arrangements will be on the same grand scale as heretofore. This will be the third ball of the corps, and the managers—prominent among whom are Adj. Sanborn and Chief Bugler Nat Head—are determined it shall excel the previous brilliant festivals. The tickets, including supper for a couple, are $5—very cheap, all things considered; and tickets are to be obtained by gentlemen not members of the Guards.

☞ We understand that Dr. Gleason, who has distributed so much valuable information and good advice in this vicinity, and gained considerable celebrity for various skillful surgical operations, will remain at the Rockingham House until Monday of next week, for consultation and practice.—Next week he opens in Amesbury, and we voluntarily and cordially recommend every one who can, to attend his lectures—which are invaluable, and no less entertaining and interesting than useful. His collection of manikins, skeletons, &c., is very large and fine.

We commend the Doctor and his most gentlemanly Agent, to the favorable consideration of the editorial profession, and the public everywhere.

☞ A missing boat, sent out by the Rhode Island to receive the balance of the crew of the Monitor, was picked up on the 3d, on Hatteras Shoals by a coasting schooner. Nothing has been heard from the remainder of the Monitor's crew.

☞ Special dispatches from Washington state that practical difficulties have arisen, and it is doubtful if the original plan of assigning Gen. Butler to essentially an African command will be carried into execution.

One Hundred Men Wanted!

One hundred good, able-bodied MEN are immediately wanted by the undersigned. The duty for which their services are required is of the lightest, pleasantest, most exciting and agreeable character. The inducements are equal to any which have been offered within the last two years:—the pay is large and prompt, and the treatment of a very superior nature.

Wagoners, Heelers, Blacksmiths, Saddlers, Buglers and Fifers will find employment in their several callings and extra pay.

Full particulars can be obtained by applying to the subscriber, at No. 69 CONGRESS STREET, Portsmouth, N. H. tf W. O. SIDES.

DENTISTRY.

No. 60 CONGRESS STREET, Portsmouth, Jan. 1st, 1863.

DR. GOODALL

Would respectfully inform his patrons and the public, that he had of late many calls to insert teeth upon VULCANIZED RUBBER, that he has purchased the best VULCANIZER in the market, and is now prepared to do all work upon RUBBER, or the other bases of GOLD and SILVER as formerly, if preferred.

The Rubber has several important advantages, viz.: It is very light and elastic, and consequently is perfectly easy to the muscles of the mouth and cheeks. There are no ins ertices or open joints to collect food, &c., consequently they can be kept sweet and day, and are very easily kept neat and clean.

Beside all this, the most accurate fit is obtained, as the Rubber is Vulcanized directly upon the plaster model, and the union is of course much stronger than in plates of Gold or Silver.

ANY one who is waiting for their permanent teeth will, I am confident, be perfectly satisfied with the Rubber, as a base. The expense is but a little more than for Silver, and you get the same teeth (in blocks) that you would pay $60.00 for an upper or lower set on Gold.

In New York and Boston, and throughout the West, Vulcanized Rubber is used almost to the exclusion of the other bases, and by the best Dentists too. I will warrant a perfect fit and teeth from the best manufacturer in the country, S. S. White.

ALL OTHER OPERATIONS IN DENTISTRY I will do at the usual rates. I will here mention that my price for EXTRACTION is 25 cents.

BUY CALIFORNIA WINES.

They are the Purest!

The Best!

The Cheapest!

The "sunny slopes" of "Los Angelos" have announced to the world that America is a wine growing country, and as the discovery of gold sent a thrill through the old world, so will the discovery of these Wines startle them again, as it says, "one more link broken which has bound us to Europe!" Now more than independence! Let every man, woman and child who can, use Wine, see to it that they buy none other than these.

"The Rock" is a most delicious Wine, and rivals in delicacy its German predecessor.

The "Angelica" and "Muscatel" are melting, luscious and rich, and will take the place of Malaga, Tokay, or other rich Wine.

The Port has a fine flavor and body; and The Port is excellent because it is pure.

☞ A Paris letter says: "The head of the House in the Rue Daflitte, in this city, whose money was seized by Gen. Butler in the hands of one of the Consuls in New Orleans, and refundell on the recommendation of Reverdy Johnson, declares to any one who wishes to hear him, that this money was for clothing furnished the rebel army."

☞ Advices from Lisbon state that the four iron-plated British frigates, Warrior, Black Prince, Resistance and Defence, had, during the recent heavy weather, all proved themselves to be in possession of weatherly qualities beyond expectation.

☞ The Mexican Consul at Havana states that his government feels deeply the refusal of the American Government to aid a Republic struggling against a monarchy, and still more that it should aid their enemies.

A South Carolinian has offered $10,000 for Butler's head. We are not surprised. If he can get the amount of brains that Butler's skull contains, for that sum, he may thing he has a good bargain. But it is rather late for him to begin to supply the deficiencies of nature.—Providence Journal.

E. A. STEVENS,

NO. 46 MARKET STREET,

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

The second—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking; giving an oven nearly 3 feet long; or large enough to take six large pies at once. In this way part of which will bake evenly at the same time. A check draft is applied to this stove by means of which the economy of fuel is greatly increased, and a steady fire can be kept day and night if desired.

THE MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be THE STOVE for farmers, mechanics or others, for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We believe the MODEL COOK to be the very best Stove in the Market, and invite every one to examine it whether they wish to purchase or not. It has had a very extensive sale since its introduction. Reference might be made to more than a hundred families in this city or vicinity who are using the Stove, and give it the highest commendation.

We refer to the following individuals who have purchased the Model Cook:—

David Kimball, Thos. S. Burt, John T. French, Rev. Mr. Davies, Wm. Pettepee, Capt. John Davis, Jeremiah Balitt, Mrs. Ann T. Perkins, James W. Marvin, Francis C. Jarvis, Thos. J. Tullock, Joseph Wendell, Capt. Jacob Shapleigh, Gen. J. G. Hadley, G. Melvin Hautress, Jos. D. Akerman, James F. Shores, Wm. C. Newton, Horton D. Walker, Benj. Chesley, John Trundy, Richard L. Randall, Geo. Rice, Benj. S. Canney, Benj M. Parker, Charles A. Wiggin, George W. Tuttle, Nathl. Bennett, Henry E. Gerrish, John Harratt, Thos Murphy, Capt. Wm. Lambert, Joseph Siles, John Senter, Wm. Bell, Cyrus Pulner, Freeman Hurd, James M. Locke, Daniel L. Randall, Isaiah Wilson, Capt. Roberts—of Portsmouth; Samuel C. Dixon, Daniel I. Pryor, Cushman Pryor, of Trefethen's Island; Geo. N. Dixon, Samuel F. Paul, Elbert Keniah, Timothy Dame, Eliot; Wm. S. Locke, Benj. Ferrall, Mrs. Wm. Locke, Kittery; R. F. Gerrish, Kittery Point; Hon. Clement March, Albert Blaisdell, Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W. Dert, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Mrs. Reuben P. Jenness, David Jenness, Moses Philbrick, Rye.

VICTOR COAL STOVE.

We offer this beautiful coal burner to the public, with full confidence in its merits.

It was brought into market two years since, and has come rapidly into use.

The Victor is one of the handsomest parlor stoves in the market, and is perfect in its operation. The arrangement for dumping the ashes is very fine—so that need escape into the room—a capacious fire may be kept throughout the winter—the coal all burned, and the clinkers made.

The quantity of fuel used is very small indeed. There is in this stove an excellent arrangement for ventilating the room in which it is placed; a feature not possessed by any other parlor stove.

Some of the sizes are provided with an oven and boiling place, making them very desirable for a dining room.

We sold a large number of Victor Stoves in our city last season, and they receive the highest commendation from those who are using them.

We have also the celebrated McGregor Stove, so well known in the market as to need no commendation.

A great variety of cheaper Stoves for coal and wood—Coal-hods—Patent Coal-sifters.

COAL LININGS,

and Repairing pieces for most of the stoves in use. Job Work attended to with dispatch.

☞ ATTENTION, THE WHOLE! ☜

RYE, N. H., Feb. 20, 1846. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended to the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of DR. SWETT'S PANACEA, and several bottles of his Humor Wash, which have effected a cure. There can be no mistake, as this cure was effected more than three years ago. No other medicines can equal Dr. Swett's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold it to a number of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it since I have acted as agent for the sale of it. JOSIAH JENNESS.

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with dizziness at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

FROM ELDER I. CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our place in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named. ISRAEL CHESLEY.

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26o

Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished, by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other place of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to secure into a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him, beyond question, superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are now saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."

CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and who has a better prospect of putting their applications in a form to secure for them a speedy and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and skill in one his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."

JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos. 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never yet failed to restore, and cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal taint, impure blood, Impotency, Scrotula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and distress in the region of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of Mercurial symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr D., devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins both the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, as Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dimness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion to society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should before contemplating matrimony, consider the nature of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.

Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your cases. Dr. Dow's Pills for sale the French Capsules, warranted the best preventive. Order by mail. Three for $1 and a red stamp.

CAUTION

To Females in Delicate Health.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 & 9 Endicott Street, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female constitution, Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints are cured in half the allotted period, some even relieved in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of Disease of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to any one disease, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

Teeth on Vulcanized Rubber.

SOME OF ITS ADVANTAGES.

1st. It is stronger and lighter than any known material.

2d. From two to six times the amount of secretion or adhesion can be obtained by it.

3d. When the set is irregular we can by building out the depressions—which can be done to any extent—give the mouth a more natural appearance.

4th. No bad taste arises in the mouth by its use, as the secretions of the stomach and mouth do not affect it in the least.

5th. Teeth mounted upon this base can be kept clean and sweet as easy as a saucer, as when finished the work presents one whole piece.

6th. While in all ways it is better, save in a few peculiar cases, it is much cheaper than Gold.

THE MAGEE COOKING STOVE.

The subscribers, having received their full stock of Stoves, would especially call the attention of the public to the

as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.

There is a new style and very superior broiler and tea-kettle stander combined, by which the odor of broiling meats are prevented from escaping into the room. With the extension top there is a large copper Reservoir for hot water; also a large tin washing-closet attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.

The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, as no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shoveling up of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who are now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise

"MAGEE'S PATENT"

VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING

FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would say a few words about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pots is used for respiration, it will be found to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated in

MAGEE FURNACE.

The fire or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pots, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe so fine on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases, which must pass off into a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq., Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill, Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell, John Sise, and others.

GRACE'S CELEBRATED SALVE,

A SURE RELIEF FOR THE SUFFERER.

This Salve is a vegetable preparation, invented in the 17th century, by Dr. WM. GRACE, surgeon in King James's army. Through its agency he cured thousands of most serious sores and wounds that baffled the skill of the most eminent physicians of his day, and was regarded by all who knew him as a public benefactor.

Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Burns.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Scalds.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Flesh Wounds.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Corns.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Felons.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Frozen Limbs.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Scurvy.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Callouses.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Salt Rheum.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Chilblains.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Sore Breast.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Sore Lips.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Erysipelas Sores.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Abscesses.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Ulcers.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Chapped Hands.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Ringworms.

And from Sores and Wounds of the most serious nature down to a common Pimple. It eradicates Pimples from the face, and beautifies the skin. There is no preparation before the public that can equal this Salve in prompt and energetic action for the speedy cure of external diseases, as those who have tried its virtues testify. Soldiers, Sailors, and Fishermen, will find this Salve their best friend.

It has none of the irritating, heating properties of other remedies, but cools, cleanses, and heals the most serious Sores and Wounds. Every family, and especially those containing children, should keep a box on hand in case of accident, for it will save them much trouble, suffering, and money. All it wants is a fair trial to cure old and inveterate Sores.

VOL. 21. PORTSMOUTH, N. H. FRIDAY, JAN. 9, 1863. NO. 134.

The Chronicle.

A star for every State: a State for every star
NO PARTY—ONE COUNTRY.

"Bound to no party—to no sect confined;
The world our home; our brethren, all mankind.
Love truth, do good, be just and fair with all;
Exalt the right, though every ism fall."

"Let me warn you in the most solemn manner against the baneful effects of the spirit of Party, generally. It is a spirit not to be encouraged.—Its common and continual mischief is sufficient to make it the interest and duty of a wise people to discourage and restrain it. In governments of the popular form, it is seen in its greatest rankness, and is truly their worst enemy."—Washington's Farewell Address.

☞ The Secretary of the Treasury has replied to the resolution of the House, relative to the payment of the loan of 1842. He says that he was able to obtain the needed specie at a cost so small that payment in coin was, in fact, a less inconvenience to the Treasury, and less interference with the payments to and for the army and navy than payments in notes would have been. The whole amount of coin required was advanced by monied institutions, most of which, it is believed, had no interest in the loan nor any interest in the transaction, except what arose from the general support of the public credit, and the advance was made without premium and at an interest of 4 per centum, and is not to be called for until it can be reimbursed from customs dedicated by the act of Congress to the payment of the interest and principal of the public debt.

☞ The steamer Waldensian, employed in the mail service between Cape Town and Natal, struck on Stury's reef, on the night of the 13th of October, and all attempts to get her off proved ineffectual. The whole of the valuable cargo was lost. The Christy Minstrels were among the passengers and lost all their instruments and dresses; Joe Brown, the dancer, losing, besides his prize belt, a considerable sum in specie. There were on board twenty clergymen of the Dutch Reformed Church, on their way to Cape Town to attend the synod.

☞ The wife of Mr. Benjamin Hamblen, of Dorchester, Mass., died suddenly Sunday evening, shortly after leaving the tea table. In consequence of rumors that she had been poisoned, a jury was called to investigate the case. While an autopsy was being made, and as the jury were leaving the premises, the report of a pistol was heard, and it was found that the husband had shot himself through the heart, from the effects of which he died. They leave three children.

☞ The manufacture of "Shaker hoods" is quite an important item of the business of Barre, Mass. The making up of these hoods employs two hundred and fifty girls. One million of palm leaves, of which they are made, are split every year, and are woven by families within a radius of twenty miles, hundreds of these families making a good living by this branch of labor. The amount produced annually is $150,000—the manufacturers' tax for three months past amounting to a fraction over $1400.

☞ A Roman Catholic priest at Glasgow, Scotland, has been committed to prison for thirty days, for refusing to reveal in court certain facts respecting a robbery which had come to his knowledge. He acquired the information not in the confessional, but while exercising his duties as a spiritual adviser.

☞ The slave trade is again revived. On the 29th of Oct. a large screw steamer shipped upwards of 920 slaves at Whydah, and got to sea, although several British cruisers were keeping a sharp lookout after her. Other vessels are also reported to have escaped with cargoes of slaves.

☞ The Yelverton marriage case has been brought to a conclusion in Edinburg, the decision being in favor of Mrs. Yelverton. Lords Churchill and Deas were of opinion that the marriage was established according to the law of Scotland. The Lord President delivered an opinion opposed to the other judges.

☞ A romantic story is told at length of the Sultan of Turkey. It is in brief that a pretty Christian girl, whom he loved before he came into power, he recently took into his harem, where she was speedily poisoned by his jealous sultana. He is represented as frantic with grief.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 9, 1863.

THE REBELLION.

The rebels admitted the loss of Vicksburg too soon,—as they did a year ago.—Union accounts, of Jan. 3, state that the rebels have concentrated all their forces from Jackson and Grenada and along the line of the road, amounting to sixty-five thousand men, at Vicksburg. This overwhelming force attacked Gen. Sherman on Monday and caused him to fall back to his first line of defence. The rebel entrenchments and fortifications extend back from the city a distance of six miles. Gen. Sherman's forces had fought to within two miles of the city when he was attacked by the superior force of the rebels. Gen. Hovey, with 1500 men, was sent out to execute a special order, but since then has not been heard from. Fears are entertained for his safety. Nothing had yet been heard from the Federal forces below, nor had our gunboats taken any part in the action. There was some fighting on Tuesday morning after Gen. Sherman had fallen back, but it was thought that he could maintain his position. The report that Gen. Sherman was reinforced by Gen. Grant, is incorrect.—Gen. Sherman's loss is from 4000 to 5000 men. Gen. Joseph E. Johnston commands the rebel forces.

A dispatch from the rebel Gen. Pemberton, at Vicksburg, Jan. 2d, states that Gen. Sherman, "finding all his efforts unavailing, has re-embarked, leaving a considerable quantity of intrenching tools and other property, and apparently has relinquished his designs upon Vicksburg." It is barely possible that Gen. Sherman, finding himself outnumbered, has withdrawn for the present, till he can have the sure co-operation of Gen. Banks, Gen. Grant and all the gunboats on the river. It is plain that the retreat was by no means disastrous from the fact that the rebel General claims to have captured nothing but intrenching tools.

A Union expedition of 1000 cavalry in to East Tennessee, under Gen. Carter, which left Loudon on the 21st, destroyed two important bridges, a locomotive and two cars, and took 700 stand of arms and a large amount of flour, salt and other stores. A brisk skirmish took place at the Wautoga bridge, and another at Jonesville. This raid was most hazardous and attended with great hardships and privations. We lost only ten men. The rebels lost 550 in killed, wounded and missing.

Rebel accounts claim that they took in the Murfreesboro battle, 4000 prisoners and 26 guns. Union accounts report the rebel army as demoralized. Special dispatches state that Breckinridge was wounded in the ear, and his Adjutant General killed; and that wounded rebel officers estimate their loss at from 12,000 to 15,000, with a great slaughter of leading officers. Col. Mulligan, of Tennessee, was mortally wounded, and is in the hospital at Murfreesboro.—The body of Gen. Hanson was sent South Tuesday. Gen. Rains' body was sent to Nashville. A negro from Gen. Bragg's headquarters heard Gen. Bragg say he would go to Chattanooga.

Richmond papers of Tuesday admit the defeat sustained by Bragg at Murfreesboro, and lament that the Yankees would now obtain possession of East Tennessee, from which an army of 200,000 could not drive us. A dispatch from Nashville, Jan. 7, states that our whole loss at Murfreesboro, in killed, wounded and missing, will not exceed 7000. The rebel loss was from 12,000 to 15,000. Our army is pursuing the rebels. Our rear on Tuesday, 8 miles beyond Murfreesboro, reported a rebel wagon train captured 18 miles beyond Murfreesboro.

Raleigh, N. C., papers state that our troops at Newbern have been largely reinforced, and that a movement has commenced,—it was thought against Wilmington. "An intelligent contraband" states to the rebels that Gen. Butler was in command. Our force was estimated at 40,000 men.

A letter from Fort Pulaski says both the rebel rams at Savannah are failures.

RUMORS.—The N. Y. World says it is asserted by those who claim to know, that Gen. Hooker will soon take command of the Army of the Potomac, Gen. Burnside having again asked to be relieved. The Times says it is positively asserted that an important change will be made in the War Department by the 20th inst., and that in case of a change in the head of the Department, public sentiment among the unconditionally loyal demands the appointment of Gen. Butler to the position. But we notice that the Washington Republican says the impression in best informed military circles is, that Gen. Butler will be soon sent back to the Mississippi river, with an enlarged command and extended authority.

☞ The Richmond Examiner has three columns of its space filled with lists of killed and wounded in sundry regiments at Fredericksburg.

☞ Gov. Seymour, of New York, in his message denounces the Emancipation Proclamation, the arrests of alleged traitors and the suppression of alleged traitorous sheets. He says the exertion of armed power must be accompanied by a firm and conciliatory policy, to restore our Union with the least possible injury to both sections. The Governor concludes as follows:—

"At this moment the fortunes of your country are influenced by the results of battles. Our armies in the field must be supported. All constitutional demands of our General Government must be promptly responded to. Under no circumstances can the division of the Union be conceded. We will put forth every exertion of power. We will use every policy of conciliation—we will hold out every inducement to the people of the South to return to their allegiance consistent with honor. We will guarantee them every right, every consideration demanded by the Constitution, and by that fraternal regard which must prevail in a common country, but we can never voluntarily consent to the breaking up of the Union of these States, or the destruction of the Constitution."

On Tuesday, in the New York Legislature, the Assembly had four ballots for Speaker. Dean received 63 votes and Sherwood 63. This does not look like much legislation there this year.

☞ A telegraphic dispatch was received at Chicago on Friday afternoon, stating that there were 60,000 hogs at Buffalo, waiting shipment; 30,000 at Pittsburg; 38,000 at the Suspension Bridge, and 43,000 at Dunkirk; and that they were arriving faster than they could be shipped, to say nothing of those already at these several points. It is discouraging to shippers, and has the effect to keep them out of the market at present.

☞ The Missouri Legislature voted, Monday, to elect two United States Senators. John B. Henderson was elected on the first ballot by 57 majority over Robert Wilson for the term ending March 4. B. Gratz Brown, John S. Phelps, Samuel L. Glover, and Samuel W. Breckenridge, were then nominated for the four years' term.—The first ballot resulted as follows: Brown 51, Phelps 51, Glover 34, Breckenridge 5.

☞ The "clerical bands" worn by young ladies in New York have attracted the attention of the Journal of Commerce, which describes them as a broad band of white, sometimes tied about the neck in a stupendous bow, with the ends hanging down from six to ten inches, according to taste. The effect of this novelty (thin and cool to a summery degree) upon the background of a fur cape, is very odd.

☞ Havana advices state that the French frigate (iron-clad) La Normandie had arrived from Vera Cruz, en route for Martinique, to await orders. During her stay at Vera Cruz she lost 350 of her crew of 650 men, by yellow fever, including her commander, Capt. De Bussell.

☞ The Leavenworth, Ks., Bulletin tells a story of a Federal lieutenant, who became charmed by a secesh beauty in Arkansas, who induced him to visit her at her house, when she handed him over to guerillas, who murdered him and then threw his body into a mill-pond.

☞ In the Massachusetts Legislature, J. E. Field was chosen President of the Senate, having 34 votes: Peter Harvey had 4. In the House, A. H. Bullock was chosen Speaker by 172 votes: Caleb Cushing had 3.

☞ In the reign of Henry VIII. there was struck a small silver coin, of little value, called a dandy prat; which, observes Bishop Fleetwood, was the origin of the term dandy, applied to worthless and contemptible persons.

☞ The newspapers very generally are urging some recognition, by medals or promotion, of those brave fellows who led the forlorn hope in the laying of the pontoon bridge at Fredericksburg.

☞ Forty-thousand letters from New Orleans, Fort Royal and Newbern were received at the Boston Post Office on Wednesday morning.

☞ There is a new excitement in the mining States in consequence of the discovery in Nevada of various rich silver mines.

☞ A dog tamer has been performing in France. The most ferocious brutes appear to submit to him without resistance.

☞ Gen. Braxton Bragg, commanding the rebel forces in Tennessee, has astonished friends and foes alike by the issue of a proclamation for the better observance of the Sabbath day.

☞ Returns show that in every county in Canada but one, more wheat is raised than is consumed, allowing five bushels for the consumption of each individual.

☞ A prominent New England Senator has avowed his purpose to introduce and determinedly press a bill for an air line railroad from New York to Washington, as a military necessity.

☞ A boy named Howard, residing near Newcastle Bridge, was rescued from drowning by police officer Johnson, a few days since, having broken through the ice on the South Mill pond.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— As W. C. Parker, a young man 25 years of age, was chopping in the woods in Bedford, on Monday last, in falling a tree it lodged against the limbs of another tree. He climbed the tree to cut off the limb, when the lodged tree slid down the limb, catching his right leg just above the knee, holding him fast. His axe was also caught by the helve. A Mr. Gilmore, nearly a quarter of a mile off, heard his cries for help, and coming to his assistance, succeeded in effecting his release. The leg was not broken, but much bruised and fattened.

—— The city government of Dover was organized on Wednesday.

—— The Independent Democrat, at Concord, has been reduced in size, on account of the high price of paper.

—— It was 12° below zero at Littleton, on Thursday.

—— It is stated that the delinquency of this State is now about 400 men.

—— Gov. Andrew has commissioned Paul F. Nason, of Exeter, to be First Lieutenant in the Massachusetts 22d, his commission dating back to December 16th. This is the third promotion of the young man since the regiment left the State.

—— The case of Rev. J. B. Davis, of Lowell, formerly of Manchester, vs. the Boston and Maine Railroad, for injuries alleged to have been sustained in being forcibly ejected from a car at Dover, on the 9th of August, 1860, because of his refusal to give up a ticket in exchange for a check, is now on trial before the S. J. Court at Manchester. The damages are laid at $10,000. Counsel for the plaintiff, S. N. Bell of Manchester, E. P. West of Nashua, and J. C. Kimball of Lowell, formerly of the Hillsborough Bar. For the Railroad, George W. Morrison, Wm. C. and S. G. Clarke.

DEATH OF A RECLUSE.—George Prescott, who, for twenty years past, has occupied a dingy nook in the upper part of the Journal of Commerce building in New York, and sold cutlery in Wall street, died in the hospital, at New York, last week, of rheumatism. He was a native of New Hampshire, and for many years held no intercourse with the world, only in so far as his business compelled him. He lived in the most miserly manner, but owned some $1500 when he died. Disappointment in love, in early life, led to his seclusion.

CONGRESS.

WEDNESDAY.—In the Senate, Mr. Wilson reported a joint resolution distributing the swords of Twiggs as follows:—That voted to him by Congress in 1847, to Major General Butler, for distinguished military services during the present rebellion; the sword presented by the State of Georgia, to the West Point Academy; and the sword presented by Twiggs' native city, Augusta, Ga., to the Patent Office.

Mr. Foster introduced a bill to amend the act respecting the Judiciary system of the United States. Referred. Mr. Sumner introduced a bill to prevent correspondence with the rebels. Referred.

Mr. Pomeroy offered a resolution instructing the Military Committee to inquire into the expediency of providing a suitable location and establishing a soldier's home, for destitute and disabled soldiers honorably discharged from the service.—Adopted.

The bill relative to the discharge of State prisoners was taken up. Mr. Field made a speech, contending that the privilege of suspending the writ of habeas corpus was a power vested in the President by the Constitution.

After Mr. Field finished his speech, the Senate passed the bill forfeiting the pay of officers of the army absent over thirty days. Adjourned.

HOUSE.—The Military Committee was discharged from further consideration of the question of homeopathic practice of medicine in the army. Resolutions were passed, that the Secretary of War be directed to give credit to the several States in estimating soldiers enrolled therein, for all who are enlisted in the naval service, and otherwise might be liable to military service.

Mr. Pendleton introduced a resolution condemning Gen. Grant's order excluding Jews from the army lines, as illegal and unjust, tyrannical and cruel. Tabled, 56 against 53. Mr. Hutchins offered a resolution, tendering the thanks of the House to Gen. Butler, for energetic, able and humane administration during his command of the Department of the Gulf. Mr. Allen, of Ohio, moved to lay it on the table. Disagreed to, 27 against 77. Debate rising, the resolution goes over.

The Bankrupt bill was taken up. Mr. Kellogg, of Illinois, moved that the bill be tabled. Lost, 59 against 66. The further consideration of the bill was postponed to Thursday.

☞ The American Hotel, at Niagara Falls was burnt last Monday. Loss on building, $8000; on furniture, $4000.

☞ Gold advanced in New York and Boston to 136 per cent., on Thursday.

THE DISCIPLE.

BY REV. W. L. GAGE.

Who meekly folds his hand in Jesus' palm,
And follows Him through dusty lane and street,
Through store and marketplace at home, abroad,
And in the busy haunts of men as much
As in the lonely stillness of the night,
Clings ever nearer to the Lord's close touch,
To me is Christ's disciple; if with mine
His heart-beats do but throb in unison,
Though eye sees not as eye, we'll waiting stand,
Till when the thin disguise of speech shall fall,
On his brow shall be written Christ my All.

DENTISTRY.

No. 60 CONGRESS STREET,
Portsmouth, Jan. 1st, 1863.

DR. GOODALL

Would respectfully inform his patrons and the public, that he has had of late many calls to insert teeth upon VULCANIZED RUBBER, that he has purchased the best VULCANIZER in the market, and is now prepared to do all work upon RUBBER, or the other bases of GOLD and SILVER as formerly, if preferred.

The Rubber has several important advantages, viz.: It is very light and elastic, and consequently is perfectly easy to the muscles of the mouth and cheeks. There are no interstices or open joints to collect food, &c.; consequently they can be worn night and day, and are very easily kept neat and clean.

Beside all this, the most accurate fit is obtained, as the Rubber is Vulcanized directly upon the plaster model, and the success is of course much stronger than in plates of Gold or Silver.

Any one who is waiting for their permanent teeth will, I am confident, be perfectly satisfied with the Rubber, as a base. The expense is but a little more than for Silver, and you get the same teeth (in blocks) that you would pay $60.00 for an upper or lower set on Gold.

In New York and Boston, and throughout the West, Vulcanized Rubber is used almost to the exclusion of the other bases, and by the best Dentists too! I will warrant a perfect fit and teeth from the best manufacturer in the country, S. S. White.

ALL OTHER OPERATIONS IN DENTISTRY I will do at the usual rates. I will here mention that my price for EXTRACTION is 25 cents.

Rubber Band Carpet Sweeper.

TRY IT! TRY IT!!

It saves Money; it saves Carpets; it saves Furniture; it saves Labor; it is cheaper than Brooms at five cents apiece.

It gathers up all dust, dirt, and loose lint on the carpets, and raises no dust to settle on the furniture, drapery, or ornaments, or to smother, stifle and irritate the lungs.

It does not wear the carpets half so much as brooms or any other sweeper.

It is the only practicable sweeper made, and the only article fit to sweep a carpet.

With our late improvements it gives universal satisfaction to all who use it according to directions. For sale at No. 12 Market Street by

AID FOR OUR SOLDIERS.

By the following letter from Senator Hale, to the Portsmouth Citizens' Relief Committee, it will be seen that a new call is made on our liberality, humanity, and justice, to relieve the wants, diminish the sufferings, and gladden the hearts of our own soldiers. The same thing will be more fully presented in a circular which we may publish on Saturday morning.

The Committee, Messrs. Wm. Simes, John E. Rider, Wm. R. Preston and Chas. H. Peaslee, are ready to receive and forward donations and supplies, and will do what they can to promote the object. One of them has recently visited Washington, and now gives it as his opinion, that this is one of the best channels through which our gifts can flow

It is hoped that each Relief Society may consult next Sunday, or as soon as may be, on the best means of bestowing its aid, and that benevolent people who belong to no such body may come forward with a spontaneous offering.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1, 1863.

Gentlemen:—The New Hampshire Soldiers' Aid Society of this city desire to appeal thro' you to the citizens of Portsmouth for funds in aid of their humane efforts for the relief of the sick and wounded soldiers of our State. Since this society has been in operation it has already accomplished very much in mitigation of the sufferings of New Hampshire soldiers, but the efforts of the society have been greatly limited by their want of means. The number of the suffering has largely increased of late.—The funds of the Society are exhausted.—The comparatively few New Hampshire men in this city have already contributed liberally and repeatedly and nearly to the extent of their ability. We, now, as our last resource, turn to our friends and to the friends of our soldiers at home, and we confidently appeal to your liberality and sympathy for a large contribution. You may be assured that in no way can your contributions be more judiciously and beneficently bestowed than through this Society. The meetings of the Society are frequent. Every hospital in the city and vicinity has its regular committee, whose duty it is to seek out and care for the comfort of all New Hampshire soldiers and carefully report all cases needing special aid, to the Society. Its agents also pay particular attention to the forwarding of all special contributions to their various objects. In short, the Society will endeavor faithfully to do all that can be done to promote the welfare and relieve the sufferings of our own soldiers. For this purpose they appeal to you for assistance. They hope especially for a liberal response from the citizens of Portsmouth so largely represented as it is in our army. They trust you will send them at least five hundred dollars, and the Society requesting that you will act as its Committee, leave it to yourselves to devise in what manner you can best answer their appeal. With respect, yours,

JOHN P. HALE.

Messrs. WILLIAM SIMES,
JOHN E. RIDER,
WILLIAM R. PRESTON,
CHARLES H. PEASLEE,

CITY MARSHAL'S REPORT.—The annual report of City Marshal Bragdon states that the whole number of arrests made by the Police Department of this city from Jan. 1, 1862 to Jan. 1, 1863, is 820, for the following causes:—

Drunkenness, 358; brawl and tumult, 37; common drunkards, 15; deserters from House of Correction, 8; violation Sunday ordinance, 2; admitting minors to play at billiards, 1; obstructing sidewalk, 6; lodgings, 171; Sabbath breaking, 3; desertions from the army, 26; peddling without a license, 1; idle and disorderly person, 1; discharging fireworks in street, 1; riotous conduct, 1; fornication, 1; riding horse upon sidewalk, 1; common nuisance, 2; vagrancy, 32; assault, 31; truancy, 7; resisting officer, 3; keeping a vicious dog, 1; larceny, 18; throwing stones, 7; disorderly conduct, 13; suspicious persons, 8; deserters from the navy, 35; keeping disorderly house, 2; insane persons, 2; violation of liquor law, 1; adultery, 1; rape, 1; fast riding in streets, 3; keeping shop open on Sunday, 2; disobedient to parents, 1; keeping house of ill-fame, 3; deserters from House of Reformation, 4; fraud, 1; breaking and entering, 5; violation of the dog law, 2; bastardy, 1.

☞ Sergeant Daniel J. Vaughan, of this city, 57th N. Y. Regiment, who has been at home for a short time, having nearly recovered from the effects of the severe wound he received at the battle of Antietam, left this city on Tuesday last to report for duty. His patriotism is of the right sort, and we hope yet to see him holding a commission, either in one of our New Hampshire regiments, or in the 57th New York.

☞ A few private flags, which were thrown to the breeze on Thursday, were the only public notice in this city of the anniversary of the great victory won at New Orleans by Gen. Jackson, January 8th, 1815.

☞ The President has nominated Commander Peck to be a Captain in the Navy on the reserve list.

CITY COUNCIL.—The two Boards held their first regular meeting at the City Rooms on Thursday evening.

In Board of Aldermen, Mayor Dearborn in the chair, it was voted that a committee, consisting of the Mayor, three Aldermen, and three citizens from each Ward, be appointed to take measures to secure the establishment of a hospital in this city, for wounded soldiers belonging to the State of New Hampshire. The committee was constituted as follows: Mayor Dearborn, Aldermen Adams, Nichols and Rider; Ward 1, Hon. Ichabod Goodwin, Hon. W. H. Y. Hackett, Hon. Horton D. Walker; Ward 2, A. W. Haven, Esq., Albert L. Jones, Esq., Dr. William R. Preston; Ward 3, Hon. Daniel Marcy, Henry F. Wendell, Esq., Richard Walden, Esq. The joint standing committees, on the part of the Aldermen, were appointed.

In the Common Council the usual preliminaries were gone through with, but no business of public interest was transacted.

☞ Sergt. John H. Locke, who formerly kept a periodical store on Market Square, returned to his home in this city on Wednesday evening last, having been severely wounded in the late battle at Fredericksburgy. He has, we understand, lost a thumb on one hand and the middle finger of the other, and received also a severe wound in the chin and jaw. He was a Sergeant in Co. B, 5th N. H. regiment.

☞ Perley telegraphs that Richard Ela, from Durham, N. H., who has for thirty years past been a leading clerk in the Treasury Department, died in Washington on Wednesday night. He was son of Joseph Ela, of this city, and was about 66 years of age.

☞ The Portsmouth Steam Factory are making arrangements to start their mill again. A small lot of cotton has arrived at the mill, and a corps of machinists have been drafted from Dover, Biddeford and elsewhere to get the machinery and shafting in order for new operations, our own machinists being all employed upon the Navy Yard.

☞ The Portsmouth Rockingham Bank pays its usual semi-annual dividend of four per cent. Jan. 1.

The dividend to stockholders (in Portsmouth and vicinity) in the Eastern Railroad in New Hampshire is being paid at the Piscataqua Exchange Bank. The Eastern (Mass.) and Concord & Portsmouth Road (3 1-2 per cent.) are payable in Boston.

DEATHS.

☞ The funeral of Miss HANNAH SHERBURNE will take place at St. John's Church, this (Friday) afternoon, at 2½ o'clock.

In Tunbridge, Vt., Sept., 14, 1862, Mrs. LUCY A. DUSTAN, wife of Rev. George Dustan, of Peterboro', N. H., and only daughter of Rev. Joseph and Lucy Morse of Pomfret, Vt.

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

The usual—the peculiar features of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven for baking; giving an oven nearly 3 feet long; or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time! A check draft is applied to this stove by means of which the consumption of fuel is greatly lessened, and a steady fire can be kept day and night if desired.

THE MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be THE STOVE for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families; in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We believe the MODEL COOK to be the very best Stove in the Market, and invite every one to examine it whether they wish to purchase or not. It has had a very extensive sale since its introduction. Reference might be made to more than a hundred families in this city and vicinity who are using the Stove, and give it the highest commendation.

We refer to the following individuals who have purchased the Model Cook:—

David Kimball, Thos. F. Burt, John T. French, Rev. Mr. Davies, Wm. Pettigrew, Capt. John Davis, Jeremiah Raitt, Mrs. Ann T. Peirce, James W. Jarvis, Francis C. Jarvis, Thos. L. Tullock, Jacob Wendell, Capt. Jacob Thompson, Gen. J. G. Hadley, (J. Melvin Hunters), Os. D Akerman, James F. Shores, Wm. C. Newton, Horton D. Walker, Benj. Chesver, John Trundy, Richard L. Randall, Geo. Rice, Benj. F. Caswell, Benj M. Parker, Charles A. Wiggin, George W. Plumer, Nath'l Dennett, Henry F. Gerrish, John Harrett, Thos Murphy, Capt. Wm Lambert, Joseph Stiles, John Senior, Wm. Bell, Cyrus Plumer, Freeman Hurd, James M. Locke, Daniel L. Randall, Isaiah Wilson, John E. Roberts—of Portsmouth; Samuel C. Dixon, Daniel T. Pryor, Cushman Pryor, of Treffethen's Island; Geo. N. Dixon, Samuel F. Paul, Elias Remick, Timothy Bunker, Edward Wm. S. Locke, Reuben Donald, Wm. Wm. Locke, Kittery; H. F. VICTOR COAL STOVE.

We offer this beautiful coal burner to the public, with full confidence in its merits.

It was brought into market two years since, and has come rapidly into use.

The Victor is one of the handsomest parlor stoves in the market, and is perfect in its operation. The arrangement for dumping the ashes is very fine—no dust need escape into the room—a continuous fire may be kept throughout the winter—the coal all burned, and no clinkers made.

The quantity of fuel used is very small indeed. There is in this stove an excellent arrangement for ventilating the room in which it is placed; a feature not possessed by any other parlor stove.

Some of the sizes are provided with an oven and boiling place, making them very desirable for a dining room.

We sold a large number of Victor Stoves in our city last season, and they receive the highest commendation from those who are using them.

We have also the celebrated McGregor Stove, well known in the market as to need no commendation.

A great variety of cheaper Stoves for coal and wood—Coal-hods—Patent Coal-sifters.

COAL LININGS,

and Repairing pieces for most of the stoves in use.

Job Work attended to with dispatch.

ATTENTION, THE WHOLE!

RYE, N.H., Feb. 26, 1846. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended to the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of Dr. SWETT'S PANACEA, and several bottles of his Humor WASH, which have effected a cure. There can be no mistake, as this cure was effected more than three years ago. No other medicines can equal Dr. Swett's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold it to a number of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it since I have acted as agent for the sale of it. JOSIAH JENKINS.

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

From ELDER I. CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named. ISRAEL CHESLEY.

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26o

TO-DAY.

Through gates of gold and pearl he came,
The eastern hills were all aflame.—
He touched the earth with tender light,
And kissed away the shades of night.

"Here comes our friend," the Lily said,
The Rose blushed to a deeper red,
And all the gentle race of flowers
Poured incense for the Morning Hours.

The sky bent down its deepest blue,
From tree to tree the Robins flew;
The jewelled dewlets, grew hourly fair,
Bird carols floated on the air,—

The woods were still, as in a dream,
And like a diamond shone the stream.
"To-day a King is in disguise,"
Observed a poet, shrewdly wise;

A Servant, also, to obey,
And lest you where you point the way.
He wrestle with him hour by hour,
He leads to Fame and Wealth and Power.

For, who would win his treasured stores,
Must first assail his stubborn hours;
Small note he takes of varying creeds,
His record lies in words and deeds.

Actions that grow to fair renown—
Those are the jewels in his crown;
Discourage is vain; his ear is polish,
No oracles from him can come.

To all the questioner says or thinks
He is as cubic as the Sphinx.
In him all never conceived are,
Big souls extend to God and Star.

And on his car, which will not wait,
He bears the keys of Time and Fate.
Up, Man! and labor while you may,
Behold your King, or Sleep, To-day.

Ayer's SARSAPARILLA,

THE WORLD'S GREAT REMEDY FOR

Scrofula and Scrofulous Diseases.

From Henry Estes, a well-known merchant of Oxford, Maine.

"I have sold large quantities of your SARSAPARILLA, but never yet one bottle which failed of the desired effect and full satisfaction to those who took it. As fast as our people try it, they agree there has been no medicine like it before in our community."

Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches, Pustules, Ulcers, Sores, and all Diseases of the Skin.

From Rev. Robt. Stratton, Bristol, England.

"I only do my duty when I make it public, when I add my testimony to that you publish of the medicinal virtues of your SARSAPARILLA. My daughter, aged ten, had an affliction upon her face, ears, eyes, and hair for years, which we were unable to cure until we tried your SARSAPARILLA. She has been well for some months."

From Mrs. Jane E. Rice, a well-known and much-esteemed lady of Dunkirk, Cass Co., N. Y.

"My daughter has suffered for a year past with a troublesome eruption, which was very disfiguring. Nothing afforded any relief until we tried your SARSAPARILLA, which soon completely cured her."

From Charles P. Gage, Esq., of the widely-known firm of Gage, Hemenway & Co., manufacturers of enamelled papers in Neshua, N. H.

"I had for several years a very troublesome humor in my face, which defied all the skill of the doctors, until it disfigured my features and became an intolerable affliction. I tried almost every thing a man could of hope and expense, without receiving any relief whatever, until I took your SARSAPARILLA. It immediately made my face worse, as you told me it would, but in a few weeks the new skin began to form under the blotches and continued until my face is as smooth as any body's, and I am without any symptoms of the disease that I know of. I enjoy perfect health, and without a doubt owe it to your SARSAPARILLA."

Erysipelas—General Debility—Purify the Blood.

From Dr. Robt. Swain, Houston St., New York.

"DR. AYER: I seldom fail to remove Erysipelas and Scrofulous Sores by the persevering use of your SARSAPARILLA, and I have just now cured an attack of Malignant Erysipelas with it. No alterative we possess equals the SARSAPARILLA you have supplied to the profession as well as to the people."

From J. B. Ashton, Esq., Wilmington, Ohio.

"For twelve years I suffered from a large tumor on my right arm, during which time I tried all the celebrated physicians I could reach, and took hundreds of dollars worth of medicine. The tumor were so bad that the cords became visible, and the doctors decided that my arm must be amputated. I began using your SARSAPARILLA, and in two bottles, and spoke of your PILLS. Together they have cured me. I am now as well and sound as any body, living in a public place, my case is known to all my body in this community, and excites the wonder of all."

From Hon. Henry Moore, M. P. P., of Newcastle, C. W., a leading member of the Canadian Parliament.

"I have used your SARSAPARILLA in my family, for general debility, and for purifying the blood, with very beneficial results, and feel confidence in commending it to the afflicted."

St. Anthony's Fire, Rose, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Sore Eyes.

From Harvey Seidler, Esq., the able editor of the Tuskaloosa Democrat, Pennsylvania.

"Our only child, about three years of age, was attacked by pimples on his forehead. They rapidly spread until they formed a loathsome and virulent sore, which covered his face, and actually blinded his eyes for some days. A skilful physician applied nitrate of silver and other remedies, without any apparent effect. For fifteen days we guarded his hands, lest with them he should tear open the festering and corrupt sores upon his face, his whole face. Having tried every thing else we had any hope from, we began giving your SARSAPARILLA, and applying the AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS to the sores, as you direct. The sore began to heal when we had given the first bottle, and was well when we had finished the second. The child is healthy and hearty, possesses, over again, and he is now as healthy and fair as any other. The whole neighborhood predicted that the child must die."

Syphilis and Mercurial Disease

From Dr. Hiram Stout, of St. Louis, Missouri.

"I find your SARSAPARILLA a more effectual remedy for the secondary symptoms of Syphilis and for syphilitic rheumatism, than any I possess. The profession are indebted to you for some of the best medicines we have."

From A. J. French, M. D., an eminent physician of Lancaster, Ohio, formerly a distinguished member of the Legislature of Massachusetts.

"DR. AYER: My dear Sir: I have found your SARSAPARILLA an invaluable alterative, in both of the primary and secondary type, and effectual in some cases that were too obstinate to yield to other alteratives. I do not hesitate that we can employ with sure certainty of success, where a powerful alterative is required."

Mr. Chas. S. Van Ness, of New Brunswick, N. J., has for years been a sufferer from the effects of mercury, or mercurial disease, which grew more and more aggravated for years, in spite of every remedy or treatment he could use. At last, trying the persevering use of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA relieved him. Few cases can be found more inveterate and obstinate, this, and it took several dozen bottles to cure him.

Leucorrhœa, Whites, Female Weakness, are generally produced by internal Scrofulous Ulceration, and are very often cured by the alterative effect of your SARSAPARILLA. Some cases require, however, its aid of the SARSAPARILLA, the skilful application of local remedies.

From the well-known and widely-celebrated Dr. Jacob Morrell, of Cincinnati.

"I have found your SARSAPARILLA an excellent alterative in diseases of females. Many cases of irregularity, dysmenorrhœa, uterine ulcerations, and local debility, arising from the scrofulous diathesis, have yielded to it, and there are few that do not, when taken as it is properly aided by local treatment."

A lady, unwilling to allow the publication of her name, writes:

"My daughter and myself have been cured of a very debilitating Leucorrhœa of long standing, by two bottles of your SARSAPARILLA."

Rheumatism, Gout, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Heart Disease, Neuralgia,

when caused by Scrofula in the system, are rapidly cured by this EXT. SARSAPARILLA.

AYER'S

possess so many advantages over the other purgatives in the market, and their superior virtues are so universally known, that we need not do more than to assure the public their quality is maintained equal to the best it ever has been, and that they may be depended on to do all that they have ever done.

Teeth on Vulcanized Rubber.

SOME OF ITS ADVANTAGES.

1st. It is stronger and lighter than any known material.

2d. From two to six times the amount of section of rubber can be obtained by it.

3d. When the arch is irregular we can by building out the depressions—which can be done to any extent—give the mouth a more natural appearance.

4th. No bad taste arises in the mouth by its use, as the rubber comes in the stomach and mouth do not affect it in the least.

5th. Teeth mounted upon this base can be kept clean and sweet as easy as a sancer, as when finished they will resemble one whole piece.

6th. While in all ways it is better, save in a few peculiar cases, it is much cheaper than Gold.

DR. A. P. STEVENS, Surgeon Dentist,

THE MAGEE

COOKING STOVE.

The subscribers, having received their Fall Stock of Stoves, would especially call the attention of the public to the

MAGEE COOK STOVE,

as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plaster which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.

There is a new style and very superior broiler and sad iron heater combined, by which the odor of broiling meats is prevented from escaping into the room. With the extension top there is a large copper Reservoir for hot water; also a large tin warming-closet attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.

The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove. By the use of them, no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shoveling up of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who are now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.

We would refer to the following purchasers:

"MAGEE'S PATENT"

VENTILATING & AIR WARMING

FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about purchasing to examine the improvements to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management, it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, more and better than can be obtained by the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headaches and other complaints of the Other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heaters are, first, to obtain from a given quantity of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat in the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some having the smoke pipe wound over former no bods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The smoke pipe being higher than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of air through the perforated bottom, which burns them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the best in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of heat, unutilized, through the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq.,	Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill,	Charles H. Meadum,
Henry F. Wendell,	John Sise, and others.

HAIR DYE.

☞ MATHEWS' VENETIAN HAIR DYE.—The celebrated Dye was first prepared in 1845; since that time it has been UNANIMOUSLY RECOMMENDED, and in no instance has it failed to give PERFECT SATISFACTION.

THE VENETIAN DYE is the cheapest in the world. Its price is ONLY FIFTY CENTS, and each bottle contains DOUBLE THE QUANTITY OF DYE, contained in those usually sold for ONE DOLLAR.

THE VENETIAN DYE is the safest preparation of its class. It is WARRANTED NOT TO INJURE the hair, or the scalp, in the least.

THE VENETIAN DYE works with RAPIDITY and CERTAINTY. It requires no subsequent or trouble to those who use it.

THE VENETIAN DYE produces any shade that may be desired,—one that will not tarnish, and warrant not,—one that is as permanent as the hair itself.

THE VENETIAN DYE does not, in any manner, interfere with the NATURAL softness of the HAIR—it neither scorches nor dries it.

THE VENETIAN DYE is the best, cheapest, safest, most convenient, most successful, and most correct Dye ever used.

GRACE'S CELEBRATED SALVE,

A SURE RELIEF FOR THE SUFFERER.

This Salve is a vegetable preparation, invented in the 17th century, by DR. WM. GRACE, surgeon in King James's army. Through its agency he cured thousands of most serious sores and wounds that baffled the skill of the most eminent physicians of his day, and was regarded by all who knew him as a public benefactor.

Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Burns.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Scalds.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Fresh Wounds.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Corns.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Felons.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Frozen Limbs.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Scurvy.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Callouses.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Salt Rheum.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Chilblains.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Sore Breast.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Sore Lips.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Erysipelas Sores.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Abscesses.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Ulcers.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Chapped Hands.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Ringworms.

And from Sores and Wounds of the most serious nature down to a common Pimple. It eradicates Pimples from the face, and beautifies the skin. There is no preparation before the public that can equal this Salve in prompt and energetic action for the speedy cure of external diseases, as those who have tried its virtues testify. Soldiers, Sailors, and Fishermen, will find this Salve their best friend.

It has none of the irritating, heating properties of other remedies, but cools, cleanses, and heals the most serious Sores and Wounds. Every family, and especially those containing children, should keep a box on hand in case of accident, for it will save them much trouble, suffering, and money. All it wants is a fair trial to cure old and inveterate Sores.

MANUFACTURED BY

A star for every State: a State for every star.

NO PARTY—ONE COUNTRY.

"Bound to no party—to no sect confined;
The world our home—our brethren, all mankind.
Love truth, do good, be just and fale with all;
Exalt the right, though every item fall."

"Let me warn you in the most solemn manner against the baneful effects of the spirit of Party, generally. It is a spirit not to be encouraged.—Its common and continual mischief is sufficient to make it the interest and duty of a wise people to discourage and restrain it. In governments of the popular form, it is seen in its greatest rankness, and is truly their worst enemy."—Washington's Farewell Address.

NEW ENGLAND THEN AND NOW.—Those at the North, who, in obedience to the suggestion of the rebel General Beauregard cry out against the "Abolitionists" of Massachusetts and other New England States, conceal the fact that those States have furnished most readily more than their full quota of soldiers in the war.

The men of New England were the first to rush to the defence of the capital when it was threatened by rebels and traitors. They are true to their traditions, for they were foremost, too, in that war which gained our liberties and Union. Those who sneer at New England will do well to look at her record in the Revolutionary war. The whole number of men enlisted in the Continental service, from the beginning to the close of the war, was 231,959. Of these, Lorenzo Sabine says, in the historical essay prefixed to his "American Loyalists," that 67,907 were from Massachusetts; and all the States south of Pennsylvania, provided but 59,493, or 8,414 less than the gallant Bay State alone. New England equipped and maintained 118,350 men—more than one-half the total number placed at the service of Congress during the war. The great State of Virginia sent to the war but 752 more than little Rhode Island; she sent "only a fifth of the number contributed by Connecticut; only one half as many as New Hampshire, then an almost unbroken wilderness."

It is well to remember these facts, when men, who do all in their power to embarrass the Government, and to favor the rebels, cry out "Abolitionists" at New England.—N. Y. Post.

THE DESCENDANT OF A HUNDRED KINGS LIVING IN A GARRET.—A very sad story has been brought before the notice of the British public. In a wretched garret in Cook street, Dublin, on a bed of sickness, perhaps of death, lay the son of Sir Francis O'Neill, the sixth baronet of his family, the undoubted descendant of a hundred kings, and the cousin of a duke and of three peers of the realm. Paralized, speechless, and unable to move, the scion of the great house of O'Neill has lain in Cook street, in a garret, for four weary months. A daughter in law, indeed, tended him, the mother of six children; but the means of support for the whole family was a pension of 2s. 2d. a day. When discovered by a benevolent gentleman, six months' rent was overdue, and nothing remained but the street.

☞ One of the court chroniclers says that at the dinner at Compiegne on the eve of the Empress Eugenie's late fete, all the guests were allowed the high honor of presenting her Majesty with flowers, and the most beautiful bouquet of the evening was a monster one presented by the young Italian ambassador, Count Nigra. It was nearly a yard in diameter, and consisted of red and white camelias, surrounded by Parma violets. The flowers were sent by express from Genoa. These gigantic bouquets came into fashion with crinoline, of which the Empress was the inventor.

☞ According to the New York Herald, the plan adopted by Brig. Gen. Williams last fall to cut off Vicksburg from the banks of the Mississippi, by making a diversion in the channel of that river, appears likely to be carried out most effectually by the operations of nature. The rise in the river is widening and deepening the artificial channel or cut of Gen. Williams to such an extent as to alarm the citizens of Vicksburg lest they should find themselves in an inland town before next Spring.

The Chicago Times proposes to enter, within a few days, upon the discussion of the question whether it would not be best to have a Union, leaving New England out. Wouldn't that question have been an interesting one in the Revolutionary war? How would the proposition have sounded to exclude New England privateers and New England sailors and New England soldiers from the war with Great Britain?—Louisville Journal.

THE REBELLION.

The rebels, it is reported, have planted batteries at Cypress Bend, thus preventing intercourse above and below Vicksburg for the present. It is thought that they can be easily cleared by our gunboats when communication becomes necessary. By way of Grenada, a report reached Memphis that there had been no fighting since the 29th of December.

A rebel dispatch shows that the siege of Vicksburg has not been abandoned by Gen. Sherman; but that he is awaiting reinforcements, and has changed the point of attack.

A St. Louis dispatch states that a rebel force, reported 6000 strong, under Burbridge and Marmaduke, with 6 pieces of artillery, opened on Springfield, Mo., without giving notice to remove the women and children. Gen. Brown had loop-holed the houses for musketry, and would make a vigorous resistance.

Gen. Brown, at Springfield, Mo., reported on Thursday afternoon that the enemy were crowding the fighting, but his men were behaving well. Gen. Brown was holding all the strong positions, and the enemy must fight as he wanted him to, whether he liked it or not. A private dispatch says Gen. Brown is badly wounded. The enemy were in large force, but Federal reinforcements were coming in.

The Richmond papers state that in the late raid in Western Tennessee, the rebels captured Trenton, Union City and Humboldt, with over 2000 prisoners, 2 cannon, and a large amount of commissary stores.—The attack on Jackson, Tenn., was a feint to cover the rebel operations. The railroad from Jackson to Columbus has been destroyed.

Gen. Halleck, in an official order, says Gen. Carter's successful expedition into East Tennessee is without a parallel in the history of the war, and Gen. Carter and his command deserve the thanks of the country.

An order from Gen. Halleck officially returns the thanks of the Union to Gen. Rosecrans and the army of the Cumberland for the late victory at Murfreesboro. On Thursday the army was ten miles beyond Murfreesboro, the rebels, it was reported, being at Tullahoma.

Gen. Corcoran, Thursday, advanced from Suffolk, Va., on the rebels on the Blackwater, and will give Pryor an opportunity for a fight if he desires it.

Gen. Burnside and staff, on Thursday, reviewed the 5th Army Corps. Our pickets now extend from Falmouth to King George Court House, about 22 miles.

The new iron-clad Patapsco, from Wilmington, arrived in Hampton Roads on Thursday. On Wednesday the Colorado went to sea with sealed orders.

A letter from the blockading fleet, Dec. 23, says many deserters report that "general hardship commands in Mobile. They have beef only once a week, and oysters at all other times,—no sugar, no coffee, no tea. The pirate Oreto is still in the harbor. Our fleet expects her to stay there."

A dispatch from Washington says the rebel steamer Virginia has been captured in the Gulf by one of Com. Wilkes' squadron. No fear is entertained for Gen. Sherman at headquarters, as it is known that Gen. Grant is on the alert.

LARGE SALES AND DIVIDENDS.—It is stated that one of the manufacturing agencies of Boston, made sales, during the month of October last, to the extent of two million, eight hundred thousand dollars. The Traveller, in alluding to a paragraph that one capitalist of Boston collected dividends on New Year's day, amounting to nearly $100,000, says: "We suspect there must have been others who did as well, if not better. We know of one gentleman, who received a dividend from a single company in which he is a stockholder, amounting to $78,000, and the same gentleman is doubtless a large stockholder in many other companies."

☞ A Sacramento, Cal., dispatch, Jan. 5th, states that at noon on that day the California section of the Pacific Railroad was inaugurated with imposing ceremonies. Both branches of the Legislature adjourned in honor of the occasion. Distinguished representatives from nearly every portion of the State participated in the proceedings, which were witnessed by a vast concourse of people. Gov. Stanford presided.

☞ The N. Y. Tribune has by telegraph from Washington an important disclaimer by M. Mercier, Ambassador of Napoleon III, on behalf of his Imperial master, of any designs or purposes adverse to the restoration of the integrity and authority of our Federal Union.

☞ The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad is again repaired, and in running order along its entire length. The first train went over on Monday, running to both Parkersburg and Wheeling.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

——Among the officers who were wounded at the terrible battle at Murfreesboro, was Capt. A. B. Thompson, son of the late Lieut. J. H. Thompson, of Holderness. On the breaking out of the war, Captain Thompson enlisted as a private in the First N. H. Regiment, but was soon made a lieutenant in the Second N. H., and fought at Bull Run. For his bravery on that occasion he was made a captain in the regular U. S. Infantry, and has served for about a year and a half at the West.

—— The Boston and White Mountain section of the American Telegraph Line is completed to Littleton. The office at that place is opened for public business.

—— A foot and a half of snow fell in the White Mountain Notch on Wednesday.

CONGRESS.

THURSDAY.—In the Senate, Mr. Collamer, from the Committee on Post Offices, reported against the passage of the bill to allow parcels, bundles, etc., to be sent through the mails. A joint resolution, giving the thanks of Congress to Maj. Gen. Rosecrans and the officers and men under him, for gallantry and good conduct at Murfreesboro, was referred.

The House passed a resolution of thanks to Gen. Butler, for able, energetic and humane administration in the Department of the Gulf—83 against 23.

The Committee on Public Affairs were directed to consider the expediency of introducing a bill requiring an increase in the amount of bonds of paymasters, or if the abolishment of said office cannot be made with a view to the benefit of the public service. It was resolved a special committee of five be appointed, with directions to report a bill providing for the appointment of Commissioners to attend to the districts of the country passed over by the army of the United States during the present rebellion, and hear and take proof of the losses sustained by citizens; also, the proof of loyalty and disloyalty of persons presenting such claims, and providing that no such claims shall be paid until approved by the Court of Claims.

UNITED STATES SENATORS:—United States Senators are to be chosen by several of the State Legislatures. In the New York Legislature the Senate is Republican, while the Assembly is generally reckoned a tie, two members being under about equal obligations to the two parties.

The Leader proclaims Fernando Wood to be the Democratic candidate for U. S. Senator from that State, vice Preston King—that Tammany and Mozart have agreed on this, and the Central Regency note assent. But the Tribune has private intimation that there is an undercurrent to all this, and that a strong party in Tammany Hall has resolved to present Peter B. Sweeny for the same office.

An article in the Herald, touching the complexion of the Legislature, implies that it is not probably such a radical Democrat as Wood could have a chance to be elected Senator.

The Herald says, "the members in the Senate are twenty-three Republicans against eight Conservatives and one Independent. In the Assembly, fifty-six Republicans against sixty-five Conservatives and seven Union Democrats. On joint ballot, therefore, the figures would stand thus:

Conservatives	73
Republicans	79
Union Democrats	7
Independent	1
Total	160

It will thus be seen that the Republicans only require two votes from among the eight apparently neutral men to have a majority, whereas the Conservatives would need the whole." [The first voting shows a tie in the Assembly.]

In Ohio, the contest, which continued through the last session of the Legislature, will be renewed. It is thought that Mr. Wade's prospects of election have considerably improved. Hon. Z. Chandler will probably be re-elected in Michigan. In Wisconsin, the chief competitors for the Senatorship are Judge Doolittle and Hon. John F. Potter. In Massachusetts, Charles Sumner will doubtless be re-elected by large majorities. In Maine and elsewhere where elections occur, there is little uncertainty about the results.

☞ In a recent trial for fraud in London, a witness, who said he was agent for Jean Marie Farina in Cologne, testified that there are thirty-four firms of the name of Farina, who sell eau-de-cologne at Cologne, but there are only six or seven of the name of Jean Marie Farina.

☞ A Milwaukie dispatch of the 3d says, returns thus far received leave no room for doubt of the election of Hon. W. D. McIndoe, Republican, for Congress, for both terms, over Benton in the 6th, and Ferris in the 2d district.

☞ "Porte Crayon,"—Lieut. Col. D. H. Strother—who has contributed so many interesting articles, illustrated from his own drawings, to Harper's Monthly, is now on the staff of Major Gen. Banks.

☞ Vanity Fair, and to say, is not supported as a weekly. Its publication as a monthly will commence on the 10th inst.

NOTES OF FORMER DAYS.

Collected and Collated—by UNCLE TONY.

Close of the Indian War near Portsmouth—Peace — Mason's Government disputed and vacated.

The Penobscot tribe of Indians sent Mogg, one of their chiefs, to the English settlement with proposals of peace. He came to Portsmouth and brought with him two men, Fryer and Kendall, who belonged to this town, and had been taken on board a vessel at the eastward. Mogg was sent to Boston, where articles of peace were agreed upon and signed the Nov. 6th, 1676, by the Governor and magistrates on one part, and Moggs on the other: the peace was afterward ratified by the sachem, Modokawando.

This peace was of short duration, and several of the Narraganset Indians being found among the eastern tribes, it was suspected that their design was to renew the war and ruin the fishery. In addition to this, Mogg, who was a hostage for the performance of the articles of the treaty on the part of the Indians, being permitted to go to some neighboring tribes to persuade them to deliver up their captives, did not return again, although he had engaged to be back again in three days. Some gentlemen in Portsmouth represented to the government at Boston the danger to which they were exposed, and they sent off a party of two hundred men, under command of Major Waldron, to protect the eastern settlements. This detachment sailed the beginning of Feb. 1677, touched at several ports, and had several slight skirmishes with the Indians. The Major proceeded as far as Kennebeck, where he built a fort and left forty men to defend it, under command of Capt. Sylvanus Davis, and returned to Boston the 11th of March, without losing a man, having in the expedition killed thirteen of the enemy. The fort at Kennebeck did not answer a very valuable purpose; a number of the garrison had been surprised and taken or killed, and the remainder of them were brought to Portsmouth. The inhabitants were at this time in continual alarm from the enemy, who were scattered through the outskirts of the town. On the 16th of April, they burned the house of John Kennison, at Greenland, and killed him. A young woman was captured at Rawlings' house, but she made her escape and came to Cocheco. On Sunday morning, the 27th of May, a party of twenty, conducted by Simon, one of the western Indians, who had been confined in Dover the last year, but broke jail and escaped, surprised six of the friendly Indians, whom they found drunk in the woods, a small distance from the town; they continued round the town till night, and then crossed the river at Long Reach, and proceeded thro' Kittery towards Wells. The Indians continued their depredations through the summer without meeting much opposition, and had an opportunity of gratifying their revenge upon the eastern settlements, which were greatly reduced by the war.

The Government of Massachusetts appointed William Stoughton, who was afterwards Lieut. Governor, and Peter Bulkley, then speaker of the house of deputies, agents to oppose the claim of Mason, and defend his complaint. On their arrival in England, the Chief Justices of the Bench and Common Pleas, with a committee of the Privy Council, were appointed to hear the parties. The agents in behalf of the colony disclaimed all title to lands claimed by Mason, and to the jurisdiction of the territory lying three miles northward of the river Merrimac, to follow the course of the river so far as that extended. The Chief Justices and Lords reported, that as to the right of soil claimed by Mason, they could not determine; the ter-tenants not having been summoned, the proper parties were not before them: and that Mason had not the right of government over the territory he claimed, and that the four towns of Portsmouth, Dover, Exeter, and Hampton, were not within the bounds of Massachusetts. Which report was accepted and confirmed by the King in Council, the 20th of July; "and all parties were ordered to acquiesce therein and contribute what lies in them, to the punctual and due performance of the said report as there shall be occasion."

Although the Indians had been successful the last campaign, they were willing in the spring of 1678, to make peace. Maj. Shapleigh, of Kittery, Capt. Champernoon and Mr. Fryer, of Portsmouth, were appointed commissioners to agree with Squando and the other chiefs, upon the terms on which it should be established. They met at Casco for the purpose, and the treaty was signed on the 12th of April, in which it was stipulated, that the settlers might return to their habitations and occupy them without molestation, on condition that they should annually pay the Indians one peck of corn for each family, and one bushel for Major Pendleton, who possessed a large estate. However humiliating it might appear, to be obliged to pay this tribute, it was thought better to submit to it, than to leave their settlements, which it was in the power of the Indians to compel them to do. This treaty put an end to a distressing war, which had existed three years, and had greatly reduced the number of the inhabitants; and all the captives, which remained in the custody of the Indians, were restored to their friends.

☞ The Queen of England has caused an oak to be planted on the spot where the late Prince Albert ceased his last day's hunting. The tree is to be known as the Prince Consort's Oak.

☞ The spiciest thing we have read lately is the statement that the Dutch have discovered a forest of nutmeg trees on the Island of Batjan. The Connecticut article will now be at a discount.

☞ N. S. Morse, formerly of the Bridgeport (Ct.) Farmer, the office of which paper was mobbed last year, has purchased an interest in the Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle and Sentinel. He has carried his treasonable ware to a good market.

☞ A man ("up in New Hampshire," down east newspapers say,) declared:—"The most wickedest thing I ever did in my life was when I put snow in my sap, and boiled it down and sold it for good sugar."

☞ Sir Bernard Burke, in his book on the Vicissitudes of Families, mentions that the present Sir Frederick Echlin, Bart., can neither read nor write, and lives on charity. The widow of the late Sir Samuel Norwich, Bart., (a sawyer,) is a washerwoman at Kettering.

☞ At the Poor House in Pittsford, Vt., two paupers, respectively 67 and 54 years of age, were recently married. The reason given by the overseer of the poor for this proceeding is that he was crowded for room and gained the use of an apartment by the operation.

☞ The death of the fugitive rebel Governor Jackson of Missouri is confirmed. It occurred at Little Rock, Ark., December 7.

SPEER'S SAMBUCI WINE.—We publish to-day an advertisement of this noted and excellent American Wine—samples of which can be tasted at all our Druggists.—We believe it to be superior, in every respect, and in all desirable qualities—medicinal not excepted—to pure and genuine imported Port, worth ten dollars a gallon.—Try it, if you are an invalid requiring a healthy and harmless stimulant, and shun the miserable humbug wines with which the country is flooded, and not one gallon in a thousand of which contains a drop of the juice of the grape.—Watkins Repub.

Rubber Band Carpet Sweeper.

TRY IT! TRY IT!!

It saves Money; it saves Carpets; it saves Furniture; it saves Labor; it is cheaper than Brooms at five cents apiece.

It gathers up all dust, dirt, and loose lint on the carpets, and raises no dust to settle on the furniture, draper, or ornaments, or to smother, stifle and irritate the lungs.

It does not wear the carpets half so much as brooms or any other sweeper.

It is the only practicable sweeper made, and the only article fit to sweep a carpet.

With our late improvements it gives universal satisfaction to all who use it according to directions. For sale at No. 13 Market Street by SOLDIERS' AID.

We copy below parts of the Circular of the New Hampshire Soldiers' Aid Association, recently sent to Messrs. Simes, Rider, Preston and Peaslee, the citizen's Relief Committee of this city. Omitting such parts of it as have become obsolete since the circular was printed,—it should be stated in this connection that several boxes from this place were sent to this Association, and that the renewed call will doubtless be answered according to our ability.

Appeal of the New Hampshire Soldiers' Aid Association. Washington, D. C., To their brethren at home.

To Messrs. William Simes, John E. Rider, William R. Preston and Charles H. Peaslee, Portsmouth, N. H.

In behalf of this Association, we beg, briefly, to present to you its claims upon the people of our State, for consideration.

This Society was organized in the early part of the year 1862, and has for its sole object to seek out and administer comfort and consolation to the sick and wounded sons of New Hampshire in the military hospitals in and around this Capital.

It was the first organization of the kind formed in this city, and it has done a great work in assuaging sorrow and suffering, and in saving noble lives. In the discharge of its mission it has depended almost wholly, thus far, upon the contributions and individual labors of its own members, and is composed of the sons of New Hampshire, permanently and temporarily resident in this city.

The Association has under its supervision at this time some sixty hospitals, which are scattered over the "ten miles square," and in which are, at this time, some eight hundred of our soldiers. For each of these hospitals a visitor is designated from our members to visit and personally administer to the wants of every New Hampshire patient, whether enlisted within or without the borders of our State, and we can with confidence assure our brethren and sisters at home, that this duty thus far has been faithfully and laboriously performed.—Thousands of visits have been made, and the sick and wounded and dying couches have been cheered and made smoother by words of sympathy, and the administration of whatever kindness and benevolence could offer.

We have gratefully to acknowledge the reception of boxes containing clothing and other articles of great value, both of food and drink, for the sick and wounded, from the Aid Societies at home, and which, by our visitors, have all been faithfully delivered into the hands of our soldiers. We have also been kindly furnished some articles from the Sanitary Commission. Our supplies are, however, now exhausted.

It is earnestly suggested, therefore, to all into whose hands this letter shall come, to make this season a special occasion to press upon all our friends the merits of this Association, and to call upon all to make it such a free, willing offering as their means may permit. To the Clergymen of our State we address this subject in a most earnest and special manner, and we are confident they will bring its claims to the attention of their people and congregations with substantial results; because it is for all that is noble in Christian liberty, and civilization for the whole race of men, that the offering is demanded.

Signed—John P. Hale, T. M. Edwards, John M. Brodhead, Geo. J. Abbott, H. E. Woodbury, Jas. M. Lovering, John Gass, Hiram Brown, Josiah A. Chamberlain, Warren Webster, Executive Committee.

Hon. Daniel Clark is President, and Stephen S. Bean, Corresponding Secretary.

☞ On Thursday last, the new steam fire engine "Union," at the Portsmouth Navy Yard, we learn was brought out for trial, and performed to the satisfaction and admiration of those interested. A stream of water was brought to bear on the Franklin Ship House, and with about 100 pounds pressure of steam, she threw a stream over the building, which is seven stories in height. Her boilers are capable of sustaining 160 pounds pressure of steam.

HORSE GUARDS' BALL.—We learn that persons from this city attending the Horse Guards' Levee and Ball at Concord on Wednesday evening, Jan. 14, who pay full fare to Concord, will be furnished with a Return Ticket free, over the C. & P. and other railroads.

☞ Rev. Mr. Southgate, of Ipswich, Mass., will preach at the North Church tomorrow.

☞ Postage stamps for change are "a gum" —a nuisance, which we hope will not "stick by" much longer. Enclosing some in a letter to us, our facetious N. Y. correspondent, Newington, says: "This is money, inside. Did you know it? Shades of a departed species, I revere your memory."

☞ The Washington Star denies that Stuart's cavalry made another successful raid into Dumfries. Up to noon on Tuesday the authorities had heard nothing of it, and the telegraph line passing through that village had continued in working order since a few hours after the last raid of the same cavalry.

☞ The Boston Post states that "Adams & Co's Express Company are to receive, next week, a further supply of two hundred thousand in postal currency, for gratuitous distribution to Eastern Railroads."—It should be borne in mind, however, that the term "gratuitous" means without charge for transportation.

☞ Senators Chandler, of Michigan, and Bayard, of Delaware, have been re-elected.

☞ A blind lady has recovered $1000 from a New York court, on account of injuries received from a defect in the sidewalk. The court decided that it is the duty of the city to keep the walks in so good repair that even the blind can walk thereon without danger of injury.

WHAT IS TO BECOME OF SENATOR CARLISLE?—He was admitted a Senator from Virginia by a recognition of the Wheeling Legislature as the legitimate government of that State. Since that the State has been cut in two, and the place of his residence is Western Virginia. Is he still a Senator of Virginia?

☞ During last year nearly 30,000 people ascended the winding stairs of the Bunker Hill Monument. The admission fees to the monument are applied to the improvement of the premises, and the amount thus derived is sufficient to keep them in excellent order.

☞ English ladies in Southern Italy overwhelm Garibaldi with letters, in which they entreat him to send them an autograph or a lock of his hair. Indeed, Garibaldi is in danger of becoming entirely bald. An Englishman offered $450 for the bullet taken from the Liberator's foot.

☞ The Richmond Enquirer of the 7th says that the danger of financial ruin to the Confederacy is imminent, and the high prices, resulting from the enormous issue of Treasury notes, are an enemy more formidable than the Yankee armies. It recommends a tax bill to produce $15,000,000.

☞ Gov. Robinson, of Kentucky, in his message, recommends that the Legislature place on record their protest against the President's proclamation.

☞ M. Fauconnet has been recognized by our Government as French consul at New Orleans, in place of Count Mejan, removed by the French Minister.

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster or fry (the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking; giving an oven nearly 3 feet long; or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time! A check draft is applied to this stove by means of which the consumption of fuel is greatly lessened, and a steady fire can be kept day and night if desired.

THE MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be THE STOVE for farmers, mechanics, professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We believe the MODEL COOK to be the very best Stove in the Market, and invite every one to examine it whether they wish to purchase or not. It has had a very extensive sale since its introduction. Reference might be made to more than a hundred families in this city or vicinity who are using the Stove, and give it the highest commendation.

We refer to the following individuals who have purchased the Model Cook:—

David Kimball, Thos. F. Burt, John T. French, Rev. Mr. Davies, Wm. Pettigrew, Capt. John Davis, Jeremiah Raitt, Mrs. Ann T. Perkins, James W. Jarvis, Francis C. Jarvis, Thos. L. Pulsifer, Jacob Wendell, Capt. Jacob Thompson, Gen. J. G. Hadley, U. Melvin Hustings, Geo D Akerman, James F. Shores, Wm. C. Newton, Horton D. Walker, Benj. Chesver, John Trundy, Richard L. Lambert, Joseph Stiles, John Senter, Wm. Bell, Cyrus Plumer, Freeman Hurd, James M. Locke, Daniel L. Randall, Isaiah Wilson, John E. Roberts—of Portsmouth; Samuel C. Dixon, Daniel E. Pryor, Cushman Pryor, of Trefethen's Island; Geo. N. Dixon, Samuel F. Paul, Elias Remick, Timothy Dame, Eliot; Wm. S. Leighton, Benj. Fernald, Mrs. Wm. Locke, Kittery; E. F. VICTOR COAL STOVE.

We offer this beautiful coal burner to the public, with full confidence in its merits.

It was brought into market two years since, and has come rapidly into use.

The Victor is one of the handsomest parlor stoves in the market, and is perfect in its operation. The arrangement for dumping the ashes is very fine—no dust need escape into the room—a continuous fire may be kept throughout the winter—the coal all burned, and no clinkers made.

The quantity of fuel used is very small indeed. There is in this stove an excellent arrangement for ventilating the room in which it is placed; a feature not possessed by any other parlor stove.

Some of the sizes are provided with an oven and boiling place, making them very desirable for a dining room.

We sold a large number of Victor Stoves in our city last season, and they receive the highest commendation from those who are using them.

We have also the celebrated McGregor Stove, so well known in the market as to need no commendation.

A great variety of cheaper Stoves for coal and wood—Coal-hods—Patent Coal-sifters.

COAL LININGS,

and Repairing pieces for most of the stoves in use. Job Work attended to with dispatch.

From the Journal

FIRST FORT IN KITTERY.—Kittery is the oldest town in the state of Maine. It was not until 1714 that Kittery was made a port of entry. It was then made so in consequence of what was regarded as improper duties exacted by New Hampshire from the merchants and fishermen trading on the Piscataqua. To make the power of the Government respected, a breast work was, in that year, erected northerly of the Point, (probably near the present site of Fort McCleary) and a platform laid sufficient for six guns. This was the first fort on the eastern side of the river.

NORTH MILL POND.—When we stated that but three had been drowned in the Pond in half a century, we should have added "by breaking through the ice." Eight have been drowned in the Pond in that time.

REV. WILLIAM L. GAGE has tendered to the Wardens of the North Church, his resignation of the pastorship of that Church in this city—to take effect at the close of the present month.

THE WARM WEATHER.—From the 22d of Dec. 1862 to the 6th of Jan. 1863, sixteen days, the mercury at no time was below 20 at sunrise.—The average temperature at noon was 39¼. So mild weather of long continuance in midwinter is a rare occurrence. A person told us that he witnessed in the first week in January what he has never before seen at this season. His cattle laying down in the barnyard, on dry and warm ground, enjoying the sun and ruminating as composedly as in May. The cherry birds appeared on the trees.

Statement of the business and condition of the Piscataqua Fire and Marine Insurance Company of South Berwick, Me. respectfully submitted to the Secretary of the State of Maine, Dec. 1st, 1862, as per the requirements of the Statute of said State.

A GOOD RELIGIOUS PAPER.—The Congregational Journal, published for forty-four years at Concord, N. H. is suspended with the old year, in view of the great advance in the price of paper, and the publisher has made arrangements to supply his subscribers, for the coming year, with the Boston "Congregationalist," which is one of the best religious papers with which we are acquainted.—Among its special contributors are "Gail Hamilton," Rev. Dr. Bacon of New Haven, and Dr. J. P. Thompson of New York.

It has an able corps of correspondents, including "Spectator" at Washington, and Chaplains James and Quint in the army. Its selected articles furnish some of the best religious reading to be found, and its children's department is sustained by writers of rare excellence. It presents, each week, a summary of war news—not cut from other papers, but carefully condensed, with a view of giving, in a couple of columns, a general summary of the progress of events. The price remains unchanged—$2 per annum.

LOVE'S WORSHIP.

The Portland Press states that the following poem was written by a girl of only sixteen summers:—

I have seen a brow so purely bright
As the snow had tinted with rosy light,
Set round with locks of the softest brown,
And say with the splendor of beauty's crown;
But more than this, I discovered there,
Came in the silence of that beautiful hair,
That genius, with fingers soft and light,
Had draped and modeled the forehead white.
So my soul knelt down, when that brow passed by,
In a service of love, I know not why;
Who'd dare to blame me for worshipping so,
Or chide my spirit,—not God, I know.

I have seen a pair of beautiful eyes,
With a tender change like April skies,
Middle radiant, deep and full of light,
With the star of Love just shining through;
And I saw a finger of the soul arise
Start out from the depths of those shade and shine,
And my unchecked spirit reached and grasped
That new found soul, with confiding clasp.
Oh! in all the world, there were not such eyes
To repose the heart's entire purity lies.
Who'd dare to blame me for thinking so,
Or chide my spirit—not God, I know.

I have seen a strangely bewitching mouth,
With the glow my warmed of the tropic South;
A gleam of pearl in a fold of rose,
Where the breath in balmy fragrance flows;
Where dimples hurry from lip to cheek,
Love pouting gamed with a cheek—
Sometimes, I have almost dared to think,
Sweet thoughts would thicken about the brink,
And all those lips to the kiss invite,
That my waiting soul has ever heard:
Who'd dare to blame me for hoping so,
Or chide my spirit—not God, I know.

BUY CALIFORNIA WINES.
They are the Purest!
The Best!
The Cheapest!
The "sunny slopes" of "Los Angelos" have announced to the world that America is a wine growing country, and as the discovery of gold sent a thrill through the old world, so will the discovery of these Wines startle them again, as it says "one more link broken which has bound us to Europe," "one more step to independence." Let every man, woman and child who uses Wine, see to it that they buy none other than these.
"The Flock" is a most delicious Wine, and equals in delicacy its German predecessor.
The "Angelica" and "Rosenda" are mellow, luscious and rich, and will take the place of Malaga, Tokay, or other rich Wine.
The Port has a fine flavor and body, and
The Port is excellent because it is pure.

American and Foreign Patents.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (see Act of Congress of 1839.)
73 State Street, opposite Kilby Street,
BOSTON.
After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Also, Reissues, Extensions, Designs, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Also, examines into and reports on foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting the Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.
The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, not possessed by, if not unattainable by any other, by which can be offered them elsewhere. Its Testimonials bel ow given prove that and it is the MOST SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, it is would seem that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.
The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.
These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States, Great Britain, and elsewhere, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.
All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, with the usual great delay thereby, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.
Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on which he has obtained patents thirteen granted, and that is new pending. Such unmeasurable proof of great talent and ability on my part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."
JOHN TAGGART.
During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.

Teeth on Vulcanized Rubber.
SOME OF ITS ADVANTAGES.
1st. It is stronger and lighter than any known material.
2d. Gives from two to six times the amount of suction or adhesion can be obtained by it.
3d. When the arch is irregular we can by building out the deposit—which can be done to any extent—give the mouth a more natural appearance.
4th. No bad taste arises in the mouth by its use, as the secretions of the stomach and mouth do not affect it in the least.
5th. Teeth mounted upon this base can be kept clean and sweet as easy as a saucer, as when finished the work presents one whole piece.
6th. While in all ways it is better, sure in a few peculiar cases, it is much cheaper than Gold.
DR. A. P. STEVENS, Surgeon Dentist,

Has had four years of practical experience in making this material, and will guarantee satisfaction to all who are entrusted to his care.

PORTSMOUTH.
DENTISTRY.
No. 60 CONGRESS STREET,
Portsmouth, Jan. 1st, 1863.
DR. GOODALL
Would respectfully inform his patrons and the public, that he had of late many calls to insert teeth upon VULCANIZED RUBBER, that he has purchased the best VULCANIZER in the market, and is now prepared to do all work upon RUBBER, or the other bases of GOLD and SILVER as formerly, if preferred.
The Rubber has several important advantages, viz.: It is very light and elastic, and consequently is perfectly easy to the muscles of the mouth and cheeks. There are no interstices or open joints to collect food, &c.; consequently they can be worn night and day, and are very easily kept neat and sweet.
Beside all this, the most accurate fit is obtained, as the Rubber is Vulcanized directly upon the plaster model, and the suction is of course much stronger than in plates of Gold or Silver.
Any one who is waiting for their permanent teeth will, I am confident, be perfectly satisfied with the Rubber, as a base. The expense is but a little more than for Silver, and you get the same teeth (in blocks) that you would pay $60.00 for an upper or lower set on Gold.
In New York and Boston, and throughout the West, Vulcanized Rubber is used almost to the exclusion of the other bases, and by the best Dentists too. I will warrant a perfect fit and teeth from the best manufacturer in the country, S. S. White.
ALL OTHER OPERATIONS IN DENTISTRY I will do at the usual rates. I will here mention that my price for EXTRACTION is 25 cents.

THE MAGEE
COOKING STOVE.

The subscribers, having received their Fall stock of Stoves, would especially call the attention of the public to the
MAGEE COOK STOVE,
as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.
There is a new style and very superior broiler and cod-iron heater combined, by which the odor of broiling meats are prevented from escaping into the room. With the extension top there is a large copper Reservoir for hot water; also a large tin warming-closet attached, in which any article may be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.
The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, as no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shovelful of ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.
For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who are now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.
We would refer to the following purchasers:

"MAGEE'S PATENT"
VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING
FURNACES.
The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would say those about remodelling or erecting buildings, to examine this truly valuable invention.
For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, pleasant and agreeable to breathe, and not affect it in the least, which comes in contact with the fire-pots used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces is entirely obviated.
The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the great est amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.
To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former models, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the smoke pipe without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the
MAGEE FURNACE.
The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as soon as they leave the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.
No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue at the bottom of the stove can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the best properties, making the chimney the hottest part of our dwellings.
This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.
These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.
For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.
They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:
Samuel Greene, Esq., Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill, Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell, John Rice, and others.

SPEER'S SAMBUCI WINE,
PURE AND FOUR YEARS OLD,
OF CHOICE OPORTO FRUIT,
For Physicians' Use,
FEMALES, WEAKLY PERSONS, INVALIDS
SAMBUCUS TREE, OF PORTUGAL.

The Great Remedy for Kidney Affections, Elimination, Chronic Complaints
Every Family should use the SAMBUCI WINE celebrated in Europe for its medicinal and beneficial qualities as a gentle Stimulant, Tonic, Diuretic and Sudorific, highly esteemed by eminent physicians, used in European and American Hospitals, and by some of the first families in Europe and America.
As a DIURETIC, it imparts a healthy action to the glands and kidneys, and for Urinary Organs very beneficial in Dropsy, Gout and Rheumatic Affections.
SPEER'S SAMBUCI WINE is not a mixture or manufactured article, but is pure from the juice of the Portugal sambucus, cultivated in New Jersey, recommended by Chemists and Physicians, possessing medical properties superior to any other Wines in use, and an excellent article for all weak and debilitated persons, and the aged and infirm, improving the appetite, and benefitting ladies and children.
A LADIES' WINE, because it will not intoxicate, nor contain the injurious ardent spirits or other liquors, and is admired for its peculiar flavor and nutritive properties, imparting a healthy tone to the digestive organs, giving a blooming, soft and healthy skin and complexion.
WE REFER TO
a few well known gentlemen and physicians, who have tried the Wine:
Gen. W. Scott, U.S.A. Dr. Ward, Newark.
Gov. Morgan, N. Y. State Dr. Wilson, 11th St. N.Y.
Dr. Parker, N. Y. City Dr. Dougherty, Broadway
Dr. J. R. Chilton, " Dr. Parish, Phila.
Drs. Darcy and Nicholl, Newark, N. J.
Make sure the Signature "ALFRED SPEER, Passaic, N. J." is over the cork of each bottle.
Make sure the Trial of this Wine.

VOL. 21. PORTSMOUTH, N. H. MONDAY, JAN. 12, 1863. NO. 136.

The Chronicle.

A star for every State: a State for every star.

NO PARTY—ONE COUNTRY.

"Bound to no party—to no sect confined;
The world our home; our brethren all mankind,
Love truth, do good, be just and fair with all;
Exalt the right, though every law fall."

"Let me warn you in the most solemn manner against the baneful effects of the spirit of Party, generally. It is a spirit not to be encouraged.—Its common and continual mischief is sufficient to make it the interest and duty of a wise people to discourage and restrain it. In governments of the popular form, it is seen in its greatest rankness, and is truly their worst enemy."—Washington's Farewell Address.

ELOQUENT APOSTROPHE TO COLD WATER.—Colonel Watt Forman exclaimed, in a sneering voice, "Mr. Paul Denton, your reverence has lied. You promised us not only a good barbecue, but better liquor. Where is the liquor?"

"There!" answered the missionary, in tones of thunder, and pointing his motionless finger at the matchless Double Spring, gushing up in two columns, with a sound like a shout of joy, from the bosom of the earth. "There!" he repeated, with a look terrible as lightning, while his enemy actually trembled at his feet, like a convicted culprit. "There is the liquor which God, the eternal, brews for all his children. Not in the simmering still, over smoky fires, choked with poisonous gases, and surrounded with the stench of sickening odors and rank corruption, doth your Father in heaven prepare the precious essence of life, the pure cold water; but in the green glade and glassy dell, where the red deer wander, and the child loves to play.—There God brews it; and down—down in the deep valleys, where the fountains murmur and the rills sing; and high on the tall mountain-tops, where the native granite glitters like gold in the sun, where the storm cloud breeds, and the thunder tones crash; and away far out on the wide, wide sea, where the hurricane howls music, and the big waves roar the chorus, 'sweeping the march of God,' there he brews it, that beverage of life, health giving water. And everywhere it is a thing of beauty,—gleaming in the dew-drop, singing in the summer rain, shining in the ice-gem, till the trees all seem turned to living jewels; spreading a golden veil over the setting sun, or a white gauze around the midnight moon; sporting in the cataract, sleeping in the glacier, dancing in the hail-shower; folding its bright snow-curtains softly about the wintry world, and weaving the many-colored iris, that seraph's zone of the sky, whose woof is the sunbeam of heaven, all checkered over with celestial flowers by the mystic hand of refraction. Still always it is beautiful, that blessed ice-water! No poison bubbles on its brink; its foam brings not madness and murder; no blood stains its liquid glass; pale widows and starving orphans weep not burning tears in its clear depths; no drunkard's shrieking ghost from the grave curses it in words of despair! Speak out, my friends, would you exchange it for the demon's drink, alcohol?" A shout like the roaring of a tempest answered "No."

Critics need never tell me again that back woodsmen are dead to the divine voice of eloquence; for I saw at that moment the missionary held the hearts of the multitude, as it were, in his hand.

☞ The lower St. Lawrence has been visited lately by an extraordinary affluence of birds—ducks, wild geese and other game. They took their departure further South at the approach of the December snow storms. They have been succeeded by an unprecedented influx of Arctic birds, seldom, if ever, seen in the Province. These are white ptarridges and white owls. They keep together in large flocks, and are easily approached and killed. The white owls are the terror of the smaller birds, which are disappearing at their approach. The farmers have set traps for them and destroyed a great number.

☞ In regard to the recent tragical event in Dorchester, Mass., on Sunday evening, which resulted in the death of Mrs. Hamblin, and the attempted suicide of her husband, it appears that Mrs. Hamblin stated, just before her death, that she had taken medicine "for an improper purpose," which was procured in Boston by her husband at her own request. Mr. Hamblin admitted the truth of this statement, and told where he procured the pills, the remainder of which are to be subjected to a chemical analysis, together with the stomach of the deceased. Mrs. H. was 27 years of age, and her husband about 35. It is not known that any previous trouble existed between them. Contrary to general expectation, the severe wounds which Mr. Hamblin inflicted on himself have not yet proved fatal.

Portsmouth, N. H.

MONDAY, JANUARY 12, 1863.

THE REBELLION.

Springfield, Mo., containing a large amount of army stores, arms and ammunition, was surrendered to the rebels on Thursday night. Fifteen 4-horse teams and 30 men belonging to the Telegraph corps, are supposed to have been captured a few miles south of Springfield. General Brown's left shoulder was badly shattered, and he would have to submit to an amputation to save his life. Our force was reported to be 2000 strong, with 2 pieces of artillery.

The Richmond Enquirer says an order was recently issued to burn Wilmington, N. C., before being allowed to fall into the hands of the enemy. A dispatch from Wilmington, says the large iron steamer Giraffe, with a valuable cargo of stores and a special messenger from Europe, arrived at a Confederate port, Dec. 30.

The Washington correspondent of the N. Y. Herald says Gen. Grant has been ordered to co-operate with Gen. Sherman, at Vicksburg. It was not expected that Gen. Banks or Admiral Farragut would support Gen. Sherman; but they were to reduce the rebel fortifications at Port Hudson, which is essential to the breaking up of the rebel gateway for sending cot cotton and bringing in beef cattle, which has been carried on to a very great extent between Vicksburg and Port Hudson.

Despatches from Newbern of the 9th instant report 40,000 rebels at Goldsboro and Kinston. The Richmond Examiner of the 8th instant has a report that a great expedition of gunboats and transports, under command of Gen. Negley, had left Fortress Monroe on the 1st inst. for some Southern port, and it anticipates a grand demonstration upon Goldsboro or Wilmington. The Examiner also has another rumor that Gen. Sumner's division had left Aquia Creek on transports for the South.

A rebel dispatch says Gen. Hindman's scouts bring information that Gen. Grant had sent 6000 troops from Holly Springs to Memphis, and it was believed that a large portion of his army would join Gen. McClerland's expedition.

New Orleans advices, Jan. 2, state that Gen. Banks was concentrating his forces at Baton Rouge. The rebels are reported to have 12,000 men and 30 guns at Port Hudson, and the earthworks are said to be 12 miles in extent.

1200 rebel prisoners, from Murfreesboro, have already been sent North. Their ascertained loss increases daily. 2000 of their wounded were sent to Lavergne on Thursday, and many more are left, who cannot be moved, their wounds are so frightful. Lavergne, however, has since been accidentally burned, and the rebel wounded will have to be sent to Nashville, and thence to Louisville, for treatment.

An expedition from Yorktown, Wednesday night, destroyed the depot and rolling stock at the White House, burned a steamer, and several barges laden with grain, and returned with a large number of animals and 8 loaded wagons, having sustained no loss whatever.

The iron-clads Weehawken and Nahant, at New York, have received sailing orders and will leave on Tuesday.

The Boston Traveller says, editorially, a most powerful naval expedition, consisting of a number of iron-clads armed with 15-inch guns, against which no fortification of human hands can make a successful resistance, will rendezvous near a Southern port to participate in its capture. This attack will be continued from city to city, until the entire Southern Atlantic coast shall be in our possession.

☞ The blockading squadron off Charleston on the 23d ult. comprised about thirty vessels, all under steam. They are stationed along the entire outlet from Charleston, guarding every channel or inlet. The fleet is in charge of Capt. Gordon, of the frigate Powhatan, who is second in command.—The health of the officers and crews of the various ships and gunboats is remarkably good.

☞ Gen. Rosecrans has ordered all captured rebel officers to be confined until Jeff. Davis' order is revoked—the rebel prisoners to subsist on army rations, the food contributed by friends to be confiscated for hospital use, and the repetition of such contribution to constitute a jail offence.

☞ The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has decided that any revenue stamp, except proprietary, can now be used for its amount on any instrument, thus virtually abolishing the great variety of stamps now used.

☞ The Missouri Republican says Gen. Burnside is the first General who has not tried to ascribe his failure to the Government.

☞ Brignoli has a bad sore throat which threatens serious damage to his silver voice.

☞ Gen. Grant has revoked his order expelling Jews from his lines.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— An arrangement has been completed by which subscribers to the People's Journal at Littleton, will be supplied from the office of the Free Press of Lebanon.

—— The Amherst Cabinet, a paper which became a favorite in the households of Hillsborough county before the men of this generation were born, came out last week somewhat brushed up, for the new year. In "a word to the readers," the publisher states that he has set out on the 62nd annual voyage in the good old straight-ahead craft, the Cabinet, and hopes to make the voyage in safety.

—— The proprietors of the Keene Sentinel will strike from their subscription list all whose accounts are more than one year old.

—— Maj. C. W. Woodman, of Dover, recently made paymaster in the army, has been ordered to St. Louis; Maj. Albert H. Hoyt, of Portsmouth, arrived at Washington on Sunday.

—— The Washington correspondent of the Stateman says:—

That noble Christian soldier, Rev. E. H. Legro, died at Washington on New Year's Day, retaining a clear, unclouded mind to the last. His wife was with him, to smooth his dying pillow, and treasure his dying words. He died in a manner worthy of a heroic minister of religion, who, at the voice of duty, cast personal ease under his feet, and sprang into perils, to save his country. His career has shed honor upon our State as upon his exalted profession; and his mission on earth will not be done while we keep imperishable his sublime example. He was a Master Mason, and the Dawson Lodge of Washington took charge of his body—defraying all expenses to prepare and send it home; and in their name a member of the Lodge visited in person the bereaved wife, upon the eve of her departure, conveying a word of consolation from the brethren, and dropping a $50 note into her hand.

—— Capt. O. A. Mack, chief of artillery on Gen. Thomas's staff, is reported mortally wounded at the battle of Murfreesboro. Capt. Mack will be remembered as having been appointed Colonel of the 6th regiment, which appointment he declined. He was a West-Pointer, and went from Gilsum.

☞ Geo. W. Childs, 628 and 630 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, announces that he will issue this month, the National Almanac and Annual Record for 1863, furnishing full, accurate and interesting information concerning the present condition of our country. The well-known reliability of the publisher guarantees a work which shall give, as he promises, a vast amount of information invaluable to every thinking citizen. It is to be issued in one volume 12mo, upwards of 500 pages, bound in boards, price $1.00, or substantially bound in muslin, $1.25. Sent free, by mail, on receipt of price.

Liberal Contribution.—Richard H. Dana, Jr., Esq., acknowledges that he has received, through Messrs. Stearns, Hobart & Co., of Bombay, the sum of one thousand dollars, the gift of a Hindoo gentleman of that city, Karsandas Madhavadas, with a request that it may be given for the relief of some family which has suffered in this war. This sum Mr. Dana has divided between an Irish Catholic and an American Protestant family, members of which have fallen in the war.

The Washington National Republican denies that Gen. Hooker is to supersede Gen. Burnside, and says Gen. Hooker is decidedly in favor of having Gen. Burnside remain in the position he now occupies. Gen. Hooker is perfectly satisfied with his present command, and thinks that frequent changes in the command of so large an army will prove injurious to the army and the cause of the Union.

☞ The man who distorts the sad history of this bloody war to the base use of politics, is unfit for other company than that of hyenas and ghouls. There are, however, such men, and we blush to say there are such in the army. There are Democratic Generals who poultice the shame of defeat, by the hope of consequent opposition victories in election; and there are Abolition Generals who, conscious that the prolongation of the war will assuredly destroy slavery, care not how long it continues.

☞ Gov. Andrew, in his annual message, urgently advises that the Legislature initiate measures to establish an asylum for the treatment of inebriates. Drunkenness, he says, is disease as well as a sin. In speaking of the pleuro pneumonia, he says that the expenses of the commission have been about $5700—$700 over the appropriation. The disease is apparently extinguished, and has now no visible foothold in Massachusetts.

☞ Wm. H. Clark, 122 Main street, Cincinnati, O., formerly of the Artisan, has commenced the publication of the "Sorgho Journal," a monthly, devoted specially to the development of the Sorgho interest in this country. One dollar per year: specimen copies sent gratis upon application. It contains much valuable information for all interested in this sweet subject.

CONGRESS.

Friday.—In the Senate, the resolution censuring Gen. Grant's order expelling Jews from our lines, was tabled, 29 against 7. Mr. Collamer introduced a bill to regulate judicial proceedings in certain cases. It authorizes every person to bring suit against the United States for pecuniary indemnification, if they have been wrongfully used, such suits to be transferred to the Circuit Court of the United States. Referred to the Judiciary Committee.

The House passed the executive, legislative and appropriation bill. Several amendments were made, including a proviso that no part of this appropriation shall be paid for the milage of Senators and Representatives, beyond the sum of ten cents per mile each way. The Consular and Diplomatic Appropriation bill was also passed. Mr. Odell presented a petition of principal shipowners for a reduction of the onerous tax upon vessels. It is now ten cents per ton for each entry. They ask the tax to be made annually or at a reduced rate each time of entry.

Gen. Butler in New York.—General Butler arrived at New York on Thursday and met with a most cordial reception.—Among other honored gentlemen who paid their respects to him was the venerable Gen. Scott. In the evening a committee of the Chamber of Commerce waited upon him, and tendered him the compliment of a public dinner. In his reply Gen. Butler alluded to his administration in New Orleans with special reference to slavery.—The following is an abstract of his remarks on that point:—

With reference to the slavery question, his views had undergone a radical change during his residence at New Orleans, and while entertaining no prejudices against his old political associates, who found fault with him on that score, he would only say to them, that if they had gone there with the same sentiments that he felt, they would have come away with the same sentiments that he felt.

Gen. Butler regards the exempted districts in Southern Louisiana as virtually emancipated already. The following is his explanation:—

"In Louisiana he [the President] had exempted from freedom about 87,000 slaves. These comprise all the negroes held in the Lafourche district who have been emancipated already for some time, under the law which frees slaves taken in rebellious territory by our armies. Others of these negroes had been freed by the proclamation of September which declared all slaves to be free whose owners should be in arms on the first of January. The slaves of Frenchmen were free because the code civil expressly prohibits a Frenchman holding slaves, and, by the 7th and 8th Victoria, every Englishman holding slaves submitted himself to a penalty of $500 foreach. Now, take the negroes of Secessionists, Frenchmen and Englishmen, out of the 87,000 and the number is reduced to an infinitesimal portion of those excepted. This fact had come to his knowledge from having required every inhabitant of the city to register his nationality. After all the names had been fairly registered, he explained these laws to the English and French Consuls, and had thus replied to demands which had been made by English and French residents of Louisiana upon the government for slaves alleged to have been seized."

☞ Gov. Letcher, in his annual message to the Virginia legislature, admits that he has placed at hard labor in the penitentiary at Richmond, 118 men captured on the Virginia State line, at Petersburg and Pikeville in Kentucky. Capt. Graham and Lieut. Wade are held as hostages for Capt. Dusky and Lieut. Varmer, who are now confined in the District of Columbia penitentiary. He also holds in solitary confinement Thomas Demoren and Lieut. W. Demoreu, and privates John W. Howe, Isaac Goble, Samuel Peck and Wm. S. Dill as hostages for Searoom. In relation to the division of the State by Congress he says: "Western Virginia must necessarily be free territory. I cannot suppose in any treaty of peace that may be agreed upon Virginia will recognize the division of her territory, or ever consent to a treaty that will strip her of any portion of her domain. "It is better that this war should continue for an indefinite period than that Virginia should be ever partially dismembered."

He accuses the North of vandalism without a parallel in the history of warfare, and reiterates a long list of indignities, outrages and wanton destruction. He estimates the balance in the treasury Oct. 1, at $434,000. The total amount paid for the war is $7,337,000. He advises that all free negroes now residents in portions of the State overrun by the enemy, be removed and put at work on the fortifications, as they have it in their power to pamper with the slaves and give valuable information to the enemy.

☞ To-morrow (Tuesday) is assigned for the election of U. S. Senator by the Maine Legislature. A bill has passed both houses, legalizing the suspension of specie payments until Jan. 15, 1864.

☞ The official statement of votes in Maine, for Governor, gave Coburn, Rep., 46,780; Bradbury, peace Dem., 33,972; Jameson, war Dem., 7,696; scat. 86.

THE NEW YEAR.

THE LAST POEM OF HENRY WARE.

Oppression shall not always reign:
There comes a brighter day,
When Freedom, bursting every chain,
Shall have triumphant way.
Then Right shall aver Might prevail;
And Truth, like hero armed in mail,
The hosts of tyrant wrong assail,
And hold eternal sway.

E'en now that glorious day draws near;
Its coming is not far;
In heaven and earth its signs appear;
We see its morning star.
Its dawn has flushed the eastern sky;
The western hills reflect it high;
The Southern clouds before it fly.—
Hurra! Hurra! Hurra!

What arm shall check its onward way?—Hurra!
What voice arrest the growing day?—Hurra!
What dastard soul, though stout and strong,
Shall dare bring back the ancient wrong,
Or Slavery's night of guilt prolong?—
Hurra! Hurra! Hurra!

Then shout, ye lovers of your race!—Hurra!
The glorious hour comes on apace!—Hurra!
Ring, Liberty, thy glorious bell!
Thy flag unfurl, thy trumpet swell!
From land to land the triumph tell!—
Hurra! Hurra! Hurra!

The day has come, the hour draws nigh!—Hurra!
Send forth the tidings far and high!—Hurra!
From every hill, by every sea,
In shouts proclaim the great decree.—
"All chains are broke! all men are free!"—
Hurra! Hurra! Hurra!

Then shout! The hour comes on space!—Hurra!
The hour of glory for the race!—Hurra!
Ring, Liberty, thy glorious bell!
Hid high thy sacred banner swell,
And trump on trump the triumph tell.—
Hurra! Hurra! Hurra!

Rubber Band Carpet Sweeper.

TRY IT! TRY IT!!

It saves Money; it saves Carpets; it saves Furniture; it saves Labor; it is cheaper than Brooms at five cents apiece.

It gathers up all dust, dirt, and loose lint on the carpets, and raises no dust to settle on the furniture, drapery, or ornaments, or to smother, stifle and irritate the lungs.

It does not wear the carpets half so much as brooms or any other sweeper.

It is the only practicable sweeper made, and the only article fit to sweep a carpet.

With our late improvements it gives universal satisfaction to all who use it according to directions. For sale at No. 12 Market Street by

☞ Although a man may seem willing to "make a slave of himself," that simple fact affords no justification to others to disturb him in the peaceful prosecution of his lawful business. Such a course is obviously as unjust as it would be for President Lincoln to issue a proclamation declaring the slaves of all loyal citizens of the United States forever free. The result to be attained may seem desirable, yet the means employed should be studiously kept from any and every real or apparent infringement of the laws of right, justice and order.

☞ The latest official list of the sick and wounded New Hampshire soldiers in the hospitals in and near Washington, contains the following names of soldiers from this city and vicinity:—

At the Emory Hospital—G. W. Kimball, finger of left hand amputated, doing well. Carver Hospital—John H. Locke, right thumb and middle finger of left hand off, and wound in his chin, (has since returned home.) William Hayes, wound in right arm, not serious. Ninth Street Hospital—George David, loss of finger. Henry Nutter, slight wound in head, doing well. Lincoln Hospital—Peter Brennan, gun shot through thigh; lay three days on the field, rebels robbed him of his clothes; is doing well. Charles A. Cheney, of Greenland, sick with rheumatism, is at Lincoln Hospital.

☞ Mr. John Rodgers, who was for some years employed as a clerk in the mills in Manchester, has risen to eminence as a sculptor. While there he employed his leisure time in modeling small figures and groups, which evinced great natural genius. He has been in New York city for some time, and is regarded as an artist of great ability and promise. He has just completed a statue of Edwin Booth, the tragedian, in the character of Hamlet. The time chosen is when Hamlet exclaims to the ghost, "on, on, I'll follow thee." He is said to have caught the position perfectly, and the figure is described as full of grace and spirit.

☞ The rebel steamer Alabama "came within 12 hours" of being captured last month. After taking the Ariel off Maysi Point, Cuba, she stood toward South America, and on Dec. 11 reached the desert island, Blonquilla, one of the Leeward Islands, where she coaled. On the 13th, at 7, P. M., she sailed from the Island. On the 14th, at 7 A. M., the San Jacinto arrived. The N. Y. Herald says it is currently rumored in naval circles that Com. Wilkes has been removed from the command of the flying squadron for having failed to obey orders relative to intercepting the Alabama. Although talked about in well informed quarters, no definite authority is given for the statement.

☞ The N. H. Herald says private letters have been received from England announcing that there are now at sea 40 vessels that have been fitted out and loaded in British ports, with a view to break the blockade of the Southern ports. These vessels are laden with arms, ammunition, clothing, shoes, medicines, &c. It is also stated that a large amount of Confederate bonds, secured by a pledge of cotton at 7 cents a pound, has been sold in England at the rate of 5 shillings to the pound sterling, and that by these sales £7,500,000 sterling have been realized by the agents of the Confederate government.

☞ The President has sent to the Senate the nomination of William W. Thomas, Jr., of Maine, for Consul at Gottenburg. He is son of Mayor Thomas of Portland. It is pleasant to learn that one with whom we enjoyed a four years' college acquaintance, is thus honored by the President, and we doubt not he would, the nomination being confirmed by the Senate, admirably fulfil the duties of the office, his recent position as Vice Consul at Constantinople having afforded him experience which would be turned to good account. T.

—— Among the long list of nominations sent to the Senate is that of William L. Avery, of this State, as Arbitrator at Cape Town on the part of the United States, under the late treaty for the suppression of the slave trade.

—— Rev. Elihu H. Legro, who served as a private in the 6th regiment, and afterward was commissioned as lieutenant in the 15th, and at a still later date was appointed chaplain of the 12th, was buried with masonic honors at Rochester on the 7th inst.

☞ Portland is the great molasses port in New England. The importations last year were larger than ever before, reaching 5,824,042 gallons, which was 822,514 gallons over 1861.

☞ Ship F. M. Bailey, of Portland, sailed from San Francisco on Thursday for Puget Sound. When outside of the harbor she drifted on a shoal and went to pieces. The Captain and 5 of the crew were drowned.

☞ The Capitol at Baton Rouge, La., was recently destroyed by fire, with many thousand rare and valuable books, papers, &c. Loss $70,000.

☞ The Arkansas Legislature has imposed a fine of not less then $5000 nor more than $10,000 and imprisonment in the Penitentiary from 5 to 10 years upon any person caught trading with the Yankees.

BUY CALIFORNIA WINES.

They are the Purest!
The Best!
The Cheapest!

The "sunny slopes" of "Los Angelos" have announced to the world that America is a wine growing country, and as the discovery of gold sent a thrill through the old world, so will the discovery of these Wines startle them again, as it says, "one more link broken which has bound us to Europe," "one more step to independence." Let every man, woman and child who uses Wine, see to it that they buy none other than these.

"The Hock" is a most delicious Wine, and rivals in delicacy its German predecessor.

The "Angelica" and "Muscatel" are melting, luscious and rich, and will take the place of Malaga, Tokay, or other rich Wine

The Port has a fine flavor and body; and The Port is excellent because it is pure.

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking, giving an oven nearly 2 feet long; or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time! A check draft is applied to this stove by means of which the consumption of fuel is greatly lessened, and a steady fire can be kept day and night if desired.

THE MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be THE STOVE for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed

We believe that MODEL COOK to be the very best Stove in the Market, and invite every one to examine it whether they wish to purchase or not. It has had a very extensive sale since its introduction. Reference might be made to more than a hundred families in this city or vicinity who are using the Stove, and give it the highest commendation.

We refer to the following individuals who have purchased the Model Cook:—

David Kimball, Thos. F. Burt, John T. French, Rev. Mr. Davies, Wm. Pettigrew, Capt. John Davis, Jeremiah Raitt, Mrs. Ann T. Perkins, James W. Jarvis, Francis C. Jarvis, Thos. L. Pullock, Jacob Wendell, Capt. Joseph Thompson, Gen. J. G. Hadley, G. Melvin Huntress, Jos. D Akerman, James F. Shores, Wm. C. Newton, Horton D. Walker, Benj. Chesover, Jan Trundy, Richard L. Randall, Geo. Rice, Benj. F. Canney, Benj M. Parker, Charles A. Wiggin, George W. Plumer, Rufus Dennett, Henry F. Gerrish, John Harratt, Thos Murphy, Capt. Wm. Lambert, Joseph Stiles, John Senter, Wm. Bell, Cyrus Plumer, Freeman Hurd, James M. Locke, Daniel L. Randall, Isaiah Wilson, John E. Roberts—of Portsmouth; Samuel C. Dixon, Daniel I. Tryor, Cashman Tryor, of Trefethen's Island; Geo. N. Dixon, Samuel F. Paul, Elias Remick, Timothy Dame, Elipt; Wm. S. Locke, Benj. Fernald, Mrs Wm Locke, Kittery; R. F. Gerrish, Kittery Point; Hon. Clement March, Alfred Haisdell, Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W. Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Mrs. Reuben P. Jennese, David Jennese, Moses Philbrick, Rye.

VICTOR COAL STOVE.

We offer this beautiful coal burner to the public, with full confidence in its merits.

It was brought into market two years since, and has come rapidly into use.

The Victor is one of the handsomest parlor stoves in the market, and is perfect in its operation. The arrangement for dumping the ashes is very fine—no dust need escape into the room—a continuous fire may be kept burning throughout the winter—the coal all burned, and no clinkers made.

The quantity of fuel used is very small indeed. There is in this stove an excellent arrangement for ventilating the room in which it is placed; a feature not possessed by any other parlor stove.

Some of the sizes are provided with an oven and boiling place, making them very desirable for a dining room.

We sold a large number of Victor Stoves in our city last season, and they received the highest commendation from those who are using them.

We have also the celebrated McGregor Stove, so well known in the market as to need no commendation.

A great variety of cheaper Stoves for coal and wood—Coal-hods—Patent Coal-sifters.

COAL LININGS,

and Repairing pieces for most of the stoves in use. Job Work attended to with dispatch.

☞ ATTENTION, THE WHOLE!

RYE, N. H., Feb. 26, 1846. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended to the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of Dr. SWEET'S PANACEA, and several bottles of his HUMOR WASH, which have effected a cure. There can be no mistake, as there was effected more than three years ago. No other medicines can equal Dr. Sweet's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold it to a number of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it since I have acted as agent for the sale of it. JOSIAH JENNESS.

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWEET'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

From ELDER I. CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

DR. SWEET: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous tumor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Sweet's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWEET, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26o

Morning Chronicle.

WHO ARE OUR SOLDIERS?—Theodore Parkman, color-sergeant of the Fourth Regiment Massachusetts Volunteers, who was killed at Whitehall, North Carolina, on the 14th of December, was twenty-five years old, only son of Rev. John and Susan Parkman, formerly of Staten Island, a graduate of Columbia College of the class of 1857, a pupil of Professor Wilcott Gibbs, of the Free Academy, and a Doctor of Natural Philosophy in the University of Gottingen, Germany.

☞ Among the papers to be commenced in the Maine Legislature by Gov. Coburn is one by Hon. John A. Poor on Maine defences. It is full of statistical and other information. It argues that Portland should be the naval depot of the Northern States. He argues in favor of the proposed Aroostook Railroad as of military and defensive importance, especially since the late discoveries of the best armor iron in the world for ships, which have been made in that region.

BIG THING ON ICE.—The Machias Republican says the "Drew Colt" and the "Pike Mare" contended for a purse of $10 on the ice, where a great and excited crowd were present to witness the sport. After some difficulty a start was made, and the horses reached the mile post in just eleven minutes. It was an even race, and the crowd were sold.

☞ M. de Groof, of Bruges, asserts that after eleven years study, he has invented the means of flying in the air in any direction, and only needs money to demonstrate it beyond question. The machine is small, he says, and will enable man to move in the air "with the swiftness of the swallow and the vigor of the eagle." We think we see him do it.

☞ A complete record of the name, number of regiment and place of burial of each soldier who dies in the hospitals in and around Washington is kept by Mr. Thos. R. Baker, Record and Burial Clerk in the Quartermaster's office, corner of Eighteenth and G streets, from whom any information concerning such soldiers may be obtained.

☞ The Franklin Statue, Boston, has been removed to allow the new City Hall project to go on. Where it will be put is not decided.

☞ Roses and fresh vegetables abounded in New Orleans when the last steamer left, and the weather was so hot that the Northern soldiers longed for a breath of New England winter.

☞ It is estimated that 2000 pounds of pickerel have been taken out of the lake at Winsted, Conn., during the past week of warm weather.

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, No. 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrotula, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Spermatorrhœa, Seminal Weakness, Loss of Procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, Orchitis, Swellings and the long train of evils, consequent upon attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a premature or solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, making the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Dizziness at the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, symptoms of Consumption, &c. The mental effects on the mind are much to be dreaded, loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, excitability, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating marriage, consult the physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Persons who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.

Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your case. Dr. Dow has also for sale the French Capsules, warranted the genuine article. Order by mail. Three for $1 and a red stamp.

Teeth on Vulcanized Rubber.

SOME OF ITS ADVANTAGES.

1st. It is stronger and lighter than any known material.

2d. From two to six times the amount of suction or adhesion can be obtained by it.

3d. When the arch is irregular we can by building out the depressions—which can be done to any extent—give the mouth a more natural appearance.

4th. No bad taste arises in the mouth by its use, as the secretions of the stomach and mouth do not affect it in the least.

5th. Teeth mounted upon this base can be kept clean and sweet as easy as a saucer, as when fitished the work is made in the smoothest location.

6th. While in all ways it is better, save in a few peculiar cases, it is much cheaper than Gold.

DR. A. P. STEVENS, Surgeon Dentist,

No. 5 Daniel St., Portsmouth.

Has had four years of practical experience in making this material, and will guarantee satisfaction in all cases entrusted to his care.

Portsmouth, Jan 1, 1862.

DENTISTRY.

NO. 60 CONGRESS STREET,
Portsmouth, Jan. 1st, 1862.

DR. GOODALL

Would respectfully inform his patrons and the public, that by had of late many calls to insert teeth upon VULCANIZED RUBBER, that he has purchased the best VULCANIZER in the market, and is now prepared to do all work upon RUBBER, or the other bases of GOLD and SILVER as formerly, if preferred.

The Rubber has several important advantages, viz.: It is very light and elastic, and consequently is perfectly easy to the muscles of the mouth and cheeks. There are no insertions or open joints to collect food, &c.; consequently they can be worn night and day, and are very easily kept neat and clean.

Beside all this, the most accurate fit is obtained, as the Rubber is Vulcanized directly upon the plaster model, and the section is of coarse much stronger than a plate of Gold or Silver.

Any one who is waiting for their permanent teeth will I am confident, be perfectly satisfied with the Rubber, as a base. The expense is but a little more than for Silver, and you get the same teeth (in blocks) that you would pay $60.00 for an upper or lower set on Gold.

In New York and Boston, and throughout the West, Vulcanized Rubber is used almost to the exclusion of the other bases, and by the best Dentists too. I will warrant a perfect fit and teeth from the best manufacturer in the country.

S. S. White.

ALL OTHER OPERATIONS IN DENTISTRY I will do at the usual rates. I will here mention that my price for EXTRACTION is 25 cents.

THE MAGEE
COOKING STOVE.

The subscribers, having received their Fall stock of Stoves, would especially call the attention of the public to the

MAGEE COOK STOVE,

as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the best brick-lined brick oven for perfection in baking.

There is a new style and very superior broiler and ad-iron heater combined, by which the odor of broiling meats are prevented from escaping into the room occupied by CHARLES H. MENDUM, Esq. The large copper Reservoir for hot water; also a large warming-closet attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.

The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, as no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shoveling out of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as those of our families in the city and vicinity, who are now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.

"MAGEE'S PATENT"
VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING
FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and aggreatable, free of the smoke of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headaches so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from the least amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over those in use, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the smoke pipe without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass over the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the best in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on top of the Furnace can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the better part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world, and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq., Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill, Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell, John Sise, and others.

SAMBUCUS TREE, OF PORTUGAL,

The Great Remedy for Kidney Affections, Dismemberment, Chronic Complaints

Excellent Wine for Females.

Every Family should use the SAMBUCI WINE celebrated in Europe for its medicinal and beneficial qualities as a gentle Stimulant, Tonic, Diuretic and Sudorific, highly esteemed by eminent physicians, used in European and American Hospitals, and by some of the first families in Europe and America.

AS A DIURETIC, it imparts a healthy action to the Glands and Kidneys, and Urinary Organs, very beneficial in Dropsy, Gout and Rheumatic Affections.

SPEER'S SAMBUCI WINE is not a mixture or manufactured article, but is pure from the juice of the Portugal Sambucus, cultivated in New Jersey, recommended by Chemists and Physicians as possessing medical properties superior to any other Wines in use, and an excellent article for aged and debilitated persons, and the aged and infirm, improving the appetite, and benefitting ladies and children.

A LADIES' WINE, because it will not intoxicate as other wines, as it contains no mixture of spirits or other drinks, and is admired for its fine peculiar flavor and nutritive properties, imparting a healthy tone to the digestive organs, and a blooming, soft and healthy skin and complexion.

WE REFER TO

a few well known gentlemen and physicians, who have tried the Wine:

Gen. W. Scott, U. S. A. Dr. Ward, Newark,
Gov. Morgan, N. Y. State Dr. Wilson, 11th St., N. Y.
Dr. Parker, N. Y. City Dr. Dougherty, Newark
Dr. J. J. Chilton, " Dr. Parish, Phila.
Drs Darcy and Nicholl, Newark, N. J.

☞ None genuine unless the signature of "ALFRED SPEER, Passaic, N. J." is over the cork of each bottle.

VOL. 21. PORTSMOUTH, N. H. TUESDAY, JAN 13, 1863. NO. 137.

The Chronicle.

A star for every State: a State for every star.

NO PARTY—ONE COUNTRY.

"Bound to no party—to no sect confined;
The world our home; our brethren, all mankind.
Love truth, do good, be just and fair with all;
Exalt the right, though every item fall."

"Let me warn you in the most solemn manner against the baneful effects of the spirit of Party, generally. It is a spirit not to be encouraged.—Its common and continual mischief is sufficient to make it the interest and duty of a wise people to discourage and restrain it. In governments of the popular form, it is seen in its greatest rankness, and is truly their worst enemy."—Washington's Farewell Address.

QUERIES.—The Boston Transcript pertinently asks, whether, when New England is "left out," measures will be taken to prevent New England emigration Westward and Southward; since otherwise New England school teachers, mechanics, merchants, authors, capitalists, and the like, may still be carrying troublesome New England ideas and principles to the shores of the Pacific and down to the Gulf of Mexico for the advancement of the civilization of freemen?

Whether, from present appearances, there is great reason to fear the outbreak of any servile insurrection, equal in unjustifiable atrocities, bloody devastation, and disregard of others rights, to the insurrection in which the slave power conspirators have been engaged for more than a year and a half?

Whether the extensive and exclusive attention given in some quarters to the few supposed arbitrary and illegal acts of the Federal Government whilst striving to save the republic, accompanied as said attention is, comparatively speaking, with entire silence as to the criminality of the rebellion, seeking to break up the Union, and treasonably and with force of arms defy the Constitution and laws, is not a most remarkable instance of Pharisaic straining at a gnat and swallowing a camel?

☞ The N. Y. Tribune has the text of the memorial presented by the Republican Senators to the President on the 18th ult. Its four propositions declare:

First, that a vigorous prosecution of the war is necessary.

Second, that the Cabinet, which might be harmonious, is not, and therefore should be made so.

Third, that the Cabinet should be composed of men who cordially support the policy of the government.

Fourth, that Generals in separate commands should also be heartily for the war.

☞ A match has been made between the trotting horses George M. Patchen and Gen. Butler, to trot six races for $30,000, play or pay as follows: Mile heats 3 in 5, in harness, May 27th; two-mile heats in harness, June 3d; mile heats 3 in 5 to wagons, June 10th; two-mile heats to wagon, June 17th; mile heats, 3 in 5 under saddle, June 24th; two-mile heats under saddle, July 1st. Each race is for $5000. Butler is one of the most promising horses in America, and will probably be handled by Dan Mace. Patchen was drawn from the track in 1860, after having lapped Flora Temple out in 2:21 in harness. He will be driven by Tallman, his old trainer.

Robert Fillingham and Rockingham are matched to go three races, mile heats, 3 in 5. One of them in harness, one in double harness, each with a running mate, and one, the stallion, in harness, and the gray horse under saddle.

☞ The wonderful three-mile trotter, John Morgan, that came to Long Island from Kentucky, and made quite a flourish two years ago, has laid by a year and is now coming out as good as new. He stands ready to match anything for long distances.

☞ The Newburyport Herald says:—The inventor of the rebel torpedoes for blowing up vessels is a Massachusetts Yankee by the name of Ivins. He also built their ram Arkansas, the only craft that has troubled us on the Western waters. Sometimes they talk of forming a confederacy and leaving out New England, but even in their levity they have to look to Yankee genius. To leave New England out would be like a man's knocking off the top of his head to improve his intellect.

☞ Springfield, Mass., has increased its population 5000 since 1860, and is one of the most prosperous places in the Commonwealth.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 13, 1863.

THE REBELLION.

Gen. Magruder, with 5000 rebels, attacked Galveston on the morning of Jan. 1. Our small force of 800 men were all killed or taken prisoners. Five rebel steamers, protected by double rows of bales of cotton, loaded with troops armed with muskets rifles, &c., attacked our gunboats. The Harriet Lane was captured by boarding, after about all her officers (including Capt. Wainwright and Lieut. Lee) and crew, 150 all told, had been killed by musketry from the rebel steamers. The gunboats Clifton and Owasco were engaged and escaped, the former losing no men, and but one wounded, the latter one killed and thirteen wounded. Two barges loaded with coal fell into the hands of the enemy. The Westfield, (flagship) Commodore Renshaw, was not engaged, being ashore in another channel. Her crew were transferred to transports, and the Commodore, fearing she might fall into the hands of the rebels, blew her up. By some mismangement or accident, the explosion occurred before the boat containing Com. Renshaw, Lieut. Zimmerman and boat's crew got away, and they were blown up with the ship. The crew of the Westfield arrived at New Orleans in transports and the remaining troops are on their way, back. Our loss was estimated at about 150 killed and 200 taken prisoners, the navy suffering the most. It is thought the rebel loss is much more, as our guns were firing grape and canister continuallyin their midst. The rebels had several batteries on shore. The Federal troops were on one of the long wharves, and it is said, repulsed two charges of the rebels before they surrendered.

Gen. Sherman's repulse at Vicksburg was complete, though the engagement was less general than heretofore reported. The principal fighting was done by the centre. Our loss as near as could be ascertained was 600 killed, 1500 wounded, and 1000 missing. The entire force, under the direction of Gen. McClerland, who supersedes Gen. Sherman, re-embarked on Saturday night on transports for Napoleon, Ark., closely pressed by the rebel advance, which, coming in range of our gunboats, were driven back with severe loss.

Rebel accounts report our forces at Kinston, N. C., to be making immense preparations for an advance. They state that reinforcements are daily arriving from Suffolk, and that our troops now number 50,000 strong, (one account says 80,000) under command of Gen. Foster. The rebels expect a simultaneous attack on Charleston, Weldon and Goldsboro'. A most formidable fleet is reported to be at Beaufort.

New Orleans advices Dec. 30th state that Admiral Farragut was about to attack Port Hudson, and waiting for Gen. Banks to make a land attack in conjunction with him. A rumor was current in New Orleans that Jeff. Davis was preparing an expedition to re take the Crescent City.

A New York despatch states that letters from an officer of the U. S. steamer Bibb, off Charleston, say that Fort Sumter is plated with railroad iron.

On Saturday night, Col. Crobb, commanding at Springfield, Mo., reported that the rebels had been repulsed in every advance on the place, and the town had not been surrendered. Our loss is 17 killed—number of wounded not known. We buried 35 rebels, and many more were taken off the field. They left a large number of wounded on our hands. But a small portion of the town was destroyed, and that was done by our troops. Gen. Curtis has three columns of troops after the enemy, who are retreating.

The N. Y. Herald's correspondent says preparations and orders indicate that the Army of the Potomac will again be in motion in a few days, in the direction of Richmond.

The New Orleans Delta of the 3d says, in reference to papers received from rebel sources, the bombardment of Port Hudson by the gunboats is confirmed, and it was supposed a land attack would soon be made. The Vicksburg Citizen of Dec. 28th says that Gen. Banks, having landed a portion of his troops at Baton Rouge, had established his headquarters there. The gunboats and transports carrying an immense army, it says, were then in the immediate vicinity of Vicksburg.

☞ Gold sold in Boston and New York at 41 per cent. premium, on Monday. The closing price in Boston was 40 7-8. U. S. Sixes were sold at 97, a decline of 1 per cent. since Saturday.

☞ The number of regiments in the army is twelve hundred, and it is now contemplated to reduce the number to six or eight hundred by consolidation. This, it is stated, will save forty or fifty millions a year.

☞ The nondescript "What is It?" at the Brooklyn Yard appears to be a failure, as several attempts to either fire her or raise her have proved abortive.

THE PAY OF THE TROOPS.—The Washington correspondent of the New York Post says there is great dissatisfaction in the Army of the Potomac—something amounting almost to demoralization—and the chief cause of it is the fact that the men have not had their pay for months. It is surprising that the government can have permitted the evil to go uncorrected so long when such vast interests are at stake. An intelligent gentleman, just returned from the army at Fredericksburg, states that the effectiveness of that splendid body of troops will be destroyed if the present condition of things continue for any length of time.—There is an alarming amount of complaint and positive disaffection. The men say that the Government cares nothing for their wants, and pro-slavery officers have not lost the opportunity to make capital against "the civilians at Washington."

THE INSTITUTES OF MEDICINE.—By Martyn Payne, A. M., M. D., L. L. D.—This is a closely printed octavo volume of 1150 pages, published by Harper & Brothers, New York, and for sale by J. F. Shores, jr., in Portsmouth. The volume has for its frontispiece the likeness of the author, who has wisely chosen these mottoes:

"All are but parts of one stupendous whole,
Whose body Nature is, and God the soul."

"Theory is only common sense applied to calculation."

He dedicates the work to the Medical Profession of the United States, many of whom are already familiar with the Institutes, as this is the sixth edition of so large a book since 1847.

The Doctor is a firm believer in God's creative power, in our derivation of soul and spirit from Him, and the soul's immortality and return to Him, its giver. And one of his ablest essays is entitled, "Physiology of the Soul and Instinct: Demonstrations of the Soul."

The book is one to be studied and pondered by medical men—not merely read. The author is evidently a philosopher—and to some extent the student must be also a philosopher, if he would profit by the Institutes.

THE WOMEN OF CHARLESTON.—We learn from one of the South Carolina rebel papers, that many of the women of Charleston positively refuse to leave the city under any circumstances, declaring that they can carry powder, water, &c., to the troops, and are determined to remain during a bombardment. One venerable lady of sixty said she would prefer that Beauregard should send her a musket, instead of an order to leave, as she could use it, and would then not be a non-combatant.

We cut the above from the Portland Advertiser of Friday, where it does not seem to be original. And we cut the following from the Boston Post of the same day, where it stood among "All sorts of paragraphs:"

"It is said there are not twenty ladies at present living in Charleston, S. C. The city is almost deserted, the streets empty, and one-half of them in blackened ruins since the great fire. The spectacle is described as a sad and terrible one—lifeless and funereal."

LYNN.—The Reporter states that 203 certificates of intended marriage were issued from the City Clerk's office in 1862. Only 158 certificates of marriage have been returned the past year, showing that some who intended to marry altered their minds about it.—Ex.

Perhaps they did alter their minds; but perhaps, also, some clergymen or others who performed the marriage ceremony, forgot or neglected to make returns.

☞ New Orleans advices state that Jacob Barker's paper, the National Advocate, published an extra on the 2d inst., containing rebel reports of victories at Memphis and Vicksburg, and Jeff. Davis' speech at Jackson. This caused a ferment, and the rebels were hilarious and saucy. On the morning of the 3d Gen. Banks sent a corporal's guard to Barker's office, and the Advocate was for the 3d time suppressed.—This step gave great satisfaction to Union men.

☞ The New York papers say that Mr. Stratton (Gen. Tom Thumb) and Miss Lavinia Warren, the dwarf lady, are to be married in Trinity Church next Wednesday. If not a great match, the General is a good one in a worldly sense, as he is said to be worth $200,000.

☞ The Harriet Lane, captured by the rebels at Galveston, is swift and strongly armed, and it is feared that she may do damage among our cruisers in the Gulf.

☞ The N. Y. Times states that the number of deserters has increased so much that the Sec. of War has decided to adopt more stringent measures, and to place the matter in the hands of Gen. Wool.

☞ The Court Martial in the case of Fitz John Porter agreed upon a verdict on Saturday, subject, of course, to the approval of the President. It is the general opinion that he is acquitted, but many military men think otherwise.

☞ Arrangements have recently been made, by which about 20,000 Union officers and soldiers, previously paroled, are restored to active service.

☞ The New Ironsides went to sea from Old Point on Sunday.

REBEL BARBARITIES.—Surgeon H. R. Wirtz, U. S. A., communicates to Headquarters at Washington, an account of barbarous conduct at Holly Springs, Miss., which has not been exceeded in enormity even by the rebels' previous fiendish acts. He states that he remained behind, at Holly Springs, after the advance of our army, for the purpose of establishing a large general hospital. He took for the purpose a building that had been built by the rebels for their army, and after three weeks of incessant labor he had everything prepared for 2000 patients.

The Acting Federal Purveyor of the Southern portion of the Department had been ordered to bring all his supplies to this hospital; and on the morning of the 20th of December one of the most completely finished and extensive hospitals in the army was ready to receive its sick. On that morning the town of Holly Springs was taken by the Confederates under Gen. Van Dorn. As soon as Dr. Wirtz learned the fact, he went to the rebel General's headquarters, and requested that the hospital should not be burnt, entering his solemn protest against it, as the rebels had already set fire to the railroad depot and a commissary storehouse, and had declared their intention to destroy all the houses occupied by our troops. He was promised by Van Dorn's Adjutant that the hospital should not be burnt, but that it should be protected by a guard. An hour afterwards the building was in flames, and, with two thousand bunks, an immense lot of drugs and surgical apparatus, thousands of blankets, sheets and bed sacks, was soon in ashes.

An attempt was also made by the rebels to destroy the general hospital, which at the time contained over 500 sick. A quantity of ordnance stores, deposited near by, by order of Gen. Van Dorn, as stated by the officer who had charge of the matter, were taken out and piled up nearly in front of the hospital, and set fire to. Two medical officers protested against this wanton act, but their protests were treated with contempt, and before there was time to remove the sick, the walls and windows of the hospital were riddled with flying balls and shells, and finally a terrific explosion took place, which shook the entire building, destroying almost every window and door in the establishment, wounding about twenty men, and creating a scene of the wildest confusion. A large number of buildings on the public square took fire from the explosion, and it was only by the utmost exertion that the hospital was preserved as a shelter for the men in the night air.

To injury insult was to be added. A rebel cavalry officer, named Brewster, who stated that he had been detailed by Gen. Van Dorn to march off every sick man that had not been paroled, collected together, pistol in hand, about 150 sick soldiers, forced them to rise from their beds and fall in line, threatening to shoot the medical officer who expostulated with him, and actually made the poor fellows, who were suffering from typhoid fever, pneumonia and diarrhea, start with him on the road. The men fell down in the street, and had to rise again for fear of being shot, when they were so weak that the slightest motion was agony. On being importuned if there was anything in the name of humanity that could be done to induce him to stop his brutal proceedings, he finally consented to let them alone on receiving a paper signed by all the surgeons, representing that the men were too sick to walk, and that their removal was an impossibility.

DICK YEADON.—Richard Yeadon has offered a reward of ten thousand dollars for the head of Gen. Benj. F. Butler. This Yeadon is editor of the Charleston Courier, and is known among the fraternity by the sobriquet of "Sancho Panza." Yeadon was in Boston some years ago, and was well known as a common bar-room loafer—always ready to drink, and constantly out of funds. He was a great borrower, with the shortest of all memories when pay time came. The New York Herald says he has been for a number of years one of the Charleston delegation in the South Carolina Legislature, and, with the exception of George Sanders, is probably the most fussy, frothy and foolish secessionist in the whole South. From his appearance the Boston Journal judges that he never had money enough to buy himself a respectable looking coat; and yet he talks of giving an enormous sum for a sight at the head of Gen. Butler.

☞ The Boston Journal says that John Q. Adams, of Gov. Andrew's staff, now in Washington, received a letter from his father, Hon. Charles Francis Adams, Minister to England, last week, from which it appears that the relations of the Embassy with the Court of St. James are more cordial and pleasant now than at any time previously since Mr. Adams went to London

☞ The Hartford Times of the 8th inst. says that on that day white rags sold for 7 cents; last week they sold for 13. Mixed and colored sold for 3 1-2, and paper 4 1-2. Old pieces of carpet which brought 2 1-2 a week ago, sold for 2.

☞ It is reported that a strong attachment has for some time existed between Gen. Tom Thumb and Miss Lavina Warren, the beautiful lady dwarf—that the General has written a formal proposal to Miss Warren's mother, who is willing, and there is every prospect of a marriage.

☞ Dennis O'Connor was taken to the station house, South Boston, on Wednesday evening, drunk, and apparently chilled by lying out in the cold, of which excess and exposure he died on Thursday morning, in spite of medical aid.

☞ The mackerel fishery for 1862 foots up better than the year before, or the average of years. The fishermen generally had good fares and sold them at good prices.

Rubber Band Carpet Sweeper.

TRY IT! TRY IT!!

It saves Money; it saves Carpets; it saves Furniture; it saves Labor; it is cheaper than Brooms at five cents apiece.

It gathers up all dust, dirt, and loose lint on the carpets, and raises no dust to settle on the furniture, drapery, or ornaments, or to smother, stifle and irritate the lungs.

It does not wear the carpets half so much as brooms or any other sweeper.

It is the only practicable sweeper made, and the only article fit to sweep a carpet.

With our late improvements it gives universal satisfaction to all who use it according to directions. For sale at No. 12 Market Street by Drake's Plantation Bitters.

They purify, strengthen and invigorate;
They create a healthy appetite;
They are an antidote to change of water and diet;
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours;
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind;
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers;
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach;
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation;
They cure Diarrhœa, Cholera and Cholera Morbus;
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous headache;
They are the best Bitters in the world;
They make a weak man strong, and are exhausted nature's great restorer;
They are made of pure St. Croix Rum, the celebrated Calisaya Bark, roots and herbs, and are taken with the pleasure of a beverage, without regard to age or time of day. Particularly recommended to delicate persons requiring a gentle stimulant. Sold by all Grocers, Druggists, Hotels and Saloons. P. H. DRAKE & CO., 202 Broadway, New York.

For sale in Portsmouth by THACHER and PRESTON.

Local.

☞ The Concord newspapers—the Patriot, Statesman and Independent Democrat—have all "hauled in their horns" considerably, being reduced in dimensions so that they are now but little larger than this sheet. So that the N. H. Gazette, besides feeling its importance as by far the oldest paper in the country, has now no need to blush for its size, being as large as its cotemporaries average—and by many of its friends pronounced "the best."

The Portsmouth Journal, the Nashua Telegraph and the Dover Inquirer, we believe, are now the only large secular papers in New Hampshire which have not been cut down in size or put up in price; and they will have to succumb to the pressure yet, if we mistake not—for the price of printing paper we think will not come down in so great a hurry as it went up. We are content to let things work; till our winter's stock shall be used up—without further change of our size or price.

☞ The bark Mary Annah, of Portsmouth, N. H., arrived at Fleetwood Dec. 26th from Portland, and brought the crew of bark Eleanor, Cremor, of St. John, N. B., which vessel was fallen in with in a sinking condition Dec. 6, and all hands (13 in number) taken on board the Mary Annah, where they were treated with the greatest kindness by Capt. Mathews.

☞ A 2 Bark Elizabeth, 273 tons, built in this city in 1847, has been sold at New York for $8000 in cash.

☞ The Grand Jury of Berkshire county, Mass., have indicted James Callender for the murder of Mrs. Jones, of Otis. This is the case where a woman with two young children went into the woods to pick berries, when she was attacked, abused, and then murdered, together with her children. The Springfield Republican says that his own confession of guilt is made credible by corroboratory facts. And it ought to be added that this is the same crime which was charged upon a company of negroes, who were subsequently proved to have been elsewhere, and consequently innocent.

A BAD PLAY.—The boys in the eastern section of the city of Washington have introduced a play called "strike," which consists in laying the fingers on a block of wood and calling cut "strike," when another boy on the opposite side of the block cuts with a hatchet as No. 1 draws his hand away. On Sunday a number of boys were thus engaged near the Navy Yard, when one little fellow named Howell had two of his fingers cut off by his brother, who on this occasion was acting as the striker.

☞ The Chicago Tribune reports the discovery, in that city, of a systematic plan of forging Government vouchers. Two young men, named Geo. Sutphen and J. R. Ward, were arrested and held to bail in $2500. The manner of operation was similar to that discovered lately in New York. The operators would draw bills for the subsistence and lodging of recruits, and then sell them or have them cashed.

☞ The trial of George Wilkes, editor of Wilkes' Spirit of the Times, for libel upon John Lawrence, in calling him an "English thief and pickpocket," and the keeper "of a low, cheating and gambling house," was concluded in the Court of Sessions last week, the jury returning a verdict of "Not Guilty," and Mr. Lawrence is consequently compelled to rest under the stigma of the editor's denunciations.

☞ It is said to be, says the Louisville Journal, a common remark among members of Congress that the "great expenses of the war are not attended with adequate results." Very true; but let us see whether the great expenses of Congress will be attended with adequate results.

☞ Two young ladies while skating in Marblehead, Mass., on Tuesday evening last, came in collision, throwing both violently upon the ice. One was taken up insensible and doubts are entertained of her recovery. The other escaped with some bruises.

☞ A receipt taken by Gov. John Hancock of Massachusetts in 1783, shows that he paid $60 for two packs of playing cards to be used at a ball given by him at Concert Hall, corner of Court street, which at that time was his property.

☞ On the 29th ult., Joseph Franklin, of Vernon, Vt., celebrated his eighty-second birth day by going into the woods and chopping, splitting and piling one and a half cords of four foot hard wood, in little less than six hours.

☞ The Navy Department has received no information warranting the belief that a number of vessels (as recently published) are being fitted out in English ports with the design of violating the United States blockade.

☞ The whale at Barnum's Aquarial Gardens, Boston, whose feats in harness have amused so many youngsters during nearly a year past, died on Sunday morning.

Gen. Watson Webb took his mahogany stock pistols to Rio with him and taught the British minister there a wholesome lesson. The cockney spoke disparagingly of America, Webb rebuked him and shew fight, the cockney displayed the white feather and Webb is master of the situation and admired of all the diplomatic society of Rio for his spirit.—Boston Post.

☞ An old lady 70 years of age beat off a midnight burglar who entered her house in Middlebury, Vt., one night last week, her only weapons being her valor and a large iron candlestick.

☞ A number of the leading fashionable ladies of New York city have decided to revive the obsolete custom of powdering the head, and have appeared at several parties and social gatherings with their hair dressed up in the old style, and then thickly bestrewed with powder.

BUY CALIFORNIA WINES.

They are the Purest!

The Best!

The Cheapest!

The "sunny slopes" of "Los Angeles" have announced to the world that America is a wine growing country, and as the discovery of gold sent a thrill through the old world, so will the discovery of these Wines startle them again, as it says, "one more link broken which has bound us to Europe." "one more step to independence." Let every man, woman and child who uses Wine, see to it that they buy none other than these.

"The Hock" is a most delicious Wine, and rivals in delicacy its German predecessor.

The "Angelica" and "Muscatel" are melting, luscious and rich, and will take the place of Malaga, Tokay, or other rich Wine.

The Port has a fine flavor and body; and

The Port is excellent because it is pure.

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that wholly distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire, so arranged that it can be used separately (work roaster or (by the removal of a single plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking; giving an oven nearly 3 feet long; or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time! A check draft is applied to this stove by means of which the consumption of fuel is greatly lessened, and a steady fire can be kept day and night if desired.

THE MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be TRUE STOVE for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We believe the MODEL COOK to be the very best Stove in the Market, and invite every one to examine it whether they wish to purchase or not. It has had a very extensive sale since its introduction. References might be made to more than a hundred families in this city or vicinity who are using the Stove, and give it the highest commendation.

We refer to the following individuals who have purchased the Model Cook:—

David Kimball, Thos. F. Burt, John T. French, Rev. Mr. Dutton, Wm. Pettigrew, Capt. John Davis, Jeremiah Raitt, Mrs. Ann T. Perkins, James W. Jarvis, Francis C. Jarvis, Thos. L. Talbot, Jacob Wendell, Capt. Jacob Thompson, Gen. J. G. Hadley, G. Melvin Huntress, Jos. D Ackerman, James E. Shores, Wm. C. Newton, Horton D. Walker, Benj. Chevyer, John Trundy, Richard L. Randall, Geo. Rice, Benj. F. Chaney, Benj M. Parker, Charles A. Wiggin, George W. Plumer, Nath'l Dennett, Henry F. Gerrish, John Marrett, Thos Murphy, Capt. Wm. Lambert, Joseph Stiles, John Senter, Wm. Bell, Cyrus Plumer, Freeman Hurd, James M. Locke, Daniel L. Kendall, Noah Wilson, John E. Roberts—of Portsmouth; Samuel C. Dixon, Daniel J. Tryer, Cushman Pryor, of Treffethen's Island; Geo. S. Dixon, Samuel F. Paul, Elisha Rollins, Timothy Dame, Eliot; Wm. S. Locke, Benj. Fernald, Rev. Wm. Locke, Kittery; R. F. Gerrish, Kittery Point; Hon. Clement March, Albert Blaisdell, Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W. Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Mrs. Reuben P. Jenness, David Jenness, Moses Philbrick, Rye.

VICTOR COAL STOVE.

We offer this beautiful coal burner to the public, with full confidence in its merits.

It was brought into market two years since, and has come rapidly into use.

The Victor is one of the handsomest parlor stoves in the market, and is perfect in its operation. The arrangement for dumping the ashes is very fine—no dust need escape into the room—a continuous fire may be kept throughout the winter—the coal all burned, and no clinkers made.

The quantity of fuel used is very small indeed. There is in this stove an excellent arrangement for ventilating the room in which it is placed; a feature not possessed by any other parlor stove.

Some of the sizes are provided with an oven and boiling place, making them very desirable for a dining room.

We sold a large number of Victor Stoves in our city last season, and they receive the highest commendation from those who are using them.

We have also the celebrated McGregor Stove, so well known in the market as to need no commendation.

A great variety of cheaper Stoves for coal and wood—Coal-hods—Patent Coal-sifters.

COAL LININGS,

and Repairing pieces for most of the stoves in use. Job Work attended to with dispatch.

☞ ATTENTION, THE WHOLE! ☜

RYE, N.H., Feb. 26, 1846. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended to the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c. &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of DR. SWEET'S PANACEA, and several bottles of his Humor Wash, which have effected a cure. There can be no mistake, as this cure was effected more than three years ago. No other medicines can equal Dr. Sweet's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold it to a number of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it since I have acted as agent for the sale of it. JOSIAH JENNESS.

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWEET'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

From ELDER I. CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

DR. SWEET: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Sweet's medicine shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWEET, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26o

Morning Chronicle.

☞ Nearly 300 men of the Marine Artillery at Newbern, N. C., are confined in various jails and forts in the Department, on bread and water for insubordination and vagrancy. The remainder of this regiment are wandering about the streets in a condition of entire destitution, having no rations, and not allowed to go North. They assert that they have never received any pay, and they understand now that the service no longer claims them, and that they have never belonged either to the Army or Navy.

☞ The New Orleans correspondent of a New York paper says that Capt. J. C. McClure, of Gen. Banks' Staff, having occasion to enter the office, formerly occupied as the headquarters of Gen. Butler, found a rose upon one of the desks, and taking it up to smell its fragrance, he no sooner applied the rose to his nose than he fainted.—It is supposed the rose contained a poisonous powder, which caused the insensibility. The flower will be analyzed by a skillful chemist.

Ayer's SARSAPARILLA,

THE WORLD'S GREAT REMEDY FOR

Scrofula and Scrofulous Diseases.

From Emory Edes, a well-known merchant of Orange, Mass., formerly of Boston.

"I have sold large quantities of your SARSAPARILLA, but never yet one bottle which failed of the desired effect and full satisfaction followed the dose it. As fast as our people try it, they agree there has been no medicine like it before in our community."

Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches, Pustules, Ulcers, Sores, and all Diseases of the Skin.

From Rev. Edd. Sherman, of Orwell, Vermont.

"I only do my duty to you and the public, when I add my testimony to that you publish of the medicinal virtues of your SARSAPARILLA. My daughter, had, as an offshoot from a scrofulous humor in her ears, eyes, and hair for years, which we were unable to cure until we tried your SARSAPARILLA. She has been well for some months."

From Mrs. Jane E. Giles, a well-known and much esteemed lady of Dennisville, Cape May Co., N. J.

"My daughter has suffered from a very severe scrofulous eruption, which was very troublesome. Nothing afforded any relief until we tried your SARSAPARILLA, which soon completely cured her."

From Charles P. Gilchrist, Esq., Cashier of the Westchester County Bank, Peekskill, N. Y.

"I have for several years a very troublesome humor in my face, which grew gradually worse until it disfigured my features and became an intolerable affliction. Nothing could be found which a man could of both advice and medicine, but without any relief whatever, until I took your SARSAPARILLA. It immediately made my face worse, as you told me it might for a time; but it soon began to mend, now skin began to form under the blotches, and continued until my face is as smooth as my body's, and I feel without any humor in my blood, and know that I know all I only perfect health, and without a doubt owe it to your SARSAPARILLA."

Erysipelas—General Debility—Purify the Blood.

From Dr. Robt. Shearer, Stanton St., New York.

"Dr. AYER: Feeling full to remove Eruptions and Scrofulous Sores by the persevering use of your SARSAPARILLA, and I have first now cured an attack of Malignant Erysipelas with it. No alterative we possess equals the SARSAPARILLA you have supplied to the profession as well as to the people."

From J. K. Adams, Esq., Whitehall, Ohio.

"For twelve years, I had the yellow Erysipelas on my right arm, during which time I tried all the celebrated physicians I could reach, and spent hundreds of dollars worth of medicine. The ulcers were so bad that the cords became visible, and the doctors decided that my arm must be amputated. I began taking your SARSAPARILLA. Took two bottles, and sound of your PILLS. Together they have cured me. I am now well and sound as any body, doing in a public place, and my old friends say to every body in this community, and excites the wonder of all."

From Hon. Henry Monro, M. P. P., of Newcastle, C. W., a leading member of the Canadian Parliament.

"I have used your SARSAPARILLA in my family, for general debility, and for purifying the blood, with very beneficial results, and feel confidence in commending it to the afflicted."

St. Anthony's Fire, Rose, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Sore Eyes.

From Harvey Sickler, Esq., the able editor of the Tuskaloosa Democrat, Pennsylvania.

"Our only child, about three years of age, was attacked by pimples on his forehead. They rapidly spread until they formed a loathsome and virulent sore, which covered his face, and actually blinded his eyes for some days. We tried everything, even nitrate of silver and other remedies, without any apparent effect. For fifteen days we guarded his hands, lest with them he should tear your child's burning and corrupt wound which covered his whole face. Having tried every thing else we had any hope from, we began giving your SARSAPARILLA, and applying the usual of potash lotion, as you direct. The sore began to heal when we had given the first bottle, and have never had any doubt about the second. The child's eyelashes, which had come out, grew again, and he is now as healthy and fair as any child. The whole neighborhood pronounce that the child must die."

Syphilis and Mercurial Disease

From Dr. Hiram Stout, of St. Louis, Missouri.

"I find your SARSAPARILLA a more effectual remedy for secondary syphilitic complaints, especially and for syphilitic diseases than any other we possess. The profession are indebted to you for some of the best medicines we have."

From A. J. Pasco, M. D., an eminent physician of Lawrence, Mass., and a prominent member of the Legislature of Massachusetts.

"Dr. AYER, Sir: My father-in-law have found your SARSAPARILLA an excellent remedy for Syphilis, both of the primary and secondary type, and effectual in cases that were not benefited by any thing else to other remedies. I do not know what we can employ with more certainty of success, where a powerful alterative is required."

Mr. Chas. S. Van Horn, of New Brunswick, N. J., had dreadful ulcers on his legs, caused by the abuse of mercury, or mercurial disease, which grew more and more alarming, and defied the skill of every remedy or treatment that could be applied, until the persevering use of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA relieved him. Few cases can be more distressing than this, and it took several dozen bottles to cure him.

Leucorrhœa, Whites, Female Weakness, are generally produced by internal Scrofulous Humors, and are very often cured by the alterative effect of this SARSAPARILLA. Some cases require, however, its aid of the SARSAPARILLA, the skillful application of local remedies.

From the well known and widely-celebrated Dr. Jacob Morrill, of Cincinnati.

"I have found your SARSAPARILLA an excellent alterative, in cases of Scrofula, Mercurial disease of Irregularity, Leucorrhœa, Internal Ulceration, and local debility, arising from the scrofulous diathesis, have proved to be, and yet are few that do not, when the effect is properly aided by local treatment."

A lady, unwilling to allow the publication of her name, writes:

"My daughter and myself have been cured of a very debilitating Leucorrhœa of long standing, by two bottles of your SARSAPARILLA."

Rheumatism, Gout, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Heart Disease, Neuralgia, which proceed by Scrofula in the system, are rapidly cured by this EXT. SARSAPARILLA.

AYER'S

possess so many advantages over the other purgatives in the market, and their superior virtues are so universally known, that we need not do more than to assure the public their quality is maintained equal to the best it ever has been, and that they may be depended on to do all that they have ever done.

Teeth on Vulcanized Rubber.

SOME OF ITS ADVANTAGES.

1st. It is stronger and lighter than any known material.

2d. From two to six times the amount of suction or adhesion can be obtained by it.

3d. When the arch is irregular we can by building out the depressions—which can be done to any extent—give the mouth a more natural appearance.

4th. No bad taste arises in the mouth by its use, as the secretions of the stomach and mouth do not affect it in the least.

5th. Teeth mounted upon this base can be kept clean and sweet as easy as a saucer, as when finished they are without joint or crevice.

6th. While in all ways it is better, save in a few peculiar cases, it is much cheaper than Gold.

DR. A. P. STEVENS, Surgeon Dentist,

No. 5 Daniel St., Portsmouth,

Has had four years of practical experience in making this material, and will guarantee satisfaction in all cases entrusted to his care.

Portsmouth, Jan. 1, 1863.

DENTISTRY.

No. 60 CONGRESS STREET, Portsmouth, Jan. 1st, 1863.

DR. GOODALL

Would respectfully inform his patrons and the public, that up had of late many calls to insert teeth upon VULCANIZED RUBBER, that he has purchased the best VULCANIZER in the market, and is now prepared to do all work upon RUBBER, or the other bases of GOLD and SILVER as formerly, if preferred.

The Rubber has several important advantages, viz.: It is very light and elastic, and consequently is particularly easy to the muscles of the mouth and cheeks. There are no insertions or open joints to collect food, &c.; consequently they can be worn night and day, and are very easily kept neat and clean.

Beside all this, the most accurate fit is obtained, as the Rubber is Vulcanized directly upon the plaster model, and the suction is of course much stronger than in plates of Gold or Silver.

Any one who is waiting for their permanent teeth will, I am confident, be perfectly satisfied with the Rubber, as a base. The expense is but a little more than for Silver, and you get the same teeth (in blocks) that you would pay $ 2.00 for an upper or lower set on Gold.

In New York and Boston, and throughout the West, Vulcanized Rubber is used almost to the exclusion of the other bases, and by the best Dentists too. I will warrant a perfect fit and teeth from the best manufacturer in the country, S. S. White.

ALL OTHER OPERATIONS IN DENTISTRY I will do at the usual rates. I will here mention that my price for EXTRACTION is 25 cents.

THE MAGEE COOKING STOVE.

The subscribers, having received their Fall stock of Stoves, would especially call the attention of the public to the

CELEBRATED AND UNEQUALLED MAGEE COOK STOVE,

as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.

There is a new style and very superior broiler and sad-iron heater combined, by which the odor of broiling meats are prevented from escaping into the parlors. With the extension top there is a large Upper Reservoir for hot water; also a large tin warming-closet attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.

The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, as no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shoveling out of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be confined day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who are now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.

"MAGEE'S PATENT" VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this very valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the evils arise connected with the fire-pot of used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from the smallest fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over those in use, while others may have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass of into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue in the top of the dome, can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the best part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire can be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq.,	Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill,	Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell,	John Shea, and others.

VOL. 21. PORTSMOUTH, N. H. WEDNESDAY, JAN. 14, 1863. NO. 138.

The Chronicle.

A star for every State: a State for every star.

NO PARTY—ONE COUNTRY.

"Round to no party—to no sect confused;
The world our home; our brethren all mankind.
Love truth, do good, be just and fair withall;
Exalt the right, though every law fall."

"Let me warn you in the most solemn manner against the baneful effects of the spirit of Party, generally. It is a spirit not to be encouraged.—Its common and continual mischief is sufficient to make it the interest and duty of a wise people to discourage and restrain it. In governments of the popular form, it is seen in its greatest rankness, and is truly their worst enemy."—Washington's Farewell Address.

OUR HEROIC DEAD.—There is a history in almost every home, which will never be written. But the memory of kindred has it embalmed forever. The representatives of the pride and hope of uncounted households, departing, will return no more. The shaft of the archer, attracted by the shining mark, numbers them among his fallen. In the battles of Big Bethel, of Bull Run, of Ball's Bluff, of Roanoke Island, of Newbern, of Winchester, of Yorktown, of Williamsburg, of West Point, of Fair Oaks, the battles before Richmond, from Mechanicsville to Malvern Hill, of James's Island, of Baton Rouge, of Cedar Mountain, of Bull Run again, of Chantilly, of Washington in North Carolina, of South Mountain, of Antietam, of Fredericksburg and Goldsboro'—through all the capricious fortunes of the war, our regiments have borne their flags by the side of the banner of the Union.

And, beyond the Atlantic slope, every battlefield has drunk the blood of our sons, nurtured among her hills and sands, from which in adventurous manhood they turned their footsteps to the West. Officers and enlisted men have vied with each other in deeds of valor. The flag whose standard bearer, shot down in battle, fessed it from his dying hand nerved by an undying patriotism, has been caught by the comrade, who in his turn has closed his eyes for the last time upon its starry folds, as another hero martyr clasped the splintered staff and rescued the symbol at once of country and of their blood-bought fame.

How can fleeting words of human praise gild the record of their glory? Our eyes suffused with tears, and blood retreating to the heart, stirred with unwonted thrill, speak with the eloquence of nature, uttered, but unexpressed. From the din of the battle, they have passed to the peace of eternity. Farewell! warrior, citizen, patriot, lover, friend—whether in the humbler ranks or bearing the sword of official power, whether private, captain, surgeon or chaplain, for all these in the heavy light have passed away—Hail! and Farewell! Each hero must sleep serenely on a field where he fell in a cause "sacred to liberty and the rights of mankind."

"Worn by no wasting, lingering pain,
No cold gradations of decay,
Death broke at once the vital chain,
And freed his soul the nearest way."

—Gov. Andrew.

☞ An F. F. V. lately turned up at the Bankrupt Court in London. He was described as William King Smith, formerly of No. 27 Golden Square; since of Fredericksburg in the State of Virginia; then of Hall Moon street, Piccadilly; afterwards of the Hotel du Louvre, Paris; next of Hatchard's Hotel, Piccadilly; and lastly of the Queen's Prison, where he was confined for debt. His debts amounted to $65,000; the property held as security was put down at $400,000; unfortunately for William King Smith, the latter lay in the counties of Kanawha and Fayette, in Virginia, and was painfully unproductive. It was understood that the bankrupt was willing to convey all his right, title and interest in the said demesne to his assignees, but they were profoundly puzzled to know how they should obtain possession of and enjoy the fruits of this conveyance, inasmuch as they had been led to believe that the territory in question was occupied alternately by the contending armies of America. The Court adjourned without final action.

☞ Isaiah T. Wright, of East Sandwich, Mass., was shot dead by some unknown person on Saturday evening, a few rods from his own house, while returning from a visit to his brother. The murder was not committed for money, as Mr. Wright's pocket book and gold watch were undisturbed.—Mr. Wright was about forty-five years of age.

☞ The train in which Gen. Butler was going from New York to Boston came in collision with another train on Saturday morning. All the seats except in the car in which Gen. Butler rode were smashed, and several of the passengers received severe injuries. He was unhurjured.

THE CAUSE AND CURE.

Some of the modern doctors tell us that Abolitionism is the prime cause of all our national troubles. In this view, says Uncle Toby, it is remarkable that Dr. Franklin, Judge Jay and others, who formed the first Abolition Society in this country, should have been so foolish and visionary as to make this society, without a cause! Very surprising too that Jefferson should urge Abolition everywhere, when there was no cause or call for it. What a poor, priest-ridden fanatic and puritan he must have been to begin a causeless controversy and conflict! But no: there was a cause, viz. slavery, which every one of these men condemned as a wrong, an outrage, and a fruitful source of evil.

The origin of Jefferson's Abolitionism was his intense love of liberty, and his equally intense hatred of slavery. By him the following vehement exhortation was penned in France, on learning the passage of the Slave Bill in Virginia, without the adoption of his concerted amendment:—

"What a stupendous, what an incomprehensible machine is man! who can endure toil, famine, stripes, imprisonment, and death itself, in vindication of his own liberty, and, the next moment, be deaf to all those motives whose power supported him through his trial, and inflict on his fellow men a bondage, one hour of which is fraught with more misery, than ages of that which he rose in rebellion to oppose! But we must await, with patience, the workings of an overruling Providence, and hope that that is preparing the deliverance of these our suffering brethren. When the measure of their tears shall be full, when their groans shall have involved heaven itself in darkness, doubtless a God of justice will awaken to their distress, and by diffusing light and liberality among their oppressors, or at length, by his exterminating thunder, manifest his attention to the things of this world, and that they are not left to the guidance of a blind fatality."

This reads to-day, like prophecy become history. It shows how the enormous wrong of slavery made an abolitionist of a thinking man, like Thomas Jefferson,—who knew all about it,—and it goes to show how the same wrong, greatly enlarged, has made thousands of other thinking men to follow somewhat in his footsteps, while it has barbarized and brutalized other thousands who turned a deaf ear to his appeals, and hardened their hearts by avarice and ambition.

The doctors who advise to remove the difficulty by stopping abolitionism, remind Uncle Toby of some other quacks, who used to advise a supposed consumptive patient not to cough, because it hurt him. Very good advice, all but one thing, viz.: that it did not go to the root of the matter. The poor fellow used to have very bad colds, inflamed lungs, and irritable throat, and cough he must, willing or unwilling.

By and by he learned to cure his colds, and found that his cough was only an effort of nature to throw off a load of disease.

So slavery being a monstrosity, nature revolts at it, and such a nature as Jefferson's must speak out, because he deemed all men equal as to rights, all alike amenable to God's justice, and all alike entitled to his protection.

Men of the same nature, now, look at the subject in the same light. In the stormy and confused state of affairs now existing, they see what Jefferson foresaw, and not a few of them rely on the "workings of an overruling Providence,"—and can with him "await with patience and hope" for the tide of events to bring liberty and peace,—not being much distressed at being called hard names, or having their motives and acts belied and maligned by the allies and tools of a wicked and destructive system of bondage.

U. T.

BURNING OF THE LOUISIANA STATE HOUSE.—A Baton Rouge letter in the N. Y. Herald says the conduct of the citizens would not by any means relieve them from the suspicion that, if some of them were not responsible for the burning of the Capitol, they at least sympathize with the purposes of its destruction, whatever they may be.—There was a stolid indifference externally. They had not even the curiosity to come out to see the fire, except in a few instances, the negroes being left to perform the part of spectators. One, at least, of those who did come out attempted to get up a riot, and fired several shots from a revolver into the crowd. The rebel prisoners expressed great satisfaction at the destruction of the building.

☞ Hon. Lot M. Morrill was re-elected Senator from Maine on Tuesday. On the same day Charles Buckalew (dem.) was elected to the U. S. Senate from Pennsylvania, on joint ballot, by two majority, Hon. Simon Cameron being his opponent.

☞ Hon. Wm. A. Richardson has been elected U. S. Senator from Illinois. The vote stood—Richardson 56, Gov. Yates 37.

☞ A dispatch from Cairo says, "our army are now in transports"—a state of mind which the public have long desired to experience.

THE REBELLION.

The Yazoo river is abandoned as a base of operations against Vicksburg, the enemy being found impregnable on the front facing that stream. It is stated that the enemy were reinforced to the number of 60,000 men. They had 160 guns in their batteries, besides their field artillery. Our losses will amount to 2500 or 3000. The loss of the enemy is unknown. A council of war was held on board the Tigress, Gen. McClernand's headquarters, on Sunday.—Commodore Porter, Generals Sherman, McClernand, and other officers, were present. It was determined that it would be folly to make any further attack on Vicksburg with the present force, that the enemy received their reinforcements too rapidly, and that there were no prospects of our side receiving reinforcements; therefore it was deemed expedient to abandon the attack and operate against some other place. A point of attack was decided on, but its publicity is forbidden.

No Union general officers were killed at Vicksburg. Our troops behaved with the greatest gallantry, and it is said that had the supports been promptly sent forward, the storming party would have held their position easily and captured the entire fortifications. There is great indignation felt at what is termed Gen. Sherman's mismanagement. From the nature of the works it is evident that the rebels have made every preparation for preserving this main artery of circulation with the West.

Apprehensions are felt for the safety of two regiments of infantry sent from New Orleans to Galveston, Texas, two days before the surprise of the Westfield and Harriet Lane.

Gen. Curtis has received a despatch from Maj. Collins, commanding at Lebanon, Mo., stating that at 3 o'clock Saturday morning 700 Federals at Hartsville attacked 4000 rebels with five pieces of artillery, under Marmaduke and Porter, and drove them five miles south. The rebels then took a circuit and returned to Hartsville, where the fighting recommenced, and continued until sundown. Our loss was 35 killed and wounded; rebel loss 150.

Our forces are again in possession of Cumberland Gap, that important key to East Tennessee, and the Kentucky cavalry is still pursuing the rebel Morgan.

A Fortress Monroe dispatch states that it is reported in Richmond that the rebel gunboat Merrimac is now lying under the guns of Fort Darling, having gone below the blockade obstructions, and cannot return owing to the low water in James River.

The rebels are suffering seriously in consequence of the destruction of the railroad at Goldsboro. They have sent a large number of negroes to repair it, and troops are held ready in Richmond to march to North Carolina. Gen. Foster is being heavily reinforced, and is determined to keep the railroad communication between Richmond and the Gulf States severed. It is generally conceded that there is a large fleet now at Newbern, designed to co-operate for the capture of Wilmington. Gen. Nagle's division and many other troops are ready for the attack soon to be made on Charleston. Beaufort and Newport harbors are filled with transports.

A rebel boat has been captured off Charleston, with a major, and important rebel despatches for Europe.

CONGRESS.

MONDAY.—In the Senate, a bill to aid Western Virginia in a more speedy abolishment of slavery, was referred to the Judiciary Committee. A resolution was adopted in relation to the delay in confiscating the property of rebels, especially in the District of Columbia. The bill providing for the further issue of bonds and U. S. notes, after the reading of a letter from the Secretary of the Treasury favoring the measure, was passed. The bill to raise volunteers for the defence of Kentucky was passed, 23 against 13.

In the House, a resolution approving the emancipation proclamation, was referred. A resolution of inquiry was adopted, relative to the expediency of laying a telegraph cable from Fortress Monroe and intermediate points, to New Orleans. The consideration of a resolution authorizing and requiring the President to raise a force of 150,000 negroes to serve for five years, was postponed to a week from Wednesday.

☞ Gen. Butler had a brilliant reception in Boston on Tuesday. There was a procession, in which the Legislature joined; a salute was fired on the Common, and public services were held in Faneuil Hall, where Gen. Butler made a speech, and presented to the city, in behalf of the Army of the Gulf, the Confederate flag taken from the City Hall, of New Orleans. Gen. Butler was serenaded in the evening at his quarters at the Revere House.

☞ The sunken steamer Karnak, which was bought for $800, raised and repaired for $10,000, is now worth $100,000.

☞ A dispatch from Cincinnati says that Gen. Rosecrans has been reinforced by thirty thousand fresh troops, partly drawn from Kentucky, and a portion from Gen. Grant's army.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— The proposition of Senator Wilson to consolidate old regiments is not popular with the army, if, indeed, it is judicious.—The old regiments have won a reputation which can never be obliterated, and a fame which is permanent. But while glory is to be reaped in still other fields, it is asked why should such regiments as the 2d and 5th New Hampshire be denied the privilege of inscribing other victories upon their banners? Suppose the 3d should be merged in the 5th, would not the history of the Second regiment, which loses its organization, be abruptly closed? The officers and privates alike deprecate the annihilation of the regiments at a period earlier than the annihilation of the rebellion.—They insist that they deserve perpetuation during the continuance of the war, rather than annihilation. To the officers of old regiments it makes less difference than to the privates, because there are not of the former more than enough in two old regiments to fill the commissions in one. But to the privates who are entitled to promotion and have fairly earned the shoulder straps by their valor in the field, it is an act of injustice to keep them in the service without the promotion they have won.

—— The body of Capt J. Q. A. Warren, of the 8th regiment, who fell in battle in Louisiana, a few months since, was disinterred and brought to his home in Nashua.—Imposing funeral ceremonies in his honor, took place there on Thursday last.

—— The present week's number of the N. H. Journal of Agriculture, published at Manchester, announces that the paper has been sold to John B. Clarke, Esq., of the Mirror, who will hereafter continue its publication in connexion with that paper. The Journal has been under the charge of Mr. F. B. Eaton, for the past year or more, and he has made it a paper worthy to be received into the families of every farmer in the State. It is now understood that Mr. Eaton has the good fortune to obtain a more lucrative and agreeable occupation.—Mr. Clarke has great taste for rural pursuits, especially for the breeding of all kinds of stock. His design is to unite the Journal with the Weekly Mirror, which now has a large circulation, and make the outside of this paper strictly agricultural, while the inside will contain a full digest of the current news of the State and of the country.—Wm. H. Gilmore, a former publisher of the Journal, will be the agricultural editor, and the miscellaneous department will be conducted by the proprietor.

—— The 16th N. H. Regiment is encamped at Camp Parapet, La., above New Orleans. The health of the regiment, with the exception of a light type of measles, is good. Col. Pike, it is said, has won the reputation of having an earnest care for the health, comfort, morals and efficiency of his men.

—— Maj. S. D. Farnsworth, recently of the Manchester American, but now Paymaster in the U. S. Army, has been ordered on duty at Washington.

PERSONAL.—Robert J. Walker is writing upon finances, and sustaining Secretary Chase. The antipodes thus meet together.

Nicholas Longworth, the famous wine grower, is lying in a very dangerous condition from paralysis of the left side. He has just passed his eightieth birthday.

☞ John Darling, ninety-three years of age, residing in Auburn, Me., has only one arm. A few days since, he sawed a cord of hard wood, occupying only two days in the work. He has a garden, and still earns his living by the sweat of his brow.

☞ A stout, muscular fellow made application to the drafting commissioner of Lake county, Ohio, the other day, for exemption, on the ground that it didn't agree with him to miss his regular meals.

☞ One of the New Haven churches is having all its cotton stuffed cushions overhauled and refilled with a less expensive material. They will save quite a sum by the operation.

THE NEW CHURCH FOR REV. T. S. KING.—The corner stone of the new Unitarian Church, in San Francisco, was laid Dec. 3d, 1862, with appropriate devotional exercises, music, and two addresses—one by the pastor, Rev. T. S. King, and the other by Mr. T. Wilson, a member of the society.

☞ In conversation about the war, Gen. Sigel stigmatizes the late Fredericksburg defeat as an unnecessary wholesale butchery, quite as freely as do the people at large. He is a military man, and ought to know.

☞ The iron-clads Passaic and Montauk, after various adventures by the way, have arrived at Beaufort, N. C., in safety. The iron-clad Wechawken made a successful trial trip at New York, on Saturday.

☞ There were coined at the mint, in Philadelphia, during December, five million four hundred and thirty thousand cents, and yet the cry is for more.

☞ The Springfield Republican says that Rev. Lyman Beecher, D. D., has gone to his reward, full of years and honors.

NOT LOST.

"She is not lost to us! The weary heart,
Overcome beneath its burdens prayed for rest;
And lo! Death's angel with the shadowy hand,
Unfastening the cords too closely drawn,
That, for the better sleep, she might lay off
The robes that now encumbered her to wear,
And so she slumbered—lulled from all her pains
By the unerring ministry from Heaven.
Bit my not this is lost to us, who sleep
Thus from her sorrows in a rest with God!
For with the morrow she arose again—
No more apparelled for life's week day toils—
But, clad in Sabbath purity to walk
A spirit, all invisible to us.
While yet we feel the presence of her smile.
And she, whose features we behold no more,
Will not forget the loved ones who are left
To toil and suffer longer, but will be
The angel of the home she loved so well.
She is near us when our hearts grow dark,
And near us when our children give us joy—
Near when we toil, and nearer when we pray—
And Oh! when life is ended, and she waits
On that bright threshold of the blest for us.
How like the sweet accustoming will be
The far-felt hearts of that look of love!
And how like our remembered welcome home,
Will be her brighter welcoming to heaven!"

☞ Bonner, of the New York Ledger, announces that he don't want any more subscribers. He pays almost as much for the white paper as he gets for the printed sheets, and it will not pay to increase his list, at present.

☞ They have a tamborinist in England, named Herr Rosecranz, who plays ten tamborines at one time. We have a greater artist in the West, of the same name, who at once performs with and beats a rebel army.

Rubber Band Carpet Sweeper.

TRY IT! TRY IT!!

It saves Money; it saves Carpets; it saves Furniture; it saves Labor; it is cheaper than Brooms and five cents apiece.

It gathers up all dust, dirt, and loose lint on the carpets, and raises no dust to settle on the furniture, drapery, or ornaments, or to smother, stifle and irritate the lungs.

It does not wear the carpets half so much as brooms or any other sweeper.

It is the only practicable sweeper made, and the only article fit to sweep a carpet.

With our late improvements it gives universal satisfaction to all who use it according to directions. For sale at No. 19 Market Street by ☞ Daniel Kane, who was sent to the Reform School in Manchester about two and a half years ago, for setting fire to a barn in this city, and other offences, escaped from the School on Tuesday, Jan. 6, and was arrested in this city on Tuesday morning last, by Officer Johnson, and returned to Manchester.

☞ A recent letter from the N. H. 13th regiment, states that it lost in the Fredericksburg battle 3 men killed, 3 missing and 14 wounded. Co. K. Capt. M. T. Betton, lost as follows: Missing, Henry G. Thompson, John Harmon, John K. A. Hanson.—Wounded, Henry A. Hunefelt, in finger.

☞ We learn that Mr. Lovering, the Collector of the U. S. Internal Revenue tax, has placed the unpaid taxes in this city, in the hands of Maj. Wm. H. Hackett for adjustment. There is nothing like saving the ten per cent. extra, by the payment of these matters seasonably.

☞ We are indebted to Lieut. George A. Wildes, of this city, Co. K, 16th N. H. regiment, for late New Orleans papers.

☞ The renowned Peak Family, whose previous concerts in this city have always been received with the greatest favor by large audiences, announce that they will give One Concert at the Temple on Friday evening next, Jan. 16th. See advertisement.

☞ The Herald states that Rev. Mr. Gage, of this city, has been engaged to supply the pulpit of the Whitefield church in Newburyport, during the absence of Rev. Dr. Spalding, and will enter upon his duties the first Sabbath in February.

PORTSMOUTH NAVY YARD.—In the U. S. Senate, on Tuesday, Senator Hale, of this State, said that he had received, in response to a letter addressed to the Secretary of the Navy relative to the law passed at the last session for purchasing land near the Portsmouth Navy Yard, which law had not been executed, a letter, written by the Chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks, containing what he thought a charge against Congress of legislating from personal motives. He, therefore, offered a resolution that the Committee on Naval Affairs be instructed to inquire into the truth of the same, and what personal consideration affected Congress, and who were interested thereby. Mr. Fessenden, of Maine, objected.

The passage in the letter from Joseph Smith, Chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks, to which exception was taken, is as follows:—"If so, and Congress thought proper to make purchase, unsolicited by the Department, with personal instead of public consideration, the object could only be maintained [attained ?] by making the phraseology of the law so explicit as to leave the Department without any responsibility or judgment."

☞ The New York Atlas states that the steam sloops-of-war Ossipee, Juniata, Monongahela and Lackawanna, now that they are finished, are all found unfit for service, and large expenditures will have to be made upon each of them before they can be available for naval purposes. Their failure is due simply to ignorance in the construction of their machinery; and yet, in the face of these results, we are told that other engines of the same design are being built."

☞ The new steamship Ossipee has arrived at the Washington Navy Yard, for repairs to her machinery, which broke down on her trial trip from Portsmouth to Fortress Monroe.

☞ On Thursday last, Isaac Newton Knapp, jr., went into the fur store of Mr. Stephen Osborne, Salem, Mass., and asked the boy, who was the only one in attendance, for a hammer to fix a valise he carried in his hand. While the boy was in the front store, the man went into the fur room, as if to adjust his valise, and then returned the hammer with thanks, saying he was going to Portland. At about noon, Mr. Osborne missed three articles of fur, costing about $85. The peculiar circumstances caused suspicions to fall upon Knapp, who has been arrested and bound over.

☞ One John Smith, of Concord, Vt., was arrested a few days since for supposed wife murder. Mrs. Smith was found Monday on the cellar bottom with her neck broken, and it was alleged by her husband that she fell down the stairs; but some circumstances made the neighbors suspect foul play, which led to the arrest of her husband. The suspected murderer is an aged man some seventy years old, and the victim 15 or 20 years younger. Smith has been intemperate in his habits.

☞ The cargo of the ship George Griswold—the gift of America to the starving English operatives—was 12,736 barrels of flour, 400 boxes of bacon, 100 barrels pork, 500 bushels corn, 500 barrels and boxes bread.

☞ A meeting of the workingmen of Manchester, Eng., was held on the 31st ult., for the purpose of passing resolutions in support of the Federal cause, and agreeing upon an address to President Lincoln. The Mayor presided. A letter was read from John Stuart Mill, warmly approving of the demonstration as a just rebuke to the mean feeling of a great portion of the people, and a source of unqualified happiness to those whose hopes and fears in the interests of humanity are bound up in the prospects of the working classes. Resolutions were then passed expressing sympathy with the attempt of President Lincoln and his colleagues to coerce the South, and their satisfaction at the proclamation and other measures tending at once to give freedom to the slave and restore peace to the American nation. The address to President Lincoln congratulates him on his humane and righteous policy of emancipation, and beseeches him, while yet the enthusiasm is aflame and the tide of events runs high, to finish the work effectually.

☞ The New York city government, spite of the Mayor's veto, has voted to issue $3,000,000 in shin-plasters.

☞ Baron de Rothschild, of London, has ordered for his town house a staircase of white Carrara marble, at a cost of $30,000.

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK
FOR WOOD OR COAL.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking; giving an oven nearly 3 feet long! or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time! A check draft is applied to this stove by means of which the consumption of fuel is greatly lessened, and a steady fire can be kept day and night if desired.

THE MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be just suited for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We believe the MODEL COOK to be the very best Stove in the Market, and invite every one to examine it whether they wish to purchase or not. It has had a very extensive sale since its introduction. Reference might be made to more than a hundred families in this city or vicinity who are using the Stove, and give it the highest commendation.

We refer to the following individuals who have purchased the Model Cook:—

David Kimball, Thos. F. Burt, John T. French, Rev. Mr. Davies, Wm. Pettigrew, Capt. John Davis, Jeremiah Raitt, Mrs. Ann T. Perkins, James W. Marvin, Francis C. Jarvis, Thos. L. Tullock, Jacob Wendell, Capt. Jacob Thompson, Gen. J. G. Hadley, G. Melvin Huntress, Jos. D. Akerman, James F. Shores, Wm. C. Newton, Horton D. Walker, Benj. Cheever, John Trundy, Richard L. Lambert, Joseph Stiles, John Senter, Wm. Bell, Cyrus Plumer, Freeman Hurd, James M. Locke, Daniel L. Randall, Isaiah Wilson, John E. Roberts—of Portsmouth; Samuel C. Dixon, Daniel I. Pryor, Cushman Pryor, of Trefethen's Island; Geo. N. Dixon, Samuel F. Paul, Elias Remick, Timothy Dame, Eliot; Wm. S. Locke, Benj. Fernald, Mrs. Wm. Locke, Kittery; R. F. Gerrish, Kittery Point; Hon. VICTOR COAL STOVE.

We offer this beautiful coal burner to the public, with full confidence in its merits.

It was brought into market two years since, and has come rapidly into use.

The Victor is one of the handsomest parlor stoves in the market, and is perfect in its operation. The arrangement for dumping the ashes is very fine—no dust need escape into the room—a continuous fire may be kept throughout the winter—the coal all burned, and no clinkers made.

The quantity of fuel used is very small indeed. There is in this stove an excellent arrangement for ventilating the room in which it is placed; a feature not possessed by any other parlor stove.

Some of these stoves are provided with an oven and boiling place, making them very desirable for a dining room.

We sold a large number of Victor Stoves in our city last season and they receive the highest commendation from those who are using them.

We have also the celebrated McGregor Stove, so well known in the market as to need no commendation.

A great variety of cheaper Stoves for coal and wood—Coal-hods—Patent Coal-sifters.

BUY CALIFORNIA WINES.

They are the Purest!

The Best!

The Cheapest!

The "sunny slopes" of "Los Angelos" have announced to the world that America is a wine growing country, and as the discovery of gold sent a thrill through the old world, so will the discovery of these Wines startle them again, as it says, "one more link broken which has bound us to Europe," "one more step to independence." Let every man, woman and child who uses Wine, see to it that they buy none other than these.

"The Hock" is a most delicious Wine, and rivals in delicacy its German predecessor.

The "Angelica" and "Muscatel" are melting, luscious and rich, and will take the place of Malaga, Tokay, or other rich Wine.

The Port has a fine flavor and body; and The Port is excellent because it is pure.

☞ ATTENTION, THE WHOLE! ☜

EYE, N. H., Feb. 26, 1846. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended to the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of DR. SWETT'S PANACEA, and several bottles of his Humor Wash, which have effected a cure. There can be no mistake, as this cure was effected more than three years ago. No other medicines can equal Dr. Swett's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold it to a number of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it since I have acted as agent for the sale of it. JOSIAH SENTER.

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

From ELDER I CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY.

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26o

Morning Chronicle.

There is a good anecdote told of Robbie Johnson, who, in the year 1769, was provost of Dundee. His services being required on a certain occasion, a messenger was despatched to his house, who, upon asking for the provost, was told by the gudwife, that "he was awa' to the whin hill for a pocketfu' o' whins." Off scampered the gallant to the whin hill, and soon the provost appeared, and throwing down his faggot, pulled off his bonnet, and wiping his sweat from his bald head, said, "Where's my wig? I'm to sit in judgment to-day." "Your wig," quoth Janet, "did I ever hear sic a man? How can you get your wig? D'ye no ken the hen's laying in't?"

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

Late Assist. U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (under the Act of 1837.)

75 State Street, opposite Kilby Street.

BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries, to Inventors, Patentees, Assignees, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made at the American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials below given are those of MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the average, and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has obtained more Patents than can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

Here, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."

CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of pushing applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN testimonials, on all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is pending. Such unmistakeable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.

JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN AMENDS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never been equalled, whereby them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Dubiath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and swelling of the joints, of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Gravel, Obscurity, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long catalogue of evils resulting the class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr D., devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of these cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which robs the young and middle aged of their manhood, leaving the individual to bodily or supply. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by such a habit, of youth, are Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded, loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, nervous irritability, fickle society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.

Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your cases. Dr Dow has also for sale the French Capsules, warranted the best preventive. Order by mail. Three for $1 and a red stamp.

CAUTION

To Females in Delicate Health.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 & 9 Endicott Street, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female constitution. Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all cured by his new pathological system, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate cases yield to its influence, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has the result and greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1847, having confined his whole attention to his office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

N. B.—All letters must contain four red stamps, or they will not be answered.

Teeth on Vulcanized Rubber.

SOME OF ITS ADVANTAGES.

1st. It is stronger and lighter than any known material.

2d. From two to six times the amount of suction or adhesion can be obtained by it.

3d. When the sets are brought we can by building out the depressions—which can be done to any extent—give the mouth a more natural appearance.

4th. No bad taste arises in the mouth by its use, as the secretions of the stomach and mouth do not affect it in the least.

5th. Teeth mounted upon this base can be kept clean and sweet as easy as a saucer, as when finished the work presents one whole piece.

6th. While in all ways it is better, save in a few peculiar cases, it is much cheaper than Gold.

DR. A. P. STEVENS, Surgeon Dentist,

DENTISTRY.

NO. 60 CONGRESS STREET,
Portsmouth, Jan. 1st, 1863.

DR. GOODALL:

Would respectfully inform his patrons and the public, that he had of late many calls to insert teeth upon VULCANIZED RUBBER, that he has purchased the best VULCANIZER in the market, and is now prepared to do all work upon RUBBER, or the other bases of GOLD and SILVER as formerly, if preferred.

The Rubber has several important advantages, viz.: It is very light and elastic, and consequently is perfectly easy to the muscles of the mouth and cheeks. There are no insertions or open joints to collect food, &c.; consequently they can be worn night and day, and are very easily kept neat and clean.

Beside all this, the most accurate fit is obtained, as the Rubber is Vulcanized directly upon the plaster model, and the suction is of course much stronger than in plates of Gold or Silver.

Any one who is waiting for their permanent teeth will I am confident, be perfectly satisfied with the Rubber, as a base. The expense is but a little more than for Silver, and you get the sound teeth (in blocks) that you would pay $60.00 for an upper or lower set on Gold.

In New York and Boston, and throughout the West, Vulcanized Rubber is used almost to the exclusion of the other bases, and by the best Dentists too. I will warrant a perfect fit and teeth from the best manufacturer in the country, S. S. White.

ALL OTHER OPERATIONS IN DENTISTRY I will do at the usual rates. I will here mention that my price for EXTRACTION is 25 cents.

THE MAGEE

COOKING STOVE.

The subscribers, having received their Fall stock of Stoves, would especially call the attention of the public to the

MAGEE COOK STOVE,

as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfect cooking.

There is a new style and very superior broiler and sad-iron heater combined, by which the odor of broiling meats are prevented from escaping into the room. With the extension top there is a large copper Reservoir for hot water; also a large tin warming-closet attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.

The arrangements for shaking the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, as no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shoveling up of the ashes is disagreeable to avoid. The fire is regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who are now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.

We would refer to the following purchasers:

"MAGEE'S PATENT"

VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING

FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would invite those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable,—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pots is used for respiration, we can confidently produce a healthy atmosphere, which is free from the noxious gases which are so much complained of in other Furnaces, as entirely obviated.

The objections raised by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated by the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The fire or pipe in this Furnace being below the dropped, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are forced up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 50 per cent. of the properties of the best in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases given out as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, passing the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to rust and get out of order; thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq.,	Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill,	Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell,	John Sise, and others.

HAIR GLOSS

This is a new and invaluable preparation for preserving and beautifying the hair.

The wonderful virtues of Arnica in allaying and removing inflammation are universally known.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS is a combination of these virtues, with other tried and excellent ingredients.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS stimulates and invigorates the hair, prevents it from falling out—restores it when fallen—promotes its growth and strength—renders it proof against all disease.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS permanently cures all irritations and eruptions of the scalp, and makes it healthy and fertile. For the removal of dandruff it has no equal. Its operations in this particular are magical and permanent.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS is unequalled as a hair-dressing compound. It not only cleanses the scalp and invigorates the hair, but it renders the latter charming, soft and lustrous. Its odor is particularly delicate and fragrant—the proprietor having taken especial pains to secure this result.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS is the very best preparation for the hair ever discovered.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS, notwithstanding its surpassing merits, is retailed at only twenty-five cents a bottle, by all Druggists.

GRACE'S CELEBRATED SALVE,

A SURE RELIEF FOR THE SUFFERER.

This Salve is a vegetable preparation, invented in the 17th century, by DR. WM. GRACE, surgeon in King James's army. Through its agency he cured thousands of most serious sores and wounds that baffled the skill of the most eminent physicians of his day, and was regarded by all who knew him as a public benefactor.

Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Burns.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Scalds.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Flesh Wounds.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Corns.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Felons.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Frozen Limbs.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Scurvy.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Callouses.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Salt Rheum.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Chilblains.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Sore Breast.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Sore Lips.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Erysipelas Sores.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Abscesses.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Ulcers.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Chapped Hands.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Ringworms.

And from Sores and Wounds of the most serious nature down to a common Pimple. It eradicates Pimples from the face, and beautifies the skin. There is no preparation before the public that can equal this Salve in prompt and energetic action for the speedy cure of external diseases, as those who have tried its virtues testify. Soldiers, Sailors, and Fishermen, will find this Salve their best friend.

It has none of the irritating, heating properties of other remedies, but cools, cleanses, and heals the most serious Sores and Wounds. Every family, and especially those containing children, should keep a box on hand in case of accident, for it will save them much trouble, suffering, and money. All it wants is a fair trial to cure old and inveterate Sores.

Daily Morning Chronicle

VOL. 21. PORTSMOUTH, N. H. THURSDAY, JAN. 15, 1863. NO. 139

The Chronicle.

A star for every State: a State for every star.
NO PARTY—ONE COUNTRY.

"Bound to no party—to no sect confined;
The world our home; our brethren, all mankind.
Love truth, do good, be just and fair with all;
Exalt the right, though every item fall."

"Let me warn you in the most solemn manner against the baneful effects of the spirit of Party, generally. It is a spirit not to be encouraged.—Its common and continual mischief is sufficient to make it the interest and duty of a wise people to discourage and restrain it. In governments of the popular form, it is seen in its greatest rankness, and is truly their worst enemy."—Washington's Farewell Address.

GOV. COBURN, of Maine, in his Message, states that the quota of Maine has been something more than filled by soldiers, besides sending about 4000 seamen.

He favors the President's Proclamation, and says,—

The rebels are entitled at our hands during the war to nothing more and nothing less than the treatment prescribed by the laws of war, and we can, and ought and will seize every legitimate weapon to conquer their military power and reduce them to obedience to the Constitution of the United States.

It is on this ground that loyal men can rally with enthusiasm to the support of the President. And it will not abate the force of the new policy that its result is to give freedom to a race long oppressed, and to abolish an institution which has been the source of evil dissension at home and the cause of shame and reproach to us abroad. It will be clearly within the dispensation of God's justice that a system of oppression which violates the natural rights of man, which has always stirred up strife and contention, and which was the direct cause of our present troubles, should wither and perish in the wrathful storm which in its rage it dared to provoke.

The enlistment of the negroes for armed service holding Southern "forts, positions and stations," will be an immeasurable relief to the population of the North, as it will remove the necessity in any contingency of a farther call for troops to serve in the malarious climate of the Gulf States. To oppose this policy is to wantonly sacrifice the precious lives of our young men by exposing them to an extra hazardous service which negroes can perform without any risk. The testimony of our Revolutionary Generals and of Jackson and Harrison in the last war with Great Britain, conclusively established the fact that under good discipline negroes make good soldiers. Let us give them a generous opportunity to prove themselves. The war is one which in its incidents is to result in their enfranchisement, and they will be far better prepared to enjoy their freedom rationally and profitably by having participated in the contest which results in its acquirement.

THE SAILING OF THE SHIP.—Saturday afternoon the new and splendid ship George Griswold, laden with gifts of food for the famished operatives of Lancashire, was towed down the Bay of New York, on her voyage across the wide ocean, for the shores of England. As she moved down the Bay, she was saluted by several British vessels in the harbor; and the crowd of sailors and citizens on her deck, as well as on the steamer which towed her out, and on the other vessels in the vicinity, exhibited their enthusiasm by vociferous shouts and cheers. In a few weeks, or a month, she will arrive in Liverpool, and, perhaps before the close of this month, her stores will have been distributed to the hungry, and the blessings of those who are ready to perish will have been called down upon America.

——— The Elder Davis case vs. the Boston and Maine Railroad is decided for the present, the jury bringing in a verdict for the plf., giving $700 and interest from the date of writ. The action was brought by the plf. to recover damages of the road for injuries received by him, in August, 1860, by being put out of the cars on his refusal to give up his ticket. The conductor wished to take up the ticket and return a check, as is the custom by the road. Elder Davis claimed $10,000 damages on the ground that he had suffered severely from his injuries ever since, and would for life. In this case the court ruled that the conductor had a right to put Elder Davis out of the cars at Dover, upon his refusal to give up his ticket, and to use only what force was necessary to do it. The only question before the jury was whether more force was used than was necessary for the purpose, and if more, what was the damage. It is understood that the case will be reviewed by the road.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 15, 1863.

GEN. BUTLER IN BOSTON.

The reception of Gen. B. F. Butler by the citizens of Boston, at Faneuil Hall, on Tuesday, was a grand demonstration. We doubt, says the Newburyport Herald, if there was a place on all Jeff. Davis' tour from Richmond to the Mississippi and back, that gave him such a welcome as Boston did to the man whom he denounces as a felon, and calls upon his rebel bands to hang wherever they can catch him. We have been thinking that this action of Davis may have much to do with Butler's conversion. A great light has shone around him of late, and his eyes have been opened.—Davis has turned the Southern tide upon him, and he turns the Northern tide upon the chief conspirator at Richmond, and upon the institutions he would uphold and defend. Butler is a hard fellow for them to contend with, whether in field or in forum. No man has done more to weaken them, and none is more ferocious for another struggle.

Faneuil Hall was crowded at an early hour to greet him. He was introduced to the multitude by Mayor Lincoln, of Boston, and made a speech of a half hour, full of hope and encouragement for the timid and doubting. He thinks we are able to conquer the rebels, and to pay the expenses of the war. We are to have fresh recruits from the South, he says, to fill up the ranks of our army; and a tax could be levied on the export of cotton—the production of which would be greatly increased by free labor—to pay the national debt.

He says:—

"In my judgment we have exhausted conciliation. And whenever any man asks you to hold out the olive branch of peace, ask him if he is sure it will be accepted; and until those at the South, heretofore our brothers, but now our armed enemies, are willing and ready to accept peace in the Union and as a part of the Union, let no man talk of conciliation and compromise."

He is ready for it when they are, but not before. As to the taxes hereafter, he says:

Let us bring the South into subjection to the Union. We have offered them equality. If they choose it, let them have it.—But, at all events, they must come under the power of the Union. [Loud cheers.] And when once this war is closed by that subjugation, if you please, if necessary, then the increased productions of the great staples of the South, cotton and tobacco—with which we ought, and can, and shall supply the world—this increased production, by the emigration of white men into the South, where labor shall be honorable as it is here, [applause] will pay the debt. With the millions of hogsheads of the one, and the millions of bales of the other, and with a proper internal tax, which shall be paid by England and France, who have largely caused this mischief, the debt will be paid. [Cries of "That's right," and loud cheers.] Without stopping to be didactic or to discuss principles here, let us examine this matter for a moment. They are willing to pay 50 and 60 cents a pound for cotton: the past has demonstrated that even by the uneconomical use of slave labor, it can be profitably raised—aye, profitably beyond all conception of agricultural profit here—at ten cents a pound. A single impost of ten cents a pound, which will increase it to twenty cents only, will pay the interest of a war debt double what it is to day; and that cotton can be more profitably raised under free labor than under slave labor, no man who has examined the subject doubts. By the imposition of this tax those men who fitted out the Alabama and sent her forth to prey upon our commerce, will be compelled by the laws of trade and the laws of nations to pay for the mischief they have done.

He closes with these encouraging words:

"Be of good cheer. God gave us this Continent to civilize and to free, as an example to the nations of the earth; and if he has struck us in His wrath, because we have failed in our work, let us begin and go on, not doubting that we shall have His blessing to the end. Be, therefore, I say, of good cheer; there can be no doubt of this issue. We feel the struggle; we feel what it costs us to carry on this war. Go with me to Louisiana—go with me to the South, and you shall see what its costs our enemies to carry on this war; and you will have no doubt, as I have none, of the result of this unhappy strife, out of which the nation shall come stronger, better, purified North and South—better than ever before. Now, Mr. Mayor, allow me again to express my cordial, my heartfelt thanks and deep gratitude for the kind reception which you have given me. It has answered every calumny from abroad; it will be a balm for the sores of a thousand points of the poisoned arrows of those who circulated base calumnies against the instrument in hopes to injure the cause. It will be to me the most grateful recollection of my life, and with your kind approbation, I can have no doubt in the future of the path of duty which I ought to pursue."

After his speech he presented a rebel flag to the city of Boston, not as a trophy of the war, but as a memento against the evils of secession. Gen. Butler was pleased with the reception and everybody was pleased with him.

☞ The Newburyport Bridge has declared a dividend of $1.10 per share, payable on demand. The average dividends (eight per cent.) on the value of the stock.

☞ The New York World says five regiments now in that vicinity, have been ordered to join the Banks expedition.

THE REBELLION.

Governor Letcher, of Virginia, in response to a requisition from President Davis, has by proclamation called out all the militia in the counties bordering on the North Carolina line, to aid in repelling any invasion by the enemy in that direction.—They are to rendezvous at Petersburg. A camp of instruction is to be established there.

A New York dispatch says the officer of the rebel army captured off Charleston with dispatches for Europe was a son of George Saunders. The papers found upon him show that the rebels are reduced to extremities. The conclusion of one of the dispatches was: "Send us aid or we perish."

The N. Y. Times has a dispatch from Nashville, stating that Cheatham's and McCown's rebel divisions are at Shelbyville, expecting to be reinforced by Longstreet's corps of 30,000 men from Virginia. Forrest, Wheeler and Stearns, with 4000 men and two full batteries, are marching toward Charlotte, 40 miles west, to destroy our transports with provisions for Gen. Rosecrans' army. One boat, with its freight, was burnt on Monday night. Eight regiments, four of infantry and four of cavalry, under Gen. Stanley, have been sent after Forrest. Morgan, with 3000 men, is again in Kentucky, and further damage to the railroad is apprehended.

Passengers at Cairo from Memphis report that Porter's squadron had arrived at the mouth of the White river. Part of it had commenced to ascend the river, accompanied by a heavy land force under Gen. McClernand. Gen. Grant and staff had arrived at Memphis. Holly Springs was reported almost consumed. The railroad there was torn up and the rails brought to Memphis.

Dispatches from the Army of the Potomac, Wednesday, state that the Rappahannock had swoon considerably by the recent storm, and the roads were horribly. An important reconnoissance up the Rappahannock had returned, after two days' absence, having gone up as far as the mouth of the Rapidan. The rebels are building blockhouses pierced for sharpshooters, at all the places up the river available for crossing. The fords and crossings are thoroughly guarded.

FORTIFYING THE COAST AND LAKES.—The bill for fortifying the coasts and lakes, which has been prepared by the House Military Committee, makes the following appropriations for the construction of new forts:—

$100,000 for a fort at the mouth of the Kennebec; $150,000 for Fort Preble, Portland; $200,000 for Fort Constitution, Portsmouth; $100,000 for Fort McClary, Portsmouth; $150,000 for Provincetown; $150,000 for Narragansett Bay; $200,000 for New London; $200,000 for Fort Carroll, Baltimore, and $100,000 each for Forts Jackson and St. Philip, on the Mississippi.

THE GALVESTON AFFAIR.—It seems to be the general belief that the Harriet Lane and Westfield were surprised at dawn while their watches were asleep. The Harriet Lane's 11-inch guns were sufficient to have repelled, if not to have destroyed the attacking vessels, if she had been in readiness to meet them. The Navy Department has expressed its apprehensions for the safety of two regiments of infantry sent from New Orleans to Galveston, on Commander Farragut's request, only two days before the surprise of these steamers. But we are glad to learn that the steamer conveying these troops heard of the attack while entering the Bay of Galveston, when she was at once turned about, and returned to New Orleans.—Boston Advertiser.

☞ The Washington Star of Monday says: "It is believed in military circles here that the withdrawal of our army from before Vicksburg is without any excuse whatever; that it was simply the result of a miff on the part of Gen. McClerland. It is believed that the President will promptly dismiss him from the service, leaving him to clear up his conduct at leisure."

☞ The Navy Department gives the authority to announce that the statement that forty vessels have left English ports recently to run the blockade, is in accordance with information in its own possession, with the difference that the number of vessels is greater than that published. It dispatches the names of these vessels to the authorities of blockading squadrons, as soon as they are ascertained.

☞ The rebel steamer Sumter was sold at auction, in Gibraltar, for $19,500.—Henceforth she will run in the Liverpool and Mediterranean trade.

The Gibraltar Chronicle says the Federal authorities who protested against the sale of the Sumter, still persist in seeing her as she was, and the steamer Chippewa continues to watch her from Algeciras. The Sumter, now called the Gibraltar, recently made a trial trip, to test her machinery, and the Chippewa also got in motion, but the Sumter soon returned to her anchorage.

☞ A mournful disaster occurred at Harpersville, Broome county, N. Y., on Monday. A pleasure party of 57 ladies and gentlemen were skating on a pond in that vicinity, when the ice gave way, and 27 of them were drowned.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— Agricultural papers in this State have had a chequered life. The Granite State Farmer was commenced in Dec., 1849, and was the first weekly agricultural paper in the State. Much money and labor were sunk in its establishment, but at length it obtained a firm foundation. In 1853 it received to its subscription list the old patrons of Hill's Monthly Visitor, and for three or four years it was one of the best paying weekly papers in the State. Subsequently it changed hands very rapidly, and as rapidly became weakened in its support, until it was revived by Wm. H. Gilmore, Esq., under the name of the Journal of Agriculture. It was soon re-established in the confidence of the people, and obtained a handsome circulation. Mr. Gilmore, in consequence of other engagements, was obliged to dispose of his interest in it, and for the past year or more it has been owned and conducted by Mr. F. B. Eaton, who has just sold it to the proprietor of the Manchester Mirror.

—— The outside of the new cotton mill, which the Pembroke Mills Manufacturing Company are erecting at Suncook Village, is nearly completed. The brick work is all done, and the roof will be finished this week. The machinery is ready, and the mill will probably be put in operation in a short time. Several blocks of boarding houses, to accommodate the operatives, will be erected the coming spring. The Company contemplate erecting, the coming season, another very large mill, to be located on the Allenstown side of the river, near the railroad bridge.

—— The following members of N. H. Regiments have recently died in the hospitals in Washington:

Jan. 2—H. E. Runnels, 11th Regt., Co. H. Jan. 7—Eli Bunce, typhoid, fever, from Dover; H. B. Nealey, 6th, Concord; Samuel Donelson, 5th, Lyme; G. C. Foss, 5th; Jona. D. Thompson, 13th, Barrington; Dan'l W. Winslow, E. Lyme, 11th; Chas. H. Howe, Richard Nealey, 11th, Exeter.

—— Lt. William F. Dame, of Tuftonborough, of the 12th Regiment, has returned home, having been wounded in the side by a shell. Mr. Dame had a very narrow escape from instant death, as the shell passed between his arm and side. The prospect now is that he will soon be well again and return to his post.

—— "Carleton," (C. C. Coffin, a New Hampshire man) the popular war correspondent of the Boston Journal, lectures at Concord on Thursday evening, on the battles of Antietam, Fredericksburg, &c. He is one of the most vigorous writers of the present day, and a clear, impressive speaker.

—— Mr. Thomas C. Christie of Dover, who was captured about a month since at Dumfries, Va., while on his way to the army with sutler's supplies, has been exchanged, and has returned to Washington, not over well pleased with prison life.

—— Mrs. Betsy Tenny, of Antrim, wove 50 yards of cloth in a hand-loom last autumn. She is 72 years of age. Who can beat this in these rebellious times?

—— A letter from the N. H. Battery, states that the boys have just completed their log huts and are really in winter quarters. They are at Pratt's Landing on the Potomac, near Belleplains.

—— The wide awake town of Milford sustains a new daily, of lilliputian dimensions, 12 x 14, called the Republican, F. N. Boutwell, editor and proprietor.

—— On Saturday evening, one John Davis was met on Central street, Manchester, by an enemy, who pitched into him, and knocked off a portion of his nose.

A DEMOCRATIC PLAN UNFOLDED IN LACONIA.—We understand that at a Democratic meeting in Laconia, one evening last week, at which Col. T. J. Whipple and George W. Stevens, Esq., were present and spoke, the following plan of settlement was broached: An immediate armistice and a speedy peace; the reunited States to assume all the expenses of the war—those of the South and those of the North alike. Slavery to be as it was before the rebellion, and agitation of that topic to be deemed worthy of the death of all offenders. This, we are assured, is the spirit, if not the precise form of the plan of pacification cherished by men of acknowledged influence in the Democratic party.—N. H. Statesman.

☞ For three or four days, there have been threatening indications of snow. At last, on Wednesday morning, it came. All through the previous night, the wind roared and howled, and it seemed as if the ground was, at last, to be well covered with a fleecy mantle. But those who fondly hoped such would be the result, were most grievously disappointed. Perhaps a couple of inches of damp, heavy snow fell, and then, during Wednesday forenoon, "the snow turned to rain," and slosh reigned triumphant. Our great snow-storm was a fizzle. The sleigh-rides were indefinitely postponed, and the skating was ruined.

☞ The next wheat crop in Ohio promises to be slim. The editor of the Ohio Farmer has lately traveled through the State, and gives it as his opinion that upon the whole he has never seen such a feeble start for the winter crop as there was in December.

CONGRESS.

TUESDAY.—In the Senate, Mr. Sumner of Massachusetts, reported back the petition of Mr. Jewett for mediation by Switzerland, with the recommendation that it be postponed indefinitely. The report was agreed to. A bill to consolidate regiments and companies was referred to the Military Committee. A resolution requesting the President to communicate all communications between the State Department and representatives of the British Government, relative to the capture of a British vessel with contraband articles aboard, was adopted. A resolution was adopted requesting the President to furnish the correspondence between our Government and the Mexican, relative to the export from the United States of articles contraband of war for the French army in Mexico; also a reported order to prevent the Mexican Government of availing itself of the same privilege.

In the House the Speaker announced the special committee on the military air-line railroad from New York to Washington.—The House then went into a Committee of the Whole on the bill to provide ways and means to support the government. Mr. Morrill of Me., advocated the bill, and was constrained to vote for it only because he knew no other mode to relieve the immediate necessities of the Treasury.

☞ The Supreme Court of Wisconsin has decided to sustain the writ of habeas corpus in behalf of the Ozaukee rioters, arrested for resisting the draft, thus denying the right of the President to suspend the writ in such cases.

☞ The Commissioners under the act for the abolition of slavery in the District of Columbia, have concluded their labors. The number of applicants for freedom was about 1000, and it is stated that only $900,000 of the $1000,000 appropriated will have to be paid. The authorized average allowed for each slave was $300.

☞ Isaac J. Waldron was arrested in Boston, some days since, for passing worthless shinplasters, and brought before the Police Court, when Judge Maine ordered him to be discharged, on the ground that "the statute was not sufficiently broad to cover the case; but it seemed to be a case which should be investigated by the United States authorities."

☞ "A teamster, in Portland, on Tuesday, undertook to drive a yoke of oxen, drawing a load of wood, down a hill covered with ice, in the rear of the City Hospital. He had hardly got the length of his team, when the hind wheels of the cart began to slide, and the whole team—cart, wood and oxen—went down the slope, broke through a fence at the foot, breaking the cart, killing one of the oxen instantly, and injuring the other.

THE WHALE FISHERY.—The New Bedford Standard, in a review of the whale fishery during the past year, says: "The diminution of the whaling fleet has continued through the year, but we hope has reached its minimum. The decrease for the year has been 65 vessels, with a tonnage of 23,297. The decrease for 1861 was 94 vessels, with a tonnage of 32,441; for 1860, 57 vessels, of 18,086 tons; for 1858, 29 vessels, of 9,033 tons; the decrease for five years amounting to 100,140 tons, or 49 per cent. The total number of vessels now engaged in the whaling business is 358, with a tonnage of 108,162."

ON GUARD.

On guard to-night; 'tis a lonely beat,
And, with heavy heart and weary feet,
Amid the gloom and the dark I tread,
For I'm watching o'er the unburied dead.

Past midnight hour, and I long to hear
The step to the soldier's heart most dear,
A sound that banishes all his grief—
The welcome tread of the "next relief."

Ah! here they come; and now I can keep
My next four hours in the land of sleep,
And dream of home and the loved ones there'
Who never may know a soldier's care.

☞ What manner of man must he be who perpetrated the following parody?

Leaves have their time to fall,
And flowers to wither 'neath the north winds breath,
And stars to set; but all—
Thou hast all seasons for thy own, O, Death!
—HEMANS.

Men have their time to talk,
To "gas," to "spin long yarns," for 'tis human,
And parrots theirs to mock—
But I grieve to say thou hast all seasons for thy everlasting tongue, O, Woman!

Ayer's Compound Extract Sarsaparilla.

No one remedy is more needed in this country than a reliable alterative, but the sick have been so outrageously cheated by the impossible preparations of Sarsaparilla abroad that they are disgusted even with the name. Yet the drug cannot be blamed for the impositions from which they have suffered. Most of the so-called Sarsaparillas in the market contain little of the virtues of Sarsaparilla or anything else. They are mere dregs—inert and worthless, while a concentrated extract of the active variety of sarsaparilla compounded with Dock, Yellow Dock, &c., is, as it ever will be, a powerful alterative and an effectual remedy. Such is Ayer's Extract of Sarsaparilla, as its truly wonderful cures of the great variety of complaints which require an alterative medicine have abundantly shown. Do not, therefore, discard this invaluable medicine, because you have been imposed upon by something pretending to be Sarsaparilla, while it was not. When you have used AYER's—then, and not till then, will you know the virtues of Sarsaparilla. For minute particulars of the diseases it cures, we refer you to Ayer's American Almanac, which the agent below named will furnish gratis to all who call for it.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS, for the cure of Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Headache, Rheumatism, Heartburn arising from disordered Digestion, Pain, or Morbid Inaction of the Bowels, Pustulency, Loss of Appetite, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, and for a Dinner Pill.

They are sugar coated, so that the most sensitive can take them pleasantly, and they are the best Aperient in the world for all the purposes of a family physic. PRICE 25 CENTS PER BOX; FIVE BOXES FOR $1.00.

Do not be put off by unprincipled dealers with cheap and worthless pills, to make more profit on them. Demand AYER's, and take no others. The sick want the best and there is for them, and they should have it.

Rubber Band Carpet Sweeper.

TRY IT! TRY IT!!

It saves Money; it saves Carpets; it saves Furniture; it saves Labor; it is cheaper than Brooms at five cents apiece.

It gathers up all dust, dirt, and loose lint on the carpets, and raises no dust to settle on the furniture, drapery, or ornaments, or to smother, stifle and irritate the lungs.

It does not wear the carpets half so much as brooms or any other sweeper.

It is the only practicable sweeper made, and the only article fit to sweep a carpet.

With our late improvements it gives universal satisfaction to all who use it according to directions. For sale at No. 12 Market Street by

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking; giving an oven nearly 3 feet long! or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time! A check draft is applied to this stove by means of which the consumption of fuel is greatly lessened, and a steady fire can be kept day and night if desired.

THE MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be THE STOVE for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We believe the MODEL COOK to be the very best Stove in the Market, and invite every one to examine it whether they wish to purchase or not. It has had a very extensive sale since its introduction. Reference might be made to more than a hundred families in this city or vicinity who are using the Stove, and give it the highest commendation.

We refer to the following individuals who have purchased the Model Cook:—

David Kimball, Thos. F. Burt, John T. French, Rev. Jeremiah Chaplin, Wm. Pettigrew, Capt. John Davis, Jeremiah Built, Mrs. Ann T. Perkins, James W. Jarvis, Francis C. Jarvis, Thos. L. Tullock, Jacob Wendell, Capt. Jacob Thompson, Gen. J. G. Hadley, G. Melvin Huntress, Jos. D. Akerman, James F. Shores, Wm. C. Newton, Morton D. Walker, Benj. Cheever, John Trundy, Richard L. Randall, Geo. Rice, Benj. F. Cassey, Benj M. Parker, Charles A. Wiggin, George W. Plumer, Nath'l Bennett, Henry F. Gerrish, John Harratt, Thos Murphy, Capt. Wm. Lambert, Joseph Stiles, John Senter, Wm. Bell, Cyrus Plumer, Freeman Hurd, James M. Locke, Daniel C. Rundall, Isaiah Wilson, John E. Roberts—of Portsmouth; Samuel C. Dixon, Daniel I. Pryor, Cushman Pryor, of Trefethen's Island; Geo. N. Dixon, Samuel F. Paul, Elias Remick, Timothy Dame, Eliot, Wm. S. Locke, Benj. Kendall, Mrs. Wm. Locke, Kittery; R. F. Gerrish, Kittery Point; Hon. Clement March, Albert Blaisdell, Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W. Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Mrs. Reuben P. Jenness, David Jenness, Moses Philbrick, Rye.

VICTOR COAL STOVE.

We offer this beautiful coal burner to the public, with full confidence in its merits.

It was brought into market two years since, and has come rapidly into use.

The Victor is one of the handsomest parlor stoves in the market, and is perfect in its operation. The arrangement for dumping the ashes is very fine—no dust need escape into the room—a continuous fire may be kept throughout the winter—the coal all burned, and no clinkers made.

The quantity of fuel used is very small indeed. There is in this stove an excellent arrangement for ventilating the room in which it is placed; a feature not possessed by any other parlor stove.

Some of the sizes are provided with an oven and boiling place, making them very desirable for a dining room.

We sold a large number of Victor Stoves in our city last season, and they receive the highest commendation from those who are using them.

We have also the celebrated McGregor Stove, so well known in the market as to need no commendation.

A great variety of cheap per Stoves for coal and wood—Coal hods—Patent Coal-sifters.

COAL LININGS,

and Repairing pieces for most of the stoves in use. Job Work attended to with dispatch.

BUY CALIFORNIA WINES.

They are the Purest!

The Best!

The Cheapest!

The "sunny slopes" of "Los Angelos" have announced to the world that America is a wine growing country, and as the discovery of gold sent a thrill through the old world, so will the discovery of these Wines startle them again, as it says, "one more link broken which has bound us to Europe," "one more step to independence." Let every man, woman and child who uses Wine, see to it that they buy none other than these.

"The Hock" is a most delicious Wine, and rivals in delicacy its German predecessor.

The "Angelica" and "Muscatel" are melting, luscious and rich, and will take the place of Malaga, Tokay, or other rich Wine.

The Port has a fine flavor and body; and The Port is excellent because it is pure.

☞ ATTENTION, THE WHOLE! ☜

EYE, N. H., Feb. 26, 1848. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—but it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended to the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of DR. SWETT'S FANACEA, and several bottles of his Humor WASH, which have effected a cure. There can be no mistake, as this cure was effected more than three years ago. No other medicines can equal Dr. Swett's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold it to a number of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it since I have acted as agent for the sale of it. JOSIAH JENNESS.

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S FANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

From ELDER I CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1861.

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your FANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26o

Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.
The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would say that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.
The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to secure, to date, a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.
These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full access to records of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.
All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here waived inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.
Mr. E. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of skill and success on his part leads me to recommend, all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may secure a more extended and full attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."
JOHN TAGGART.
During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made no fewer rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED.
DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos. 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a
PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.
By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the happy location of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most aggravated and aggravated
GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.
Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, frightful swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms arising from the use of mercury, are made to become as harmless as the simplest stings of a child.
SEMINAL WEAKNESS.
Dr D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate victim for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Dimness of the Head, Dizziness of sight, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the Digestive Functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects of this habit are many to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, love of solitude, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.
Persons who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.
Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your case. Dr. Dow has also for sale the French Capotes, warranted the best preventive. Order by mail. Three for $1 and a red stamp.
April 7—1y Mew.

CAUTION
To Females in Delicate Health.
DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 & 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female constitution. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated on a new and certain principle, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the enfeebled persons soon rejoice in perfect health.
Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.
Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.
Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.
N. B.—All letters must contain four red stamps, or they will not be answered.
Office Hours from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M.
April7, 1y—Mew

CERTAIN CURE
In all cases, or No Charges Made.
Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. as above, upon all different and chronic diseases of every name and nature, having by his unwearied attention and extraordinary success gained a reputation which calls patients from all parts of the country to visit his office.
Among the physicians in Boston, none stand higher in the profession than the celebrated DR. DOW, No. 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.
P. S.—Dr. Dow imports and has for sale a new article, called the FRENCH SECRET. Order by mail. Two for $1 and a red stamp.

Teeth on Vulcanized Rubber.
SOME OF ITS ADVANTAGES.
1st. It is stronger and lighter than any known material.
2d. From one to six times the amount of suction or adhesion can be obtained by it.
3d. When the arch is irregular we can by building out the depressions—which can be done to any extent—give the mouth a more natural appearance.
4th. No bad taste arises in the mouth by its use, as the secretions of the stomach and mouth do not affect it in the least.
5th. Teeth mounted upon this base can be kept clean and sweet as easily as a silver, as when finished the work presents one whole piece.
6th. While in all ways it is better, save in a few peculiar cases, it is much cheaper than Gold.
DR. A. P. STEVENS, Surgeon Dentist,
No. 5 Daniel St., Portsmouth,
Has had four years of practical experience in making this material, and will guarantee satisfaction in all cases entrusted to his care.
Portsmouth, Jan. 1, 1863.

DENTISTRY.
No. 60 CONGRESS STREET,
Portsmouth, Jan. 1st, 1863.
DR. GOODALL
Would respectfully inform his patrons and the public, (have no bad or late name) calls to insert teeth upon VULCANIZED RUBBER, that he has purchased the best VULCANIZER in the market, and is now prepared to do all work upon RUBBER, or the other bases of GOLD and SILVER as formerly, if preferred.
The Rubber has several important advantages, viz.: It is very light and elastic, and consequently is perfectly easy to the muscles of the mouth and cheeks. There are no insterices or open joints to collect food, &c.; consequently they can be worn night and day, and are very easily kept neat and clean.
Beside all this, the most accurate fit is obtained, as the Rubber is Vulcanized directly upon the plaster model, and the suction is of course much stronger than in plates of Gold or Silver.
Any one who is waiting for their permanent teeth will, I am confident, be perfectly satisfied with the Rubber as a base. The expense is but a little more than for Silver, and you get the same teeth (in blocks) that you would pay $60.00 for an upper or lower set on Gold.
In New York and Boston, and throughout the West, Vulcanized Rubber is used almost to the exclusion of the other bases, and by the best Dentists. I will warrant a perfect fit and teeth from the best manufacturer in the country, S. S. White.
ALL OTHER OPERATIONS IN DENTISTRY I will do at the usual rates. I will here mention that my price for EXTRACTION is 25 cents.

THE MAGEE
COOKING STOVE.

The subscribers, having received their Fall stock of Stoves, would especially call the attention of the public to the
MAGEE COOK STOVE,
as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this before buying, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.
There is a new style and very superior broiler and sad iron heater combined, by which the odor of broiling meats are prevented from escaping into the room. With the extension top there is a large copper Reservoir for hot water; also a large tin warming-closet attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.
The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, as no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shovelling up of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and will burn twenty-four day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.
For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who are now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.
We would refer to the following purchasers:

"MAGEE'S PATENT"
VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING
FURNACES.
The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodeling or erecting buildings to Examine this truly valuable invention.
For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, pure and agreeable—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headaches so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.
The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.
To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over those in use, and some have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the
MAGEE FURNACE.
The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites the gases and consumes them, saving at least 30 per cent. of the property of the heat in the fuel.
No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on top of the fire can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a great amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.
This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.
These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.
For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire can be kept the entire season without once going out.
They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world, and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:
Samuel Cleaves, Esq., Albert H. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill, Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell, John Sise, and others.

This is a new and invaluable preparation for preserving and beautifying the hair.
The wonderful virtues of Arnica in allaying and removing inflammation are universally known.
ARNICA HAIR GLOSS is a combination of these virtues, with other tried and excellent ingredients.
ARNICA HAIR GLOSS stimulates and invigorates the hair, prevents it from falling out—restores it when lost—promotes its growth and strengthens it to proof against all diseases.
ARNICA HAIR GLOSS permanently cures all irritations and eruptions of the scalp, and makes it healthy and fertile. For the removal of dandruff it has no equal. Its operations in this particular are magical and permanent.
ARNICA HAIR GLOSS is unequalled as a hair-dressing compound. It cools the scalp, the scalp and invigorates the hair, but it renders the latter charmingly soft and lustrous. Its odor is peculiarly delicate and refined—the proprietor having taken especial pains to secure this result.
ARNICA HAIR GLOSS is the very best preparation for the hair ever discovered.
ARNICA HAIR GLOSS, notwithstanding its surpassing merits—is retailed at only Twenty-five cents a bottle, by all Druggists.

A SURE RELIEF FOR THE SUFFERER.
This Salve is a vegetable preparation, invented in the 17th century, by Dr. WM. GRACE, surgeon in King James's army. Through its agency he cured thousands of most serious sores and wounds that baffled the skill of the most eminent physicians of his day, and was regarded by all who knew him as a public benefactor.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Burns.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Scalds.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Flesh Wounds.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Corns.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Felons.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Frozen Limbs.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Scurvy.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Callouses.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Salt Rheum.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Chilblains.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Sore Breast.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Sore Lips.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Erysipelas Sores.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Abscesses.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Ulcers.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Chapped Hands.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Ringworms.
And from Sores and Wounds of the most serious nature down to a common Pimple. It eradicates Pimples from the face, and beautifies the skin. There is no preparation before the public that can equal this Salve in prompt and energetic action for the speedy cure of external diseases, as those who have tried its virtues testify. Soldiers, Sailors, and Fishermen, will find this Salve their best friend.
It has none of the irritating, heating properties of other remedies, but cools, cleanses, and heals the most serious Sores and Wounds. Every family, and especially those containing children, should keep a box on hand in case of accident, for it will save them much trouble, suffering, and money. All it wants is a fair trial to cure old and inveterate Sores.

NO PARTY—ONE COUNTRY.

"Bound to no party—to no sect confined;
The world our home; our brethren, all mankind.
Love truth, do good, be just and fair with all;
Exalt the right, though every ism fall."

"Let me warn you in the most solemn manner against the baneful effects of the spirit of Party, generally. It is a spirit not to be encouraged.—Its common and continual mischief is sufficient to make it the interest and duty of a wise people to discourage and restrain it. In governments of the popular form, it is seen in its greatest rankness, and is truly their worst enemy."—Washington's Farewell Address.

THE LUCKY DENTIST.—The Sultan of Turkey was recently afflicted with an attack of the disease known as the jumping toothache. His dentist was summoned, but could not be found at his lodgings; he had, in fact, gone to a hunt. For three hours messengers on fleet steeds sought for him, the Sultan, meanwhile, roaring with pain till the entire household seemed to hear in their ears that twang of the bowstring.—Fortunately one of them remembered an obscure dentist whose sign was out in a remote quarter; this member of the profession was found, a ragged man in a garret, and was whisked away to the palace.—Twelve valets seized upon him, cleansed him, brushed him, tumbled him into comparative decency, and sent him, forceps in hand, into the palace. He extracted the tooth, and received the warm regard of his Serenity, and was at once named special dentist, with a great monthly salary, an immediate gift of a large amount, and a noble residence.

☞ The Empress Eugenie dressed in the most gorgeous style while at Compiegne. She appeared on one occasion with quite a collection of tropical humming-birds about her person. But, says a letter-writer, they were, however, arranged with good effect. She had a dress of some very flimsy pink material, which looked so light that one would in no way be surprised to see it floating in the air, like a pipe-blown bubble. The skirt would have been, perhaps, as long as the train of a court dress, were it not what is technically called "looped up" with bunches of roses, so fair, and so like those which grow in a well cultivated garden, that the tropical humming-birds which flattered on them seemed as if attracted there by their beauty. Fireflies, also, gleamed out from beneath the green leaves, and on the side of a wreath of roses and rose-buds, a very large-tailed bird of paradise had the privilege of being perched the whole evening.

RUM'S DOINGS.—Last week, a man in Freedom, Me., named Enos Briggs, aged about forty-five years, who had been living with a woman to whom he had never been married, and by whom he has had two children, gave five dollars to the woman and sent her to the house of a neighbor, and started himself for the village, where he obtained two quarts of rum, and went home intoxicated, and fastened himself in his house. Shortly after, the house was seen in flames. When the neighbors arrived, Briggs was dead, and his body severely burned. On the same day, a man named Leighton got drunk and beat his wife, and thereupon she left him. When he got over it a little, he went to see his wife, and tried to persuade her to return, but finding his efforts unavailing, he returned to his house and cut his throat. Bad rum was "the beginning and the end."—Portland Press.

☞ In Sheffield, Eng., nails used to be sold in small quantities by the hundred; and the terms fourpenny, sixpenny, etc., referred to such nails as were sold at fourpence, sixpence, etc., per hundred nails. The length of the nails of that day, that were so designated, was exactly the same with nails that are now known by those designations.

☞ The present winter is terribly severe in Russia. A letter from St. Petersburg says: "In the memory of man there has not been such a winter as this at St. Petersburg—twenty degrees of cold; the river and the sea locked in ice for a long time past, and not a flake of snow!"

☞ The soldiers in the Army of the Cumberland have recalled the old proverb—"Bragg is a good dog, but Holdfast is a better," and since the battle of Murfreesboro, have called Gen. Rosecrans "Old Holdfast."

FRIDAY, JANUARY 16, 1863.

THE REBELLION.

A Cairo dispatch, of Wednesday, states that the steamer Grampus, lying at the mouth of Wolf river, was surprised and captured by 13 rebels Sunday night. She was taken 5 miles above Memphis and stripped and burned. The evacuation of Holly Springs is confirmed. It is reported in Memphis that 800 rebels had arrived at Lumpkin's Mills, 6 miles below Holly Springs, for the purpose of repairing the railroad. The Bulletin thinks the expedition up White River has already reached Little Rock, having left the mouth of the river on the 5th.

A Nashville despatch, 14th, states that Wheeler's rebel cavalry, with a battery, attacked three of our boats at Harpett Shoals on Tuesday. The boat Trio, with 200 sick and wounded, was fired into and the men captured and paroled. The other boats with Commissary stores aboard were burned. The gunboat Sidell engaged the rebels, but surrendered. Her guns were thrown overboard and the boat burned.

The Richmond Examiner reports the arrival of Gen. Kirby Smith, and staff, in Richmond, from the West. The same paper says—"On Saturday about 150 Yankee deserters took the oath of allegiance to the Confederate Government and were discharged from prison on their parole of honor. Among them are many artisans and workmen of various crafts, who will be useful in Government employ. Four thousand Yankee prisoners are on their way to Richmond from Chattanooga, taken by Bragg at Murfreesboro. This is the only Yankee army that will ever reach Richmond."

Gen. Banks' advance from Baton Rouge will not probably take place before Jan. 20, as it is necessary to make ample preparations for the reduction of the formidable rebel entrenchments.

☞ Special dispatches from Washington state that "the rebels are liberal in their offers to the West of free navigation, free trade, and freedom from taxation, if she will join the South. Members of Congress west of the Wabash declare that a ship canal between the great lakes and the Mississippi is a political as well as a military necessity; that there is a deep-laid and well-spread scheme to detach the Northwest from the Union, and that it may succeed unless provision is made for getting the grain of the valley to the seaboard at rates of transportation that shall not eat up its value."

☞ Hon. Charles Sumner was re-elected U. S. Senator from Massachusetts on Thursday. The vote in the House stood—Charles Sumner 194, Josiah G. Abbott 38, Caleb Cushing 2, Charles Francis Adams 1. The Senate vote was—Sumner 33, Abbott 5, Adams 1.

T. A. Hendricks and David Turpie have been elected U. Senators from Indiana, the latter for the short term. Both are Democrats.

☞ James W. Wall, (Dem.) of Burlington, has been elected U. S. Senator from New Jersey.

☞ The 37th Regiment of Iowa volunteers (known as the "Graybeard Regiment") left St. Louis last week for the South. A striking peculiarity of this regiment is, that nearly all its members, officers and men, are over forty-five years of age. Three-fourths of them are grey-headed, and many of them have long white beards, giving them a venerable aspect.

☞ It is curious to notice that the vessels which have been noted for their fights in this war, have been destroyed in other ways than in battle, as will be seen by the following list: Mound City, blown up; Arkansas, blown up; Monitor, foundered; Merrimac, scuttled; Cairo, exploded.

☞ The Leavenworth (Kansas,) Times of the 3d says that a large number of railroad laborers had just arrived in that city, and would commence the work of breaking ground on the Pacific Railroad, thence west, on the day following. The work is to be pushed with the utmost vigor.

☞ The Massachusetts "State Industrial School for Girls" is more than realizing the expectations of its friends. The number of girls in the school in October last was 131, and many have been furnished with homes during the past year.

☞ The Boston Journal says there is not a word of truth in the rumor concerning the recall of Admiral Wilkes, who enjoys the fullest confidence of the Government.

☞ The stevedores of New York, who stowed the relief Fund on board the ship George Griswold, sent their bill of $670 to the committee receipted. This was the offering of the New York working men to the distressed operatives of Lancashire.

☞ Gen. McClellan will be in Boston in the early part of next week.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— Gen. Marston has returned to his seat in Congress.

—— Gov. Berry and Sec. Tenney visited the Maine Legislature on Wednesday, and in the Senate, on motion of Mr. Woods a recess of thirty minutes was taken, for the purpose of allowing members to pay their respects to them.

—— On Monday, the shoddy and gaist mill at Franklin, belonging to the Franklin Mills Company and occupied by Mr. Robert Nesmith, was totally consumed by fire.

—— A correspondent of the Manchester Mirror states that on Monday evening last, thirty women turned out in East Canaan for the purpose of tarring and feathering a Mrs. Roby, who has been keeping rather a disreputable house there for a few months past. They found the doors closed and fastened, but a man standing near threw a piece of plank at the door, knocking out a panel, and an entrance was soon effected. She was found protected by some six or eight men, who refused to give her up to the mob, and they finally capitulated by allowing her to depart on the next train. She was followed to the depot by a crowd of about seventy-five persons of both sexes. An occurrence of a similar nature took place in Enfield recently.

—— The Dover Enquirer says that there has been a wrong construction given to the recent ruling of Judge Bartlett, relative to the sale of the Gazette. Judge Bartlett did not rule that the good will of any business or trade could not be be disposed of by sale. The ruling of Judge B. was, that Mr. Gibbs could not bind himself, that he never would, in any place, set up the printing business, on the the ground that no person can bind himself never to engage in any employment, because this would debar the community to a right to his services for the general good. He could bind himself for a limited time. Mr. Gibbs, in the case in question, did not agree "to sell himself," that is, his talents and knowledge of the business. He could sell his subscription list, the business generally coming to the office, and even the reputation of the Dover Gazette, if it may be so called.

—— The Democratic Convention for the nomination of a candidate for Representative to Congress from District No. 2 was held in Manchester on Wednesday. Hon. J. M. Harper, of Canterbury, presided.—Col. John H. George, of Concord, was nominated as the candidate on the first ballot, receiving 114 of the 158 votes cast.

—— It has been predicted that the coming campaign in this State will be waged with great vigor. But as yet, though only two months remain before election, no especial effort has been made by either party. There has been no public speaking except in a few localities, no profuse circulation of documents, no earnest work of any description.

☞ The annual election of officers of the Governor's Horse Guards, and the 3d grand Ball of the corps, took place at Concord on Wednesday. We shall give a full report to-morrow; but have only time to state that most of the old officers were re-elected, and the choice of Colonel deferred: and that the Ball passed off in the most brilliant and satisfactory manner.

WOODEN PAPER.—The Boston Journal is now printed on paper made from wood—and the experiment appears entirely successful too. King Cotton seems to be getting dethroned pretty fast.

☞ At 1 P. M., Thursday, the price of gold in New York was 49 1-4 per cent. premium. At the Second Board gold declined to 48.

☞ Japan is in a state of revolution.—Important reforms are being inaugurated, and changes made, which will affect the interests of foreign countries. It is reported that the Regent has been murdered.

☞ Professor Labouluye, of Paris, the eloquent champion of the Union cause in France, has written another powerful article on the American Question, which has made considerable sensation in France and England. He undertakes to prove that a separation would inevitably lead to perpetual war.

Be always receiving or doing good.—This will make your life comfortable, your death happy, and your account most glorious.

☞ The Washington correspondents are certain that Gen. Butler will be returned to New Orleans.

☞ The largest military hospital in the world, containing two thousand beds, was opened and dedicated on Saturday at Philadelphia.

☞ The Boston Five Cent Savings' Bank received on Tuesday from two hundred and fifty depositors over $23,000, being the largest amount ever before received in one day.

☞ Molasses is quoted at $11 per gallon by the barrel in Richmond. Gold is sell-at $200 a 210. Sterling exchange, $2 05 a 2 12 1-2.

☞ 505,550 bushels of potatoes have been shipped from Bangor the past year, valued at $211,237 50.

THE REBEL GEN. RAINS.

This young officer in the rebel army, Jas. Edward Rains, was the son of a loyal clergyman, now living at Nashville, who prays for the success of our arms against the rebels.

The young man was possessed of handsome talents, and was a graduate of Yale College. One of his college acquaintances informs us, through the Portland Press, that Rains, during his senior year at Yale College in 1854, carried away in the Linonian society, the 1st prize of his class for superiority in debate upon the following question: "Is the maxim, 'Our country right or wrong' worthy of our support?"

Rains took the true ground, viz: that it was not;—and his college mate adds:—

"I not only remember well the able manner in which he argued the negative, but I also then obtained his article, which I have before me in full, showing what Gen. Rains thought less than nine years ago. I quote a few sentences:

The maxim, "Our country right or wrong" is not worthy of our support, because 1st, From its intrinsic nature it is opposed to the law of right. 2d, From its practical effect it is opposed to the law of expediency.

For example, a nation makes an enactment. Suppose it declare war, the war then becomes a law of the land and binds the subject with the same force as any other law of the land. There may be no doubt in the mind of the subject that his country is going into a war against an unoffending State to rob it of its rights. The question is, should he render assistance if called upon. * * * * * *

But who then is to decide whether the command of Government is opposed to the moral law? Is the subject to judge of every enactment of his government and obey if he approve; if disapprove, disobey? No. It is not a right thing to resist civil authority and may not be done except our country be manifestly or avowedly wrong. But if it is clearly wrong and actually in war, what shall we do? We ought to refuse our support. But suppose all refuse, then the war will cease, as it ought. But suppose the enemy is not willing for it to cease. Then it changes its character; we are now in the right and can defend ourselves.

But if we refuse to fight for our country, the cry of treason is raised, and we are asked if we will turn traitors to our country? But our country has turned traitor to right, and we cannot turn with her. But we will not turn against our country—we will remain passive. * * * * * *

Franklin said, 'where freedom is, there is my country.' So the Christian says, 'where right is, there is my country; where wrong is, I have nothing to claim.' The first man says 'my country right forever; my country wrong never.' The patriot says, 'my country's cause; when right, I'll shed the last drop of my blood in her defence; when wrong I'll set her right.'"

It would seem strange that a man who has uttered some of these sentences quoted should in less than nine years be killed in active rebellion against his country, in support of a system which has the curse of God upon it;—nor, even his father, as a "holy man of God," does stand at the sacred desk to pray for the success of our arms. Nine years ago I heard him say, "if my country was wrong we wouldn't turn against it—we would remain passive." And yet when the South declares war against his government, fires into national vessels, attacks national forts, trails in dishonor the national flag, he is found against his country."

THE EMANCIPATION PROCLAMATION.—The greatest crime ever committed by a Chief Magistrate of a free people, has been perpetrated by the President in the promulgation of the Emancipation Proclamation, which will be found in this paper. A few short months ago, Mr. Lincoln compared such a document to "the Pope's bull against the Comet;" and he also said that such a proceeding as this contemplates, would institute "a John Brown raid on a gigantic scale." These expressions most forcibly characterize the Proclamation and the expected results, so far as the effect upon the slave is concerned; for all intelligent men regard it as a stupendous folly as a means of peaceable liberation of the slaves, and as a direct invitation to the perpetration by them of crimes and horrors unexampled in the world's history. It indeed caps the climax of folly and wickedness.—N. H. Patriot.

☞ The Rev. Lyman Beecher, D. D., who has just deceased, is, at his own request, buried in New Haven by the side of Rev. Dr. Taylor, one of his early and dear friends. He has been married three times, and the most distinguished of his children were by his first wife—the mother of Catherine, Edward, Mrs. Stowe, Charles, and Henry Ward—a woman of extraordinary mind and acquirements, who was accustomed over their tea table to argue with him the most profound questions of philosophy and theology, and whom the Doctor declared fully his equal in any argument.

Gen. Butler has not been as radical a democrat as the N. Y. Post supposes. He was in favor of the coalition at the time Charles Sumner was first elected to the U. S. Senate, and declared afterward, we have understood, that if he had been a member of the Legislature that year he would have voted for Mr. Sumner. He expressed his determination not to oppose the reelection of Gov. Andrew in 1861, and was more placable in other instances than the Post imagines, before he became convinced that emancipation was the only panacea for our national affliction, and thus won the Post's affection.—Boston Post.

☞ Col. J. B. Forman, twenty years of age, the youngest Colonel in the Army, was killed at Murfreesboro'.

There are two reasons why we don't trust a man; one because we don't know him, and the other because we do.

☞ The name of Tom Thumb's pigmy bride is said to be Bump, ("Phœbus," &c.) and not Warren. She is a native of Middleboro', in Plymouth county, Mass.

What kind of livers are most subject to "liver disease?" High livers.

Rubber Band Carpet Sweeper.

TRY IT! TRY IT!!

It saves Money; it saves Carpets; it saves Furniture; it saves Labor; it is cheaper than Brooms at five cents apiece.

It gathers up all dust, dirt, and loose lint on the carpets, and raises no dust to settle on the furniture, drapery, or ornaments, or to smother, stifle and irritate the lungs.

It does not wear the carpets half so much as brooms or any other sweeper.

It is the only practicable sweeper made, and the only article fit to sweep a carpet.

With our late improvements it gives universal satisfaction to all who use it according to directions. For sale at No. 12 Market Street by

In the Common Council the Standing Committees were announced.

EASTERN RAILROAD.—The brick work on the new depot of this road in Boston, is completed, and the building is a handsome addition to the part of the city in which it is located. The Ballot says the color of the cars run on this road is being changed from yellow to dark green, it having been discovered that with coal-burning locomotives, this color wears better than the former.—Superintendent Prescott runs on the Eastern R. R. some of the finest equipped passenger trains that leave Boston.

☞ Deputy Grand Patriarch, Wm. C. Hatch, Sons of Temperance, of this city, went to Dover last week, accompanied by a considerable delegation of Sons and Daughters of the Order, to organize and institute a new Division in that city. Twenty one ladies and gentlemen of the highest respectability, were admitted, and the 18th Division, in New Hampshire was established, apparently on the firmest basis. The Portsmouth party speak in high terms of the liberal and courteous hospitality of their new Dover friends. The delegation drove up with a four horse team, and an axle of the carriage breaking soon after leaving Dover on their home trip, they were obliged to return to D. for the night—where they were again taken in and handsomely done for.

PEAK FAMILY.—This celebrated family of Vocalists and "Bell Ringers," give one of their pleasing entertainments at the Temple, in this city, this, Friday, evening, Jan. 16. The reputation of the Peak Family as first-class performers is beyond question, and they need no praise from us. Their advertisement will be found in another column.

☞ A portion of the Portsmouth Steam Factory will be run for the manufacture of spool cotton, and twisters are to be put up at once in the mill. If the company will make a good article, (and every one who knows Col. Stearns, says the Ballot, will not suppose they will make any other,) a profitable business will doubtless grow up. The company have quite a valuable stock of lawns on hand, manufactured at low prices, from the future sales of which some big dividends are anticipated; and there has been quite a lively enquiry for the stock of late, which has, in consequence, made a rapid advance in market.

☞ Messrs. John Neal and others are about to commence the construction of a new ship at the late Samuel Badger's ship yard in Kittery.

CONGRESS.

WEDNESDAY.—In the Senate, the bill reorganizing the Court of Claims was taken up. Mr. Hale moved that the bill be indefinitely postponed. Lost, 11 against 29. The bill provides for two additional judges and for an appeal to the Supreme Court where over $3000 was involved. An amendment to strike out the first section providing for two additional judges, was rejected.

In the House, a joint resolution was passed to provide immediate payment for the army and navy. It authorizes the Secretary of the Treasury to issue one hundred millions in notes in such form as he may deem expedient, not bearing interest, payable on demand, in denominations not less than one dollar; receivable for all debts except duties on imports. The issue to be deducted from the amount of any bill now pending or hereafter passed by Congress.

☞ Gen. Wool has arrived at New York, and assumed command of the Department of the East, which includes New England and New York. He has issued orders requiring reports at once from all his subordinates; also, the prompt report of all officers and privates absent from the army, by what authority they are away from their regiments, and the immediate arrest of deserters.

LOST—A large Newfoundland DOG, the property of Rev. Mr. Barrow, U. S. Navy. Any person returning and Dog to me at the Navy Yard, will be suitably rewarded.

ja16 J. M. BUADFORD.

It is thought the adjourned controversy between Gen. Butler and Gov. Andrew may be settled at the polls next November. —Boston Post.

Gov. Andrew had better look to his ebony laurels. Like all new converts, Butler outstrips the old believers in zeal and the vigor of his faith.—Portland Advertiser.

MATHEWS' VENETIAN LIQUID HAIR DYE.

☞ MATTHEWS' VENETIAN HAIR DYE.—This celebrated Dye was first prepared in 1846; since that time it has been USED BY THOUSANDS, and in no instance has it failed to give PERFECT SATISFACTION.

THE VENETIAN DYE is the cheapest in the world. Its price is ONLY FIFTY CENTS, and each bottle contains DOUBLE THE QUANTITY OF DYE, contained in those usually sold for ONE DOLLAR.

THE VENETIAN DYE is the safest composition of its class. It is WARRANTED NOT TO INJURE the hair, or the scalp, in the least.

THE VENETIAN DYE works with RAPIDITY AND CERTAINTY. It causes no annoyance or trouble to those who use it.

THE VENETIAN DYE produces any shade that may be desired,—one that will not fade nor wash out,—one that is as permanent as the hair itself.

THE VENETIAN DYE does not, in any manner, interfere with the NATURAL softness of the HAIR,—it neither scorches nor dries it.

THE VENETIAN DYE is the best, cheapest, safest, most convenient, most successful, and most permanent Dye ever used.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking; giving an oven nearly 3 feet long! large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time! A direct draft is applied to this stove by means of which the consumption of fuel is greatly lessened, and a steady fire can be kept day and night if desired.

THE MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be THE STOVE for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We believe the MODEL COOK to be the very best Stove in the Market, and invite every one to examine it whether they wish to purchase or not. It has had a very extensive sale since its introduction. Reference might be made to more than a hundred families in this city or vicinity who are using the Stove, and give it the highest commendation.

We refer to the following individuals who have purchased the Model Cook:—

David Kimball, Thos. F. Burt, John T. French, Rev. Mr. Davies, Wm. Pettigrew, Capt. John Davis, Jeremiah Raitt, Mrs. Ann T. Perkins, James W. Jarvis, Francis C. Jarvis, Thos. L. Tullock, Jacob Wendell, Capt. Jacob Thompson, Geo. J. G. Hadley, G. Melvin Hunt'ess, Jos. D Akerman, James F. Shores, Wm. C. Newton, Horton D. Walker, Benj. Cheever, John Trundy, Richard L. Randall, Geo. Rice, Benj. F. Canney, Benj M. Parker, Charles A. Wiggin, George W. Plumer, Nath'l Dennett, Henry F. Gerrish, John Harrett, Thos Murphy, Capt. Wm. Lambert, Joseph Stiles, John Senter, Wm. Bell, Cyrus Plumer, Freeman Hurd, James M. Locke, Daniel L. Randall, Isaiah Wilson, John E. Roberts—of Portsmouth; Samuel C. Dilton, Daniel I. Pryor, Cushman Pryor, of Trefethen's Island; Geo. N. Dixon, Samuel F. Paul, Elias Remick, Timothy Dame, Eliot; Wm. S. Locke, Benj. Furbaid, Mrs. Wm. Locke, Kittery; R. E. Gerrish, Kittery Point; Hon. VICTOR COAL STOVE.

We offer this beautiful coal burner to the public, with full confidence in its merits.

It was brought into market two years since, and has come rapidly into use.

The Victor is one of the handsomest parlor stoves in the market, and is perfect in its operation. The arrangement for dumping the ashes is very fine—no dust need escape into the room—a continuous fire may be kept throughout the winter—the coal all burned, and no clinkers made.

The quantity of fuel used is very small indeed. There is in this stove an excellent arrangement for ventilating the room in which it is placed; a feature not possessed by any other parlor stove.

Some of the sizes are provided with an oven and boiling place, making them very desirable for a dining room.

We sold a large number of Victor Stoves in our city last season, and they receive the best commendation from those who are using them.

We have also the celebrated McGregor Stove, so well known in the market as to need no commendation.

A great variety of cheaper Stoves for coal and wood—Cool-buds—Patent Comfortifiers.

COAL LININGS,

and Repairing pieces for most of the stoves in use. Job Work attended to with dispatch.

BUY CALIFORNIA WINES.

They are the Purest!

The Best!

The Cheapest!

The "sunny slopes" of "Los Angelos" have announced to the world that America is a wine growing country, and as the discovery of gold sent a thrill through the old world, so will the discovery of these Wines startle them again, as it says, "one more link broken which has bound us to Europe," "one more step to independence." Let every man, woman and child who uses Wine, see to it that they buy none other than these.

"The Hock" is a most delicious Wine, and rivals in delicacy its German predecessor.

The "Angelica" and "Muscatel" are melting, luscious and rich, and will take the place of Malaga, Tokay, or other rich Wine.

The Port has a fine flavor and body; and

The Port is excellent because it is pure.

☞ ATTENTION, THE WHOLE! ☜

RYE, N. H., Feb. 26, 1846. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended to the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of DR. SWETT'S PANACEA, and several bottles of his Humor Wash, which have effected a cure. There can be no mistake, as this cure was effected more than three years ago. No other medicines can equal Dr. Swett's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold it to a number of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it since I have acted as agent for the sale of it. JOSIAH JENNESS.

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicines failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

From ELDER I CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISAIAH CHESLEY.

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26o

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (under the Act of 1837.)

75 State Street, opposite Kilby Street.

BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to procure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Undersigned will yet more prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."

CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which Patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakeable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges." JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twelve rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents. R. H. EDDY.

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, such as Pimples, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pains and distresses in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses and Tumors, frightful swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest siblings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded, loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion to society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, duly consider the nature, experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.

Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your case. Dr Dow has also for sale the French Capsules, warranted to be preventive. Order by mail. Three for $1 and a red stamp.

April 7—1y 8aw.

CAUTION

To Females in Delicate Health.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 & 9 Endicott STREET, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the care of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

N. B. All letters must contain four red stamps, or they will not be answered.

Office Hours from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M.

CERTAIN CURE

in all cases, or No Charges Made.

Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. as above, upon all private and chronic diseases of every name and nature, having by his unwearied attention and extraordinary success gained a reputation which calls patients from all parts of the country to obtain advice.

Among the physicians in Boston, he stands higher in the profession than the celebrated DR. DOW, No. 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.

P. S.—Dr. Dow imports and has for sale a new article, called the FRENCH SECRET. Order by mail. Two for $1 and a red stamp.

Teeth on Vulcanized Rubber.

SOME OF ITS ADVANTAGES.

1st. It is stronger and lighter than any known material.

2d. From two to six times the amount of suction or adhesion can be obtained by it.

3d. When the arch is irregular we can by building out the depressions—which can be done to any extent—give the mouth a more natural appearance.

4th. No bad taste arises in the mouth by its use, as the secretions of the stomach and mouth do not affect it in the least.

5th. Teeth mounted upon this base can be kept clean and sweet as easy as a saucer, as when finished the work presents one whole piece.

6th. While in health it is better, and in a few peculiar cases, it is much cheaper than Gold.

DR. A. P. STEVENS, Surgeon Dentist,

No. 5 Daniel St., Portsmouth,

Has had four years of practical experience in making this material, and will guarantee satisfaction in all cases entrusted to his care.

DENTISTRY:

No. 60 CONGRESS STREET,
PORTSMOUTH, Jan. 1st, 1863.

DR. GOODALL

Would respectfully inform his patrons and the public, (having had of late many calls to insert teeth upon VULCANIZED RUBBER,) that he has purchased the best VULCANIZER in the market, and is now prepared to do all work upon RUBBER, or the other bases of GOLD and SILVER as formerly, if preferred.

The Rubber has several important advantages, viz.: It is very light and elastic, and consequently is perfectly easy to the muscles of the mouth and cheeks. There are no interstices or open joints to collect food, &c.; consequently they can be worn night and day, and are very easily kept neat and clean.

Besides all this, the most accurate fit is obtained, as the Rubber is Vulcanized directly upon the plaster model, and the suction is of course much stronger than in plates of Gold or Silver.

Any one who is waiting for their permanent teeth will I am confident, be perfectly satisfied with the Rubber as a base. The expense is but a little more than for Silver, and you get the same teeth (in blood) that you would pay $60.00 for an upper or lower set on Gold.

In New York and Boston, and throughout the West, Vulcanized Rubber is used almost to the exclusion of the other bases, and by the best Dentists too. I will warrant a perfect fit and teeth from the best manufacturer in the country, S. S. White.

ALL OTHER OPERATIONS IN DENTISTRY. I will do at the usual rates. I will here mention that my price for EXTRACTING is 25 cents.

THE MAGEE COOKING STOVE.

The subscribers, having received their Fall stock of Stoves, will especially call the attention of the public to the

MAGEE COOK STOVE,

as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet made. The castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.

There is a new style and very superior broiler and sad-iron heater combined, by which the odor of broiling meats are prevented from escaping into the room. With the exception top there is a large copper Reservoir for hot water; also a large tin warming-closet attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.

The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, as no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shovelling up of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be confined day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who are now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.

We would refer to the following purchasers:

"MAGEE'S PATENT"
VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable article.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objection urged by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The indestructible gases which make the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which renders them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat, without making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq.,	Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill,	Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell,	John Sise, and others.

MATHEWS Arnica HAIR GLOSS

This is a new and invaluable preparation for preserving and beautifying the hair.

The wonderful virtues of Arnica in allaying and removing inflammation are universally known.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS is a combination of these virtues, with other tried and excellent ingredients.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS stimulates and invigorates the hair, prevents it from falling out—restores it when lost—promotes its growth and strength—renders it proof against all diseases.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS permanently cures all affections of the scalp, prevents dandruff, and makes it healthy and fertile. For the removal of dandruff it has no equal. Its operations in this particular are magical and permanent.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS is unequalled as a hair-dressing compound. It not only cleanses the scalp and invigorates the hair, but it renders the latter charmingly soft and lustrous. Its odor is particularly delicate and fragrant—the proprietor having taken especial pains to secure this result.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS is the very best preparation for the hair ever discovered.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS, notwithstanding its surpassing merits—is retailed at only Twenty-five cents a bottle, by all Druggists.

And from Sores and Wounds of the most serious nature down to a common Pimple. It eradicates Pimples from the face, and beautifies the skin. There is no preparation before the public that can equal this Salve in prompt and energetic action for the speedy cure of external diseases, as those who have tried its virtues testify. Soldiers, Sailors, and Fishermen, will find this Salve their best friend.

It has none of the irritating, heating properties of other remedies, but cools, cleanses, and heals the most serious Sores and Wounds. Every family, and especially those containing children, should keep a box on hand in case of accident, for it will save them much trouble, suffering, and money. All it wants is a fair trial to cure old and inveterate Sores.

A star for every State: a State for every star.
NO PARTY—ONE COUNTRY.

"Bound to no party—to no sect confined:
The world our home; our brethren, all mankind.
Love truth, do good, be just and fair with all;
Exalt the right, though every ism fall."

"Let me warn you in the most solemn manner against the baneful effects of the spirit of Party, generally. It is a spirit not to be encouraged.—Its common and continual mischief is sufficient to make it the interest and duty of a wise people to discourage and restrain it. In governments of the popular form, it is seen in its greatest rankness, and is truly their worst enemy."—Washington's Farewell Address.

AMIABILITY.—I have observed that some of the most selfish persons I ever met were found among those called amiable, while such as were marked by devotion and self-sacrifice were not thought worthy of the name. Thus we find that the epithet, "amiability," describes manner, and not the heart; it represents the superficial aspect, not the underlying principle. It may be liked where it is not respected, and cultivated for social and selfish uses by those whose aims in life are narrow and low. Amiable people win so much sympathy, and have often so subtle and unsuspected an influence—if cunning be combined with their selfishness—that they have it in their power to impose upon others in many ways, that could not be commanded by those who are openly and actively demonstrative. A secret influence of this kind is frequently more to be feared, if exerted for evil purposes, than one which is imperious and assertive, and disposed to rouse the antagonistic principle in the soul.

☞ Thomas Bailey Aldrich, the poet, has become the editor of the New York Illustrated News, and entered upon his new position last week. The N. Y. Home Journal, in making the announcement says: "We shall now expect to find poetry imbued into the prose columns of the News. We bespeak for this paper a wider popularity under its new editorship."

IN GOOD TIME.—An old miser, Abraham Hersey, died in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, a few days since, who had fifty thousand dollars in specie stored away in bags and boxes in his house. This is the most profitable time at which he could have died, when his specie is at 42 per cent. premium.

☞ Professor Winchell, State Geologist of Michigan, reports that the whole central part of that State, embracing one hundred and eighty-seven townships, or six thousand seven hundred square miles, is underlaid by coal seams, ranging in thickness from three to five feet.

☞ Among the speakers at the Manchester (England) meeting, was the negro Jackson, known as Jeff. Davis' escaped coachman.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 17, 1863.

THE REBELLION.

A Washington dispatch says no more passes will be granted to the Army of the Potomac at present. It is understood that an order was issued some days since to provide twelve days' cooked rations for the army. The Secretary of War denied a New York Aldermanic committee a pass, to recover the body of an officer, on the ground that he, not having heard from Gen. Burnside in answer to a dispatch of Jan. 14, "apprehended that quiet may not exist there just now."

The Richmond papers have claimed that Gen. Pryor repulsed our troops at New Providence Branch, on the 9th. It is now certain that our troops repulsed him.

Rebel official reports state that General Rosecrans has been heavily reinforced, and is repairing the railroad from Chattanooga to Nashville; while the rebel Gen. Wheeler was in his rear, and had destroyed a bridge just finished, 9 miles south of Nashville, with an engine and some cars. Our army is advancing.

It is said Gen. Rosecrans, in his pursuit of the rebels, has already taken more prisoners than during the battles. 200 Tennessee rebels threw down their arms and gave themselves up.

Western dispatches again give a rumor that Corinth has been threatened by the rebels, and state that Gen. Rose's division has been ordered there.

Large rebel reinforcements have been sent to Vicksburg and their fortifications increased. It is said the rebels lost many by the shells from our gunboats, three days being spent in burying their dead. A rebel battery at Cypress Bend has been destroyed. An important movement in the vicinity of Helena is spoken of.

CONGRESS.

THURSDAY.—In the Senate, a resolution of inquiry was adopted as to the remuneration of Collectors of Customs; also one calling for the particulars concerning the accident to the steamer Ossipee. Mr. Hale called up his resolution relative to the charges made in connection with the purchase of land at the Portsmouth Navy Yard. The Resolution was postponed.—The joint resolution providing for payment of the Army and Navy, was passed, there being only two nays—Powell and Saulsbury. The Military Academy bill was passed, 29 against 10.

In the House, the credentials of Mr. J. Figgot as Representative from North Carolina, under the certificate of Gov. Stanley, were presented. A protest of Mr. C. H. Foster, against his admission, was also presented. They were both referred to the Committee on Elections.

☞ The schooner Union, from Baltimore, arrived at Port Maria, Jam., Dec. 8 having on board Capt Fulton and crew, (7 all told) of barque Parker Cook, of and from Boston for Aux Cays, captured and burnt, November 30, in Mona Passage by the pirate Alabama. The Alabama captured the Union, but her cargo being owned by British subjects, she was released, after taking on board the crew of the barque, and giving a bond for $1500 for the vessel.—Capt. F. and crew were 5 days in irons.—The P. C. and cargo were fully covered by a war risk in Boston. She had an assorted cargo of merchandize, was 136 tons burden, and was built in 1845.

☞ Mr. Mason, of the Boston Herald, made a very interesting, accurate and complimentary report of the Horse Guards' Ball; and probably one of the most full and complete which will be published, except our own.

The Post, in a brief but handsome mention of the affair, pays the ball and the corps this well-deserved compliment:—"Altogether, the ball was fully equal to previous festivities given by the Guards, and gratified every one who had the honor of participation. — The Governor's Horse Guards of New Hampshire, as a military body, are not surpassed, in all necessary qualifications, by any body of soldiers in the country."

☞ The steamer City of Hartford, plying between New Haven and New York, went ashore on the southeasterly point of the South Brothers, about 9 miles from N. Y. city, Wednesday afternoon, and will probably prove a total loss, except her machinery, which, it is thought, may be saved. The passengers and freight were landed safely.

☞ Of about forty newspapers in New Hampshire, one year ago, nearly one-third have been discontinued or consolidated with others. And unless times change, several among those now "living," must follow suit before long, probably.

☞ Gold fell to 45 1-2, and U. S. Sixes advanced to 96 1-8 and 96 1-4, in New York, on Friday.

GOVERNOR'S HORSE GUARDS, 1863.

THE ELECTION OF OFFICERS, for the fourth time, took place at Concord, on Wednesday afternoon. The regimental and staff officers are chosen in Convention; as are also the company officers—but these last are nominated in the three separate companies, each for themselves, first.

The vacancy occasioned by the much-regretted resignation of Col. Stark, who had commanded the corps from the organization, was not filled,—the election of Colonel being deferred for one month—it being the unanimous wish and hope of the Guards that the distinguished citizen and statesman and public spirited gentleman, who most aided and honored the corps in its formation, and was honored by them in their first apperance, will consent to accept that position.

The officers elected for the ensuing year are as follows:—

REGIMENTAL AND STAFF OFFICERS.

Colonel,—election deferred.
Lieut. Col., A. H. Bellows, Concord.
Major, Henry O. Kent, Lancaster.
Adjutant, J. B. Sanborn, Concord.
Paymaster, Frank W. Miller, Portsmouth.
Quartermaster, J. C. A. Hill, Concord.
Surgeon, Dr. C. P. Cage, Concord.
Assistant Surgeon, Dr. J. C. Eastman, Concord.
Judge Advocate, A. R. Hatch, Esq., Portsmouth.
Sergeant Major, R. R. Cushing, Concord.
Chaplain, Rev. J. H. Eames, Concord.
Assistant Chaplain, Rev. Chas. J. Hill, Nashua.
Quartermaster Sergeant, C. A. Tuttle, Dover.
Commissary, S. H. Dumas, Concord.
Chief Bugler, Nat. Head, Hooksett.
Armorer, A. R. Holt, Concord.
Standard Bearer, True Garland, Pittsfield.
Standard Guards, B. J. P. Tenney and F. Berry.
Trumpeter, S. G. Sylvester, Concord.
Clerk, J. E. Lang, Concord.

OFFICERS COMPANY A, CONCORD.

Captain, John H. George, Concord.
1st Lieutenant, Edw'd L. Rollins, Concord.
2d " Co'n C. Webster, "
Orderly Sergeant, Elsmer Jackson, "

COMPANY B, NASHUA.

Captain, Samuel F. Wright, Nashua.
1st Lieut., V. C. Gilman, "
2d " Wm. Burrett, "
Orderly Sergt., Gust Walker, Concord.

COMPANY C, PORTSMOUTH AND SOMERSWORTH.

Captain, Micajah C. Burleigh, Somersworth.
1st Lieut., Marcellus Eldredge, Portsmouth.
2d " Alfred L. Bennett, "
Orderly Sergeant, James A. Blaisdell, " 2d " R. W. Stevens, Somersworth.
3d " S. S. Chick, "
4th " S. F. Mathes, Portsmouth.
1st Corporal, A. L. Frost, Somersworth.
2d " E. A. Smith, "
3d " Munroe Holmes, Portsmouth.
4th " Geo. W. Burleigh, Somersworth.
Guidon Bearer, Frank Jones, Portsmouth.
Clerk, John E. Rider, Portsmouth.

No doubt some would-be members have been deterred from joining the Guards, from fear of great expense; but the Clerk shew that the amounts of all assessments, regular and special, for almost three years the Guards have existed, have amounted to only $19 each! The business of the corps has been conducted in the most judicious manner—for which, no little credit is due to the interested and unwavering attention given to his duties by the most efficient and gentlemanly clerk, Maj. J. E. Lang. "Lang may be wave!" Adj. Sanborn has also been very efficient in the performance of his duties; and in fact, a most commendable interest has been, as still it is a general thing, manifested on all hands, to fulfil the high destiny expected from the Horse Guards.

And it certainly is an organization worthy of all countenance and support, take any view of the case—in war, as a war measure to develope and encourage a martial spirit, and at least to form a reserve force to be called out in case of home need; in peace, as a means of keeping up military organizations, no less than to promote healthful social acquaintance, sympathy and good feeling between leading men throughout the State.

THE BALL.—The third Levee of the Guards was not less brilliant and successful than the others. There had been some idea that it were better to omit the ball this year, as gayety not in keeping with our national and social condition and feelings; but it was deemed for the interest of the organization, to omit none of its stated festivals—and the fact of the presence, and cordial and earnest participation in the festivities, of the dauntless Col. Cross himself, and his scar-honored compatriots in danger and convalescence, of the noble Fifth, is answer enough for the hypocritical objectors, and justification sufficient for the course rightly pursued. "It is better to laugh than be sighing," no matter what your calamity; and the enjoyment of a little healthful social mirth and festivity, only the better prepares a true man or woman for the most important duties and sternest realities of life.

There were not many State officials present—and it was especially regretted that Gov. Berry and Sec. Tenny, whom the Guards have so "delighted to honor" on every and all occasions, should at that particular moment, have business so urgent and imperative with "the Maine Legislature," that they must neglect their own legitimate duties and due courtesies and civilities at home. Also, that our worthy and genial State Treasurer should be so intent in guarding his "trash," that he couldn't give an hour for the encouragement of citizen soldiery in the Commonwealth. Also that other public gentlemen, who shall be nameless, should not find "the heart" to do their bounden duty in the premises.

But the company was a large and brilliant assembly—and "fair women and brave men" there certainly were, and no stint.

This year the arrangements were made on even more than the usual liberal scale. Col. Beals, of Boston, was employed to decorate the hall, and did it in splendid style. The fine decorations of last year's ball were repeated, with numerous additions and an attention to details, which enhanced the splendor of the whole display. The miniature camp, the mimic battle, the satin marquees, the stack of arms, the magnificent equestrian figure of Gen. Washington, the streamers gracefully depending from the ceiling, the mottoes, flags, and patriotic emblems, were all displayed with excellent effect, and combined in fine taste.

On the walls were inscribed the names of the great battle-fields of this war. In one corner were displayed the tattered colors of the N. C. Regt. captured by our gallant Fifth, which has been almost annihilated in repeated fields of carnage, and from the gallery were suspended the new State and National standards which have been provided for the Fifth, inscribed with the names of the battles in which it has won immortal honors.

Hall's band, of Boston, furnished the music, which was excellent.

The dancing commenced at 9 o'clock, and concluded at little past 4. There were twenty-two dances, all well selected, of which we give the "order" below:

Governor's Horse Guards' Grand March.
Quadrille, Union.
Contra, Hull's Victory.
Quadrille, Lancers.
Quadrille, McClellan.
Quadrille, Hussar de la Garde.
Intermission.
Quadrille, Caledonians.
The Spanish Dance.
Quadrille, Ancient and Honorable.
Quadrille, Polka.
Quadrille, Military and Grand Basket.
Intermission—Waltz, Schottische, Polka, &c.
Quadrille, Star Spangled Banner.
Quadrille, Lancers.
Contra, Zip Coon.
Quadrille, Washington.
Quadrille, Waltz.
Contra, Portland Fancy.
Intermission.
Contra, Ladies' Triumph.
Quadrille, General Jackson.
Contra, Virginia Reel.
Quadrille, General Stark.
Contra, Tempest.

There was not an excess of the grand and decollete toilet—but rather a commendable refraining from the extreme "dressing and undressing of beautiful women" that is sometimes seen on such occasions; but all was in the best taste. White and pink were the pervailing colors, with rather a deficiency of the ever charming true blue. Miss C. P. of Portsmouth, was declared belle of the evening—dress white, trimmed pink, and head wreath of flowers. Miss A. H., also of P., was pronounced the most skillful and accomplished dancer—dress pink, with pearl head-dress. Miss E. O. of Concord looked sweetly and danced elegantly, as usual—dress white, trimmed pink, and looped up with flowers. Miss D, of Pembroke, looked fresh and beautiful as a blue bird in Spring; and the fair Miss L, of Concord, with her luxuriant golden hair artistically plaited, was a beautiful representative of the blondes. Speaking of which reminds us, that we have rarely, if ever, noticed such an assemblage of dark haired men and women—it seemed as if the Saxon element must be sifted out. Miss C. of Manchester, attracted much notice; and Miss C. of Concord, in her favorite white, was graceful and beautiful. The piquant Mrs. D. of Concord, in white and blue, was charming. And the petite Miss L. of Portsmouth, added to the attractions of childhood, the ease and grace of woman.

Among the distinguished guests of the evening were the gallant Col. Cross, Adj. Dodd, Capt. Rundlett, Capt. Bean, Capt. Ricker, and Lieut. Gardner, all of the 5th regiment, and most of whom are recovering from severe wounds received in battle.—Some had their heads crowned with bandages, some limped with honorable lameness, and all were the recipients of many attentions.

Col. Kent, Adj. Wainwright, Capt. Jenness, Lts. Webster and Farr, and other officers of the 17th regiment, and some from other regiments, were also among the guests.

Of the regular army, there were Lieut. Col. Seth Eastman, of the 1st infantry, and Capt. Holmes of the 17th. An officer of the Mass. 2d battalion, were their rich dark uniform.

Chief bugler Nat. Head, Adj. J. B. Sanborn, Sergt. Gust. Walker, and L. Downing, jr., managed the floor with great credit to themselves during the night.

At half past twelve the party partook of a splendid supper in the grand hall of the Phenix Hotel, which was in keeping with the reputation of the house, and of its proprietor, Commissary H. S. Dumas, who is one of the best men we ever saw to "keep a hotel." We give the luxuriant bill of fare—and will only say that all the arrangements were carried out in the most satisfactory manner.

Oysters—Stewed Oysters, Oysters fried in Batter, Escalloped Oysters.
Cold Meats.—Ham, Tongue, Pressed Corned Beef, Turkey, Chicken.
Game—Canvass-Back Duck, Black Duck, Teal Duck, Tame Duck, Mongrel Goose, Tame Goose, Green Goose, Prairie Chicken, Partridge, Pigeons, Grouse.
Relishes—Chicken Salad, Lobster Salad, Celery, Pickles, Limes, Olives, Cranberry Sauce.
Pastry.—Apple Tarts, Lemon Tarts, Cranberry Tarts, Orange Tarts, Cranberry Jelly, Jelly Cake, Delicate Cake, Fruit Cake, Black Cake, Ladies' Cake, Cinnamon Cake, Currant Cake, Sponge Cake, Cake—ornamented.
Dessert.—Nuts, Figs, Raisins, Apples, Oranges, Grapes, Apple Jelly, Wine Jelly, Whipped Cream, Blanc Mange, Floating Islands, Boiled Custard, Lemon Ice-Cream, Vanilla Ice-Cream.
Tea and Coffee.

The whole occasion was very enjoyable, and the party broke up with many expressions of satisfaction at the manner in which the night had been passed.

To our surprise, we learned from the Clerk of the corps, that the two previous levees, instead of being a tax on the members, as is usually the fact in such cases,—had actually both "paid for themselves," and more too. The proceeds of this ball, if any, the Boston Journal's reporter states are to be applied, after paying expenses, for the aid of our sick and wounded soldiers.

Our thanks, personally, and in the name of the corps, are due to Col. Bellows and Nat Head, for various hospitalities extended on the occasion; and the prices of Commissary Dumas were in the mouths of all.—And not a little of the comfort and satisfaction enjoyed by the guests of the Phenix Hotel, is due to the "sleepless" and untiring, but quiet attention of the clerk, Mr. Bruce, and the other attendants.

Rubber Band Carpet Sweeper.

TRY IT! TRY IT!!

It saves Money; it saves Carpets; It saves Furniture; it saves Labor; it is cheaper than Brooms at five cents apiece.

It gathers up all dust, dirt, and loose lint on the carpets, and raises no dust to settle on the furniture, drapery, or ornaments, or to smother, stifle and irritate the lungs.

It does not wear the carpets half so much as brooms or any other sweeper.

It is the only practicable sweeper made, and the only article fit to sweep a carpet.

With our late improvements it gives universal satisfaction to all who use it according to directions. For sale at No. 12 Market Street by

NOTES OF FORMER DAYS.

Collected and Collated — By UNCLE TOBY.

New Hampshire a Royal Province in 1680—President Cutt.—In 1679, Randolph returned to England after a short residence in this country, and confirmed the several articles of Mason's complaint against the government of Massachusetts, with many exaggerations. Whereupon it was determined by the King, in Council, to erect New Hampshire into a separate government under the jurisdiction of a President and Council to be appointed by the King. Accordingly, on the 18th of Sept., a commission passed the great seal, appointing John Cutt of Portsmouth, President, to continue in office one year, or until another should be appointed to succeed him. Richard Martyn, William Vaughan, and Thos. Daniel, of Portsmouth, John Gilman of Exeter, Christopher Hussey of Hampton, and Richard Waldron of Dover, were to be of the Council, with power to elect three others to be added to their number. The President had authority to appoint one of the Council his deputy, to preside in his absence. The President, or his deputy, and five counsellors to be a quorum. The President and Council were constituted a court of judicature, with civil and criminal jurisdiction, reserving in certain cases a right of appeal to the King; they were to appoint civil and military officers, to issue writs for calling an assembly, who with them were empowered to enact laws subject to a revision by the King; on the death of the President, his deputy to succeed him; and when a Counsellor shall die, the remainder to elect another, and send over his name with the name of two other suitable persons, that the King might appoint one of the three.

The King engaged to continue the privilege of an assembly, unless from the inconvenience attending it, he should see cause to alter. This was the only charter ever granted to New Hampshire.

This commission was received at Portsmouth the 1st of Jan., 1680, and the several persons therein appointed were qualified, by taking the oaths, on the 22d of the same month. They elected three persons to fill the Council, agreeably to the direction in the commission, namely, Elias Stileman of Great Island, which was then a part of this town, Samuel Dalton of Hampton, and Job Clements of Dover. The President nominated Richard Waldron for his deputy. Martyn was appointed Treasurer, and Stileman Secretary. The President and Council issued writs to the four towns, of Portsmouth, Dover, Hampton an Exeter, designating the qualified voters in each by name; requiring them to choose suitable persons to represent them in the General Assembly, and each voter was obliged to take the oath of allegiance. Portsmouth at this time had 71 voters, Dover 61, Hampton 57, and Exeter 20. Each town sent three representatives, except Exeter, which sent only two. The representatives of Portsmouth were Robert Elliot, Phillip Lewis, and John Pickering. "The Assembly met in this town on the 16th of March and was opened with prayer, and a sermon, by the Rev. Mr. Moodey." One of the first acts of the General Assembly was to address the following letter "to the honorable Governor and Council of the Massachusetts' Colony, to be communicated to the General Court humbly present in Boston."

"Much Honoured—The late turn of Providence made among-t us, by the all ordering Being, hath given occasion for this present application, wherein we crave leave, as we are in duty bound—1st, Thankfully to acknowledge your care for us and kindness while we dwelt under your shadow, owning ourselves deeply obliged that you were pleased upon our earnest request and supplication to take us under your government, and ruled us well whilst we so remained, so that we cannot give the least countenance to those reflections that have been cast upon you, as if you had dealt injuriously with us.

"2dly. That no disarisfaction with your government, but merely our submission to Divine Providence, to his Majesty's commands, to whom we owe allegiance, without any seeking of our own, or desire of change, was the only cause of our complying with that present separation from you that we are now under; but should have heartily rejoiced if it had seemed good to the Lord and his Majesty, to have settled us in the same capacity as formerly. And withal we hold ourselves bound to signify, that it is our most unfeigned desire that such a mutual correspondence betwixt us may be settled as may tend to the glory of God, the honour of his Majesty, whose subjects we all are, and the promoting of the common interest and defence against the common enemy; that thereby our hands be strengthened, being of ourselves weak and few in number, and that if there be opportunity to be any wise serviceable unto you, we may shew how ready we are, thankfully to embrace the same. Thus wishing the presence of God to be with you in all your administrations, and craving the benefit of your prayers and endeavors for a blessing upon the heads and hearts of us who are separated from our brethren. We subscribe

JOHN CUTT, President.

With consent of the Council and General Assembly."

From this it appears how very reluctantly they consented to the separation from Massachusetts, and nothing could have induced the President or Council to have accepted their appointment (which was made without their knowledge) but his Majesty's express command, which they conscientiously felt themselves obliged to obey. Their commission required "that all excuses set apart, they fail not to assemble," and undertake the duties of their respective offices.

A court of inferior jurisdiction was established at Portsmouth, Dover, and Hampton; from each of which an appeal lay to the President and Council, who had original as well appellate jurisdiction, criminal and civil, and who tried their causes thro' the intervention of a jury when either party desired it.

THE SONS.—Ten years ago, in 1853, on the 4th of July, Portsmouth invited her absent sons and daughters home, and gave them such a welcome as they nor we will ever forget. It was then generally understood that on each recurring ten years' anniversary, the unique festival should be repeated. B. P. Shillaber, of the Saturday Evening Gazette, was the originator of the scheme, then; what says he to its repitition, now?

☞ Rev. Mr. Gage will occupy the pulpit of the Christian Church on Court street to-morrow morning, at the usual hour of service.

☞ As the E. R. R. noon train from this city, on Friday, was approaching Boston, the locomotive and baggage car ran off the track, when just beyond the draw. The engine broke through the bridge, an open-work one, and rested upon the stringers, receiving little damage. The front part of the baggage car also broke through and was damaged. None of the passengers were injured.

☞ About 16 inches of snow fell at Cincinnati on Thursday. There was a great snow storm throughout Canada West on Thursday night. Here we have had a copious rain.

☞ It is a little singular, that the rival candidates for Congress, in District No. 2 in this State, are Capt. John H. George, dem., and Lieut. E. H. Rollins, rep., both officers of Co. A, Governor's Horse Guards, of Concord—and both good fellows and popular officers. And we may add, that while Mr. Rollins has amply proved himself a most valuable and efficient Representative; Capt. George will be found no less so, as all who know him will readily believe, should "the chances of war" and politics allow them to exchange places.

☞ It is stated that Gen. Wool, who has just assumed command of the Department of the East, will immediately engage in perfecting the defences of the New York and other seacoast harbors, including all those of the Eastern States. Gen. Wool will soon visit all the places in his department.

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!
THE MODEL COOK
FOR WOOD OR COAL.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking; giving an oven nearly 3 feet long; or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time! A check draft is applied to this stove by means of which the consumption of fuel is greatly lessened, and a steady fire can be kept day and night if desired.

THE MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be the stove for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We believe the MODEL COOK to be the very best Stove in the Market, and invite every one to examine it whether they wish to purchase or not. It has had a very extensive sale since its introduction. Reference might be made to more than a hundred families in this city or vicinity who are using the Stove, and give it the highest commendation.

We refer to the following individuals who have purchased the Model Cook:—

David Kimball, Thos. S. Burt, John T. French, Rev. Mr. Davies, Wm. Pettigrew, Capt. John Davis, Jeremiah Raitt, Mrs. Ann T. Perkins, James W. Jarvis, Francis C. Jarvis, Thos. L. Tullock, Jacob Wendell, Capt. Jacob Thompson, Gen. J. G. Hadley, J. Melvin Huntress, Jos. D. Akerman, James F. Shores, Wm. C. Newton, Horton D. Walker, Benj. Chesever, John Trundy, Richard L. Bell, Cyrus Plumer, Freeman Hurd, James M. Locke, Daniel L. Randall, Isaiah Wilson, John E. Roberts—of Portsmouth: Samuel C. Dixon, Daniel I. Pryor, Cushman Pryor, of Trefethen's Island; Geo. N. Dixon, Samuel F. Paul, Elias Remick, Timothy Dame, Eliot; Wm. S. Locke, Benj. Fernald, Mrs. Wm Locke, Kittery; R. F. Gerrish, Kittery Point; Geo. Clement March, Albert Blaisdell, Stephen M. VICTOR COAL STOVE.

We offer this beautiful coal burner to the public, with full confidence in its merits.

It was brought into market two years since, and has come rapidly into use.

The Victor is one of the handsomest parlor stoves in the market, and is perfect in its operation. The arrangement for dumping the ashes is very fine—no dust need escape into the room—a continuous fire may be kept throughout the winter—the coal all burned, and no clinkers made.

The quantity of fuel used is very small indeed. There is in the stove an excellent arrangement for ventilating the room in which it is placed; a feature not possessed by any other parlor stove. Some of the sizes are provided with an oven and boiling place, making them very desirable for a dining room.

We sold a large number of Victor Stoves in our city last season, and they receive the highest commendation from those who are using them.

We have also the celebrated McGregor Stove, so well known in the market as to need no commendation.

A great variety of cheaper Stoves for coal and wood—Coal hods—Patent Coal-sifters.

BUY CALIFORNIA WINES.

They are the Purest!
The Best!
The Cheapest!

The "sunny slopes" of "Los Angeles" have announced to the world that America is a wine growing country, and as the discovery of gold sent a thrill through the old world, so will the discovery of these Wines startle them again, as it says, "one more link broken which has bound us to Europe," "one more step to independence." Let every man, woman and child who uses Wine, see to it that they buy none other than these.

"The Rock" is a most delicious Wine, and rivals in delicacy its German predecessor.

The "Angelica" and "Muscatel" are melting, luscious and rich, and will take the place of Malaga, Tokay, or other rich Wine.

The Port has a fine flavor and body; and The Port is excellent because it is pure.

☞ ATTENTION, THE WHOLE! ☜

RYE, N. H., Feb. 26, 1846. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended to the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of DR. SWEET'S PANACEA, and several bottles of his Humor Wash, which have effected a cure. There can be no mistake, as the cure was effected more than three years ago. No other medicines can equal DR. Swett's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold it to a number of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it since I have acted as agent for the sale of it. JOSIAH JENNESS.

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

FROM ELDER I. CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26

BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States, also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, drawn and on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting the Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantage for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unexcelled by any, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials below given prove that the Agency is MORE SUCCESSFUL IN THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years, has enabled him to obtain a late a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."

CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy to secure their rights, than Mr. Eddy."

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all the one of which patents have been granted, and that is my opinion, such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him for protection to the principle they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."

JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos. 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the afflicted with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrotula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of generation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms resulting from the abuse of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unmanning the unfortunate victim for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Pains in the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, self-troubledings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, are some of the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, can be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.

Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your case. Dr. Dow has also for sale the French Capsules, warranted the best preventive. Order by mail. Three for $1 and a red stamp.

April 7—1y 8taw.

CAUTION

To Females in Delicate Health.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 & 9 Endicott Street, Boston, may be consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon a new and successful plan, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that much difficult complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

N. B.—All letters must contain four red stamps, or they will not be answered.

Office Hours from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M.

CERTAIN CURE

in all cases, or No Charges Made.

Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. at above, upon all difficult and chronic diseases of every name and nature, having his unwearied attention and extraordinary success gained a reputation which calls patients from all parts of the country to obtain advice.

Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in the profession than the celebrated Dr. DOW, No. 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.

P. S.—Dr. Dow imports and has for sale a new article, called the FRENCH SECRET. Order by mail. Two for $1 and a red stamp.

Teeth on Vulcanized Rubber.

SOME OF ITS ADVANTAGES.

1st. It is stronger and lighter than any known material.

2d. From two to six times the amount of suction or adhesion can be obtained by it.

3d. When the arch is broken we can by building out the depressions—which can be done to any extent—give the mouth a more natural appearance.

4th. No bad taste arises in the mouth by its use, as the secretions of the stomach and mouth do not affect it in the least.

5th. Teeth mounted upon this base can be kept clean and sweet as easy as a saucer, as when finished the work presents one whole piece.

6th. While in all ways it is better, save in a few peculiar cases, it is much cheaper than Gold.

DR. A. P. STEVENS, Surgeon Dentist,

No. 5 Daniel St., Portsmouth,

Has had four years of practical experience in making this material, and will guarantee satisfaction in all cases entrusted to his care.

DENTISTRY.

No. 60 CONGRESS STREET,
Portsmouth, Jan. 1st, 1863.

DR. GOODALL

Would respectfully inform his patrons and the public, that up had of late many calls to insert teeth upon VULCANIZED RUBBER, that he has purchased the best VULCANIZER in the market, and is now prepared to do all work upon RUBBER, or the other bases of GOLD and SILVER as formerly, if preferred.

The Rubber has several important advantages, viz: It is very light and elastic, and consequently it is perfectly easy to the muscles of the mouth and cheeks. There are no insertices or open joints to collect food, &c; consequently they can be worn night and day, and are very easily kept neat and clean.

Beside all this, the most accurate fit is obtained, as the Rubber is Vulcanized directly upon the plaster model, and the suction is of course much stronger than in plates of Gold or Silver.

Any one who is seeking for their permanent teeth will, I am confident, be perfectly satisfied with the Rubber as a base. The expense is but a little more than for Silver, and you get the same teeth (in blocks) that you would pay $60.00 for an upper or lower set on Gold.

In New York and Boston, and throughout the West, Vulcanized Rubber is used almost to the exclusion of the other bases, and by the best Dentists too. I will warrant a perfect fit and teeth from the best manufacturer in the country, S. S. White.

ALL OTHER OPERATIONS IN DENTISTRY I will do at the usual rates. I will here mention that any price for EXTRACTION is 25 cents.

THE MAGEE COOKING STOVE.

The subscribers, having received their Fall stock of Stoves, would especially call the attention of the public to the

CELEBRATED AND UNEQUALLED

MAGEE COOK STOVE,

as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.

There is a new style and very superior broiler and sad iron heater combined, by which the odor of the cooking meats can be entirely prevented from entering into the room. With the extension top there is a large copper Reservoir for hot water; also a large tin warming-closet attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.

The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, so no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shoveling up of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, which is continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who are now using them, are ready to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.

"MAGEE'S PATENT"

VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING

FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This difficulty, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of fuel, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and rot out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without re-kindling.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq.,	Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill,	Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell,	John Sise, and others.

MATHEWS ARNICA HAIR GLOSS

This is a new and invaluable preparation for preserving and beautifying the hair.

The wonderful virtues of Arnica in allaying and removing inflammation are universally known.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS is a combination of these virtues, with other tried and excellent ingredients.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS stimulates and invigorates the hair, prevents it from falling out, restores it when lost—promotes its growth and strength—renders it proof against all diseases.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS permanently cures all irritations and eruptions of the scalp, and makes it healthy and fertile. For the removal of dandruff it has no equal. Its operations in this particular are magical and permanent.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS is unequalled as a hair-dressing compound. It not only cleanses the scalp and invigorates the hair, but it renders the latter charmingly soft and lustrous. Its odor is particularly delicate and fragrant—the proprietor having taken especial pains to secure this result.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS is the very best preparation for the hair ever discovered.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS, notwithstanding its surpassing merits—is retailed as only Twenty-five cents a bottle, by all Druggists.

Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Chapped Hands.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Ringworms.

And from Sores and Wounds of the most serious nature down to a common Pimple. It eradicates Pimples from the face, and beautifies the skin. There is no preparation before the public that can equal this Salve in prompt and energetic action for the speedy cure of external diseases, as those who have tried its virtues testify. Soldiers, Sailors, and Fishermen, will find this Salve their best friend.

It has none of the irritating, heating properties of other remedies, but cools, cleanses, and heals the most serious Sores and Wounds. Every family, and especially those containing children, should keep a box on hand in case of accident, for it will save them much trouble, suffering, and money. All it wants is a fair trial to cure old and inveterate Sores.

"Bound to no party—to no sect confined;
The world our home; our brethren, all mankind.
Love truth, do good, be just and fair with all;
Exalt the right, though every ism fall."

"Let me warn you in the most solemn manner against the baneful effects of the spirit of Party, generally. It is a spirit not to be encouraged.—Its common and continual mischief is sufficient to make it the interest and duty of a wise people to discourage and restrain it. In governments of the popular form, it is seen in its greatest rankness, and is truly their worst enemy."—Washington's Farewell Address.

American and Foreign Patents.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (under the Act of 1837.)
75 State Street, opposite Kilby Street,
BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.
The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.
The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.
These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.
All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
☞ "I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.
Mr. R. H Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."
JOHN TAGGART.
During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.

MONDAY, JANUARY 19, 1863.

THE REBELLION.

News has been received at Cairo of the capture, on Sunday, by Gen. McClernand and Com. Porter, of Arkansas Post, on the Arkansas river, 100 miles from its mouth, with all the guns, stores and ammunition.—Our loss is reported at 200, while that of the rebels was 550 in killed and wounded, and from 3000 to 7000 prisoners.

Advices from New Orleans state that most of Gen. Banks' troops had gone to Baton Rouge. Admiral Farragut had sent the Brooklyn, Sciota, and half a dozen of his best ships to recapture the Harriet Lane, and, if possible, to destroy the rebel gunboats in Bayou Buffalo. It is stated that the Harriet Lane, when captured, was aground, but succeeded in getting several well-directed shots into one of the rebel steamers, sinking her in a few minutes.—The steamer Cambria, bound into Galveston, had a narrow escape from capture on the 4th, but escaped and returned, meeting the frigate Brooklyn, en route to Galveston.

A dispatch from Gen. Brown to Gen. Curtis, dated Springfield, Mo., Jan. 8, says the battle at that place lasted 13 hours.—The enemy numbered 5000 picked mounted infantry with 2 rifled guns. Our forces numbered 2600, with two old iron howitzers, one iron 6-pounder mounted on wagon wheels, and two brass 6-pounders. The enemy were badly whipped. Gen. Brown was treacherously shot from a secesh residence while leading a charge. The enemy are in full retreat towards Arkansas.—Marmaduke's rebel force in the Hartsville fight was between 4000 and 5000 strong.—Their loss was about 300 killed, wounded and prisoners.

Gen. Bragg has been superseded by Gen. Longstreet. The latter's army corps, recently in Virginia, is at Shelbyville, Ky.

The rebels have captured five steamers, besides the gunboat Slidell, in the Cumberland river, all of which they burned. Gen. Longstreet, with thirteen rebel brigades from Lee's army at Fredericksburg, has arrived at Chattanooga and is making preparations to attack Rosecrans. Gen. Rosecan is fully prepared for him, but will not move upon him until certain expeditions effect the destruction of a railroad, and capture Forrest and his men or drive them off. The Chattanooga Rebel of Thursday announces that a large fleet of Federal gunboats and transports were coming up the Mississippi river. 300 deserters from a rebel regiment had arrived at Murfreesboro.

The N. Y. Times' Washington dispatch, speaking of the Army of the Potomac, says for some days it has been known a movement was again in contemplation, and the loyal North should not be many days behind the rebels in the knowledge that our veterans are again on the road to Richmond. The same despatch states that unless some unexpected cause shall interfere, Gen. Butler will be prepared to assume command of the Department of the South as soon as arrangements can be made providing another command for Gen. Banks in the same direction.

By Telegraph, } Sunday, to Messrs. Hutchings,
" " Haley, and others.

Several vessels, with troops, sailed from Fortress Monroe on Friday. The news from Gen. Burnside's army is not of unusual interest, but everything looked favorable. The victory at Arkansas Post is fully confirmed. The attack was made on Friday evening, Jan. 9th, by the gunboats. The troops landed two miles below and marched to the rear of the fortifications, and after a desperate engagement took them. Below the main fort the rebels had erected earthworks; these our gunboats shelled; the rebels replied, doing some damage to our vessels. Three shots entered the port-holes of the Lexington, killing four men. The main fort surrendered on Sunday; it is represented to be very strong. Six regiments were captured. At daylight on Monday two Texas regiments, which came to reinforce the place, being ignorant of its surrender, were also captured. Nearly all the ammunition captured in the steamer Blue Wing a few days previous, was retaken, with a large amount of other stores. Our loss was less than was at first reported.

☞ A number of Republican Members of Congress held a caucus at the Capitol on Saturday evening, to deliberate on public affairs. Those present were enjoined to secrecy in regard to the proceedings, but it is known that there was not a full attendance of members, some disapproving of the caucus and others absenting themselves from it.

☞ The iron-clads Nahant and Weehawken left Brooklyn Navy Yard on Saturday afternoon, the former proceeding down the bay and the latter anchoring off Bedloe's Island.

☞ Quartermaster General Meiggs indignantly denies the charge of disloyalty preferred against him.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— A letter from the 17th regiment, Col. Henry O. Kent, at Concord, to the Coos Republican, says:—

"So many stories are afloat in regard to the 17th, that it is difficult to tell what will be done. The general opinion outside, however, seems to be that the regiment will be disbanded. The Governor says, latest accounts show the Cotta sposta already filled, and a draft cannot legally be made. The eleven hundred men called for by him proved to be mostly on the three years' quota. The quota has been filled by some towns volunteering an additional number, while others have comparatively done nothing. Under the circumstances it has been deemed advisable by the Governor and Council to send a messenger to Washington, asking the War Department to disband the 17th regiment. Should this take effect, many will go into old regiments, while others will give up the soldiering and return home, as we are assured we shall not be molten, unless desired, after the 17th is disbanded. Everywhere among men and officers there is a strong feeling against breaking up, and a desire that something may yet turn up so that we may go as "the seventeenth." The men have all received their State pay and signed the allotment rolls."

—— Mr. Edwin P. Richardson, long an employee of the Amoskeag Company, in Manchester, has received an appointment in the U. S. Navy as Acting Assistant Engineer.

—— A member of the Battery, speaking of some of the incidents of the battle of Fredericksburg, states that Corporal Fife, of Nashua, who was in command of a squad of our men, detailed for pioneers, did quite a rich thing. Coming across five rebs, fully armed, concealed in a ditch, he ordered them to surrender, although his squad, only five in number, had nothing but picks, shovels, &c. The rebels got their backs up a little at first, but the Corporal persisting, they soon let them down and caved.

—— Gov. Berry has just been on a brief visit to his native place, Bath, Me. He was born in what is now the town of West Bath, and left there, says the Times, at the age of 12 years.

—— Ward 4, in Concord, is the abode of both Congressional Candidates, in the 2d District, and Ward 6 of both gubernatorial candidates for the approaching election.

—— Miss Cook, a pianist and assistant musician at dances, slipped and fell upon the sidewalk, in Manchester on Wednesday, fracturing her right arm just above the wrist.

—— Thomas G. Furber, Esq., of Newington, is the democratic candidate for Senator in the 1st district.

—— Mr. John Cate died in Allenstown, Sunday morning, aged 100 years, having been born 1763 on the shore of the Great Bay, in Greenland. He was a farmer, in moderate circumstances, and had derived his sustenance for four score years from his rocky acres. Half a mile distant from the residence of Mr. Cate, Daniel Davis died 55 years ago, at the age of 105. Mrs. Jas. Hartford, daughter of Mr. Davis, is now living in Deerfield, at the age of 102.

—— Col. O. W. Lull, of the 8th regiment, has been appointed Provost Judge at Thibodeaux, Louisiana.

—— The Democratic Republican, at Haverhill, having lived to the age of 34 years, has succumbed to the pressure of the times and suspended operations.

—— The Statesman says it is understood the Governor and Council are so divided in the matter of Attorney General, that no appointment can be made at present.

☞ The rebel despatches recently intercepted have been published. They are letters of instructions to Mason and Slidell and other rebel agents in Europe. The most important portion relates to a movement on the part of the French Consuls at Galveston and Richmond, to induce Texas again to secede and establish a separate government. A letter from Sec. Benjamin greatly exaggerates the rebel victories, placing our entire loss up to September, at 350,000 men. The names of the financial agents of the rebels in England, are given, and also the houses which are ready to fill military and naval orders from Richmond.

☞ The severe storm last week caused freshets in the Lehigh and Delaware rivers. A dispatch from Mauch Chunk, Pa., reports a freshet there on Friday. The river was eight feet deep on the dam. The Lehigh Valley Railroad bridge had been injured, but would be repaired in two days. On Saturday the water was falling.

A Louisville, Ky., dispatch says that the railroad bridge across the Kentucky river at Frankfort was swept away by the flood on Thursday night. The large quantity of snow on the ground, should it disappear suddenly, threatened every moveable structure. There were 18 inches of snow on the level. About 29 inches snow fell at Cincinnati.

☞ Two boys, pupils in the school, and only 9 and 11 years of age, respectively, have been arrested and sent to the jail in Salem, for repeated attempts to set fire to the Wallis School House in South Danvers, Mass.

☞ The U. S. steam frigate Colorado arrived at New York on Friday.

☞ The Manchester American reminds us that their Weekly issue "has not been diminished in size or increased in price"—in addition to the three other large New Hampshire papers we named the other day. The more's the pity. The proprietor has just received a Paymaster's berth in the Army; and we should think he would be after something which will "pay" better than a large paper so good as his, at $1 a year in these times, or in fact in any times. He has, we know, to compete with friend Clarke, with his "Dollar Weekly Mirror," (former ridiculous club price only 40 cts. per year) to make which pay expenses, Clarke must, like the old market woman who sold goods at less than cost, "do a large business." But that don't justify the American in committing suicide—and he who ignores the first part of the motto, "live," can't abide by the other, "let live."

There is another singular thing about the price of the Daily American—which is $4 per year, if paid yearly, or only 30 cts per month, which amounts to $3.60 per year!—That is, they charge 10 per cent. or more for paying in advance! No wonder our cotemporary don't "advance" much.

The two Manchester Dailies, however, are supported almost entirely by daily sales, while the Chronicle list is exclusively that of regular subscribers. And again, while both the dailies there are issued in the "evening," and one of them, the same American, which tried to publish in the morning, couldn't make it go; this Chronicle, it seems to us, would suffer materially, at least for a while, by coming out in the evening. You wouldn't give a fig for it, except at breakfast time, would you, reader? Thus fashion, or habit, rules the world.

SERVED HIM RIGHT.—Since we have got on the subject of the Manchester American, we may as well refer to an insult offered us (and through us, to the whole editorial fraternity) by that paper not long ago. Our readers will recollect, perhaps, that the American charged us with having been bought up or hired, to praise Mr. Train—though the object, on the part of either party, was not named. It also charged us with being "retained" in the interest of the Democratic candidate for Congress in this District! We simply spurned the low charges, as unworthy the statement of any decent editor, and beyond the belief of anybody for whose good opinion we care; and stated that we believed no other paper in this region could show a record so entirely "independent" and clear from pay, direct or indirect, from any and every party as ours. We said the American editor had had various political offices; and since that the over-righteous chap has got another!—and we are glad of it too, if he wants it.—But we never asked, expected, nor would accept, any thing of the kind, so far.

Well, a few weeks ago, a clergyman in Manchester, of the Universalist persuasion, we believe, requested the American to announce an evening meeting at a certain hour—but (by a mistake undoubtedly) it was printed an hour later. This very much irritated the minister, and he denounced the American from his desk, for making an intentional misstatement for a base motive! and the next day "stopped his paper!"—Valiant deeds, both of them, and worthy an exemplar of The Meek and Lowly! Now we have no comments to make on testy, ill-tempered and controversial clergymen—whether they show their foot in the pulpit, the newspaper or the railroad car—for our business is with our old friend and censor of the American. And while we have no hesitation in saying that the charge of the "divine" was most absurd and preposterous, and that there was not a printer or editor, man or boy, in that office or any other in the land, who would intentionally make such a false announcement in the paper on which he was employed, yet that editor, by his very uncharitable and ungentlemanly course towards us and others, has laid himself open to such suspicion, and richly merited such treatment. But he owes us, and the profession generally, upon which he has brought contempt, as far as his influence goes, an apology for his conduct. However, we believe, he did not have the advantages of a regular education in an honorable printing office, but is only a political editor. So he isn't quite so unpardonable. We will but simply say, further, that his most probable and reasonable explanation of the matter, in his columns, availed him nothing, with the hasty and jealous "preacher, but not doer of the word" (as he seems to us in this case) any more than did our statements to him, probably. "Judge not," &c.

☞ The U. S. steamer Montgomery, which arrived at New York last week from the blockade off Mobile, has been ordered to Boston. Capt. Hunting, the commander of this vessel, has been suspended at the demand of the Government of Spain, he having burned an Anglo-rebel vessel in Spanish waters.

☞ Motto for our vessels near Galveston:—"Beware of rams in cotton clothing." The editor of the N. Y. Express is the guilty man who conceived this wicked expression all in his own head.

☞ How many millions of dollars were represented in the gathering of gentlemen in Mr. Cisco's house in New York, to consult Mr. Chase, is not stated, but more, it is said, than any other city except London can show.

☞ Mr. Hamblin, of Dorchester, Mass., who attempted to commit suicide by shooting himself with a revolver, while a coroner was about to commence an investigation of the cause of the death of his wife, is in a comfortable condition and likely to recover from his injuries.

☞ A Mr. Stokes, of Trenton, lately sued Judge Nar, of the True American, for having put his marriage among the deaths. Although the editor offered to make it all right by putting Stokes' death among the marriages, the indignant Benedict would not accept the amende honorable. Damages six cents.

☞ Messrs. Somes & Brown, Solicitors of Claims, No. 2 Park Row, New York, and 476 7th street, Washington, have issued a very convenient little hand-book of information for soldiers, sailors and others in the service of the Government, and for their relatives and heirs. It will be sent gratuitously to any one on application. See advertisement.

Rubber Band Carpet Sweeper.

TRY IT! TRY IT!!

It saves Money; it saves Carpets; it saves Furniture; it saves Labor; it is cheaper than Brooms at five cents apiece.

It gathers up all dust, dirt, and loose lint on the carpets, and raises no dust to settle on the furniture, drapery, or ornaments, or to smother, stifle and irritate the lungs.

It does not wear the carpets half so much as brooms or any other sweeper.

It is the only practicable sweeper made, and the only article fit to sweep a carpet.

With our late improvements it gives universal satisfaction to all who use it according to directions. For sale at No. 17 Market Street by Local.

☞ A letter received by Com. Pearson, of Portsmouth Navy Yard, from an officer of the U. S. ship Constellation, dated Genoa, Dec. 25th, 1862, refers to the death of Mr. Wm. Wallace Clark, of this city, who was unfortunately killed by accident on board that ship, (owing to the parting of a rope—the particulars of which we have already chronicled.) A purse was made up by the officers and crew, to send to his sister, and to give him christian burial; and no officer was ever buried with more solemnity or respect. A handsome stone had been prepared, of marble, and about $40 paid the priests for the privilege of putting it up.

The Constellation, under her admirable commander, Commodore Thacher, had been most actively employed in visiting commercial and other ports, and had convinced the Pachas and the people of Syria that Christian Missionaries were not to be murdered with impunity.

☞ All our readers know that the Chronicle never favors "rotation in office," as such—considering the idea a humbug, that the "public servants" (which all public officers should be, or their offices be abolished,) are to be shifted, as soon as they begin to understand their duties. No, keep a man, so long as he does his duty, and earns his pay, unless you can find a better substitute. In this view, and for these reasons, entirely leaving out of sight all aspirants for city offices, none of whom we ever oppose or support—we congratulate the citizens and tax-payers on the general retention and re-appointment of last year's officers, as we have before chronicled.

And we may perhaps be allowed to say, in particular, that business has brought us much in contact with the City Clerk, and Messenger, especially, and also with the City Marshal, and Superintendent of the City Farm—and it gives us pleasure to bear testimony to the faithfulness, devotion, and efficiency of each and all, so far as we can judge; and no less to the attentive courtesy they have exhibited towards the press in promptly furnishing information for the public, when requested by us.

HOSPITAL FOR WOUNDED N. H. SOLDIERS.—The Board of Aldermen have voted to have a committee of citizens and members of the city government, to take measures to establish a hospital here, for our wounded State soldiers. We hope this committee will use every honorable means to have the hospital located here. The means of reaching Portsmouth by soldiers landing at Boston and coming by rail, or arriving by water, and the return to this station in its naval vessels, of seamen in the navy, belonging to our State, of which the number is quite large: the healthy location and pure air of summer, the liberality of our citizens, the zeal and charitable habits of our matrons, and the beauty of our maidens, with scores of other reasons, to which our modesty prevents allusion, all argue in favor of establishing the hospital here. Exeter, Dover and Somersworth would be greatly accommodated by its location here, while with our railway communication, we are near neighbors to Concord and Manchester. If the disabled troops are returned in transports, they could be landed at our wharves and at once be placed in comfort without encountering the fatigues of an inland journey. The Committee is an able one, but they have something to do besides lending their names to be put in the paper. In the recent language of President Lincoln, they each one of them "must take off his overcoat and throw away his mittens, and now do something," or the first thing they will discover, the smart men of Manchester or Concord who understand the thing, will "have been and gone and done it," and the hospital be located somewhere up country.—Ballot.

THE PORTSMOUTH NAVY YARD people and those of our citizens who appreciate the location of the yard in our neighborhood, were much gratified at the recent pertinent and able letter of Senator Hale to the Secretary of the Navy, concerning the purchase of land for the extension of the Yard. The milk in the cocoa nut is accounted for thus. Old Joe Smith, the Chief of the Bureau of yards and docks, who belongs to that obsolete race of men that just begin to live when they ought to die, is from Portland, where he and Pitt Fessenden, Senator from Maine, are very anxious to establish a large naval station, where they can be well frozen up in winter and easily captured by John Bull in summer, and so the Admiral is opposed to extending our yard, and if any reasonable proposition for improvement is made, and an appropriation therefor passes Congress, the Admiral don't see it. The Admiral has undertaken to disobey the laws of Congress relative to the enlargement of the yard, and his head should at once be taken off. The Navy Department of the present administration has suffered enough from the old fogie, hang-back, conservative policy of such fellows as this Smith, and he ought to give place to a smarter man in times like the present. At any rate we hope John P. will stick to him this time. It is refreshing to see how the democrats commend Hale at this juncture for dropping a negro to take up an admiral. Our gallant Senator was never so popular here before.—Ballot.

A telegraphic despatch in the Boston papers of Thursday morning, stated that "the Senate had confirmed the nomination of John Rowe as Postmaster at Portsmouth, N. H." The New York papers, however, say Portsmouth, Ohio.

A new depot is being constructed by the Eastern Railroad Co. in Portsmouth.—Portland Press.

Glad to hear it, but it is news here.

☞ Letters have been received in this city from Henry G. Thompson, of Co. K, 13th N. H. regiment, who has been reported as missing since the Fredericksburg battle. He was taken prisoner, and conveyed to Richmond, where he was confined in the Libbey prison. Having been released, he is now at Parole Camp, Annapolis, Md. With him are John Harmon and John Hanson, both of this city, and both of Co. K, 13th regiment.

Mr. Thompson writes a very readable letter, giving an account of his experience in the rebel prison. He says:

My room was No. 2 on the fourth floor of the Libbey Prison, (first class hotel) having an extensive view of the rebel capital. There is a great deal of business going on,—that is, in the foundries, machine shops, &c. But the commercial business is all gone, and the city looks very desolate indeed, there being whole streets with the stores all shut up. There are hardly any men in the city, as they are all in the army, having been impressed into the service. They go in with the same suits that they wear at home and in the store or at their business. But they can fight for all that like tigers.

Our bill of fare in the prison was not very extensive. I will enumerate the different articles, if my memory will serve me. Well, just imagine yourself in the morning at any time from 8 o'clock to 10 A. M.,—just as it happens,—at a spot where you could hear one of the rebels come to the head of the stairs and cry out—"Surgeant of the Floor,—buckets for grub." Then it is that we poor, starving men run for our dipper, which holds about a pint, and fall into line to receive our scanty rations. These consist of the dipper two thirds full of "salt water," with a little settlings of rice in the bottom, which is called "rice soup;" with this a piece of bread about one-fourth the size of our four-cent loaves. Again at dark, or a little after, we get a piece of bread, the same size as in the morning, and the same rations of salt water and rice,—just enough to keep a man from starving.—I was hungry for the first time in my life. But I sold my handkerchief to a rebel, and with the money I got bread enough to use just six days by being prudent. The loaf was about half the size of our four-cent loaf, and costs here 17 cents. Butter is $2 per pound; sugar $1; molasses $8 per gallon, and everything else in proportion.

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking; giving an oven nearly 3 feet long; or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time! A check draft is applied to this stove by means of which the consumption of fuel is greatly lessened, and a steady fire can be kept day and night if desired.

THE MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be THE STOVE for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We believe the MODEL COOK to be the very best Stove in the Market, and invite every one to examine it whether they wish to purchase or not. It has had a very extensive sale since its introduction. Reference might be made to more than a hundred families in this city or vicinity who are using the Stove, and give it the highest commendation.

We refer to the following individuals who have purchased the Model Cook:—

David Kimball, Thos. F. Burt, John T. French, Rev. Mr. Davies, Wm. Pettigrew, Capt. John Davis, Jeremiah Raitt, Mrs. Ann T. Perkins, James W. Jarvis, Francis C. Jarvis, Thos. L. VICTOR COAL STOVE.

We offer this beautiful coal burner to the public, with full confidence in its merits.

It was brought into market two years since, and has come rapidly into use.

The Victor is one of the handsomest parlor stoves in the market, and is perfect in its operation. The arrangement for discharging the ashes is very fine—no dust need escape into the room—a continuous fire may be kept throughout the winter—the coal all burned, and no clinkers made.

The quantity of fuel used is very small indeed. There is in this stove an excellent arrangement for ventilating the room in which it is placed; a feature not possessed by any other parlor stove.

Some of the sizes are provided with an oven and boiling place, making them very desirable for a dining room.

We sold a large number of Victor Stoves in our city last season, and they receive the highest commendation from those who are using them.

We have also the celebrated McGregor Stove, so well known in the market as to need no commendation.

A great variety of cheaper Stoves for coal and wood—Coal hods—Patent Coal-sifters.

and Repairing pieces for most of the stoves in use. Job Work attended to with dispatch.

BUY CALIFORNIA WINES.

They are the Purest!

The Best!

The Cheapest!

The "sunny slopes" of "Los Angelos" have announced to the world that America is a wine growing country, and as the discovery of gold sent a thrill through the old world, so will the discovery of these Wines startle them again; as it says, "one more link broken which has bound us to Europe," "one more step to independence." Let every man, woman and child who uses Wine, see to it that they buy none other than these.

"The Hock" is a most delicious Wine, and rivals in delicacy its German predecessor.

The "Angelica" and "Muscatel" are melting, luscious and rich, and will take the place of Malaga, Tokay, or other rich Wine.

The Port has a fine flavor and body; and The Port is excellent because it is pure.

☞ ATTENTION, THE WHOLE! ☜

RYE, N. H., Feb. 26, 1846. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended to the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of DR. SWETT'S PANACEA, and several bottles of his Humor Wash, which have effected a cure. There can be no mistake, as this cure was effected more than three years ago. No other medicines can equal Dr. Swett's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold it to a number of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it since I have acted as agent for the sale of it. JOSIAH JENNESS.

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with dizziness at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

From ELDER I. CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow worse till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY.

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26G

From Emery Estes, a well-known merchant of Gorham, Maine.

"I have sold large quantities of your SARSAPARILLA, but never yet a bottle which failed of the desired effect and full satisfaction to those who took it. As far as our people try it, they agree there has been no medicine like it before in our community."

Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches, Pustules, Ulcers, Scald Head, and all Diseases of the Skin.

From Rev. Robt. Stratton, Bristol, England.

"I only do my duty to you and the public, when I add my testimony to that you publish of the medical virtues of your SARSAPARILLA. My daughter, aged ten, had an affecting humor in her ears, eyes, and hair for years, which we were unable to cure until we tried your SARSAPARILLA. She has been well for some months."

From Mrs. Jane E. Rice, a well-known and much-esteemed lady of Dennisville, Cape May Co., N. J.

"My daughter has suffered for a past with a virulent eruption, which was very troublesome. Nothing afforded any relief until we tried your SARSAPARILLA, which soon completely cured her."

From Charles P. Cage, Esq., of the widely-known Cage, Murray & Co., manufacturers of enamelled papers in Hudson, N. H.

"I had for several years a very troublesome humor in my face, which grew constantly worse until it disfigured my features and became an intolerable affliction. I tried almost everything a man could of both advice and medicine, but without any effect whatever, until I took your SARSAPARILLA. I immediately made my face worse than it was before, as I might for a time; but in a few weeks the new skin began to form under the blotches, and continued until my face is as smooth as any body's, and I am without any symptoms of the disease that I know of. I enjoy perfect health, and without a doubt owe it to your SARSAPARILLA."

Erysipelas—General Debility—Purity the Blood.

From Dr. Robt. Sarvis, Houston St., New York.

"DR. AYER: I seldom fail to remove Erysipelas and Scrofulous Sores by the persevering use of your SARSAPARILLA, and I have just completely cured an attack of Malignant Erysipelas with it. No alterative we possess equals the SARSAPARILLA you have supplied to the profession and to the people."

From J. E. Johnston, Esq., Wahoma, Ohio.

"For twelve years, I had the yellow Erysipelas in my right arm, during which time I tried all the celebrated original prepared remedies, and took hundreds of dollars worth of medicines. The ulcers gave so bad that the cords became visible, and the Doctors decided that my arm must be amputated. I began taking your SARSAPARILLA. Took two bottles, and some of your PILLS. Together they have cured me. I am now as well and sound as any body, living in a public place, my case is known to every body in this community, and excites the wonder of all."

From Hon. Henry Monro, M. P. P., of Newcastle, C. W., a leading member of the Canadian Parliament.

"I have used your SARSAPARILLA in my family, for general debility, and for purifying the blood, with very beneficial results, and feel confidence in commending it to the afflicted."

St. Anthony's Fire, Rose, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Sore Eyes.

From Harvey Sickler, Esq., the able editor of the Washingtonian Democrat, Pennsylvania.

"Our only child, about three years of age, was attacked by pimples on his forehead. They rapidly spread until they formed a loathsome and virulent sore, which covered his face, and actually blinded his eyes for some days. We skilfully applied nitrate of silver and other remedies, without any apparent effect. For fifteen days we guarded his hands, lest with them he should tear the festering and corrupt wound which covered his whole face. Having tried every thing else we had any hope in, we began giving your SARSAPARILLA, and applying the iodide of potash lotion, as you direct. The sore began to heal when we had given our first bottle, and our child grew well and finished the second. The child's eyelashes, which had come out, grew again, and he is now as healthy and fair as any child. The whole neighborhood predicted that the child must die."

Syphilis and Mercurial Disease

From Dr. Hiram Sloat, of St. Louis, Missouri.

"I find your SARSAPARILLA a more efectual remedy for the secondary symptoms of Syphilis and for syphilitic disease than any other we possess. The profession are indebted to you for some of the best medicines we have."

From A. J. Gooch, M. D., an eminent physician of Lawrence, Mass., who is a prominent member of the Legislature of Massachusetts.

"DR. AYER, Dear Sir: I have found your SARSAPARILLA an excellent remedy for Syphilis, both of the primary and secondary type, and effective in some cases that were obstinate to yield to other remedies. I do not know what we can employ with more certainty of success, where a powerful alterative is required."

Mr. A. T. Stewart, of New Brunswick, N. J., had dreadful ulcers on his legs, caused by the abuse of mercury, or mercurial disease, which grew more and more aggravated, for years, in spite of every remedy or treatment that could be applied, until the preserving use of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA relieved him. Few cases can be found more desperate and distressing than this, and it took several dozen bottles to cure him.

Leucorrhœa, Whites, Female Weakness, are generally produced by internal Scrofulous Disorders, and are very often cured by the alterative effect of this SARSAPARILLA. Some cases require, however, in aid of the SARSAPARILLA, the skilful application of local remedies.

From the well-known and widely-celebrated Dr. Jacob Morrill, of Cincinnati.

"I have found your SARSAPARILLA an excellent alterative in diseases of females. Many cases of Irregularity, Leucorrhœa, Internal Ulceration, and local debility, arising from the scrofulous diathesis, have yielded to it, and there are few that do not, when its effect is properly aided by local treatment."

A lady, unwilling to allow the publication of her name, writes:

"My daughter was reported quite dead and has been cured of a very debilitating Leucorrhœa of long standing, by two bottles of your SARSAPARILLA."

Rheumatism, Gout, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Heart Disease, Neuralgia,

when caused by Scrofula in the system, are rapidly cured by this EXT. SARSAPARILLA.

AYER'S
CATHARTIC PILLS
possess so many advantages over the other Purgatives in the market, and their purgative virtues are so universally known, that we need not do more than to assure the public their quality is maintained equal to the best it ever has been, and that they may be depended on to do all that they have ever done.

Teeth on Vulcanized Rubber.

SOME OF ITS ADVANTAGES.

1st. It is stronger and lighter than any known material.

2d. From two to six times the amount of suction or adhesion can be obtained by it.

3d. When the arch is irregular we can by building out the depressions—which can be done to any extent—give the mouth a more natural appearance.

4th. No bad taste arises in the mouth by its use, as the porousness of the stomach and mouth do not affect it to be least.

5th. Teeth mounted upon this base can be kept clean and sweet as easy as a saucer, as when finished the work presents one whole piece.

6th. While in all ways it is better, save in a few peculiar cases, it is much cheaper than Gold.

DR. A. P. STEVENS, Surgeon Dentist,
No. 5 Daniel St., Portsmouth,

Has had four years of practical experience in making this material, and will guarantee satisfaction in all cases entrusted to his care.

DENTISTRY.

No. 60 CONGRESS STREET,
Portsmouth, Jan. 1st, 1863.

DR. GOODALL

Would respectfully inform his patrons and the public, that he had of late many calls to insert teeth upon VULCANIZED RUBBER, that he has purchased the best VULCANIZER in the market, and is now prepared to do all work upon RUBBER, on the same other bases of GOLD and SILVER as formerly, if preferred.

The Rubber has several important advantages, viz: It is very light and elastic, and consequently is perfectly easy to the muscles of the mouth and cheeks. There are no interstices or open joints to collect food, &c.; consequently they can be worn night and day, and are very easily kept neat and clean.

Beside all this, the most accurate fit is obtained, as the Rubber is Vulcanized directly upon the plaster model, and the suction is of course much stronger than in plates of Gold or Silver.

Any one who is waiting for their permanent teeth will, I am confident, be perfectly satisfied with the Rubber base. The expense is but a little more than for Silver, and you get the same teeth (in blocks) that you would pay $60.00 for an upper or lower set on Gold.

In New York and Boston, and throughout the West, Vulcanized Rubber is used almost to the exclusion of the other bases, and by the best Dentists too. I will warrant a perfect fit and teeth from the best manufacturer in the country, S. S. White.

ALL OTHER OPERATIONS IN DENTISTRY I will do at the usual rates. I will here mention that my price for EXTRACTION is 25 cents.

THE MAGEE
COOKING STOVE.

The subscribers, having received their Fall stock of Stoves, would especially call the attention of the public to the

CELEBRATED AND UNEQUALLED
MAGEE COOK STOVE,

as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.

There is a new style and very superior broiler and air from heater combined, by which the odor of broiling meats are prevented from escaping into the room, and the room and the shovelfuls of ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any Stove, as numbers of families in the city and vicinity, who are now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.

We would refer to the following purchasers:

"MAGEE'S PATENT"
VENTILATING & AIR WARMING
FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air is allowed to come in contact with the fire-pot as used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the great est amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the chamber can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace is now in use with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 20 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world, and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cheever, Esq., Albert E. Hatch, Esq., Aaron H. Hill, Charles H. Mendum, Henry F. Wendell, John Sise, and others.

SPEER'S SAMBUCI WINE
PURE AND FOUR YEARS OLD,
OF CHOICE OPORTO FRUIT,
For Physicians' Use.
FEMALES, WEAKLY PERSONS, INVALIDS.
SAMBUCUS TREE OF PORTUGAL,

The Great Remedy for Kidney Affections, Rheumatism, Chronic Complaints

Excellent Wine for Females.

Every Family should use the SAMBUCI WINE celebrated in Europe for its medicinal and beneficial qualities as a gentle Stimulant, Tonic, Diuretic and Sudorific, highly esteemed by eminent physicians, used in European and American Hospitals, and by some of the first families in Europe and America.

AS A DIURETIC, it imparts a healthy action to the Glands and Kidneys, and Urinary Organs, very beneficial in Dropsy, Gout and Rheumatic Affections.

SPEER'S SAMBUCI WINE is not a mixture or manufactured article, but is pure from the juice of the Portugal Sambucus, cultivated in New Jersey, recommended by Chemists and Physicians as possessing medical properties superior to any other Wine in use, and an excellent article for all invalids and debilitated persons, and the aged and infirm, improving the appetite, and benefitting ladies and children.

A LADIES' WINE, because it will not intoxicate as other wines, as it contains no mixture of spirits or other liquors, and is admired for its rich, peculiar flavor and nutritive properties, imparting a healthy tone to the digestive organs, and a blooming, soft and healthy skin and complexion.

WE REFER TO

a few well known gentlemen and physicians, who have tried the Wine.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (under the Act of 1837,)
75 State Street, opposite Kilby Street,
BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Claims, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or Inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished, by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it Inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably surpassed by, any which can be offered from elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the undersigned, and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but one of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."
JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.
R. H. EDDY.

THE REBELLION.

Gen. McClernand's official dispatch conveys in a few words very gratifying intelligence, which is the more satisfactory after the recent reverses. It is dated Jan. 14, and is as follows:—"I have the honor to report that the forces under my command attacked the Post of Arkansas to day at one o'clock, having stormed the enemy's works. We took a large number of prisoners, variously estimated at from 7000 to 10,000, together with all his stores, animals and munitions of war. Rear Admiral David D. Porter, commanding the Mississippi squadron, effectively and brilliantly co-operated in accomplishing this complete success."

Richmond papers of the 10th contain telegrams to the effect that all was quiet at Wilmington on the 15th. All non-combatants have been requested to leave the town. The steamer Colombia has run the blockade out of a Confederate port. Another steamer ran in from Nassau with a heavy mail and a valuable assorted cargo. This vessel reports that six swift steamers freighted were about to sail from Nassau for the Confederate coast.

A new rebel privateer schooner, the Retribution, mounting five guns, is reported as off St. Thomas, Jan. 6.

Sensation dispatches of doubtful authenticity, to the N. Y. Sunday Mercury, Saturday, stated that the Army of the Potomac had crossed the Rappahannock, and that a new Vicksburg expedition was being rapidly organized.

Accounts from the Army of the Potomac are contradictory. A letter dated near Fredericksburg, 16th, says "a few days will tell the story of success or defeat in another attempt at crossing the Rappahannock. Pontoons have been moved up from Belle Plains." A dispatch states that on Saturday afternoon, near dark, the rebels advanced about 1000 infantry and took possession of the breastworks opposite Falmouth, which were constructed during the week. Col. Morshead's Philadelphia brigade, with Hazard's Rhode Island battery, were moved down to contest their further forward movement, but they did not offer us battle. From prisoners, and other information believed to be reliable, it has been ascertained that on the 4th inst., at daybreak, rebel troops commenced to leave Fredericksburg to reinforce Bragg. On the 5th inst., eleven brigades, amounting to about 46,000 men, had left Fredericksburg. These troops were from Tennessee, North Carolina and Georgia.

There is something mysterious about the late capture of steamers by the rebels in Tennessee. The captain of one of the boats states the Sidell was surrendered without firing a gun; and he denies that Forrest was anywhere in the vicinity, or that there was any considerable rebel force there.

☞ Mr. Vallandigham made a remarkable Speech in the House on Wednesday.—It was on Mr. Wright's resolution, which declares the rebellion deliberately wicked, and without reasonable cause; that the war on our part was only for suppressing the rebellion and restoring the Union; this done the war should cease, and the seceding states be received back into the Union as it was, with all their former privileges.

Mr. Vallandigham spoke at length against this resolution. He said "There is no cause of controversy excepting Slavery.—The agitation of that subject, as a political element, MUST CEASE! We must make a speedy and ready Return of Fugitive Slaves, and allow the Transit and Temporary Sojourn of Masters with their Slaves, in the Free States! This, (he said,) is the Price of the Union, and whoever was unwilling to pay it, must finally declare for disunion."

[As Uncle Toby set up these lines, he remarked; that Mr. V. is very loyal to slavery, very submissive to it, and that his proposed Union differs widely from the "Union as it WAS," and more widely still from the Union as it will be. The Democratic Party of the Free States spurned proposals of the same kind at Charleston, though they were much less offensive than these of Mr. V.—and they will spern these. If some leaders adopt them, they will find the followers deserting. Northern democrats, tho' not abolitionists, yet do not like to be themselves enslaved.]

☞ The ship carpenters and laborers at the Charlestown Navy Yard voted to strike for higher wages. One of the difficulties complained of being removed, however, in the payment of a great number of the men, it was voted, at a meeting Saturday evening, to go to work again on Monday, and await the action of the department.

THE BOOK OF DAYS, Part xi, has been received from J. H. Foster. It is as interesting and instructive as the former numbers. By the way, "Archbishop Parker's Salt-vat," illustrated on page 648, looks very much like a modern coal stove.

To the Stockholders of the EASTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

Inasmuch as the action of the Corporation, in providing legal currency and not coin, for payment of interest on the bonds of the State, issued for our benefit, has been deemed of sufficient general importance to be referred to in the Address of His Excellency the Governor to the Legislature, and has been the subject of animadversion in the official newspaper of the State, we think it proper (and more convenient in this mode than in our usual Annual Report) to make a brief exposition of the facts.

By the act of 1857, Chapter 220, the Treasurer of the Commonwealth was authorized to issue scrip to the amount of $500,000, and that scrip was directed to be sold by the Treasurer, as such sums as he should require, to pay an equal amount issued on account of this Corporation twenty years before. A portion of that scrip was sold, or appropriated by the Treasurer, when it was below par, and we were called on, very properly, to make up the deficiency, which we did. The second $100,000 was sold at a premium which the Treasurer retained, but at the time gave us credit for it on his books. When the last $300,000 was needed its market value had risen from one to two per cent. above par, and we desired the Treasurer to sell it in open market, or rather to sell so much of it as he should require to pay the remaining $300,000 of the former loan, and no more. For this purpose the sale of $295,000, or thereabouts, would have been sufficient. In fact, we ourselves made, on March 7th, 1859, a distinct proposal to the Treasurer as follows, to wit: "For $295,000 of your bonds we propose to pay you $298,416.17, which sum, added to the amount in the Treasury now to our credit (being $750 premium on bonds, and $833.33 interest—an over payment)—will make the $300,000 due April 1st and redeemable at that time." But this, as was stated in our Annual Report of July, 1859, the Treasurer declined to do. He declined in fact to sell the scrip at all, but appropriated the whole $300,000, at par as he called it, to one of the public funds in his charge, thus depriving us of all benefit of the premium which might have been obtained, or rather making out liability to the Commonwealth, on which we are paying interest and have ultimately to pay the principal, several thousand dollars greater than it ought to have been as we think, or would have been if the provisions of the law had been strictly followed. After a while, the amount which had been standing to our credit on the books of the Treasurer of the Commonwealth, disappeared; by what process, or for what reason, we do not know. It has not been paid or allowed to us.

We applied to the Legislature for relief; the subject was referred to the committee on finance, who reported an act in our favor, which passed through the House of Representatives, but was defeated in the Senate.

By the same act of 1857, we are required "semi-annually, on or before the first days of June and December, to pay to the Treasurer of the Commonwealth $12,500, as interest," on the amount so advanced (which interest falls due on the first of July and January following, and this two months' use of the sum named, was the only direct compensation the Commonwealth was expected to receive for the loan.) When, on the first of June last, we came to pay the instalment of $12,500 then due, the Treasurer of the Commonwealth called on us to pay an additional sum equal to the premium on gold, or to pay in coin; because the Legislature, by act of 1862, chap. 82 had determined to pay its bonds and coupons in coin. As this act was passed years after our bonds had been disposed of, and not at all for our benefit, but to sustain the credit of the Commonwealth and enable it to obtain loans on favorable terms, it did not seem to us that the Legislature, although it made the act reach backward to bonds then already issued, could have intended that we should bear the burden of this measure of financial expediency.

The Treasurer appealed to the Attorney General of the Commonwealth, who, after full consideration, decided that we were under no legal obligation to pay in coin. In accordance with this opinion of the Attorney General we have continued to pay the $12,500, semi-annually, in the legal currency of the country.

But it is now said that we are bound equitably, if not in law, to pay in coin, and the reason originally urged was, that "the premiums on the scrip issued was given to the companies." This reason being palpably in the face of the facts in our case, has been abandoned and withdrawn. Nor is it easy to see what reason there can be in equity more than in law for this claim.

The State, for its own purposes, to maintain its credit and prevent its bonds from depreciating in the market, has seen fit to provide that it will pay its interests in coin, and at the same time made the provision retroactive, so as to include past issues; thus putting capitalists whose money was invested in those bonds, on a better footing, to that extent, than the rest of the community, paying them in a better currency than the other citizens of the Commonwealth are obliged to accept, giving them a bounty, in fact, which at the present cost of gold, equals more than two per cent. additional interest on all the bonds outstanding at the date of the law. If the Legislature had voted directly to raise its rate of interest on all its bonds, past as well as future, to eight per cent., surely it cannot be contended that the railroad companies, whose bonds were issued years ago, would be under obligations to pay this extra rate beyond what their contract and the law required. That this is done indirectly does not seem to us to strengthen the claim.

But, further. The larger part of the $500,000 of scrip being held by the Treasurer himself, as an investment for one of the public funds in his charge, it is understood that he does not pay out the coin for that part of the interest, or at most, it is but a nominal payment, by transfer from one account to another on his books. So that it comes to this: that we are urged to pay into the State Treasury, as a matter of equity, in consequence of this volunteer act of the Legislature, an amount of specie which, after all, is not used for the purposes of the act.

Such a result, we respectively submit, could never have been intended by the Legislature.

In conclusion, we have only further to say, that we are content to abide by the contract and the law; or, if it is more satisfactory, to pay the original debt, at once, or as soon as it will suit the convenience of the Commonwealth. For the Directors,

GEORGE M. BROWNE.

FAREWELL ADDRESS OF THE MANIKIN, who so ably assisted Dr Gleason in his Lectures at the Temple.

Ladies and Gentlemen:—I appear before you in a semi-toilet, which will surprise you when you remember the country in which I originated. You are aware, however, that my countrymen possess almost a monopoly of the crowns of science—that an idea no sooner takes root in the French mind than an attempt is made to realize it in life.—The advanced guard of progress in that happy country have discovered the skin to be not only wholly superfluous to vital operations, but a positive hindrance to the perfection of those operations. With the true spirit of devotees they immediately submitted to excoriation, — and notwithstanding the great depression of spirits caused by the ridicule of their countrymen, there was a marked improvement in the health and vigor of their systems. One of their number, a poet and philosopher, soon perceived the moral bearing of the question, and became confirmed in the opinion that the skin is but a tissue of successful deception, which is altogether unworthy of a lover of truth. What better mask of unclean liver or impure blood could one wish, than the fair surface now so general? Every day his horror of the skin increased, until he finally discarded a lady to whom he was devotedly attached, because he could not persuade her to submit to flaying. Professor Anticus, immediately after excoriation, set off for India. From the antiquities of that country he has found, not only in the southern part of the peninsula, but even in the vale of Cashmere, the supposed home of Mr. and Mrs. Adam—the most convincing evidence that the original inhabitants of that country did not possess skins. The Prof.'s brother, an enthusiastic admirer of the non-epidermic theory, has discovered in the hieroglyphics of Egypt, a clear account of the origin of the human entide. According to this account the slaves complained to their master of the effects of the sun while working in the fields. The wife of one of the nobles, a lady of great kindness of heart, besought her father confessor (the confessions of pretty women were always agreeable) to devise some plan for the relief of the slaves. The priest was a great chemist, and he soon produced a solution in which he dipped the slaves three times and then dried them in the sun. After this operation they were found to be covered with a smooth coating, which rendered them less sensitive to solar heat. Originating in this manner, skin soon became a badge of servitude. More recent study of Egyptian literature proves that among the ancient nobility of that country, wife stealing or child murder were atoned for by a fine upon cattle or by the fruits of the earth; but the heart's blood of the libeler alone could satisfy the lord who had been accused of possessing skin. I feel, ladies and gentlemen, that this will be a powerful argument with Americans, who are well known to value the aristocracy of their blood above all other nations. It requires but little ingenuity to see how the custom became general.—Cadmus, an Egyptian slave of remarkable intellect, ran away from servitude and attempted to establish himself in Phenicia as a physician. He represented his skin as caused by accidentally falling into a cuticarle, as the skin mixture was called, which he had prepared for his slaves. His story was, however, looked upon with suspicion, and in disgust Cadmus withdrew to Greece, where the ignorance of the savages, and the gift of letters, which he had acquired in Phenicia, enabled him to make the adoption of his unfortunate covering universal. This enlightened assembly is aware of the eagerness with which Grecian manners were adopted by the Romans, and of the unbounded influence of Rome upon the present civilized world. I have carefully read all the ancient accounts of Romulus and Remus, and in no one of them is there any mention of their skins. In, fact, the early history of all countries offers a vast amount of negative evidence against cuticle. The philanthropic member of the denuded clique has published several octavo volumes, in which he shows the extreme selfishness of using up in the manufacture of superfluous skin, those chemical elements by which the poor might replenish their muscles and invigorate their their blood, while the political economist finds that the most densely populated countries of Europe are becoming impoverished by this unnecessary drain upon their resources. Lastly, the eminently practical Prof.- Best-results-by-the-cheapest-means exemplifies the great advantage of a small brush with a little soap and water applied directly to the diseased parts, over the usual mode of purification by drugs. I will say here that the brushes which the professor uses, may be had of my agent after the lecture. You see my friends that every consideration of philosophy, history, philanthropy, political economy and expediency demands the immediate removal of your skins. B. F. S.

THE STOCK MARKET is up, up, as it should be, when that for which the sales are made is going down, down, so very fast. And yet it does not respond as it ought, and most stocks are really at a heavy discount, compared with their actual value in real money. Government securities droop heavily, and the standard of the market, 6's of 1881, decline one per cent. each day. That is wrong and bodes us no good. Since Jan. 1st, the fall in them has been 11 per cent., while State and other stocks are going up. Are any of these better than the loans of a Government which can swallow them all up?—Com. Bulletin.

MONEY.—The community are aghast at the price of gold, and well they may be.—We remarked, on September 27th, that gold, which was then selling at 20 per cent., would be 40 per cent premium by the end of the year; and is it too much to say that it will be 60 in a month, and 75 before the 1st of March, if the impending three hundred millions of paper dollars are forced out before an avenue is opened for it. A freshet sweeps away all before it unless the sluices are open.—Com. Bulletin.

☞ Saturday, the 17th, was the anniversary of the birthday of Benjamin Franklin, printer, born in Boston, Jan. 17, 1706. It was decided that the statue of Franklin should remain in front of the new City Hall. It will occupy the pedestal located some fifteen feet nearer School street.

☞ Gen. Halleck has issued an order which may be regarded as retaliatory, that no rebel officer shall be released until further notice.

☞ The gunboat Sagamore, at Key West, has captured the English sloops Avenger and Julia, from Nassau, with supplies for the rebels.

JAMES F. SHORES, JR, No. 1 Congress Block, has just issued a new Catalogue of his Circulating Library. The books have all been re-numbered and the arrangement of the catalogue will be found much more convenient than the old one. As the old catalogues are now useless that the patrons of the Library will be kind enough to lay them aside and send for a copy of the new one, which will be furnished gratis to all who wish for them.

Notice to Housekeepers, Rubber Band Carpet Sweeper.

TRY IT! TRY IT!!

It saves Money; it saves Carpets; it saves Furniture; it saves Labor; it is cheaper than Brooms at five cents apiece.

It gathers up all dust, dirt, and loose lint on the carpets, and raises no dust to settle on the furniture, drapery, or ornaments, or to smother, stifle and irritate the lungs.

It does not wear the carpets half so much as brooms or any other sweeper.

It is the only practicable sweeper made, and the only article fit to sweep a carpet.

With our late improvements it gives universal satisfaction to all who use it according to directions. For sale at No. 12 Market Street by DESERTERS.—U. S. Deputy Marshal Adams arrested, on Saturday, at the Portsmouth Navy Yard, one George Donahoe, a deserter from the U. S. service, having received instructions by telegraph to that effect. Donahoe, it is stated, first enlisted in the Navy, some time since. He deserted, enlisted in the army in N. Y., receiving two hundred dollars bounty. He again deserted, went to Massachusetts, again enlisted and received $150 bounty. He deserted a third time, came to Portsmouth and obtained work on the Navy Yard. He had been here about a month, and, in an unlucky moment to him, wrote a letter to a friend in New York State, giving an account of his operations, and stating his present occupation, and even the gang in which he was at work. This letter was the means of his arrest.

On the same day, John F. Smith and William Jones were arrested in Portland, for deserting from the Navy. They were shipped in Boston for the U. S. steamer Sacramento, at the Portsmouth Navy Yard. On Friday they started with others for the ship, but slipped away here, and on Saturday took the train for Portland. The telegraph, however, was quicker than the locomotive, and when they reached the depot in Portland, they found two gentlemen in waiting, very anxious to meet them. These gentlemen offered sufficient inducements to cause them to proceed to the lock-up, where they were kept until the return train in the afternoon, when they were brought back to this city by an officer. The Argus says that one of them is a hard case, having been in the U. S. service before, and taken prisoner by the confederates, when he turned his coat and enlisted for that cause, but acted so badly that they were glad to exchange him for one of their own men.—Since that time he has been in irons, a period of about fourteen months. They will probably both lie in limbo for awhile to come.

☞ Capt. Charles S. Boggs, formerly of the Varuna, has been assigned to the command of the U. S. steamer Sacramento, at the Portsmouth Navy Yard.

Capt. Boggs, it will be remembered, was in command of the U. S. steamer Varuna in April last, at the attack on the rebel forts and ships below New Orleans, which resulted in the capture of that important city. Finding his vessel amid a nest of rebel steamers, with dauntless bravery he started ahead, delivering her fire, both starboard and port, at everyone she passed. The result was that in this single engagement he destroyed six powerful rebel vessels, one of them (the Morgan, iron clad about the prow) being so crippled by the vigorous fire which Capt. Boggs poured into her even after his own vessel was so far submerged that the water rose over the gun-trucks, that she surrendered, her commander having set her on fire, burning his wounded with his vessel. We doubt if the persistent bravery and heroic endurance displayed by Capt. Boggs in that engagement, have been paralleled in the history of the rebellion, and it becomes a grateful people to honor the man for his noble deeds.

☞ As Mr. John N. Campbell, of this city, Foreman of the Master's laborers at the Portsmouth Navy Yard, was passing from the wharf to the U. S. steamer Sacramento on Saturday, the plank on which he was walking, broke, precipitating him headlong upon a scow beneath, injuring him quite seriously.

WHAT ADVERTISING WILL DO.—One of our neighbors, whom it is hard to get ahead of in his mode of advertising, informs us that he has spent $150 per year, for two years past, in bringing his business to the eyes of the public. The result of this judicious expenditure is, that each year's sales and profits have doubled that of the preceding year. Who will say that "advertising don't pay?" Nobody except those who don't know how to advertise.

☞ Fifty laborers, with wheel-barrows, picks and shovels, on Monday morning, commenced work on fortifications at Fort McClary. The extension will be pushed on with all possible despatch. Work has been going on at Fort Constitution for some days past.

☞ Five large iron buoys have recently been placed in the harbor, between the two forts, for the purpose of mooring an iron-clad, which will be sent to this station, to remain here until the forts are completed.

☞ The Republican Senatorial Convention for District No. 1, is to be held at the Franklin House, in this city, this (Tuesday) morning, at 11 o'clock.

☞ A trial term of the Supreme Judicial Court commences to-day, Tuesday, at Exeter, before Sargent, J. The number of cases on the old docket is 290, a material reduction from the number at former terms of this court.

☞ The House Committee on Territories agreed to admit Nevada, Colorado and Nebraska into the Union as States.

IMMORTELLES.

MY CREED.

I hold that christian grace abounds
Where charity is seen; that when
We climb to heaven, 'tis on the rounds
Of love to men.

'Tis not the wide phylactery,
Nor stubborn fast, nor stated prayers,
That makes us saints; we judge the tree
By what it bears.

And when a man can live apart
From works, on theologic trust,
I know the blood about his heart
Is dry as dust.

THE SOUL.

The soul, secure in her existence, smiles
At the drawn dagger, and defies its point;
The stars shall fade away, the sun himself
Grow dim with age, and nature sink in years;
But thou shall flourish in immortal youth,
Unhurt amid the war of elements,
The wreck of matter and the crash of worlds.

—Addison.

THE BEAUTIFUL.

Thou scest Beauty in the violet's cup;—
I'll teach thee miracles! Walk on this heath,
And say to the neglected flower, "Look up,
And be thou Beautiful!" If thou hast faith,
It will obey thy word.

—Barrington.

☞ The Com. Bulletin says, "the early closing movement among the Boston retail dry goods dealers, has been decidedly successful. There were very few retail stores open any evening this week after 7 o'clock P. M., and those few found their obstinacy in keeping late hours a decidedly profitless speculation."

☞ Two more of Gen. Banks' transports are reported ashore on the Florida shore. One was got off; the other, the ship Sparkling Sea, with the 25th N. Y. battery on board, would probably be entirely wrecked. The troops were all saved, and all the horses which had survived the passage.

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking; giving an oven nearly 3 feet long; or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time! A check draft is applied to this stove by means of which the consumption of fuel is greatly lessened, and a steady fire can be kept day and night if desired.

THE MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be THE STOVE for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good cook stove is needed.

We believe the MODEL COOK to be the very best Stove in the Market, and invite every one to examine it before they decide to purchase or not. It has had a very extensive sale since its introduction. Reference might be made to more than a hundred families in this city or vicinity who are using the Stove, and give it the highest commendation.

We refer to the following individuals who have purchased the Model Cook:—

David Kimball, Thos. F. Hurt, John T. French, Rev. Mr. Davies, Wm. Pettigrew, Capt. John Davis, Jeremiah Raitt, Mrs. Ann T. Perkins, James W. Jarvis, Francis C. Jarvis, Thos. J. Pillock, Jacob Woodall, Capt. Jacob Thompson, Gen. J. G. Haffley, G. Melvin Huntress, Jos. D. Akerman, James F. Shores, Wm. C. Newton, Hurton D. Walker, Benj. Hoover, John Trundy, Richard L. Lambert, Joseph Stiles, John Senter, Wm. Bell, Cyrus Plumer, Freeman Hurd, James M. Locke, Daniel L. Randall, Isaac Wilson, John E. Roberts—of Portsmouth; Samuel C. Dixon, Daniel I. Pryor, Cushman Pryor, of Trefethen's Island; Geo. S. Dixon, Samuel F. Paul, Elias Remick, Timothy Dame, Eliot; Wm. S. Locke, Benj. Fernald, Mrs. Wm. Locke, Kittery; R. F. Gerrish, Kittery Point; Hon. VICTOR COAL STOVE.

We offer this beautiful coal burner to the public, with full confidence in its merits.

It was brought into market two years since, and has come rapidly into use.

The Victor is one of the handsomest parlor stoves in the market, and is perfect in its operation. The arrangement for dumping the ashes is very fine—no dust need escape into the room—a continuous fire may be kept throughout the winter—the coal all burned, and no clinkers made.

The quantity of fuel used is very small indeed. There is in this stove an excellent arrangement for ventilating the room in which it is placed; a feature not possessed by any other parlor stove.

Some of the sizes are provided with an oven and boiling place, making them very desirable for a dining room.

We keep a large number of Victor Stoves in our city last season, and they receive the highest commendation from those who are using them.

We have also the celebrated McGregor Stove, so well known in the market as to need no commendation.

A great variety of cheaper Stoves for coal and wood—Coal-hods—Patent Coal-sifters.

and Repairing pieces for most of the stoves in use. Job Work attended to with dispatch.

BUY CALIFORNIA WINES.

They are the Purest!

The Best!

The Cheapest!

The "sunny slopes" of "Los Angelos" have announced to the world that America is a wine growing country, and as the discovery of gold sent a thrill through the old world, so will the discovery of these Wines startle them again, as it says, "one more link broken which has bound us to Europe," "one more step to independence." Let every man, woman and child who see Wine, see to it that they buy none other than these.

"The Hock" is a most delicious Wine, and rivals in delicacy its German predecessor.

The "Angelica" and "Muscatel" are melting, luscious and rich, and will take the place of Malaga, Tokay, or other rich Wine.

The Port has a fine flavor and body; and The Port is excellent because it is pure.

☞ ATTENTION, THE WHOLE! ☜

RYE, N.H., Feb. 26, 1846. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended to the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some tea or twelve bottles of DR. SWEETT'S PANACEA, and several bottles of his HUMOR WASH, which have effected a cure. There can be no mistake, as this cure has lasted more than three years ago. No other medicines can equal Dr. Swett's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold it to a number of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it since I have acted as agent for the sale of it. JOSIAH JENNESS.

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWEETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

FROM ELDER I CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our home in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY.

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not answer his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWEETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26o

A DIALOGUE.

N. E. PATRIOT. The greatest crime ever committed by the chief magistrate of a free people, has been perpetrated by the president in the promulgation of the emancipation proclamation.

UNCLE TOBY—Don't see it very clearly, and would like to be informed why it is any worse to proclaim Liberty to the slaves of such a Free People as we profess to be, than it was to do the same thing in the British, French, Danish and Dutch West-Indies, or than it was for the Emperor of Russia to proclaim liberty to twenty millions of serfs, after 260 years of bondage.—But why is it a crime at all?

P. Pres. Lincoln compared such a document to the Pope's Bull against the Comet.

U. T.—Never heard that the Comet cared much about the Bull, or issued a Proclamation against it: but Jeff. Davis, Chief Sachem of the rebel slave power, has let loose a counter-proclamation, that bellows as if the Bull was goring the Confederate Ox, and is answered by a dolefully responsive bleat from every northern calf of the confederate breed, every one crying out as loudly as if his furious grief could save the "peculiar institution" from its impending doom.

P. He said also that such a proceeding would institute a John Brown raid on a gigantic scale.

U. T. Both of these sayings cannot be true, for one destroys the other. But if the latter were true, it is not easy to see how or why John Brown's raid was worse than Stuart's, or Stonewall Jackson's. We do not expect to see or hear of any raids by negroes, at present, because they see no need of it, but wait the current of events. The president, however, if he has offended the slave power both north and south, is not a sinner above all men, even in the esteem of the Patriot, unless it will deny its word, which it uttered against president Buchanan, not quite five years ago, viz in March, 1858, just after the election. Please to read it from your file.

P. Before the Lecompton Constitution question was brought forward, our prospects for success were quite flattering: our TRIUMPH seemed to be CERTAIN: but that matter, with the Course of the Administration upon it, fell like a Wet Blanket on the rising courage and earnest zeal of our friends and from that day we were doomed, our DEFEAT was CERTAIN.

U. T. The Administration, which cast this wet blanket, was headed by Buchanan and Breckinridge, and it contained Cobb, Thompson, Floyd, Toucey, Brown, and Black, all distinguished leaders of the democratic party. And the course taken, of which the Patriot then complained, was a conspiracy to extend and perpetuate slavery, by pushing the Lecompton document down the throats of northern democrats. It sickened and defeated them in New-Hampshire, as the Patriot said, and so in every Free State it disgusted many, and divided the party, leaving them in a hopeless quarrel at Charleston, and defeating them in every Free State.—This division elected Lincoln and Hamlin: then the same Floyd and Co. seceded, leaving the powers at Washington partly in the hands of men who do not worship slavery. The war, its disasters and calamities, have led to the proclamation. All parties have got more than they bargained for,—especially the peculiar institution.

This is a new and invaluable preparation for preserving and beautifying the hair.
The wonderful virtues of Arnica in allaying and removing inflammation are universally known.
ARNICA HAIR GLOSS is a combination of these virtues, with other tried and excellent ingredients.
ARNICA HAIR GLOSS stimulates and invigorates the hair, prevents it from falling out, restores it when lost—promotes its growth and strength—renders it proof against all diseases.
ARNICA HAIR GLOSS permanently cures all irritations and eruptions of the scalp, and makes it healthy and fertile. For the removal of dandruff it has no equal. Its operations in this particular are magical and permanent.
ARNICA HAIR GLOSS is unequalled as a hair-dressing compound. It nourishes and cleanses the scalp and invigorates the hair, but it renders the latter charmingly soft and lustrous. Its odor is pronounced delicate and fragrant—the proprietor having taken especial pains to secure this result.
ARNICA HAIR GLOSS is the very best preparation for the hair ever discovered.
ARNICA HAIR GLOSS, notwithstanding its surpassing merits—is retailed at only twenty-five cents a bottle, by all Druggists.

Teeth on Vulcanized Rubber.
SOME OF ITS ADVANTAGES.
1st. It is stronger and lighter than any known material.
2d. From two to six times the amount of suction or adhesion can be obtained by it.
3d. When the arch is irregular we can by building out the deficiency, which can be done to any extent—give the mouth a more natural appearance.
4th. No bad taste arises in the mouth by its use, as the secretions of the stomach and mouth do not affect it in the least.
5th. Teeth mounted upon this base can be kept clean and sweet as easy as a saucer, as when finished the work presents one whole piece.
6th. While in all ways it is better, save in a few peculiar cases, it is much cheaper than gold.
DR. A. P. STEVENS, Surgeon Dentist,
No. 5 Daniel St., Portsmouth,
Has had four years of practical experience in making this material, and will guarantee satisfaction to all concerned, or refunded in his cases.

DR. GOODALL,
DENTIST,

PORTSMOUTH,
DENTISTRY.
No. 60 CONGRESS STREET,
Portsmouth, Jan. 1st, 1863.
DR. GOODALL
Would respectfully inform his patrons and the public, that he still continues to insert teeth upon VULCANIZED RUBBER, that he has purchased the best VULCANIZER in the market, and is now prepared to do all work upon RUBBER, or the other bases of GOLD and SILVER as formerly, if preferred.
The Rubber has several important advantages, viz.: It is very light and elastic, and consequently is perfectly easy to the muscles of the mouth and cheeks. There are no insertions or open joints to collect food, &c.; consequently they can be worn night and day, and are very easily kept neat and clean.
Beside all this, the most accurate fit is obtained, as the Rubber is Vulcanized directly upon the plaster model, and the suction is of course much stronger than in plates of Gold or Silver.
Any one who is waiting for their permanent teeth will, I am confident, be perfectly satisfied with the Rubber. I do not say this because it but a little more than for Silver, and you get the same teeth (in blocks) that you would pay $60.00 for an upper or lower set in Gold.
In New York and Boston, and throughout the West, Vulcanized Rubber is used almost to the exclusion of the other bases, and by the best Dentists too. I will warrant a perfect fit and teeth from the best manufacturer in the country, S. S. White.
CALL FOR OTHER OPERATIONS IN DENTISTRY I will do at the usual rates. I will have studied that my price for EXTRACTION is 25 cents.

THE MAGEE
COOKING STOVE.
The subscribers, having received their Fall stock of Stoves, would especially call the attention of the public to the
CELEBRATED AND UNEQUALLED
MAGEE COOK STOVE,
as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.
There is a new style and very superior broiler and steamer, heater combined, by which the odor of broiling meats are prevented from being spread to the room. With the extension top there is a large copper Reservoir for hot water; also a large tin warming closet attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.
The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove I now use, as no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shovelling up of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated by the same machinery as in the PLANET PARLOR STOVE, and can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.
For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who are now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.
We would refer to the following purchasers:
Portsmouth.

"MAGEE'S PATENT"
VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING
FURNACES.
The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting Dwellings to examine this truly valuable invention.
For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, pure and healthy—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headaches so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.
The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus in vogue, are to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.
To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former models, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the
MAGEE FURNACE.
The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of atmospheric air, while passing between them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.
No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.
This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.
These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.
For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated to a to regulate any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.
They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:
Samuel Cleaves, Esq., Albert R. Hatch, Esq., Aaron H. Hill, Charles H. Mendum, Henry F. Wendell, John Sise, and others.

MATHEWS'
VENETIAN LIQUID
HAIR DYE.
MATHEWS' VENETIAN HAIR DYE.—This celebrated Dye was first prepared in 1845; since that time it has been USED BY THOUSANDS, and in no instance has it failed to give PERFECT SATISFACTION.
THE VENETIAN DYE is the cheapest in the world. Its price is ONLY FIFTY CENTS, and each bottle contains DOUBLE THE QUANTITY OF DYE contained in those usually sold for ONE DOLLAR.
THE VENETIAN DYE is the safest composition of its class. It is WARRANTED NOT TO INJURE the hair, or the scalp, in the least.
THE VENETIAN DYE works with RAPIDITY and CERTAINTY. It causes no annoyance or trouble to those who use it.
THE VENETIAN DYE produces any shade that may be desired,—one that will not fade or rub off,—one that is as permanent as the hair itself.
THE VENETIAN DYE does not, in any manner, interfere with the NATURAL SOFTNESS OF THE HAIR—it neither scorches nor dries it.
THE VENETIAN DYE is the best, cheapest, safest, most convenient, most successful, and most permanent Dye ever used.
